A POLACK'S BRIDE.

Local Man Tells Tale of Farming Out West.

A young man of this city who took advantage of the C.P.R. Harvesters' excursion to see the West and who helped in the Saskatchewan harvesting operations, on his return how-tells the story of one of his experiences whilst there. It was the custom, after work was over, at the evening for the ranch hands to grow confidential and show one another photographs of their respective girls.
A Polack, one of their number, had no picture of the bonny apple-cheeked girl waiting in far-off Poland for the money to join him. The Polack, however, not wishing to be thought without a girl of his own, surreptitiously cut two of the fashion plates from an Eaton's catalogue belonging to the ranch owner, and printed the pictures of two girls in $2.50 suits now marked down to $1.00 as likenesses of his own child.

FROM ENGINE TO BENCH.

Brother of Peterborough, Ont., has Made Magistrate, Peterborough, Eng.

The clipping given below, taken from the Peterborough, Eng., Daily Citizen refers to a brother of Mr.
Thomas Palmer, 390 Queen street.
This city and speaks for itself:

County Councillor G. S. Palmer, of Peterborough, is an engine driver, who has been lately made a justice of the peace. The Daily Citizen,
Mr. Palmer, who had only a few moments before left the footplate, said:

"It is only right that the great working-class majority in the country should have a representative on every public body, and their view of matters should be presented by one of their own class, judging by experience on the County Council, and while I was a guardian, I am sure I shall get a fair hearing."

"Hitherto labor has been unrepresented on the Peterborough Bench, and it is still unrepresented on the Town Council of Peterborough. The Industrial class here have no proper organization. A place of the size of Peterborough should not have two separate societies for the purpose. It is certain we shall never get a 'show' from the Liberals. If our men, when they want someone to go before the divorcers for them, send a workman like me, why do they only send gentlemen to the Town Council?"

Mr. Palmer added that his duties on the railway would permit of his attendance at alternate sessions, which would be more frequent than some magistrates attended. He had hoped that two Labor J.P.'s might have been appointed.

"But at any rate it's a start," he said, "and since the property qualification has been done away with, I believe the A.S.R.S. has had as many members appointed as any society."

Mr. Palmer expressed his appreciation of the Daily Citizen, observing "That is the kind of thing we want in Peterborough—paper which will present our views fairly and fully."

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 20, 1912.

PRICE, TWO CENTS.

ONE IN 40 OF MALE POPULATION HAVE DIED IN BALKAN WAR

Bulgarian Government's Duty, in View of the Terrible Sacrifice, Is to See They Did Not Die in Vain—Turkish Rule Must Be Extinguished

London, Nov. 19.—Reviewing the campaign, the Sofia correspondent of the Times estimates that 50,000 men have succumbed to disease or wounds; that is about one in forty of the whole male population of Bulgaria. Were Britain to lose a similar proportion in a war, her losses would total over 500,000 men.

"The significance of this great sacrifice," he says, "is scarcely realized in a country which bears its losses with admirable stoicism. There is no list of dead or wounded, but as the end is in sight, it will be the duty of the Government to see that the brave peasants, whose graves lie thick in the fields of Thrace, shall not have died in vain. "Nothing less than the total extinction of Turkish rule in Europe, Bulgarians say, can be accepted."

Serbia Firmly Resolved to Hold On.

London, Nov. 19.—According to the Sofia correspondent of the Daily Mail, the Bulgarian Cabinet sat all day discussing the terms of peace to be offered Turkey in the name of the Balkan League. Serbia insists on acquiring a part of the Albanian coast, together with Durazzo.

There is reason to believe, adds the correspondent, that THE ALLIES WILL INSIST UPON THE CESSION OF THE WHOLE OF THE CONQUERED TERRITORY, INCLUDING ALL OF ALBANIA. Serbia, at least, is most firmly resolved to possess Durazzo.

Y. M. C. A. MORE THAN MADE $3000 FUND TEAMS WENT AFTER

Last night about 35 members of the Y.M.C.A. and workers for the $3,000 fund, set down to a spread in that building, with Mr. E. A. Park in the chair. Amongst those present were Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's church and Hon. J. R. Stratton. They both made speeches complimenting the Y.M.C.A., both upon their splendid organization and work, but particularly upon the success crowning their most recent effort. Our readers will remember that the receipts turned in Monday night by the five teams, as given in yesterday's issue, amounted to $324. While full returns were not available last night, as some of those canvassing had not then given in complete returns, the Y.M.C.A. has won out in this endeavor, but have something over. The work of the various teams, as recorded on the blackboard, with their respective captains and amounts collected yesterday are as follows:

LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF PRESIDENT-ELECT AT PRINCETON HOME

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS AT GOVERNOR WILSON'S HOME AT PRINCETON, N.J.

Princeton, N. J., has become one of the most important points on the map since the election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency. Hundreds of newspaper men from all over the country are stationed in the old college town to report the latest doings of the President-elect. Princeton students are still celebrating the election of its one time president to the Presidency of the United States, and the day after election the entire faculty of Princeton University called at the Princeton home to present their congratulations.

The photographs herewith show the President-elect as he appeared the day after his election, in company with William McCombs, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee, and a group of newspaper correspondents awaiting the arrival of the Governor.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD LOOMS UPON THE BALKAN HORIZON

Serbia Massing Troops on the Austrian Frontier—Austria Also Arming

London, Nov. 19.—The occupation of Alessio by the combined Serbian and Montenegrin armies, giving them another foothold on the Adriatic Sea is considered in diplomatic circles likely to add fuel to the flames of the Austro-Serbian dispute, which have again blazed up in a critical way. Emperor Francis Joseph is said to have remarked: "We are in favor of peace, but not of peace at any price. We cannot stand everything."

The Austro-Hungarian Cabinet has sent a sharp note to the Serbian Government at Belgrade, demanding a precise reply to all the questions at issue. According to the Zeit, the note was distinctly threatening in tone, and it adds: "Vigorous military measures will give emphasis to the diplomatic demands should Serbia's answer again be unsatisfactory." Some papers assert that Serbia is preparing to concentrate her main forces on the Austrian frontier. Diplomatic circles do not exclude the possibility that the Serbians, relying on the sympathy of the Slavs in Austria-Hungary, and on the support of her Balkan allies, may challenge an issue.

JOHNSON FREED OF ABDUCTION CHARGE

Prosecution Failed to Prove That Lucile Cameron Was Abducted by the Fugitive.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—A charge of abduction against Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was dismissed before Municipal Judge Hopkins, because of the prosecution's inability to prove that Lucile Cameron, the white girl whose association with Johnson led to his arrest, had been abducted by him. The girl and her mother, Mrs. Cameron-Falconer, both of whom are witnesses against Johnson in the Federal action for alleged violation of the Mann White Slave act, were not in court when the city case was dismissed.

GUNMEN GUILTY

All Four Declared to Be Partners in the Murder of Rosenthal

New York, Nov. 19.—"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louis," "Whitely" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Cirofoco the gunmen charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were all found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the Supreme Court this afternoon. The jury deliberated only an hour and ten minutes. Justice Goff remanded the prisoners until 10.30 a.m. to-morrow, when he will fix the day for pronouncing sentence.

With Unmoved Faces. The entire proceedings in court after the jury came in occupied only seven minutes. The gunmen were brought in by four prison wardens and a uniformed policeman. They heard the verdict with faces unmoved, staring straight ahead. On their way back to their cells, the convicted men walked erect, all except "Whitely" Lewis, who went with bowed head. The crowd in the court room received the verdict without demonstration, and the news caused no visible excitement when it reached the throng outside the building.

BALKAN ALLIES DECIDE TO DISCUSS PEACE WITH TURKS

Victorious Alliance Assents to Porte's Proposal That Conditions of Armistice and Conclusion of War Be Negotiated—Alessio Captured To-day—
Monastir Has Fallen

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 19.—The allied Balkan nations to-day assented to the Turkish proposal to discuss the terms of an armistice and eventual peace.

Rieks, Montenegro, Nov. 19.—A combined army of Serbian and Montenegrin troops to-day occupied the town of Alessio near the Adriatic coast. Alessio has been the chief source of supply for the besieged Turkish garrison of Scutari. Although only a small place of 3,000 inhabitants its possession is of great importance.

Another Repulse.

Constantinople, Nov. 19.—The artillery fight along the lines of Tchalatala was less violent yesterday than on Sunday, according to a report of Nazim Pasha, the Turkish Commander-in-Chief. Firing, however, occurred along the whole line of fortifications. He continued: "We repulsed the enemy's infantry who tried to advance at some points."

Among the wounded who arrived in Constantinople yesterday was General Mahmood Hukhtar, who suffered from a bullet wound in the leg. He was the Turkish general who successfully attacked the Bulgarian left wing at Bunarissar in the battle of Lake Barga.

Austrians Offended.

Vienna, Nov. 19.—Serious international incidents are reported to have occurred after the occupation of the Adriatic port of San Giovanni di Medua by the Montenegrins on Saturday according to the correspondent of the Reichs Post at Scutari.

The correspondent telegraphs that the Turkish troops evacuated San Giovanni di Medua on the arrival of a Montenegrin column, and he declares that an Austrian courier from Scutari was fired upon by Montenegrin troops. When the Montenegrin commander arrived at San Giovanni di Medua on Sunday, he ordered the seizure of the Austrian mail bags lying there and destined for Scutari.

The Montenegrin general then told his troops, according to the correspondent, to remove all the goods on board the Austrian Lloyd magazine vessel anchored in the port, and he had all the other Austrian craft lying there searched.

HON. LOUIS CODERRE ELECTED 3000 OVER NATIONALIST-LABORITE

(Special to The Times) Montreal, Nov. 19.—Montreal was jubilant last night as the news began to trickle in over the wire from Hochelaga, showing that the Hon. Louis Coderre, Secretary of State, the Conservative candidate, had defeated the Nationalist-labor sacrifice, Mr. Doherty. The victory was a grand one for the Borden Government and will give Mr. Monk something to reflect over. The only possible obstacle in the path of victory for Hon. Mr. Coderre was the too great uncertainty on the part of his friends, some of whom refrained from taking as active a part in the election as they might have, had the Nationalist-labor candidate been more formidable. On Monday night Hon. C. J. Doherty addressed a Coderre meeting in St. Henri. Up to the last returns available it is conceded that the Conservative has been elected by a majority of over three thousand.

PRESENT IMMIGRATION METHODS TO BE ALTERED AND IMPROVED

New Minister of the Interior is Making Personal Study of System—Separate Branch for Looking After Immigration of Women

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Hon. Dr. Roche, the new Minister of the Interior, has set about his work in a vigorous and energetic manner which augurs well for his success in this heavy department. He is taking a particularly keen interest in the question of immigration, and is carefully studying the problems connected with this work at first hand. Last week he made a visit to the City of Quebec and inspected the new immigration buildings which are being erected and saw for himself the methods used in inspecting and welcoming newcomers. As a doctor who has always been interested in questions of public health he made a special investigation of the system of medical inspection.

Reforms to be Made.

As a result of his visit some reforms may be made. The doctor also believes that every effort should be made by the Government to give a hearty welcome to the shores of Canada to old world settlers, who have left friends and life associations to come to Canada, and would like to see them get as cheerful a welcome as possible.

To Visit Old Country.

The Minister will later visit Halifax and St. John and next summer will make a first hand study of Western immigration conditions. Dr. Roche also expects to visit the old country in connection with immigration work as soon as the session is over.

Special Branch for Women.

The department is devoting considerable attention to the question of immigration of women from Great Britain, and will likely establish a special branch to look after this work. Last winter a Western woman was sent to the old country to lecture to women with excellent results, and this week Mrs. H. Niblett of Winnipeg leaves for Great Britain on the same mission. Mrs. Niblett is one of the best known women journalists in the west, and is known from Winnipeg to the Yukon as Molly Glavin. She knows the west thoroughly and has roughed it on the prairies and in the far north. She went north with the famous Klondike stampede, and was the first woman to go over in winter the terrible White Horse Pass and was also the first journalist in the Yukon.

Bring Out Domestic.

The new branch will devote particular attention to bringing out domestic servants for which there is an unlimited demand in Canada. It is also felt that many good mothers would come to the Dominion if it were not for their wives who fear the supposed rigors of Canada's climate and the hardships they think they will have to face. It is felt that if the women can be disabused of these ideas that the families would emigrate.

St. George's Choral Society last night sang in the open air on Campbell street. "And the Glory of the Lord," in honor of an old choral leader, who is very ill, who is wished to hear at least once again one of the Mendelssohn choruses.

Mr. C. Townsend, director of the New York Aquarium, made a visit to Santa Barbara Island, 160 miles off the northern part of the peninsula of Lower California, and made an interesting study of the sea elephants which inhabit the waters about that island. He found a herd of 155 of these animals located on Elephant Beach. This herd consisted chiefly of adult males, and included not more than 15 new recruits, of which half a dozen were accompanied by newly-born pups. Three of the largest males were killed, and two and a half were seen as adult females, the former averaging 16 feet in length by 11 feet in girth, while the latter was close on 11 feet in length. Males of 22 feet in length have, however, been previously recorded. The females are smaller than the males, and are different from the males in which were greyish brown in color. They frequently engaged in fights among themselves, although such combats were far less serious than those which take place between male fur-seals, there being apparently no sexual seizure by the combatants. The pups of the other, and the head being quickly withdrawn and raised aloft after the infliction of every blow. The nursing females were occasionally accompanied by yearlings as well as by a newly-born pup. At the end of the yearlings were captured with difficulty by throwing a piece of heavy netting in from the side of the rookery.

In addition to recording the color of the new-born pups, I was anxious to have a few of the old females tattooed. I failed to obtain any, but I was able to get a few of the old females tattooed. I was able to get a few of the old females tattooed.

In an article on the value of boxing as an aid to well-being, Harold Claughton, an English writer, makes a plan for the formation in Great Britain of a controlling body composed of reputable men with whom the authorities could co-operate, as a means of bringing the sport of boxing to its proper place and of eliminating some of the objectionable features of the professional prize ring.

"The boxing referee," says the correspondent, "is a man of no consequence, all the limelight and grease paint effects that are just now slowly but surely beginning to pervade the entire atmosphere of the ring," said Mr. Claughton, "can be swept under the carpet. Boxing is only dangerous and brutal when divorced from authority. The beneficial tendencies in boxing must be brought to the fore. Every good cause is shown to counteract the evil. The British nation cannot lightly afford to erase the sport completely from the catalogue of life upon the sportsman's entry. Let it be known that the law is against baring, and boxing will be as healthy as, and the sport will be as beneficial as, any other of the extraneous and curable."

When Nostrils Are Plugged Your Catarrh Is Bad

BY ACTING TO-DAY YOU CAN

Most Agreeable and Surest Cure Is Catarrhese, Which Cures Ev-

Catarrhese proves especially good in those chronic cases where mucus drops down the throat, inflames the stomach, and pollutes the breath.
When the nostrils are plugged, only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhese act almost as magic.

Once you stop taking medicine into the stomach and get the healing oils and pure balsams of Catarrhese at work you can be sure of quick and lasting cure for nose colds, catarrh, weak lungs, bronchitis, and

15 YEARS OF CATARRH CURED

"An Catarrhese has cured me of a Catarrhal Cough and Asthma that lasted thirteen years. I feel I can breathe freely now. I really need of all kinds of medicine, but Catarrhese was the only one that did any real good. I am entirely cured — have no cough, no bad breathing spells, not a sign of a cold or catarrh about me. But I will always use 'Catarrhese.' I prize it so highly."

WHY FRENCH WOMEN

ALWAYS LOOK YOUNG

"Aurilla" in Society World.
In France mothers and daughters look alike sisters. I tried to find out how the women were able to retain their youthful looks until long past middle age. I learned that they were much given to the use of mercol lax wax. This wax possesses a remarkable absorbent property which quickly removes the fine particles of oil which are the constant cause of an old-looking complexion. Thus the lively, healthy, young skin beneath is given a chance to breathe and show itself. In less than two weeks my complexion has become so clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's.
Just one ounce of mercolized wax (all American druggists have it) did the work. The wax is put on nightly cold cream and washed off morning.

Another valuable secret I learned from the French was how to quickly remove wrinkles. One ounce of produced airtight dissolved in a half pint with hazel, makes a marvellous effective astringent lotion. The face should be bathed in this daily until the deepest lines have entirely disappeared.

A BARK MUSICAL TREAT

Large and Refined Audience Near Mr.
John Allan and Others.

Last night a large and refined audience gathered in St. Paul's Church.
The occasion was one of those rare musical treats which so strongly appeal to lovers of good music. An intensely interesting programme was rendered. Possibly the piece de resistance in this musical feast were the organ solos of Mr. John Allan, organist of St. Paul's. He once more demonstrated by his technique and artistic rendition of such masters as Haydn, Holms, the blind Edinburgh organist, and "composers" Wagner, Chopin and others, that he holds a high place among Canadian players.

The vocal solos by Miss Dorothy Allan were given in her usual pleasing style and elicited frequent applause. Mr. William Wilson in his violin solos, "Meditation" and "Berceuse" showed a rare mastery of that most speaking of musical instruments.

We understand that these or similar musical treats are to be given at intervals during the coming winter.

THE OLD WAY

The picture to the left shows the old familiar way of house-cleaning—you know it. The whole house turned upside down—tiring scrubbing with soap and water—an ineffective effort to remove the smears and dullness from dust they drive from one place settles so thickly again that it would quickly dirty their hair. Is this cleanliness?

OTTAWA CROWDED EARLY FOR THE OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

Extraordinary Interest is Shown by Crowds of "Non-Com-

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Members are pouring into Ottawa for the opening of the House unusually early. The Western and Eastern members are reaching the capital first. Amongst the early arrivals are J. G. Turill, Assiniboia; George Bradbury, Selkirk; Hon. H. R. Emmerson, F. N. Rhodes, Cumberland; E. W. Nesbitt, North Oxford; W. Northrup, East Hastings; J. H. Burnham, Dr. Paquet and Dr. Gauthier.

WERE YOUNG TURKS PLOTTING TO SET UP A REPUBLIC?

London, Nov. 20.—Both Ottoman and foreign interests in Constantinople, while awaiting the publication of definite news regarding the progress of the war, are chiefly concerned in the large number of arrests of politicians and writers belonging to the party of Union and Progress.

According to a special despatch from the Turkish capital, the Ottoman Government, through a local press agency, has issued a statement that only forty arrests have been made, and that the sole reason for these was the organization of a demonstration by university students in front of the Government offices on October 7th.

At first the most remarkable stories were circulated in explanation of the arrests. With a view of influencing Musulman opinion, it was explained that the Unionists were plotting to establish a republic. An attempt was also made to divert Christian and foreign sympathy from the arrested men by the circulation of a report that the object of the organization was to arrange a massacre and blow up the foreign quarter at Pera.

These reports were so manifestly and obviously false that the Turkish Government felt itself constrained to WAR MAY BE PROLONGED?

Turk's Recent Successes May Have Inspired Them To Keep Up Struggle

London, Nov. 20.—Fighting has ceased for the moment between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies struggling for the possession of the key of the gates of Constantinople, while the opposing commander-in-chief are engaged in arranging the terms of an armistice. If these negotiations prove successful, they will be preparatory to a meeting of plenipotentiaries who will subsequently discuss the final conditions of peace.

As soon as an armistice has been arranged, its success crowns the efforts of Nasim Pasha and General Savad in this direction. Turkey will appoint other plenipotentiaries to discuss the terms of peace. The Ottoman Government has appointed Nasim Pasha to confer with General Savad, the Bulgarian leader.

of Important Measure

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the Cabinet this afternoon the final draft will be made of the speech from the throne, which will be read by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Cornwall at the formal opening of Parliament to-morrow.

The speech will as usual refer to the continued prosperity, after which the most important matters in connection with which the Government proposes to introduce legislation this session will be dealt with in the order of their importance.

First, of course will be the Naval Reference will, doubtless be made to the visit of Premier Borden and his colleagues to London to confer with the admiralty and it will be intimated that acting on the strength of information received in London a preliminary step in the direction of giving necessary aid to the Motherland will be taken, the details to be announced by the Premier at a later date.

The speech will likewise contain the formal announcement of the Government's intention to introduce bills to amend the Bank Act; to provide for the appointment of a permanent "advisory commission" to provide Federal assistance for highways; to amend the Railway Act; and to ratify the trade agreement between Canada and the West Indies arrived at last spring.

CZAREVITCH IS VERY ILL

His Case Presents Serious Surgical Difficulties, It is Said.

London, Nov. 20.—The Berlin surgeon, Professor Israel, has been summoned to Tsarskoye-Selo, where Dr. Federoff has been in attendance since the Russian Imperial family returned from Spala, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from St. Petersburg. The circumstances point according to the correspondent, to the continued gravity of the illness of the young Crown-Prince. The Court doctors admit that it is a serious surgical case.

ARE AVOIDING SERVICE IN THE CANADIAN NAVY

London, Nov. 20.—A Portsmouth correspondent says pensioners in the fleet and reserve men are fighting shy of offers to join the Canadian navy. He asserts that the real trouble is that Canada is trying to start a navy without proper preparations for the men's training and accommodation. The Evening News to-day gives these assertions considerable prominence.

The correspondent says the men who went out in the Niobe and Rainbow were picked men, hoping to fill positions as instructors. They found nothing ready for them. He says that they would receive training on a man-of-war, found themselves limited to an old fishing schooner Canadian.

The recruits dissatisfaction reached the ears of the British sailors, who consequently regard the Canadian navy extremely suspiciously.

THE CANADIAN CLUB BANQUET HEARD AN INTERESTING ADDRESS

Dr. Coleman Gave His Expert Views on Cobalt And Ontario Mining Industry in General

Last night some fifty of the local Canadian Club and sympathizers with that movement, gathered in the large dining room at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Hainsworth said a short grace, when those present enjoyed an elegant spread provided by Messrs. Coleman, the local caterers. The president, Mr. W. R. Morris filled the chair.

The chairman congratulated the Y.M.C.A. on their recent successful campaign. The Y.M.C.A. and the Canadian Club work along similar lines, the upbuilding of the young men of Canada.

Dr. Coleman, of the theology Department, Toronto, said in part, Ontario is not very old as a mining country. People have to learn about mines by experience. As a general thing, if you own a gold mine, you get poor. The best way to get even with the other fellow is to give him a gold mine. You must use caution in handling a mine. Mining began in Ontario, on the shores of Lake Erie, a little iron mine, about 100 years ago, and strange to say, it failed. The Madoc iron mines failed. The Bruce Mines opened in 1842 paid gold was found at Madoc, the Richardson mine, a pocket of about $2000 of gold. Every one who invested lost money. Americans, in 1868 opened Silver Island in Lake Superior. Native silver was found by Detroit people. $3,250,000 was taken out. This mine went down 1000 feet. The crib work was filled in with silver ore. He doubted, however, if, in the long run, this mine really paid. Then as the C.P.R. was being laid near Sudbury, a yellow ore was found. This was in 1893. It was thought this was copper, but it proved to be nickel. Canada, it is rumored, will within a few weeks invest 30 or 40 millions in battleships, so the nickel will prove useful. He became connected with the Bureau of Mines 19 years ago. In 1891 Ontario only produced a third of a million dollars in products of the mine. In 10 years the output had more than doubled. In 10 years it had increased more than twice double. For 1911 for the first time published, the Government statistics now show that we mined eight kinds of metals. Our gold mines in that year only produced $42,892 worth. There are lots of gold mines in the Lake of the Woods district. Not one of them has paid its way. The Golden Star was sold out to Toronto people, who did not make a fortune, whilst the original owners did. It's the average ore, not specimens that make money for the mine owner. Not a gold mine in Ontario has paid its way and paid a profit. Porcupine looked as though Ontario was going to be a gold mining Province. Only half a dozen prospects in the Porcupine are really gold mines. The total of gold produced in Ontario up to the last year was only $2,600,000. It now looks, however, as though Ontario is on an eve of a gold mining industry. Gold is money, hence its seductiveness. Silver is a more important metal in Canada than gold. Cobalt silver region is the most remarkable thing on record. It is a most profitable region. Cobalt has been a rare element. It used to be worth $1 or $2 a pound. Now it is practically valueless. Veins only an inch thick of silver can be worked with profit. The output this year will amount to 1000 tons of silver. About one half of the whole output has been returned to shareholders in profits. Nickel and copper always occur together in Ontario. The nickel region of Sudbury is some miles from Sudbury. Cobalt is near its climax and a decline will soon be seen. The Craven nickel mine is the richest of its kind in the world. Sudbury will be making wealth when Cobalt is forgotten. You never get nickel ore without norite rock. Sudbury district is the nearest thing to Hades he knew of.

MANY NEW FISH PONDS

Government Policy of Cultivating And Propagating Fish

DEPARTMENT IS ACTIVE

Rapid Progress Being Made in Improving Conditions of Fish Culture Especially in regard to the Food Fisheries.

(Special to The Times).

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries is pushing vigorously its work of encouraging fish culture throughout the country. At the end of this year the department will have completed seven additional hatcheries which will bring the total number in operation up to fifty-eight. There are in addition two ponds which might be ranked as hatcheries. One is a bass pond established near the Bay of Quinte. It cannot be hatched in the ordinary mechanical hatchery. They are nesting fishes and have to be retained in ponds, where they hatch out naturally. This fall 5,000 were distributed to the different waters. The other pond is one near St. John N.B., for retaining parent salmon, whose eggs are sent to the different hatcheries in the Maritime Provinces for incubation.

Careful Building.

As many hatcheries as needed are being built, care is being taken to build them where they will yield the best results. Unless sufficient quantity of eggs can be collected each season for the hatchery, its beneficial results are minimized.

Before providing the hatchery the department must ascertain that it be able either in the waters in the vicinity of the hatchery or in more remote waters to find a supply of eggs to fill the hatchery and thus build up and develop the fisheries of that and contiguous localities.

The activities of the department are chiefly directed toward the increase of commercial fishes. The rearing of game fish, though important, is not receiving as much attention as it is felt that first consideration must be given to the fisheries in which men expect to make their livelihood and on which the general public rely more and more for food.

As to Game Fish

However, the Federal Department of Fisheries hopes that if no change takes place in jurisdiction that the different provinces will see fit to take up the hatching of game fish. It is felt that in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, as far as angling is concerned, conditions there for game fishing are unexcelled.

SUPPLIED WITH COCAINE

Hamilton, Nov. 20.—The local police have plain evidence in connection with a sensational story of Hamilton being the clearing house for the clandestine distribution of cocaine. A prominent twenty-one year old society girl was found by her father in a Macdonald street resort. It is said, where a negro, posing as a crystal gazer, was supplying cocaine to many fashionable and well known people.

Eye-Witness Describes Feroic Fight For Turks Main Position

ALLIES RUSH OUTER LINES

No Infantry Attack During Bay-Redoubt Rush at Night-Fall at Bayonet's Point.

London, Nov. 21.—Martin H. Donohue, in a long despatch to the Daily Chronicle describing Tuesday's battle, says:

"The Turks were fighting a life and death battle, and Nazim Pasha realized the seriousness of his position. If the Bulgarians succeeded in breaking through the left and turning the Turkish flank, the enemy could possess the main road to San Stefano, thus cutting the Turks off from the capital."

"Although exposed to severe punishment the Turks fought with far more steadiness than at Lake Burgas. Their artillery was better served and the gunners carefully husbanded their ammunition."

Storm of Death is Feroic.

"I could see that the Turkish outer line of defence had been abandoned, and the Bulgarians shelling the second line upon which the Turkish infantry had retired. It soon was clear that the Bulgarians had mounted guns in the captured positions."

"Then shrapnel began bursting over the hills. Closer and closer swept the storm of death until it burst in fury over the Turkish camp and the reserves."

"The Turkish line of defence at Tebatia was a semi-circle presenting a concave surface to an attack. If the centre was broken the two wings would be isolated. This apparently was what was happening. The Bulgarians had captured the outer line of defence and established themselves at the centre of the semi-circle and were like a triangular wedge being driven into the Turkish line."

Win Night Bayonet Charge.

"I learned that the Bulgarians had rushed the outer line at one o'clock in the morning after a battle consisting of the demoralized Turks and were now shelling the second line with the object of terrorizing the Turkish infantry."

"During the day no infantry attack was delivered, the republics being carried under cover of darkness at the point of the bayonet. The Bulgarians were still hammering away, advancing relentlessly on their objective—the road to Constantinople."

"As night fell, an ever-thickening stream of Turkish deserters was leaving the fighting line."

NINE SAILORS, HOPE GONE RESCUED AS DEATH NEARS

Five Days Without Sleep, Three Days Without Water, Men Found Crowded in Only Remaining Small Boat—Safe in Vancouver

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 21.—Five days and nights without sleep, three days without water to drink, wet to the skin during the whole of that period on a helpless waterlogged, dismantled schooner, and then when hope had been abandoned and the men were crowded into the only remaining small boat with huge seas carrying them onto the rugged shores of Vancouver Island, the welcome smoke of the Canadian fisheries cutter William Joliffe, appeared and nine sailors were snatched from the jaws of death. This was the experience of the crew of the American schooner E. K. Wood, whose members arrived here to-day. The schooner lies an abandoned wreck on Vancouver Island. She had a cargo of lumber out of Bellingham, Wash., bound for San Pedro, California, and sailed on November 16th.

NICHOLLS HOSPITAL WILL PAY FOR SEWER EXTENSION

Mr. Richard Hall waited on the City Council, last evening and requested the construction of a sewer along Argyle street and along Sunny-side avenue, to provide sewage disposal for the new addition to the Nicholls Hospital.

The new addition to the hospital is well advanced, and Mr. Hall told Council that the hospital management particularly desired to have the sewer built this year to provide disposition of the sewage from it. In a letter to the Council, the Nicholls Hospital Board expressed their willingness to bear half the cost of the work, but owing to the institution being a public charity, they felt that the city should build it at their own expense.

Sunny-side avenue is hospital property, the city never have done any work upon it. Ald. Buller asked Mr. Hall if the Board were willing to turn the street over to the city providing the sewer was built by the Council, to which Mr. Hall replied in the negative.

Ald. Duffus told him if the city constructed the sewer, it would then be a corporation street.

Mayor Bradburn informed Mr. Hall that the city would be bound to bear the sewer construction providing the hospital board agreed to bear the whole cost.

"If the City Council agreed to do it for one institution, they would be establishing a precedent," said Ald. Buller.

To bring the matter to a definite point, Mr. Hall said he was sure the hospital board would pay the entire cost if the city would go ahead at once with the work.

Ald. Johnston accordingly moved, "That the City Engineer be instructed to have the work on the sewer performed, the cost to be borne by the Nicholls Hospital Board." Carried.

Ald. Duffus applied for and was granted permission to install a Boy Scout gasoline tank at his garage similar to the one in use at C. R. Banks, for the use of automobiles.

Possession of Mongolia Issue in Potential Campaign—Army of 60,000 Mobilized Near Peking—To Drive Out Czar's Troops

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—Cablegrams received from China by local Chinese announce that the Republic is preparing to go to war with Russia for the possession of Mongolia. The big secret societies which fostered the revolution have been exchanging despatches with President Yuan Shi Kai.

The Young China Association has opened subscription lists and lecturers have spoken at every Chinese corner explaining the encroachments of the Czar's troops in the ancient Chinese territory. Dispatches have been received here by Yow Gook Har, Secretary to Fung Chi Yon, Secretary of State of Yuan Shi Kai's Cabinet, to the effect that an army of 60,000 has been mobilized in Peking and that General Wong Hing, hero of the revolution, has been appointed its leader. According to a report General Wong Hing already has ordered his army north to Mongolia with instructions to establish military rule and drive Russian soldiers out.

Russian Officers Talk Too Much. St. Petersburg, Nov. 21.—Russian officers were warned to-day by the Minister of War that idle gossip in regard to military preparations in Russia would render them liable to exclusion from the army.

It points out that military men have been concerned in the dissemination of rumors capable of being brought into connection with events in the Balkans.

IMMEDIATE AID TO EMPIRE'S NAVAL FORCES IMPERATIVE

Speech From the Throne Forecasts Emergency Grant—Legislation for Good Roads, Agriculture and Banking—Work of the "Recess"

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—With all the pomp and ceremony of an old world function the Duke of Connaught opened this afternoon the second session of the twelfth Parliament of Canada. Weather conditions were ideal. It was a perfect fall day at the capital, almost summerlike in its warmth. As the Governor-General drove up to the Parliament Buildings escorted by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, he was loudly cheered by the crowds which lined the route.

The sight on Parliament Hill, where his Royal Highness was saluted by a guard of honor furnished by the Governor-General's Foot Guards, was a brilliant one. As he reached the entrance, the cannon on Nepean Point boomed out the customary salute, the firing being done by the 23rd Field Battery.

DUCHESSE ARRIVED FIRST.

His Royal Highness was attended by Col. Lowther, his military secretary, and a staff of side-de-camps all gay in brilliant uniforms. The Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia arrived before the Duke. The scene in the chamber was exceptionally brilliant. Around the throne were grouped Premier Borden in his Windsor uniform, the members of the Cabinet and the officers of the headquarters staff. The Judges of the Supreme Court Bench, garbed in their striking scarlet robes, were also present. On the floor of the chamber were the wives and daughters of the Senators and members. The galleries were crowded with prominent public men and society folk from all parts of Canada.

UNUSUAL INTEREST.

In the Commons Chamber there were few absentees when Black Rod came to summon the members to the Senate. The unusual interest in the session, which is regarded by the incoming members as likely to be one of the most memorable since Confederation, has brought the members of the Commons to Ottawa early.

HETTY GREEN ON BIRTHDAY SAYS "EAT BAKED ONIONS"

New York, Nov. 21.—If you want to live to a ripe, happy, old age, and incidentally, to accumulate money, eat baked onions. They are good for the complexion, for the liver, and to give you a disposition whereby you can beat the money sharks at their own game.

Hetty Green says so, and as she is 78 to-day, has long been known as the richest woman in the world, and still maintains her dash. Well, what she says she ought to know what she is talking about.

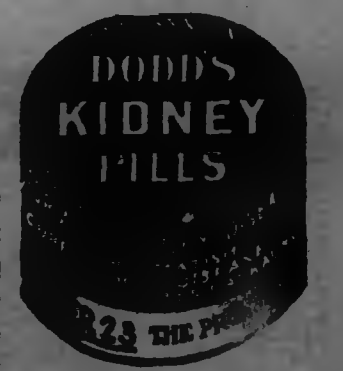

Mrs. Green declared that though she did not expect to live to be a hundred, she did expect to live a dozen years more. She also took issue with the statement popularly attributed to Andrew Carnegie, that it would be a disgrace to die rich.

"On the contrary," said Mrs. Green, "I think it would be a credit. All depends on what one does with wealth. I believe in doing good. I have my own ways of doing good. I thought leading money to churches at two per cent. was a good way. I would not give a cent for a sermon that did not have religion."

"It has been my pet scheme for a long time past," he said, "but now I have completed plans for the machine and have commenced to build it. It will be one thousand horse power, with four engines and six propellers. Each engine will be of 250 horse power, and they will be so arranged as to be independent of each other so that in case of one engine breaking down, the other two will be quite sufficient to drive the machine. We expect to do the journey from land to land in something between 20 and 30 hours. The machine is being built so as to remain in the air 30 hours, all depends on weather and the course we take. At present we are undecided whether to go by way of Azores or across to Newfoundland but I expect the latter route will be chosen. The trip is arranged to take place in the summer, although it is just on the cards that we may not make it until autumn. The weather then will probably be more favorable, but, whenever we start, I am reasonably sure of success."

HETTY GREEN ON BIRTHDAY SAYS "EAT BAKED ONIONS"

New York, Nov. 21.—If you want to live to a ripe, happy old age, and incidentally, to accumulate money, eat baked onions. They are good for the complexion, for the liver, and to give you a disposition whereby you can beat the money sharks at their own game.

Hetty Green says so, and as she is 78 to-day, has long been known as the richest woman in the world, and still maintains her desk. Wall Street says she ought to know what she is talking about.

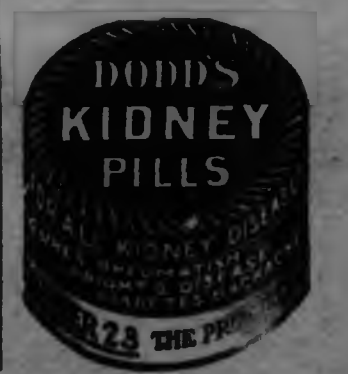

Mrs. Green declared that though she did not expect to live to be a hundred, she did expect to live a dozen years more. She also took issue with the statement popularly attributed to Andrew Carnegie, that it would be a disgrace to die rich.

"On the contrary," said Mrs. Green, "I think it would be a credit. All depends on what one does with wealth. I believe in doing good. I have my own ways of doing good. I thought lending money to churches was a good way, and a good way, I would not give a cent for a person that did not have religion."

The alleged original of Gainsborough's "Stolen Duchess" is now to be at the Pall Mall Gallery, in London, under conditions which make it possible to throw an illumination on the picture which is to its artistic worth. Although the evidence in its favor is plain and convincing that any legal court will accept it as absolutely trustworthy, the picture itself does not support the story. It is a work of art. There is little or any evidence Gainsborough's brushwork to be on the canvas, which must have many restorations, and a thick coat of shaly varnish. It is to be seen now reveals a picture of a woman quite different from the one. How much of this he due to subsequent repaintings cannot be decided. In this con-

Five Results in Two Weeks

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash and ugly looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of a case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it."

If you are in ailing health, have blood disorders, stomach trouble, or headaches, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will help you quickly. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c. per box, five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Kam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Kam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning! Not one species of bacteria has been found that Kam-Buk does not kill!

Then again, As soon as Kam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to chafe, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Kam-Buk. They are nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Kam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, As soon as Kam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Kam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Kam-Buk cures are permanent. Kam-Buk has been found that Kam-Buk does not kill!

GREEN WAS MEAN.

Levenick Swain Dies on Wet Grass To Rubber.

His Worship Magistrate Edmison handed out his decision in the case of Cameron vs. Green, which was tried before him last Friday. This case, it will be remembered is the aftermath of a case tried before Magistrate Dumble, when Cameron was found guilty of assault. The whole case arose as the French say from "Cherchez la femme." Green seemed to have been troubled by the green-eyed monster, jealousy, because the object of his heart's desire had transferred her affections to the hated rival, Mr. G. N. Gordon acted for complainant in the last case. Magistrate Edmison yesterday noted how Green had for years paid attention to the lady in the case. A coquette seems to have crept in between them and the love light of her eyes shone for Cameron alone. In fact the lady is now Cameron's femme, so that the latter naturally was frequently in her company. This seemed to arouse the latent spirit of Green's former love. Green under the pale light of the moon lay round the lady's house for days, regardless of cold, watch-dogs or heavy dew on the watch to ascertain Cameron's actions and count his visits. At last, seemingly mad with jealousy, he entered the house and interfered between the lovers. Green made a pass at Cameron and received a right-hander on the jaw in return. Green was a trespasser at the house, and refused to go when told to. Green had evidently looked for trouble. Green's nose was broken and his eyes pleased in mourning. The Magistrate said Green's conduct was despicable and mean. The net result was that Green pays $10.00 or have ten days in jail to cool his revenge love.

RESPONSIBLE CITIZENS OF ALL CLASSES ENDORSE THE LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN

The proposed adoption of a Local Option By-law in our City is of sufficient importance and public interest to justify the enquiry, "WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE?" for the submission to the people of such an important measure.

The question is being introduced upon the initiative of Citizens representing all classes of the community. A partial list of these citizens is published herewith. This is only a tentative list. Many more will join the Committee as fast as opportunity permits. Attention is called to the fact that the Citizens who have joined the Committee so far represent the manufacturing, mercantile, industrial, legal, medical, religious, educational and every other important interest of the City.

Every ratepayer who is favorable to a vote being held on Local Option next January and who is willing to act on the Citizens Committee, is invited to call at the Citizens' Local Option Committee rooms, 173 Simcoe street, upstairs, where the list may be signed.

We believe that this Citizens' Local Option Committee is truly representative of the over 2,000 ratepayers of Peterborough, who voted in favor of Local Option three years ago, polling a majority of over 500 in favor of the measure on that occasion, as well as of the prospective vastly greater vote it is anticipated will be cast this year.

The issue places our City in the forefront of public attention throughout the province and constitutes her the champion and leader of our Cities in the greatest economic, social and moral question of the day. The statement is sometimes made that an issue of this character is forced on the Community by a few enthusiasts. We are glad to say that this does not apply to Peterborough.

We call upon all citizens to aid in placing our city in the honored position this opportunity affords.

Our aim is a protected home, a cleaner city and a more general diffusion of Prosperity.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO CONSTANTINOPLE APPEALS FOR AID FOR THE TURKISH WOUNDED

That cholera, illness and destitution are increasing among the many thousands of wounded soldiers and refugees in Constantinople was the substance of a despatch received by Oscar H. Straus, of New York, from W. W. Rockhill, the American Ambassador to the Turkish capital. The despatch read as follows:

"There are now more than 14,000 sick and wounded soldiers here. Cholera seems to be increasing fast. Much sickness and destitution among the many thousands of refugees."

Mr. Straus was Ambassador to Constantinople a few years ago, and Mr. Rockhill already had appealed to him by cable to obtain relief for the Turkish wounded.

SERVIA READY FOR WAR TO GET TO THE ALBANIAN PORTS

Paris, Nov. 22.—The state of mind of the Servians is one of great disquiet. According to a Belgrade dispatch to Merin, they display the profoundest indifference to Austria's threats.

The popular feeling says the correspondent, may be summed up in the words: "We want ports on the Adriatic and will go to war with Austria if necessary to get them."

This feeling is encouraged by the reports of the strong agitation which is going on among the people of Bosnia, Croatia, Dalmatia and other provinces, who are ready to fight against Austria in behalf of Serbia, and the fact that hundreds of Serbs, Croats, and other Slavs from Austria-Hungary are arriving daily at Belgrade and enrolling themselves with the Serbian force.

All Europe to Approve Terms.

London, Nov. 22.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times understands that the Triple Alliance will suggest to the other European powers that Europe as a whole should examine the terms of the peace treaty before its conclusion. The object of this procedure is to avoid calling a European conference.

FLYER TOSSED A HAND CAR A NEW CASTLE MAN KILLED

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Mistaking the Grand Trunk special train carrying steamboat passengers for Toronto for the local Belleville-Toronto train was the cause of Joseph Parsons' death, a section foreman for the Grand Trunk, near Newcastle Station at 7.30 this morning.

Parsons, along with two other sectionmen, was racing ahead of the flyer on a handcar in an effort to reach the station, thinking it was the local that would stop at Newcastle.

castle, when the train, traveling at the rate of 50 miles an hour, swooped down on them on the curve. The other men jumped, but Parsons hesitated. The engine struck the handcar, hurling it to the rear and tossing Parsons 60 feet in the air. He was picked up dead.

To-day—Moderate to fresh southerly to westerly winds; fair and mild.

VICTORIOUS BULGARIA TO MODIFY TERMS AND WAR MAY NOT PROCEED

CASE CLOSED FOR DEFENCE

Woman, "Saturated With Whiskey," Desired to Give Evidence in the Gibson Murder Trial and Was Refused

Toronto, Nov. 22.—In an effort to explain the evidence of the Crown that there was human blood on the trousers Charles Gibson wore the night Joseph Rosenthal was murdered, Mr. Aubrey Bond, defence counsel, called Mrs. Julia Gibson, step-mother of the youthful prisoner, in the witness stand, when the Criminal Assizes opened for the fifth day of the trial this morning. Mrs. Gibson's evidence backed up the story told by Gibson.

The juryman not engaged in the present trial were dismissed till Monday, indicating that the case may continue next week. Mr. Bond has at least a dozen more witnesses to testify, and the Crown announced that it would call at least seven rebuttal.

Mrs. Gibson told of her small son, Willie, coming running into the house at No. 149 Ontario street, on Good Friday morning, April 5, the day before Rosenthal's body was found. He was crying, she said, and had received a cut in his head from a bicycle accident in the street. She told of Gibson taking him to the hospital and bathing his injury, from which blood was flowing.

"Charlie bathed his head with a towel, dipped in a basin of water, and the water and the blood ran down on Charlie's trousers," said the prisoner's mother.

"In a little while I heard Charlie say to Willie: 'Oh, you little son-of-a-gun, you have ruined my clothes.' At the same time he gave Willie a little tap on the head, pushing him away."

"I turned to Charlie and said, 'You silly chump, if you had put something on your knees it wouldn't have happened.' I told him that there was some benzine in the cupboard and to go and clean it off."

Judge's Plain Language.

Mr. Bond asked for five minutes to consider what was to be done. At the end of that time he decided that there was no way of getting evidence in.

"I don't know how she could help you, anyway," said his Lordship. "She would have to be disinfected first. She is saturated with whiskey now."

"I don't know who she is. She came to my office this morning. 'I should hope not,' said his Lordship.

Tilly Parsons told of being out with Gibson on the Saturday night, Sunday afternoon, and Tuesday night. She had known him four years.

Mr. Bond then announced that the defence was closed. Crown Prosecutor Meredith asked to have all the afternoon to prepare his evidence in reply.

Victors Asked Too Much When They Demanded That Turkey Lay Down Her Arms and Surrender Before Beginning to Negotiate Peace

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 22.—The indications this morning are that Bulgaria will adopt a conciliatory attitude, and will modify the conditions originally offered to the Turkish Government.

A special meeting of the Bulgarian Cabinet was held this morning to consider the rejection of the terms of the proposed armistice. At its conclusion it was declared in well-informed circles that an immediate resumption of hostilities was improbable.

London, Nov. 22.—"COME AND TAKE THEM," the defiant reply of the Turks to the demand made by the allied Balkan nations for the evacuation of the line of fortifications at Tehtajin in front of Constantinople, is not believed in diplomatic circles so nearly to mean the end of the negotiations for an armistice, even though fighting has been resumed.

From Sofia comes word to-day that the victorious invaders are likely to modify their conditions. The European powers at the same time are exerting themselves to induce the nations composing the Balkan League to bring their terms more into line with the facts of the situation and to arrange a treaty which will give them all they have conquered, but will leave out that which has not been conquered.

Signs of a Reaction.

Compared with its earlier disastrous experiences, the Turkish army evidently now considers itself in a relatively favorable position. Military experts here see in the at least temporary failure of the projected Bulgarian rush into Constantinople, signs of a reaction among the invaders after their sustained efforts of the past month.

In view of the fact that the Ottoman capital, even if captured, must ultimately be evacuated in accordance with the decree of the great powers it appears that the allies have nothing to gain by insisting on the surrender of the lines which form vitally the gates of the city.

MEXICAN 'QUAKE KILLS SCORES 59 BODIES TAKEN FROM CHURCH

Most of the Dead Are Women Who Were Killed While At Mass—Many Priests Victims

Mexico City, Mex., Nov. 22.—The town of Acambar, in the northern part of the State of Mexico, is practically in ruins as a result of the earthquake there on Tuesday.

Fifty-nine bodies have been removed from the ruins of a church and other buildings. Many more are still buried in the wreckage. The injured will number a hundred. Scarcely a house or public building is standing intact.

Killed While at Mass.

This news reached El Oro through travelers, who report that the roads have been almost impassable by rock slides.

Most of the dead are women, who were attending mass. The lower walls fell without warning and the priests perished with the congregation.

Subsequent Minor Disturbances.

Families are living in the fields in fear of a repetition of the earthquake. Minor disturbances have occurred from time to time, without doing further material damage.

At various other places in the same district, the reports tell of devastation and death.

At Temascalcingo nine persons were killed and twenty injured.

At Atlacomulco three persons were killed.

There was only slight property damage at El Oro and only one child was killed.

EARTHQUAKE IN VANCOUVER

Child Thrown From a Chair—Whole City Stirred

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 22.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt here Thursday evening over a district of several miles just before five o'clock. The shock was also felt in Vancouver, and in the adjoining municipalities.

Its duration was exactly six seconds and it appears to be travelling north and south.

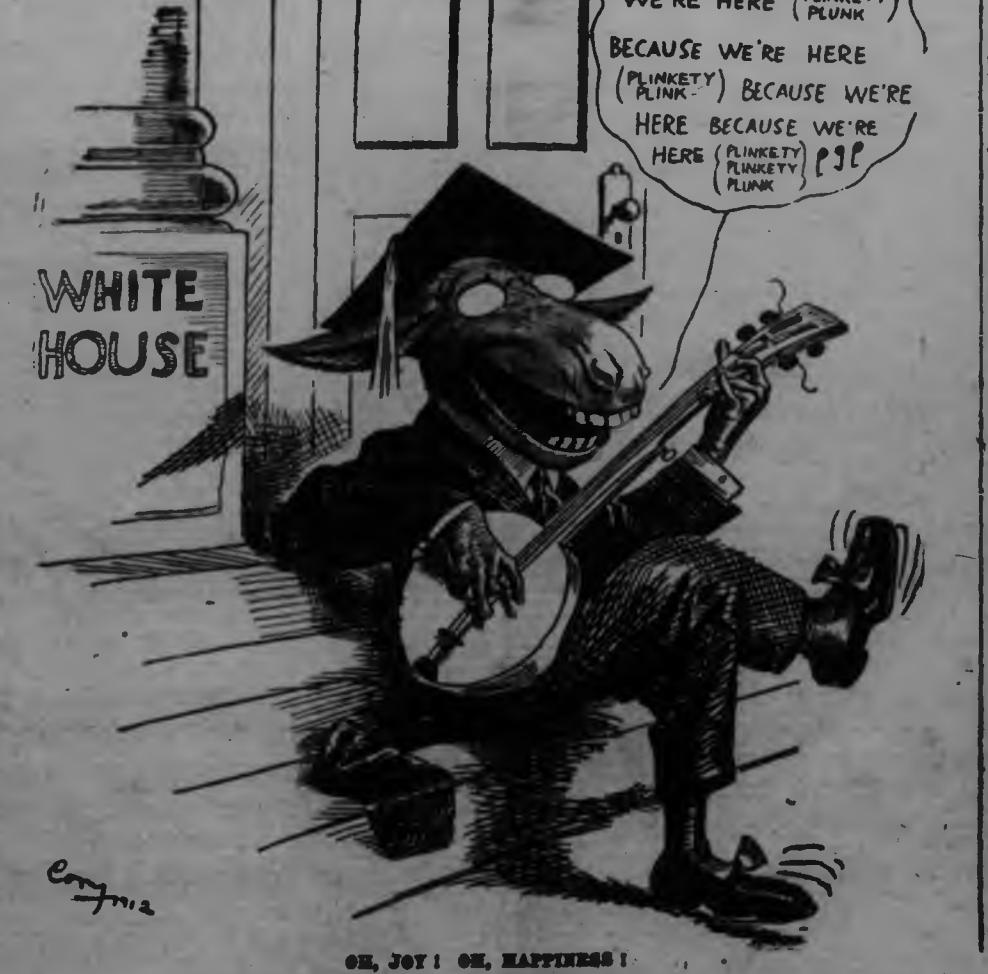

Two houses at Lynn Valley, on the north shore of Burrard Inlet, almost collapsed and a child was thrown out of a chair.

The motion was most severely felt by a man at the top of the eight-story Vancouver block, who narrowly escaped being precipitated into the street below.

No other damage has been reported.

IT ENDS RECRUITING FOR CANADA'S NAVY.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Armand Lavigne's opinion that Canada owes nothing to Britain doesn't appear to be echoed by the electors of Hochelaga.

A writer to The Times says that Socialism is a system for turning water into wine, kerosene into oyster soup, and boulders into bread, by passing resolutions.

Louis Cyr, the strongest man in the world, died at the age of 49 and was for twelve years before his death an invalid. Muscular strength is not always indicative of constitutional strength.

Automobile wrecks are so frequent now that when men appear on the streets all bruised, bumped and cut up, it is impossible to tell whether they are the heroes of a football game or the victims of a wreck.

We note that some of our Liberal contemporaries are solemnly discussing the menace of Socialism, but they ought to recognize the fact that a country which has survived fifteen years of Liberal rule is able to stand anything.

The board of education has raised the compulsory school age to 16. London is the first municipality in Ontario to take advantage of the new act. If it is vigorously enforced there will be among boys and girls less waste of time, at an age when time lost can never be regained.

Rev. Donald Guthrie in a sermon in a Montreal church, gave bad cooking as a chief reason why many men rush to the saloons. This may in a measure be true. But what about well-off drinkers who are used to good meals and who persist in patronizing the bar in great numbers? It must be bad thirst that bothers them.

Last year Canada gave $2,216,432 for missions and spent $9,653,247 on automobiles. We contributed on an average 31 cents per capita for home foreign and city mission work, and $11.30 per capita for intoxicating liquor. These figures are given by the Laymen Missionary Movement, and they will tend to allay any fears that Canada is about to be plunged into poverty by reason of too great generosity toward missions.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING

Ornamental street lighting has become one of the indices of progressive cities. The town is now regarded as vigorous and alive, or as falling behind the procession, in the proportion that it has original and attractive illustrations of Rhat lighting can be to make streets the brilliant thoroughfares that may be made of them when lighting is made a problem of municipal engineering. The first thing that is proved in the lighting is common, is such an advance in rental value of property as to make the lighting pay for itself, not only once, but several times over. Rental values increase in like proportion.

Nothing attracts the multitude at any time of year more than to have a section of streets brilliantly illuminated. Say what we will, the great mass of the people love light as they love music and they will go where they find light, just as readily as they will go where they find music. But the lighting, like the music, must be free, because the great multitude of people cannot afford a daily expenditure for either light or music. No street celebration is regarded as complete any more, without having some portion of public streets open to special and brilliant lighting. It is regarded as an indispensable way for drawing the crowds. Some cities, however, are wise enough to encourage streets lighting of the ornamental kind, in order to attract people from without the city, as well as those within it.

They do it with a view to entertainment, rather than for business in the ordinary sense, because most stores are closed in the evening, except on Saturday nights, so that the idea is not to get people out to do shopping, but to have the pleasure of seeing the abundant and novel forms of lighting that may be employed.

If Peterborough were celebrated in proportion to its resources and its principal business streets were lighted with such originality as to make it notable on that account, it would reap its reward many times over. Some day Peterborough will astonish the country in this regard and the title of "Electric City" become one of its great advertisements. For mankind are like flies and are found of the light.

J. B. Watson Realty Company Organized—Will Handle Basano Property

The J. B. Watson Realty Co., (Montreal) Limited, have just obtained letters of incorporation from the Dominion Government.

The active members of this company are J. B. Watson, C.A., of Calgary, Alberta, where he has carried on a successful real estate business for the past five years and E. G. Vroom, Real Estate broker, Montreal.

Mr. Watson already has offices in Calgary and Revelstoke and is just opening an office in Victoria, where he has just purchased 100 acres of land about three miles north of the post office. This property is being syndicated at $1,500 an acre, and considering the rapid growth of Victoria, offers a most attractive investment. They also own property in most of the leading cities of the West. The Montreal office which will be under Mr. Vroom's personal supervision is (in addition to their local business), pushing the sale of Basano, Alberta, an advertisement for which appears in another column.

This wonderful young town certainly offers special attraction to invest in Western real estate.

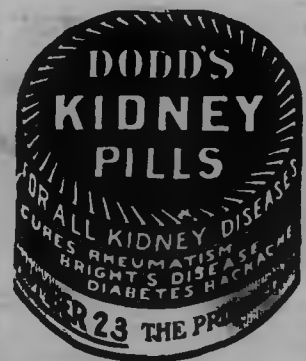

The personal standing of Mr. Watson and Mr. Vroom should be sufficient to guarantee that what they recommend is all right.

BOY'S NECK BROKEN AS WAGON SEAT FALLS

Kingston, Nov. 22.—His neck broken, George Dick, an Orphan's Home boy employed by William Hamilton, Woodburn Road lived but a few minutes to-day after he was struck by the heavy seat of a milk wagon. Young Dick had delivered milk for Mr. Hamilton at the cheese factory and got off his wagon to fix on a can which had fallen; in some manner his leg became caught in the wheel. In trying to extricate himself he caught hold of the seat, which toppled over on the boy, striking him on the back of the neck.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flat. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, LL.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 800 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remarkable applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Library and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia."

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

QUEBEC SOLID FOR NAVY

All But Two Are Looking Towards a Prompt and Generous Contribution

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The indications are that little opposition will come from Quebec to any proposal made by the government looking toward a prompt and generous contribution to imperial naval defence among the government supporters from Quebec. Only two defections are anticipated, namely, Hon. F. D. Monk, and Mr. P. E. Lamarche, M.P. for Nicolet.

Curiously enough both of these gentlemen are at present kept away from the capital by illness. Mr. Monk has been constantly under the care of a physician at his home in Montreal since his return from Atlantic City some days ago and his condition at times has caused the gravest anxieties. It is not likely he will be able to take any part in parliamentary proceedings for some time to come and Mr. Lamarche may not come to Ottawa until after the Christmas holidays.

TURKS BOAST 500,000 TROOPS

Say Allies Have None to Draw Upon, But Victors Say They Have

London, Nov. 23.—Nothing has developed within the last twelve hours to show whether the Turks will find the proposed modification in the terms offered by the Allied Balkan nations sufficient to induce them to agree to an armistice preparatory to a definite peace.

Manipulations now on their way to Tebalia on behalf of the allies are reported to be carrying with them fresh terms of peace in a modified form that may open the door which is still regarded as standing ajar for their reception.

The Ottoman Government points out that it still has half a million soldiers to draw from, while the Bulgarians have none. The allied Balkan nations however, retort that they are now in a position to march 500,000 troops who have heretofore been engaged elsewhere to swell the beleaguered forces in front of the Turkish lines at Tebalia.

Should the war continue, it is assumed in military circles that an attack will soon be opened on the forts along the Dardanelles, whose fall would permit the Greek fleet to bombard the Turkish capital.

In the meantime a nerve-racking stream of rumors continues to pour out from Vienna of the mobilization of Austrian and Russian troops and to these rumors is added one from Prague, which says five German army corps have called up their reservists. These rumors accord badly with Premier Asquith's statement last night as to the prevailing harmony among the European Powers. Officials here quickly follow each story of the calling up of reservists by the various armies, but the denials fail to dispel the general gravity as to the situation.

FAMOUS OLD MONASTERY WHICH IS LIKELY TO BE RUINED DURING PRESENT WAR

THE MONASTERY OF ROSSICON ON MOUNT ATHOS

PLAN FOR HOLDING UP BORDEN NAVY BILL IN SENATE FALLS TO THE GROUND

Senate, Led By Sir George Ross, Certain to Support Government's Naval Policy

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The political sensation of the hour at Ottawa is the selection of Sir George W. Ross as leader of the Liberal majority in the Senate. It is regarded as a direct slap at Sir Wilfrid Laurier as it is well known he was not his selection for leader. The choice of Sir George is regarded as highly significant as it is looked upon as a triumph for the anti-reciprocity and imperialist wing of the Liberal party. Sir George Ross was strongly opposed to the reciprocity campaign and only very recently openly declared that it was a dead issue. He is also a strong believer in an advanced navy policy and never took strongly to the old Laurier navy plan.

Engineered His Election.

The Liberals in the Senate who shared the same views as Sir George quietly engineered his election. He was an absolute dark horse and his name had not been mentioned. A secret ballot was taken and resulted in his election by 25 to 20 for Senator Boock. His election means that the plan which Laurier and some of his Lieutenants in the House had been formulating of holding up the Borden Naval bill in the Upper Chamber with the idea of forcing, possibly an election, will now fall through.

Have Senate Block It.

The plan was to pass the emergency bill in the Lower House with a great hurrah, the Liberals giving their support and then have the Senate block it, talk it out or block its passage. The election of Sir George Ross defeats the scheme and means also that the emergency bill will pass the Senate without serious opposition. With Sir George Ross as leader, it is not anticipated there will be the wholesale slaughter of Government measures marked last session under the leadership of Sir Richard Cartwright.

Sir Wilfrid Amused.

That Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the reciprocity and anti-imperialist wing of the Liberal party are very amused over the action of the Senate caucus is freely acknowledged. The comments of some of the members of the Lower Chamber on the elevation of Sir George Ross to the leadership, are not highly flattering to the former Ontario Premier. This election has completely upset the Liberal plans.

JEALOUSIES OF BALKAN STATES SUREST GUARANTEE OF PEACE

Unexpected Renaissance of Turkish Power in Last Lines of Defence Will Hasten Settlement

London, Nov. 24.—The clouds on the European horizon shows signs of lifting, though occasional flashes of lightning dissipate confidence that the storm is completely passed. The task of redrawing the map of south-eastern Europe is not likely to be accomplished without trouble and ill-feeling. The main difficulty lies in adjusting Serbia's claim to a seaport on the Adriatic with Austria's dog-in-the-manger policy of refusing to another what she cannot have herself, and her selfish desire to keep Serbia hand-locked, and therefore a commercial adjunct to Austria-Hungary. Austria also views with alarm the possible creation of a great Slav nation, to which her Slav provinces might gravitate.

These considerations would promise inevitable trouble but for the fact that the allies do not appear to possess full harmony. Jealousies of long-standing between the Balkan States composed for the special purpose of breaking the Ottoman power, show symptoms of renaissance in the hour of victory. This added to the unexpected power of the Turkish resistance at Tebalia, and the fact that practically all the troops of the allies are already in the fighting line, leaving no reserves for the prolongation of the struggle, accounts for the modification of the attitude of the Balkan States towards peace, and will facilitate subsequent arrangements. However, in a situation so obscure, the expected does not often happen.

In the betting the Tigers were favorites by 5 to 4. The game resulted—Tigers 12, Alerts 8.

INDEPENDENCE OF ALBANIA HAS NOW BEEN PROCLAIMED

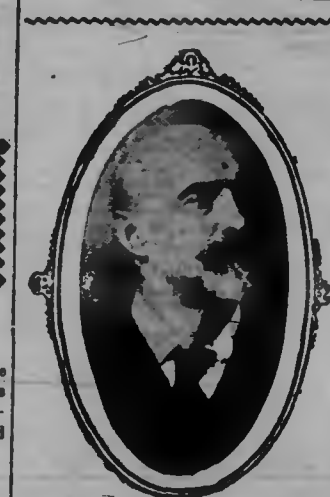

Alies Grand Concession to the Turks For The Surrender of Tchabalija

Special to The Times.

London, Nov. 24.—The Balkan allies are understood to have waived their demand for the evacuation by the Turks of the lines of Tchabalija, and are willing that the garrison of Adrianople should march out with the honors of war, according to the Pall Mall Gazette. They insist, however, on the surrender of the fortress of Adrianople itself.

The Porte, on the other hand, demands that Adrianople remain invested pending the armistice, as the French fortress of Belfort did during the Franco-German armistice in 1871. The independence of Albania has been proclaimed at Durazzo by Ismail Kemal Bey, the leader of the Albanians, according to a report published in The Allgemeine Zeitung, today.

SIR EDWARD CLOUSTON, BART. FALLS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

LATE SIR EDWARD CLOUSTON.

MADMAN RUNS AMUCK

Minneapolis, Nov. 23.—Henry Polker, aged 26, an escaped madman, is dead, and Matthew Lenzen, aged 26, and Leonard Lenzen, Jr., aged 10 are in the hospital here as the result last night of the running amuck of Polker, near Hamlet, Matthew Lenzen received four bullets in his body, but according to the physicians he has a chance of recovery. Leonard is not seriously injured.

Polker, who was sent to the hospital for the insane at Rochester last spring, after it was alleged he had set fire to various farm buildings, last night rode to the home of Leonard Lenzen, near Hamlet, and firing thru a window, shot the two youths, who were seated in a family group about a fireplace. He then left his horse and proceeded to a barn on the farm of his father, who was not aware that his son had escaped from the hospital. Sheriff Langum and a posse found him there, and were kept a bay for more than a hour. Polker threatening death with his rifle. Finally, as he ran from the building firing steadily on the posse, he was instantly killed by a bullet from the revolver of a deputy sheriff. No one of the posse was injured.

One of Best Known Canadian Financiers Dead in Montreal, After Few Hours' Illness—Former President Canadian Bankers' Association

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The death of Sir Edward Seaborn Clouston, Bart., one of the best known bankers and financiers of Canada, occurred here today.

Sir Edward fainted this morning while engaged in a conversation with a friend in the Royal Securities Building. Recovering a few moments later he objected to be removed to the hospital, contending that he was all right. On the advice of his friends, however, he allowed himself to be conveyed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where an examination was made.

The hospital authorities at first issued a bulletin announcing that the baronet's condition was not very serious and that the fainting fit had been brought about by acute indigestion.

About 2.30 p.m. Sir Edward's condition began to grow rapidly worse and he passed away at 2.45 p.m., death being due to apoplexy.

Sir Edward Clouston was connected in one capacity or another with twenty large financial and commercial concerns and is reported to have been worth well over a million.

In private life he was a generous supporter and worker for practically every charitable organization in the city.

He was a great sportsman and in his younger days distinguished himself as an athlete, playing lacrosse, football and racket equally well. He captained a Canadian team which played Harvard University football team in 1875.

GIBSON FOUND GUILTY OF THE MURDER OF JOSEPH ROSENTHAL

Jury Returns Verdict After Short Deliberation—Circumstantial Evidence Was Plea of Defence—Dead Man's Sons Venomous

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Without a tremor or even a flush of his cheek, Charles Gibson, who since last Monday morning, has been on trial charged with the murder of Joseph Rosenthal on Good Friday last, listened to the jury foreman announce the verdict of "guilty" at 2.05 p.m. in the Criminal Assize Court on Saturday.

Aubrey Bond, defence counsel, immediately arose and asked Chief Justice Sir William Mulock for a reserved case on the question of the admissibility of evidence of Eli Denbaldman with regard to the assault upon him on that fateful night. His Lordship will dispose of Mr. Bond's action on Monday at 11 a.m.

"I thank God my poor father is avenged," muttered Harry Rosenthal son of the murdered man, when the verdict was announced. Later, as he passed the dock in which sat the prisoner, he hissed the word "dog," at Gibson.

Just after Gibson had eaten dinner he was offered the services of a spiritual adviser. In a clear voice Gibson thanked the offer. "I'm not guilty," he declared, "or I couldn't feel the way I do now. I didn't do it." Gibson at this time said he expected a disagreement amongst the jury.

Counsel Defends Gibson.

In one of the shortest and most powerful addresses delivered in the Court room, Defence Counsel Bond put before the jury arguments as to Gibson's innocence.

"Do you think this weak boy of 20 years would smash up a man the way Rosenthal was found? Was it the job of a man intent on robbery, or was the job of two or more men?"

Mr. Bond impressed upon the jury the inadmissibility of convicting on circumstantial evidence. "No one," he said, "saw Gibson lay hands on Rosenthal. The Crown says the fact of Gibson giving his wrong name and having bloodstains on his clothes is evidence of guilt. But has someone an ax to grind? Is there treachery here?"

Prosecutor's Reply.

Crown Prosecutor Meredith in reply, scouted the statement that Gibson could not have done the deed. "Anyone could have done it had they had a hammer in their hands. Why is the name of Almighty God should Denbaldman seek to send Gibson to the gallows by swearing to what he did, if it were not true?"

"The prisoner might have had some one there to assist him in his deed, but if he did, he is just as guilty as the man who struck the fatal blow."

Evidence of Soldiers.

With regard to the evidence of the three soldiers, which was a strong factor in the defence, the chief justice asked the jury if it was feasible they could with such a short glimpse of the men upon the bridge that night, describe them with any degree of accuracy.

"One of them tells us he had been to a building here, where there had been a big of beer, and was hurrying back to barracks to get more beer before the canteen closed. Was he in a condition to accurately set the time, or describe men whom he met, on this occasion?"

At 12.15 the jury retired, and the court adjourned till 2 o'clock, when the jury returned their verdict.

WAS KING OF JUNGLE

ENGLISH SAILOR HAD AMAZING
ADVENTURE IN AFRICA.

Engineer on a Freight Liner Took a Holiday to Shoot Big Game on the East Coast and Was Captured by Blacks—Fought the Native Ruler and Got Throne by a Strange Accident—Wives Too Many for Him.

Stranger adventure than that which befel an Englishman on the East Coast of Africa is seldom met with outside the realms of fiction. While hunting in the jungle he fell asleep, was brought before a tribal king, fought that potentate, became ruler because of the attachment for him of a sacred monkey, and entered into full royal possession, including the dusky harlot. His rule was of short duration, for, according to his own account, the "sixteen wives" practically heaped him off the throne. His escape also makes thrilling reading.

The story of Mr. Hugh Edward Gilhepie is told by The Manchester Dispatch. Mr. Gilhepie is a native of Newcastle, who, after serving an apprenticeship at Hawthorn, entered the service of the Prince Line nine years ago, and at the time of his adventure was, as he still is, second engineer on the Royal Prince, and had long nourished the desire to have some big game shooting.

"I happened to have obtained the necessary leave, and, with a guide, set out for the jungle. Coming on the trail of elands, they followed it up until the tracks became stronger. The guide suggested their separating as he to come on the game from two sides, and this was done.

Alone, Gilhepie followed the trail until he felt he was either lost or in danger of it, whereupon he tried to get his guide by shouting, but no answer came. Tired, weak and hungry, he sat down to contemplate the situation, but fell asleep.

He was roughly awakened by a number of natives, who took possession of his rifle and revolver, and marched him to their village and before their king.

The natives bowed to their monarch, and tried to make the Englishman do the same. This he refused to do, and, as they persisted, he lost his temper and struck out with such effect that three of the natives were on the ground.

The king, evidently incensed at the treatment of his men, made a blind rush for Gilhepie. As he came on with his head down, like a mad bull, Gilhepie stepped aside and delivered a telling blow which laid him on the ground. No fewer than six times did the savage make similar bull-like rushes, each time to receive exactly the same telling blows.

Then he tried close quarters, and for fully half an hour the two fought, wrestled, and wriggled on the ground, each getting a blow in when the opportunity offered. At last Gilhepie delivered the "knock-out," and while he was recovering his breath and generally pulling himself together the strangest thing happened.

A little monkey, which had been sitting at the side of the throne, ran to Gilhepie and climbed on his shoulder.

The natives prostrated themselves face down on the ground and gave utterance to weird cries. The rest of the story is best told in Mr. Gilhepie's own words. "An old chap, with a big staff, the head carved in the shape of a strange bird, came towards me and bowed. Then he pointed to me and motioned towards the throne. I then began to realize that I was chosen to be their king. I walked towards the throne, and the natives chanted a weird heathen song. When I sat down, with the monkey still on my shoulder, they observed me and then they brought the king back to consciousness. He took a good look at me upon the throne, and said madly into the forest.

"I was duly made king by the chief medicine man. I soon learned how it all came about. The monkey, it seems, was a sort of personification of the god which lived in the depth of the jungle, whom the natives worshipped, and when it jumped on my shoulders they accepted that as a sign that their god chose me as their ruler.

"But my trouble began very soon. All because of the royal wives, of whom there were sixteen. The man who finds himself heaped by one wife is to be pitied, but think of a man heaped by sixteen! That was my case.

"These wives were strings of lions' teeth as necklaces, and they were always wanting more. I sent the hunters of the tribe out to get more, but they were unsuccessful, and my wives yammered and scolded day and night in consequence. After I had been king of the tribe for about three weeks I concluded that the job was not to my liking, and I decided to escape.

"One night, when the sixteen females had nagged me until my head was swimming, I slipped out of the hut, stole through the village, and made for the woods. I did not get far when I heard a noise which made my blood cold. I thought my sixteen wives were on my trail, but when I looked back I saw it was only the sacred monkey. That monkey was my salvation, for it took me in the right direction. About sunset next day, when I was famishing for food and water, I came on the camp of an English hunting party.

"Well, to make a long story short, the Englishmen guided me back to Mombasa, and when I went on board the Royal Prince the crew thought I was a ghost.

"It is a strange story, but it is true. And if Sophia—that is the monkey's name—could only speak, she would confirm every word of it. I did not inherit royalty; I had it thrust upon me, and I have had sufficient of it."

Evenly Matched.

London has about 9,000 milk shops and about the same number of public houses.

The Chief Whip.

A Ministerial Chief Whip has plenty to do in these days, but one day of his office has disappeared. Under "wooden spoon" Hotten's Slang Dictionary quotes from The Illustrated Times: "Every year at the close of the session, as our readers know, the Ministers dine together at the Trafalgar. Well, after dinner, the Chief Whip produces his account and reads it aloud; and it is said that the man whose name appears in the division list the smallest number of times has a wooden spoon presented to him. When the Derbyites were in power last, Sir John Pakington, it is asserted, was the successful candidate for the spoon. Mr. Whitelaw presenting it to the right honorable baronet with infinite humor and fun." Obviously the idea was borrowed from the wooden spoon bestowed upon the last junior optician in the Cambridge Mathematical Tripos.

Sir Herbert's Wit.

Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, the famous English actor-manager, has a reputation as a wit also.

When he appeared at the Palace recently, a fellow variety artist, given to halting everybody by Canadian names, saluted him with "Hello, Herbert!" Sir Herbert, who was accompanied at the moment by Lady Tree, responded by shaking hands and asking leave to introduce "My wife, Maude."

One day, at rehearsal, Sir Herbert asked a youthful actor to "Step back a little." The player did so. Tree eyed him critically—and went on rehearsing. After a time he repeated the request. "A little further back." The youth obeyed. Surprising him, Tree went on with his work. Shortly afterwards he again asked him to step still further back. "If I do," expostulated the youth, "I shall be right off the stage." "Yes," said Tree, "That's right."

SUCCESSFUL IN NEARLY EVERY CASE.

That miserable nervousness and half-sick tired-all-the-time condition is due also to a clogged-up system. You grow irritable and despondent, you lack ambition, energy seems all gone. Street road to health is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will make you feel like new all over in a short time.

Writing from his home in Barre, Vt., Mr. Frederick G. Mayer states: "I think no one ever suffered as severely as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms of this evil condition of my system that I realized I must find a remedy. I tried strong pills of various kinds I tried several after their first effects were over to make me feel worse and I did not know which way to turn for relief. I saw Dr. Hamilton's Pills advertised, and the first box used satisfied me. I found a true remedy. In stead of griping with undue activity, Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted as naturally as if my system had not been taken. I never had to increase the dose and, indeed, within a month I reduced it, and when the system finally acted of its own accord, I took a dose twice a week only, just to make sure the old condition would not come back."

No other remedy cures constipation and biliousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they are an ideal family remedy for all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold in 25c. boxes, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or The Oatmeal Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

KILLED HIS WIFE AT HER REQUEST

Paris, Nov. 23.—M. Bagnery, a newspaperman and former procurer de la République at Arles, whose wife had suffered from the agonies of an incurable malady, yesterday yielded to her of repeated requests, and killed her with three revolver shots. The couple were very attached, but her sufferings made the wife twice attempt to commit suicide. M. Bagnery surrendered to the police after he had ended his wife's sufferings.

One of the very crookedest streams anywhere in the Otago river in New Zealand. In that region they tell of a farmer living on the banks of that river who had a small catboat, which, one day, he loaded with produce and floated down to market, six miles away. He exchanged the produce for goods at one of the stores and loaded his goods in the catboat.

"Now are you going to get your stuff home, BERT?" asked a friend. "Get a plankboat to tow you back?"

"I am going to float it back," was the response.

"I guess you don't know much about this river. It doubles on itself just before here and runs back to within less than a quarter of a mile of my place. I've got a landing on both banks, and a team of horses that can drag the boat over from one landing to the other."

BUILDING HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

Contractor is Getting Supplies in and Work of Construction Will be Rushed—Sixty Miles of Grading Done.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—The energy and determination of Hon. Frank Cochrane in pushing the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway is bearing fruit. Grading has already been done for a distance of sixty miles, and with the whole line now under contract work will be rushed next year. The contractor, J. D. McArthur, is getting his supplies for the construction work on the ground this fall and is confident of completing the road by 1914. The Hudson Bay project, which under the former government was never more than a project, with a habit of living up on the eve of elections, has become a certainty since the new government took hold of the question. In two years the railway will be there, and the West will have what it asked for so long in vain from the Laurier government. The building of the line is being undertaken in a businesslike way by the Minister of Railways, who has availed himself of the best engineering advice obtainable.

INTERESTING MAP SHOWING FORTIFICATIONS SURROUNDING TURKEY'S CAPITAL.

THE Chataldja position consists of a thirty in number, which from their commanding vantage situation, along a ridge five hundred feet high, constitute an effective defense of the capital. In the rainy season the swamps and marshes which extend almost parallel with the line of forts would render the approaches almost inaccessible. The railway from Adrianople to Constantinople traverses the line at Chataldja and Baghchebashi. The lines themselves were designed by von Bismarck in 1877, at the beginning of the Russo-Turkish war, and in 1878 the Russians for a time lay in front of them. In recent years they have been considerably strengthened, but no report on the present state of the line has come in. As our military correspondent showed a few days ago, says the London Times, it is known that many of the guns in them were taken to Adrianople, but during the last month the movable armament and even heavy guns from the Bosphorus may have replaced those taken away, while the flow of men from Asia Minor may have allowed a large garrison of reserve troops to be thrown into the line. It is estimated that about seventy thousand men would be required adequately to hold the various forts and batteries.

SERVIA MUST YIELD NOW BEFORE HER OWN AND RUSSIA'S ARMIES ARE READY

Austria Will Send An Ultimatum Demanding Immediate Submission—Withdraws Warships From Constantinople and Smyrna to Enforce Her Position—Is Better Prepared Than Rivals

Belgrade, Nov. 25.—Following a Cabinet Council, at which King Peter presided here today, the Government notified Austria that Serbia cannot definitely define its attitude until the end of the Balkan war.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—The German Foreign Office has not deviated from its previous attitude of confidence that an amicable settlement of the Austro-Serbian controversy will be reached.

London, Nov. 25.—The withdrawal of the Austrian warships Admiral Spaun and of the Austrian contingent of bluejackets from Constantinople, with the sudden and unexplained departure for an unannounced destination of the Austrian squadron which has been lying at Smyrna, are factors which are disturbing diplomats who see in a close union of all the great powers the only hope of a peaceable solution.

From Vienna, too, comes the information that the Serbian War Office has recalled all the Serbian troops that can be spared from the columns operating in the neighborhood of Pristina and Mostar, and that the fortifications of the Serbian capital are being hastily supplied with heavy artillery.

Will Fight Unless Serbia Yields.
The Austrians deduce from these facts that Serbia is not disposed to yield, and a pacific settlement of the Austro-Serbian dispute seems to them difficult of realization if Serbia's demands are maintained as an irreducible minimum.

These were outlined by Premier Pachitch of Serbia this morning. He declared that a MINIMUM REQUIREMENT TO SERBIA'S NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT WAS ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE AND A FREE AND ADEQUATE PASSAGE TO THE ADRIATIC SEA. This, according to the Serbian statesman, meant her possession of a stretch of coastline of about thirty odd miles, which would be joined to the present territory of Serbia by a strip of what was Old Serbia.

The minimum is declared to be wholly incompatible with the Austro-Serbian contention that Albania should be autonomous, as it would cut Albania in two and confine the autonomous Province to a stony and poverty-stricken district, unable to maintain an independent existence.

Diplomats Despair of Peace.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Relations between Austria-Hungary and Serbia are now so strained that political circles in Vienna have abandoned hope of the preservation of peace, according to the Neue Gesellschaftliche Correspondenz, which says it has its information from a diplomatic source.

Despite official Austrian denials of the reported mobilization of the Austro-Hungarian army, the Correspondence declares that five army corps have actually been already mobilized and the reserves continue to be called up in large numbers.

The Austro-Hungarian Government continues, it is resolved not to wait the return of the Serbian troops operating against the Turks, and AN ULTIMATUM TO SERBIA MAY BE EXPECTED WITHIN A FEW DAYS.

AFRAID OF A "SHOW-DOWN" ON THE PROPOSED NAVY BILL

Liberals in Quandary—High Cost of Living a Theme—Government Will Be Attacked For Not Mentioning Redistribution in Speech

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—This afternoon the House will start work in earnest when the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne will open. It will be moved by J. Rainville (Chamby-Verchere) and will be seconded by W. F. Nickle (Kingston). Some twenty members, mostly Liberals, have up to this time given notice of their intention to speak and as the Government for the first few days at any rate will likely put up speaker for speaker, the debate probably will last for several days and possibly until the end of this week.

Navy Bill Next Weekday.
This means that the navy bill will not be brought down probably until a week from today.

Premier Borden is guarding carefully the contents of the bill and while there have been many rumors as to its nature they are all more guesses and there is nothing known of an authoritative nature.

It is understood that the Opposition will take exception to the criticism in the speech from the throne of any reference to redistribution and it is possible that an amendment may be introduced to the address calling for the introduction of a bill at the present session.

Omission of Redistribution.
This question will no doubt be the subject of discussion at the initial caucuses of both parties which will be held early this week.

To Outside Civil Service.
The Opposition will also criticize the Government for not foreboding in the speech a bill to extend the civil service act to the outside service. It will be urged by them that the Government has now been in power long enough to give effect to this part of the Conservative programme.

The high cost of living, alleged changes in the grades of the national transcontinental, the Macdonald by-election, and dismissals from the public service will form the chief themes of the Liberal orators in the debate.

Afraid of a "Show Down."
The Liberals are in a quandary over the navy bill and the election of Sir George W. Ross as Liberal leader of the Senate, has not tended to clear the atmosphere for them. His appointment has accentuated the cleavage in the Liberal party between the reciprocity and the anti-reciprocity sections and the Imperialists and anti-Imperialist wings of the Liberals.

The selection shows that the anti-reciprocity and Imperialist wing is in the ascendancy in the Senate and it is said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is afraid if it came to a "show-down" that the same would be true in the Commons. For this reason it is not believed the Liberals will be inclined to show much fight on the navy question and that the bill will pass unanimously.

BOARD OF TRADE WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE TALKS TRENT CANAL

A Committee is Appointed to Organize Big Deputation To Go to Ottawa to Request The Government to Hastily Complete The Trent Canal

Last night the Board of Trade met in the Council Chamber to discuss the question of sending a big deputation to Ottawa to request the Government to hasten the completion of the Trent Canal.

President Eastwood took the chair. Amongst those present were J. J. Turner, Jr., V. Eastwood, Jamieson, J. R. Stratton, E. W. J. Ackerman, J. C. Shook, Dr. Morrison, R. W. H. A. M. Hosom, Pres. Colonial Oil Co., Seattle, W. H. Moore, Ald. W. J. Johnston, C. H. Pennefather, E. Bartlett, J. B. McWilliams, W. H. Denham, Ald. Duncan, R. R. Fair, W. H. Meldrum, G. C. Wainwright, R. C. Braund, H. Dene, Ald. Dufour, J. English, A. H. Stratton, D. Hall, J. H. McCallan, F. Kerr.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. Eastwood asked members of the committee formed last meeting to assist English immigrants to come to Peterborough, to report.

Mr. Pennefather noted that eight families with 27 members, had been brought to the city at a cost of $700.

President Eastwood explained the object of the meeting, viz.: to impress on the Government the necessity of completing the Canal. There are still $300,000 of the Government grant unexpended. The Georgian Bay should be finished.

Mr. Stratton said he had discussed the growth of Peterborough with a Quaker Oats official recently, whilst on the train. The Quaker Oats official assured him that if the Canal was completed, his factory would be doubled. It is desirable, in such matters to work in with "the powers that be."

A deputation advocating the completion of the upper and lower sections should be appointed. He thought it would be well to communicate with the member for West Peterborough.

Mr. Eastwood said he had a letter from the member for West Peterborough advocating the sending of a strong deputation to Ottawa. It is now up to the Board of Trade to appoint such a delegation.

Mr. Stratton noted that, now a telegram had been received from the member, the way is made more easy. The northern section is important as the River Trent part of the Canal. Mr. Moore thought the northern section was the most important to this city to be finished. Mr. Eastwood explained that the section between here and Lake Ontario is being pushed as rapidly as possible and all under contract. Mr. Moore thought the Georgian Bay section had not yet been surveyed.

Mr. Eastwood thought a committee should be appointed to secure a first class deputation. Mr. Denham agreed with Mr. Stratton that both ends of the canal should be taken up. The high cost of coal here has a tendency to shut out some factories. He had spoken to Mr. Burnham and was told by him that a big delegation would carry weight with the Government. We are equally interested here in water conservation with completion of the

IRISH COMEDY DRAMA ON SATURDAY NIGHT
Bernard Daly, the clever young Irish singer, with his happy infectious laugh, his beautiful tenor voice and his handsome manly face will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, commencing Saturday, Nov. 30th, Matinee and Night, presenting his popular romantic Irish comedy drama "Dion O'Dare," under the management of the Broadway Theatre Company. The play is purely Irish in locale and all the characters are historical. It relates to the adventures of a young Irish lad, who rises from the humble position of a poor boy, and becomes the most famous sculptor of Ireland. There is a sweet love story running through the piece, of an Irish girl, whose birth is of higher degree than O'Dare's, but all ends well and Dion comes to Dublin as the honored guest of the Lord Lieutenant General and finally wins his sweetheart.
Mr. Daly will sing several songs, especially adapted for his play, among which are: "Many Years Ago," "Rose Servade," "See-Saw," "Call of the Wind," "Macushla," and the latest compositions, "The Rose of Yesterday" and "Love is Like a Shoggy-Shu."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Lord is certainly tempering the weather to the shorn Peterborough coal consumer.

No matter how she may be the stocking of a fat girl is always well filled at Christmas time.

The high cost of living will soon be supplemented by the high cost of Christmas-living, which proves the truth of the saying that this life is just one damned thing after another.

Most foreigners admire the freshness of the Canadian girl, but it does not appear that any of them have been favorably impressed by the freshness of the Canadian boy, who, as a rule, is peculiarly fresh.

The announcement that a Cornell professor succeeded in keeping a headless cat alive is causing a great many people to wonder why he was not called into the case of the Republican party in the United States.

Judge Landis, of $20,000,000 Standard Oil Co. fame, was once an usher in a theater. That may explain some of his actions on the bench. He may confuse stage money with real money in some instances.

A few days ago a horse bit off the chin of a man in Indiana, and now we are thinking of what a great orfament of the output of noise there would be if the horse got busy on the spellbinders during the coming campaign.

A news item says Philadelphia has a new dance called the chicken flip, which makes us suspect that it was invented by the person who was looking on when the jackpots with the chickens and heard that unscrupulous animal advice every fellow to take care of his own toes.

THE WORLD MOVES.

There were six states of the American Union in which women were allowed to vote at the recent Presidential election, California, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. And four states were added to the list as a result of the recent voting: Arizona, Kansas, Michigan and Oregon. Wisconsin voted on Woman Suffrage but defeated it. And so the world moves, some folks would say, and others, we suppose, down.

NIGHT SCHOOLS.

The City of London, Ont., has adopted the Adolescence Act, and now all boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and sixteen must attend some form of educational classes, either in day or night school, or else satisfy the Board of Education that they are smart, either mentally or physically, to comply with the new law. The notice of the School Board is a good one, but it cannot be said that the idea of a lad of fifteen who is working nine or ten hours a day being forced to attend school in the evening is very apt to be looked upon with favor by either the parents or the public. If there could be some arrangements made by which the boys and girls might spend half the day at school and half at work it would probably be a better plan.

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES OF CATARRHOZONE AT-FORD BUREST AND QUICKEST CURE

Catarrh is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest and throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritation, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrh. There is nothing so sure to cure and to those in fear of changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lunge-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog, or damp can effect them—let them get Catarrh and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS

"I was unfortunate enough to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head," writes Miss Nora E. Jensen, well known in Hamper Grande, Md. An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils, and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in The Mirror newspaper about Catarrh, and sent to Smith Bros. drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrh cleared out my nostrils, cured the sneezing, coughing and all traces of catarrh."

Large size Catarrh, sufficient for two months' use guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes, 50c and 25c. Beware of imitations, and substitutes, and insist on getting "Catarrh" only. By mail from the Catarrh Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

SICK CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Christmas Appeal to the People of Ontario for the Hospital for Sick Children.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done by the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, for the sick and deformed children of this Province. Let me, in a few words, tell you of the steady growth of this Hospital.

In the year 1875 there were only six cots and beds, one nurse, 44 in-patients and 67 out-patients. In 1912 there were 250 cots and beds, 64 nurses, 1,294 in-patients and 17,862 out-patients.

During the 37 years of the Hospital's existence, 19,370 in-patients have been admitted, and 133,724 out-patients have been treated, a total of 153,094, or an average of 4,138 per year. Of the 19,370 in-patients, 4,495 were from places outside of Toronto. 9,644 of the total in-patients were cured, and 5,711 were improved. This is a great record.

Of the 1,294 in-patients last year, 341 came from 218 places outside of Toronto, so that the Hospital is not a local, but a Provincial Institution. In the Orthopedic Department in 37 years, nearly 700 boys and girls have been treated for clubfoot, and about 600 were corrected. Half of these came from places outside of Toronto, so surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

The Corporation of Toronto grants $25,000, not only for the city children, but towards the maintenance of all patients in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $15,000 annually to the funds of the Hospital.

Will you, kind reader, think of what your money will do? It helps to restore health, and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

Remember that your pocket-book must be the Hospital's friend, if the Hospital is to be the children's friend. Remember that Christmas calls you to open the purse of your kindness to the Hospital, so that the Hospital may open the heart of its help to the children.

Remember that your money can help the Hospital build a bridge over which the feet of little children may travel on the journey from sorrow to joy, from sickness to health, from death to life.

Please send a dollar, or more if you can spare it, to Douglas Davidson, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Hospital, or

J. Ross Robertson, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto

SPLENDID LOTS IN OTTAWA SOUTH

Ruskia Place, a New Subdivision, has been thrown open to the investor—Peterboro Capital Should be Interested.

The following, taken from the Ottawa Free Press, gives accurate information regarding this splendid subdivision. Practically half of these lots have already been disposed of to date, which proves their growing value as well as the great interest residents of the capital have taken in this property:

"Local realty investors have food for thought in the subdivision Ruskia Place which will be thrown open to the public Wednesday morning. This property is situated on the high level plateau just south of Billings Bridge and is in close proximity to Ottawa's new factory area right at the junction of the C.P.R. and the Canadian Northern Railway, Ottawa, South. What makes this property so valuable as an investing proposition is the fact that the entire subdivision contains slightly less than 200 lots and already options have been taken on a large number.

The Free Press has already printed the story about the Bishopric Wall-board Company's new $40,000 plant which is being erected there and already the road is being put on this building. This company has a large number of skilled workmen employed on its plant and the machinery is in course of erection for to start manufacturing within a few days' time. Besides this concern two other large industries have practically decided to build there and one has placed a large sum of money down as an option on the property. The prices of these lots in Ruskia Place are exceptionally low, the idea being to interest a large number of people there immediately. In fact several are only waiting the opening of the sale to pick up a few of the choicest lots before the rush starts.

Interested parties should take advantage of the company's invitation to visit this property without delay. Free automobiles leave every hour of the day from the Ottawa office of the Ruskia Realty Company.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While each fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantee is double for five years, and the company is so strong that it can absolutely guarantee the best policy of stock and mutual companies. The shareholders are composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

WHY SHOULD LABOUR BE TAXED FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SPECULATOR?

The following is the first of this season's contributions by Mr. Burnham, M.P., to the Ottawa Citizen on this all-important question:

The reform of taxation has progressed considerably since I responded to your invitation to make some remarks upon that question a year ago. There was some talk about it in various parts of Canada at that time, but it has now ceased to be merely an academic question and has become a live one, not only all over Canada, but all over the civilized world. That bare land should prosper at the expense of improvements is contrary to the genius of modern economic thought and practice. The absurdity of it is well illustrated by what was actually a statute brought in and passed under the Ross Administration in Ontario. That statute set out that land used as farm land and over five or six acres in extent, must be assessed as farm land no matter where situated. The consequence was that in one particular instance in the city of A—twenty five acres was assessed as farm land and immediately after was divided up and sold at $25 a foot frontage. This, of course, was a scandal, but since the people that have always anxious to assess those of the same class, it fell to the lot of those who have not to raise a disturbance, but not being as fast of the statutes they did not know about it, and let it go. That is no longer, however, a statute in future no doubt there will be a disposition everywhere to exempt improvements and to saddle their former share of taxation upon the unearned increment which is as much a matter of justice as it would be to hand out a pair of boots that have been duly bought and paid for. This action will throw land upon the market and tend to discourage that most vicious form of speculation known as land speculation. It will give a boom to building and to good buildings, it will give work to the workman and a chance for him to get land at its normal value. In a word, if land speculation means vast sums to land speculators in future it will bonus labor by just as much. Local opinion on the question is a mere matter of time. It is surely nothing less than tyranny to oppose it. What right has any government to refuse to carry out the request of a municipality in this respect? It is a matter for the municipality only. It concerns it alone. If the land tax is the salvation of the West as it has proved to be, why not of the East? Are we prepared to give the West this enormous advantage over us? Societies for the study of economics have been grossly lax in the matter of municipal taxation, but a light is breaking in upon the whole question.

could not say whether the Government had decided on the route or not. The contracts on the southern end are all let. They have been held back by high waters. This section will be open in two years.

Mr. Stratton said he would not be a desirable member of the committee.

Dr. Morrison moved that City Clerk Armstrong be added in Mr. Stratton's place on the committee, as the latter cannot act.

Mr. Armstrong said he would not have time to do the organization work. He advocated the delegation.

He, in response to Mr. Moore, said he could act with the assistance of a clerk.

Mr. Eastwood suggested that Mr. J. J. Turner's name be added. This leaves the committee composed of Messrs. Pease, Ponsfather, Armstrong and J. J. Turner, Jr.

It was decided to have the deputation go about the middle of January. The meeting then adjourned.

Peacock feathers are said to bring ill luck. The origin of this tradition is interesting. It is found in Falgrave's work on central and east Arabia, where the traveler says that, according to Mohammedan tradition, the peacock opened the market of paradise to admit the devil and received a very ample share of the devil's own punishment.

Original Meaning of "Sneb." "Sneb" meant originally in the land of its origin a person of phibian station, considered from the height of "birth." It was a word used with the downward eye, and upward nose of superior station or assigned to the faculty by a phibian convention. The Thackeray took it and rebuked with it the social ambitions of the vulgar.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

canal. Money cannot be spent better than in conserving the water of the Trent Canal.

Mr. Dunsen explained the cost of moving grain, via Montreal. All the mills in Ontario, shipping to Liverpool, are now handicapped.

Ald. Dunsen pointed out that this city is situated differently from where it was a few years ago. We are not as well situated as Cobourg or other towns for manufacturing, owing to their railway competition. Peterborough is now on the eve of a boom.

The canal would boom the Quaker Oats and the Quaker Oats would boom the city. He commended in having a big deputation for Ottawa to show us more business.

Mr. Brown, knowing about freight matters, thought that the canal would benefit the whole community. He mentioned the freight rates on sugar from Montreal. We pay 3 cents a hundred more on sugar from Montreal than Toronto, beyond us, does. Toronto has water competition.

Dr. Morrison said a speedy completion of the canal is necessary. The best way to get the Government to complete it is a deputation. Strong pressure against this will be brought by members who do not understand go to improve on the Government that the canal is a live issue. The county councils and Boards of Trade along the south should be enrolled. He suggested Mr. Stratton, Mr. Dunsen and Mr. Ponsfather as a committee.

Sept. McClellan said his jurisdiction only extends to Lake Simcoe. It would not be his place to outline in public, the policy of the Government. As far as he knows, beyond Lake Simcoe, the Government has a large number of surveyors busy on the Severn River. It looks as though the route will be along the Severn River. A deputation would draw the Minister's attention. He

And I will either sell en bloc or in 160, 320, and 640 acre parcels.

The Naas Farmers will have the best of markets in Prince Rupert, Stewart, and Ground Hog Coal Fields, and the Prairie Province, for all the Fruit, &c., that can be produced

Mr. W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, is reported as follows in the Prince Rupert Journal:

CLOSE TO THE CITY.

"On April 28th, I left Prince Rupert, in company with Mr. R. O. Jennings, road superintendent; Mr. J. F. Carpenter, assistant horticulturist of the Department of Agriculture, and Mr. George Drewry, on a tour of inspection of the agricultural valleys tributary to Prince Rupert.

ON THE NAAS.

"Our first stoppage was at Port Nelson, at which place there is a cannery. We then proceeded to Mill Bay, ten miles farther up the Naas, then called in at the Indian village at Fisher Bay. At this place we transferred to a smaller launch, and proceeded to Grenville. Shortly after leaving Grenville the valley widens out considerably, and large areas of rich silt land occur on both sides of the river. These lands are principally covered with a growth of cottonwood. The soil formation is rich, alluvial silt, with a gravelly sub-soil and in some cases clay. The clearing should be comparatively inexpensive, and the land should grow magnificent crops.

"The trip up the river is one not to be forgotten. The climate appears to be mild and equable. The deciduous trees are all coming into leaf. I should estimate that it is not more than a fortnight later than the Southern end of Vancouver Island. From what I was told summer frosts do not occur in this valley.

VALLEY WIDENS.

"We left Grenville on April 30th and passed several Indian villages with their usual collection of totem poles. Proceeding up the river the valley widens out more with the same splendid soil formation. We got to Gwinoha about the middle of the day. The name of this place signifies 'Oh, how beautiful,' and it is aptly named. There is an Indian village here, with very good land in every direction. Taken as a rule, the clearing is light, and should average from $25 to $100 per acre. Peavine and other vegetation was growing luxuriantly, being nearly one foot in height. The country is well watered with numerous creeks.

"We left the launch at Gwinoha and walked to Aiyanah, fording the River Kahigwinmah, a glacier-fed mountain stream. There is unlimited power for electrical purposes in this river. Aiyanah is two or three miles past the river, an ideal location. The name of the place signifies 'Eternal bloom' and it is justly named indeed. Wild flowers are already out, and vegetation generally luxuriant. It is quite a large Indian settlement when they are all at home, and number about 500. Many fine glaciers may be seen from Aiyanah. To the south the Senax Valley stretches and contains a very large area of first-class agricultural land. Across the river to the west of this valley are the lava plains which are estimated to be about 130 years old, at which time there must have been an eruption from a neighboring mountain. The old crater is supposed to be what is now the lake, called Lava Lake.

IMMENSE AREA.

"East of Aiyanah the Naas Valley stretches a wide beautiful tract of country for 30 or 40 miles, and must contain probably as much as 500,000 acres of land, the majority of which cannot be excelled for agricultural purposes. This valley is divided into two separate valleys by a ridge; that on the north, for a distance of over 20 miles from Aiyanah, is a pre-emption reserve; that to the south is taken up by purchase. The latter comprises the best land in the valley. If the Company that owns it institute a land settlement policy, it will be a good thing, otherwise it is a pity that this valuable land is not available for pre-emption purposes.

"The country hereabouts rises from the river in a series of plateaus or benches, the quality of the land being generally good. Of gravelly and stony land there is very little. Samples of soils taken by means of the soil auger which we carried show a sandy loam, with sandy soil as the poorest land, and river silt varying in depth to six feet, with friable clay sub-soil, and in some cases gravelly sub-soil as the richest. The ground is principally covered with a growth of willows, alder, birch, poplar and hemlock, and would cost at a rough estimate from $10 to $100 to clear. On the river level the timber is heavier; cost of clearing therefore would be higher. The phases of agriculture which would probably be best adapted to this country are, first, small fruit and vegetable produce; second, dairying; third, poultry raising; and, in fact, general mixed farming. The growing season, considering the latitude, is fairly long, and the growth would be very rapid during the season, considering temperature and length of days.

A GREAT FUTURE.

"To summarize, I may say that these valleys have a great future ahead of them as a feeder for the coast cities, and also of the prairie provinces on the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Owing to their nearness to the markets of the middle west, there will be a great future in small fruits and vegetables, which should grow as well here as in any part of the province, and better than many. It is primarily a country for small fruits. Hay and grain crops will ripen well and should yield heavily. The country is also particularly well adapted to dairying, especially the lower Naas valley. When these valleys are opened up by railway connection, they will force rapidly to the front, and prove some of the most productive valleys in the whole province, and provide homes for thousands of settlers. I understand that railway construction is likely to be proceeded with in the near future through these valleys, and it certainly will be a good thing when this is put into effect.

In a recent interview Mr. Scott stated this was the finest Valley and the finest block of agricultural land he had seen in British Columbia.

When the Railway is completed in three to four years, this land will sell from $30.00 to $75.00 an acre.

There is nothing better than Naas Valley Lands, but I can offer buyers the following tracts in other districts should they prefer.

- 100,000 acres Cariboo, near Quenael.
- 64,000 acres Bella Coola.
- 96,000 acres Teta Chuck Lake.
- 50,000 acres Omineca Land District.

I guarantee my Locators' Reports and if land is examined before July 1st of next year and not found up to the mark I will refund money or exchange for another parcel.

If you are looking for Victoria City Real Estate I can suit you and make you good returns.

Should you be interested, write or wire me for ANY INFORMATION you may require.

Naas Valley Lands are SELLING RAPIDLY, and I would recommend quick action.

Abbas Hilma, the Khedive of Egypt, owes much of his success as a ruler to his linguistic attainments, which are remarkable even for a monarch. During the course of an "audience day" it frequently happens that his highness discusses questions of state with the British diplomatic agents in faultless English, with the French representative in equally perfect French and with the German in German. Later he will conduct all affairs with the Sultan's representative in Turkish, then preside over a council of his ministry, where all the details of policy are discussed in Arabic. And at night he will be at the theatre listening to opera in Italian.

What is Your Vocabulary?

Shakespeare produced all his plays with about 15,000 different words; Milton's range comprised about 8,000; and the old Testament's limit is 5,000. A person of good education seldom exceeds 4,000, while many people are limited to about 300.

A Misunderstood Toast.

Even a toast is liable to be misunderstood. Mr. Hickwood in his book "Good Chevi" refers to an anecdote preserved in Notes and Queries "which tells that during the short lived peace of Amiens (1802) the chairman at one of the city banquets proposed the toast of 'the health of the three present cuisiniers,' which the toastmaster took up in his florid and somewhat pompous manner, and by mistake or a happy inspiration translated into the health of the three per cent capitalists. The company, we are told, received the toast with great enthusiasm."—London Standard.

Ethel Smyth, Suffragist.

One of the several heads of the suffrage movement in England who take pride in having suffered punishment for the cause is Miss Ethel Smyth. She is a doctor of music and an opera written by her, Der Wald, was given some years ago. Miss Smyth put woman's demand for the vote into a choral song which she wrote last year and which proved to be a great success. It was called "1910" and played, symbolically, a meeting of suffragettes in Parliament square, London, and their encounter with an anti-suffragist mob.

Miss Smyth is a brilliant woman and the militants take pride in naming her among their leaders.

Baden-Powell to Wed.

An engagement recently announced in London is attracting attention in many lands. It is that of Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, chief of the Boy Scouts. The news of his wedding is nearly fifty-six and his fiancée, Miss Olive Soames, about twenty-two. General Baden-Powell, in talking about his romance, said: "The affair is not so new as you might imagine. As a matter of fact, I had been travelling in the West Indies when I went there in January."

Forgot Himself.

She—My husband is a brute. Friend—All men are brutes, dear. She—Mine is simply abominable. I asked him if he did not think you as pretty as I, and he said "Yes."

Yammas—Aye. I'm sometimes disappointed in you. I think there's a need for everlasting punishment, but when I think of that unprincipled scoundrel McJuckle I have my doubts.

Bees are 15 cents a dozen in mid-winter in Seville. The cost of theater tickets is not usually more than 40 cents. But railway travel for short distances costs nearly 4 cents a mile.

Snake bites on a cure for consumption is mentioned in Sanghrit writings as having been practiced for five or six thousand years.

SWISS WRESTLERS.

Curious Contests in Which They Display Marvelous Strength.

Wrestling seems to be an international sport, but one of the most curious styles to be seen is probably that of the Swiss. There is generally an immense meeting of the wrestlers every year, called the "Swissfest," meaning literally the "festival of swinging," and to this festival come the mountain men from all parts of Switzerland.

It takes place in an immense arena, generally four or six couples wrestling at the same time, with stands around for the audience. The men who are wrestling each wear a pair of short knickerbockers, very loosely worn, and made of some stout material, with a leather belt at the top to strap it on round the waist over their costume, and the idea is to catch their opponents by these knickerbockers and throw them. Both shoulders must touch the ground, and the men are not allowed to hold their opponents except by the knickerbockers.

Of course it is mainly a question of brute strength, and on nearly all occasions the mountain men prove the better of the townsmen. Very often a man will throw his opponent clean over his shoulder through the air, and when one considers that this must be done only by gripping a piece of sailcloth or such like material in either hand, at the height of a man's torso, some idea can be gathered of the marvelous strength shown on these occasions.

SYNOPSIS.CHAPTER I—Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Grace Van Horne, ward of Capt.
Eben Hammond, leader of the "Come-outer" religious sect, offers to assist her financially if she will remain. She declines. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused.CHAPTER II—Capt. Ebenham Daniel, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet.CHAPTER III—Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Elery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Elery causes a commotion by attending a "Come-outer" meeting.CHAPTER IV—Elery's presence is bet-terly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace Van Horne, her guardian and Elery's supporter, her home in the main. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the package of safe money through fog and storm.
Elery sends Keziah writing a letter to some one, including money in response to a demand. She is seriously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat."Well, there they was, about, but with their upper riggin' gone and the compass smashed flat. A howlin' north-wester blowin' and fog thick as ever.
Such was a whippersnapper, a degenerate woman, Lafayette and Hamilton was swayin' in the scupper—and that ain't an exercise they're used to, neither—even 'Rije was mighty shook up and worried—he says he was himself. But Nat Hammond was as cool and re-frainin' as the bottom of my well up home.""Then Nat suggests gettin' the spare compass and, lo and behold you! there wasn't any. Compasses cost money and money's made to keep, so Zach thinks.""So there they was. Wind was fair, or ought to be, but 'twas blowin' hard and so thick you couldn't hardly see the jib boom. Each he wanted to anchor, then he didn't, then he did, and so on. Nobody paid much attention to him.""What'll we do, Nat?" says "Bije."
He knew who was the real seaman aboard."Well, if 'twas me, I wouldn't anchor till I had to. Prob'ly 'twill fair off tomorrow, but if it shouldn't, we might have to lay out here all day.
Anyhow, we'd have to wait for a full tide.""I'm afraid we're off the course," says "Bije," "else we'd be across the bar 'n' his time.""Well," Nat tells him, "if we are off the course and too far inshore, we would have made the bar—the Bayport bar—if not the Trumet one. And if we're off the course and too far out, we'd ought to have deeper water than five fathoms, hadn't we? Course I'm not sure, but— What's that, landsman?""Three and a half, sir," says the fellow, "edgin' in somewhere. Nat be-tween, for all the world like a dog catchin' a scent, so 'Bije declares.
"Tell you I smell home," says Nat, calm and chipper, "and I'd know that"Better Get Aboard, Hadn't You?"smell if I met it in Jericho. Ha! there she deepens again. That was the bar and we're over it."
"The wind had gone down to a stiff sailin' breeze, and the old Debby 8, slapped along afore it. Sometimes there was twelve foot under her keel and sometimes eight or nine. Once
'twas only seven and a half. Zach and 'Bije both looked at each other, but Nat only smiled.""Oh, you can laugh!" hollers Zach.
"Tain't your vessel you're runnin' into danger. You ain't paid out your good money—""Nat never answered; but he stopped smilin'.""And all to once the water deepened. Hammond swung her up into the wind.""Now you can anchor," says he.
"And 'bout time, too, I guess," says
'Bije. "I callate the skipper's right.
This is Horsefoot and we're right between the shoals. Yes, sir, and I hear breakers. Lively them!""They hove over the mudhook and dropped the sails. Nat shook his head.""Breakers or not," says he, "I tell you I've smelt home for the last half hour. Now, by the jumpin' Moses, I can taste it!""And inside of a couple of shakes come the rain. It poured for a while and then the fog cleared. Right across their bows was Trumet, with the town clock strikin' ten. Over the flat place between the hills they could see the light on the ocean side. And they was anchored right in the deep hole inside the breakwater, as sure as I'm knee high to a marlin spike!""Bije just stared at Hammond with his mouth open.""Nat," says he, "you're a seaman, if I do say it. I thought I was a pretty good bay pilot, but I can't steer a vessel without a compass through a night, as black as Pharaoh's Egypt, and in a thick fog besides, and land her square on top of her moorin'!""If my hat wasn't afloatin' around thirty mile astern, I s'um it I wouldn't take it off to you this minute!"The minister shut the door behind his departing guests. Then he went out into the kitchen, whither the housekeeper had preceded him. He found her standing on the back step, looking across the fields. The wash bench was untenanted."Hum!" mused Elery thoughtfully.
"That was a good story of Captain Mayo's. This man Hammond must be a fine chap. I should like to meet him."Keziah still looked away over the fields. She did not wish her employer to see her face—just then.

"I thought you would meet him."

she said. "He was here a little while ago and I asked him to wait. I guess Zeb's yarn was too much for him; he doesn't like to be praised."
"So? Was he here? At the Regular parsonage? I'm surprised."
"He and I have known each other for a long while."
"Well, I'm sorry he's gone. I think I should like him."
Keziah turned from the door.
"I know you would," she said.CHAPTER VI.In Which Captain Nat Picks Up a Dereel.It is probable that John Elery never fully realized the debt of gratitude he owed to the fog and the squall and to Captain Nat Hammond. Trumet, always hungry for a sensation, would have thoroughly enjoyed arguing and quarrelling over the minister's visit to the Come-Outer meeting, and during the fracas, Keziah's person might have been more or less battered. But Captain Nat's brilliant piloting of the old packet was a bit of seamanship which every man and woman on that foam-bordered stretch of sand could understand and appreciate, and the minister's indiscretion was all but forgotten in consequence. The "Daily Advertiser" gloated over it, of course, and Captain Elkanah brought it up at the meeting of the parish committee, but there Captain Zeb Mayo championed the young man's course and pre-claimed that, fur's he was concerned, he was for Mr. Elery more'n ever. "A young greenhorn with the spunk to crisis singlehanded right into the middle of the Come-Outer school and give an old bull whale like Eben the gaff is the man for my money," declared Zebodee. Most of his fellow-commutees agreed with him. "Not guilty, but don't do it again," was the general verdict.Keziah watched anxiously for a hint concerning her parson's walk in the rain with Grace, but she heard nothing, so congratulated herself that the secret had been kept. The tide at Tru-met, on the bay side, goes out for a long way, leaving uncovered a mile and a half of flats, bare and sandy, or carpeted with sea weed. Between these flats are the channels, varying at low water from two to four feet in depth, but deepening rapidly as the tide flows.The best time to visit the flats—the serving, of course—is the early morning at sunrise. Then there is an inspiration in the wide expanse, a snap and tang and joy in the air. Elery had made up his mind to take a before-breakfast tramp to the outer bar, and so arose at five, tucked a borrowed pair of fisherman's boots beneath his arm, and, without saying anything to his housekeeper, walked down the lawn behind the parsonage, climbed the rail fence, and "cut across town" to the pine grove on the bluff. There he removed his shoes, put on the boots, wallowed through the weedy yellow sand forming the slope of the bluff, and came out on the white beach and the inner edge of the flats. Then he splashed on, bound out to where the flats were stowed, like webby fences, in the distance.A cart, drawn by a plodding horse and with a single individual on its high seat, was moving out from behind the breakwater. Some fisherman driving out his weir, probably. The minister had been on the bar a considerable time before he began to think of returning to the shore. He was hungry, but was enjoying himself too well to mind. The flats were all his that morning. Only the cart and its driver were in sight and they were half a mile off. He looked at his watch, signed, and reluctantly started to walk toward the town; he mustn't keep Mrs.
Coffin's breakfast waiting too long.

Weary Tiredness Changed to Vigor

THAT PLAYED-OUT FEELING WAS QUICKLY REMEDIED AND HEALTH RESTORED.

Story of a Merchant Who Almost Lost His Business and His Health Through Neglecting Early Symptoms of Disease.

"My life for years has been of secondary character," writes T. B. Titchfield, head of a well known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I disregarded the symptoms of ill-health, which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced—eyes and skin were yellow, my strength and nerve energy were lowered, and I was quite unable for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxative medicine I found weakening and knowing that I had to be at business every day I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was forcibly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed incredible that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant after effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gentle as nature—they gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared, and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect." "Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c boxes, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Cataract Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada."

Drinks Under Local Optics.

A Toronto despatch would indicate that local optics does not stop drinking entirely. Inspector Morrison has been operating in Durham, Northumberland and Durham counties, where "local optics" beer of too high a grade has been sold. Fines collected there within a few days amount to close on $2,000.

An Ancient Pipe.

Mr. W. Hartshorn, whose genial smile is so well known to Chemung Park cottagers, yesterday showed a Times representative a pipe of ancient lineage. The pipe in question, of some dark wood resembling, but not briarwood, with silver discs inlaid, which he has smoked continuously for over 20 years. What local smoker can beat this?

Played for Money on Sunday?

Three young men, named respectively, Jones, Jeffries and Bothwell will appear before the Cadi on Thursday to answer a charge of playing cards for money, on Sunday, in a Simcoe street barn. P.C.'s Brown and Bullock made a clear capture of the engaged in their fascinating little game of draw. About $5 in coin was gathered in by the cops.

Snow At Last.

We have "the beautiful" with us once more! On Sunday night beneath the white rays of the electric lamps, the local parks resembled a veritable fairy land. The trees were covered with a thick coating of frozen vapor. A few sleighs were out yesterday, but the merry jingle of the bells was often by the scraping of runners on road bed.

Another Port Hope Accident.

Another Port Hope accident is added to the recently list of that town's trouble. Harry Ornder, an electrician, working in the Provincial Steel Co. plant had his skull fractured by a flying fragment of steel through the heavy joints of the roof as though they were tissue paper. The piece of Ornder's skull, pressing on the brain, was removed. He will likely recover.

Pleased With Peterborough Pavement.

Mr. John Carow, of Lindsay, who was here last week to inspect Chambers street, pavement, interviewed by the Warrier, said, after enquiries as to cost, durability and life of this particular kind of concrete, he was well pleased with it and considers the same very suitable material for town streets. The cost does not exceed 80c. per square yard. Mr. Carow is contemplating the construction of a concrete street from Colborne to Elgin.

WHICH DIED FIRST.

McCahey $50,000 Estate Depending on Judge's Opinion.

As an aftermath of the drowning at Onnesome some weeks ago of Mr. and Mrs. McCahey, a delicate legal question has arisen. This, as Mr. McCahey died intestate, is to settle his or his wife's died first, because on that depends the inheritance of his $50,000 estate. The matter is carried to Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

The heirs of Mr. McCahey base their claim upon an axiom of law for such cases, "that the stronger liveth the longer."

On the other hand, the heirs of the wife base their claim to the inheritance upon the fact that when the body of Mr. McCahey was found, there was caught upon the hook of a trolling line, the other end of which was made fast to the wrist of the body, a fifteen pound fish. From this they argue that Mr. McCahey was drawn overboard first, and as his body was entangled in the line, his chance for remaining upon the surface and thus avoiding suffocation was less than that of the one who might, though perhaps only momentarily have delayed her own death by clinging to the canoe or by her struggles in the water.

SOWING HIS WILD OATS REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing their wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reformed but what about the seed you have sown—what about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of an undetected mis-DRUG, R. K. ARE YOUR REFUGE. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.

IT WOULD BE MADNESS TO PLUNGE ALL EUROPE IN WAR

English Papers Agree That The Interests of Serbia Cannot Be Considered For a Minute

New York, Nov. 26.—A special cable from London says: The press here is almost unanimous in denouncing the absurd reports forecasting a general European war over a strip of land for Serbia on the Adriatic.

The Daily Telegraph says: "All the great nations are working harmoniously to insure tranquility and are resolved to defer the awkward problems until the time comes when the whole situation must be considered."

The Daily News says: "A satisfactory feature of the messages this morning from Berlin, Vienna and St. Petersburg alike is the clear assurance that neither Germany, Austria nor Russia will willingly engage in war for the sake of the claims which Serbia is obstinately advancing."

Will Ferrouse Serbia. The Daily Mail says: "The friends and patrons of Serbia will be able to convince King Peter and his ministers that the calamity of a great European war will not be allowed to ensue on account of Serbia's ambitions and designs."

The Daily Express says: "There is no justification for extravagant alarms. The proper issue is a compromise capable of making a wise settlement in a spirit of reason and substantial justice."

Altogether Too Absurd. The Westminster Gazette says: "It will be an absurdity if on such a question as the access of Serbia to the sea it should even dream of Russia coming to blows with Austria, Austria dragging in Germany and Italy, and Russia dragging in France and Great Britain. MAD AS THAT."

The Standard says: "If the money markets can be brought into the belief that the great powers are on the brink of war the bears will rejoice exceedingly."

The Daily News says: "It is unthinkable that Serbia's desire for a port on the Adriatic rather than on the Aegean Sea should be allowed to provoke an appalling conflict."

ST. GEORGE'S CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT A REFINED OFFERING

Big Attendance Despite the Many Counter Attractions—Splendid Talent Displayed by a Strong Aggregation

The evening concert given by the St. George's Choral Society in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall last night was attended by a large and highly appreciative audience. The society is a strong aggregation of vocal talent drawn from the choirs of our city churches, and under the capable leadership of Mr. R. J. Devey are handling high class offerings with splendid effect. Last evening's programme consisted of exceedingly difficult choruses and solos from "The Messiah," part songs and male quartettes, and a very acceptable piano selection by Miss Pearl Ruth. The solo numbers were both tender and charmingly rendered by Mr. Geo. Chandler and Mr. Harold Lee. The two male quartette numbers were splendidly handled by Messrs. Chandler, Allen, Harris and Dickson; their second number, "There was a Boy," was refreshingly humorous, and delivered in excellent form. As to the work of the big and talented choir, they showed exceptional vocal skill and training in rendering some of the most intricate choruses ever written. "The Laughing Chorus," proved quite contagious to the delighted audience, who would not be denied a recall. The one part song from Mendelssohn's "Sleep, gentle babe" was rendered in a touching manner, repeated with pathos and sentiment and marked the choir as capable of big efforts in the future.

St. George's Choral Society, together with Conductor Devey, earned the fullest measure of credit last night in illustrating the tremendous scope of their education in high class vocal music, individually and collectively. And future offerings by this society will unquestionably be liberally patronized in recognition of a work that deserves the most substantial endorsement by all citizens who appreciate refinement in music. As Canon Davidson happily remarked last night, it is a pleasure to realize that in the St. George's Choral Society, members of the different Church choirs

INDEMNITY NOT TO BE MORE TO BE MORE

Cost of Living Has Gone Up But There's No Organized Move Afoot

NO HEAD OR FRONT

Matter is Discussed, But Members Aren't Paying Much Attention to It.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The somewhat stilted and unorganized movement looking toward and increase of present indemnity of members from $2,500 to $3,000 a year continues. The last increase was granted five years ago, but since that time it is claimed the cost of living has increased in a most perceptible degree. The business to be transacted by the House, it is claimed, is increasing in volume every year, and though there is some difference of opinion on this matter it is stated that conditions are correspondingly longer of late years. Rents and living generally at the capital are increasing every year.

The movement, however, has not so far extended among the members, only a scattered few advocating the increase, and the majority either opposing it or not paying any attention whatever. It is not expected that the agitation will concentrate itself sufficiently this session to be brought in the House.

GUNMEN TO DIE IN CHAIR

New York, Nov. 26.—"Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis, "Lefty Louie" and "Dago" Frank, the gunmen convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were sentenced by Justice Goff today, to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week of January 6th.

Each of the prisoners were sentenced separately and in each case their counsel moved that the verdict be set aside and the judgment be arrested. Each motion Justice Goff successively denied. One of the grounds for counsel's motion was that the jury had actually deliberated less than half an hour and that the verdict was the result of "passion, prejudice and other influences."

When they heard their doom pronounced none of the condemned men gave any outward sign of his feelings. Accompanied by Sheriff Harburger and twelve deputies the four were forced through a big, silent crowd outside the criminal courts building, thrust into the Black Maria and taken to the Grand Central station to catch the 11:55 a.m. train for Sing Sing. This is the train that Charles Becker took on his ride to the death house. He is to die in the chair during the week of December 9th.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Fall Session of County Legislators Asked to Join T.V.C. Deputation to Ottawa

Yesterday afternoon the fall session of the County Council of Peterborough, assembled for business with Warden Porter in the chair. All reported except Mr. E. A. Tanner, of Lakeland, who was in Toronto. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, after which a number of communications were read. The number for West Peterborough wrote the Council, asking that they organize a strong deputation to co-operate with other municipalities along the line of the Trent Canal, in urging upon the Government to hasten the completion of the waterway.

A letter was received from the Department at Ottawa in reference to the Brokenbridge, and requesting that the Council take immediate action.

The Peterborough Post Office Association made application to the Council for the usual grant. There show will be held in Peterborough on January 7th, 8th and 9th. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The matter of an account in connection with the Pigeon Creek floating bridge was referred to the committee on Roads and Bridges.

Real Christmas Weather

THE greatest snowstorm in the experience of England began falling Dec. 24, 1896, and continued during Christmas day. The snow in some places reached a depth of forty feet. All travel was blocked. There was no communication, not even between homes, and avalanches buried many people in their dwellings, where they were frozen.

LIBERALS WILL QUESTION THE REALTY OF EMERGENCY

Should Not Delay To Day of Possible Peril, Says Mr. Borden, But Prepare In Advance

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Late last night Premier Borden gave notice that he will move the first reading of the Naval Bill on Wednesday. Unless the Premier asks to have it stand over until the debate on the speech from the Throne is through, he will probably make his explanation of the bill then. The title of the bill is significant and is as follows:

"An act to authorize measures for increasing the effective naval forces of the Empire."

Mr. Borden, in his very brief utterances in the House yesterday, also made it clear that the Government believes that even if war is not imminent or there was not an emergency that Canada should assist the fleet of the Empire and be prepared for an emergency. The following are the Premier's exact words:

"I do not propose to deal with the naval question to-day, because the proposals of the Government will come before Parliament at a very early date, and we shall have full opportunity of debating the question. But he tells us that he has always heard that England feared no enemy. I would rather put it in this way that the Empire fears no enemy. But, Sir, the fact that the Empire fears no enemy is not a good reason in my estimation why we should delay to a day of possible peril that preparation which ought to be made in advance."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier also gave a hint of the policy the Liberals will likely follow and they will question whether there is an emergency, but while their criticism may follow that line it is not believed they will summon up enough courage to move an amendment.

YE OLD TYME MEETING A HUGE SUCCESS

Entertainment Was a Grand Success—Hundreds Were Turned Away—Will Be Put on Again on Thursday Night, for the Benefit of Those Who Could Not Gain Admission.

Ye Olde Tyme Ladies' Aids Bazaar meeting at Mohawk Crossroads, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Charlotte street Methodist church last night was a success both in attendance and interest. A fine musical program was rendered. All present had a most enjoyable time.

The members of the Ladies Aid did not anticipate such a large attendance, the church being crowded to the doors, and hundreds had to be turned away.

For the benefit of those holding tickets and who could not gain admittance to the meeting, this excellent entertainment will be put on again at the church on Thursday night.

BRITAIN SAYS SHE WON'T FIGHT TO SUPPORT SERBIA

Notifies Russia and France That She Will Not Go to War on Behalf of Any Power Backing Serbian Demands—Germany Urging Moderation

London, Nov. 26.—No change for the worse in the international political situation brought about by the war in the Balkans is visible to-day, except in so far as the continued tension decreases the ability of diplomacy to resist a rupture.

Great Britain, France and Germany are all giving counsels of moderation both at Vienna and St. Petersburg. There is also reason to believe that Great Britain has given Serbia, as well as Russia and France, to understand that she has no interest in Serbia's demand for a port on the Adriatic Sea. She has also told them she has no intention of supporting Serbia's claim by force of arms nor of aiding any other power to do so.

Casual Not Murdered.

The fact that the Austro-Hungarian Consul at Prizrend has arrived at Uskup, thus disposing of the reports of his murder, ought to be helpful, in the opinion of diplomats, in bringing about a general improvement of the situation. This removes one of the thorny points which have caused particular exasperation to the Austrians, and should tend to smooth their feelings.

The progress of the negotiations between the delegates of Turkey and of the Balkan allies at Thessalonika is still a sealed book. In diplomatic circles in London it is stated that Turkey has presented the following as an acceptable basis for an agreement:

First, no war indemnity.

Second, the retention by Turkey of the territory bounded by the Maritsa River, and the fortress of Adrianople to be included.

Third, the maintenance of the sovereignty of the Sultan of Turkey in Albania.

The Emperor of Russia received the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador in audience to-day at Tsarsko-Selo.

A SUCCESSFUL AT HOME.

Many Attend Function at Protestant Home and Were Well Pleased.

Yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock the beautiful and handsomely furnished building of the Protestant Home was thronged by a large assemblage of sympathizers with the situation and its inmates. The guests were received by Mrs. Roger, president, and Miss Lancaster, Superintendent, in the handsome board room, which was decorated with pink chrysanthemums. After making a tour of the building these present were escorted to the tea room where Miss Brown presided at the tea table. The table and room looked charming with its profusion of yellow mums and ferns. A very generous donation of jams and pickles was presented by the various guests, and one that will later on be enjoyed by the old people, and one that was very gratifying to the directorate and Superintendent.

There are now 24 inmates in home, 14 men and 10 women, who under the administration of Miss Lancaster seem thoroughly happy indeed amid their home-like surroundings. There are thousands of younger people in this City whose bedrooms would not begin to compare in comfort in appearance, with the quarters of those old people.

Asked by the Times whether she ever had any trouble with the old men getting fractious, Miss Lancaster smiled and replied, "Oh, No. When I came here a few weeks ago, I found the cook they had hardly know how to boil an egg. I quickly got rid of her and now have a good one. These old people are all happy and would do anything for me."

EDITORIAL NOTES

At some period of his life every man expects to make a fortune raising poultry.

Our local contemporary, the Review, says that poets are born and not developed. Likewise also there are those who preach their facts.

It is disclosed that the coal roads own about all the retail yards in Philadelphia. It is understood that they have the same ownership everywhere.

Indianapolis has appropriated $700 for small, steam-heated plates on which in cold weather the traffic policemen can stand. This beats the warm spot from which the barefoot farmer boy makes the cow get up.

The slaughter of the inoffensive Jerry is now at an end for another season. Reports from one hunting district state that the "sport" is growing quite tame, as one hunter holds the unfortunate buck by the antlers, while his partners shoot it.

The disappearance of many young girls in Montreal and Ottawa, and in smaller places near by, shows the reality of the white slave peril. In Montreal the matter is being taken up in a vigorous way by the press, though the police declare that much of the preventive work is out of their jurisdiction. No effect can be too great to help save girls from the worst of all fates.

WANT SCHOOL TAXES POOLED

In Ottawa there is an agitation among separate school supporters to have the school taxes pooled and divided according to population between the public and separate schools. Every without definite information on the subject The Times ventures to guess that in Ottawa the separate school rate is higher than the public school rate. Ottawa Public school supporters are hardly likely to concede further in the matter of separate schools.

THE NAVAL QUESTION

The big outstanding question of the present session is of course the proposal of Premier Borden to make an emergency contribution to the navy of the empire. An early announcement of the policy if the government is expected from the Premier without anticipating the policy of the government it may be said that he will present to the House proposals for aid to the navy which will be in keeping with Canada's position as the most important of the overseas Dominions. Consistent with the policy the Premier advocated while in opposition, the permanent naval policy will be drafted later after mature consideration, and it will be submitted to the people before finally becoming law.

FROM EDINBURGH TO LONDON

The suffragettes of Edinburgh, Scotland, a few days ago completed an overland march to London. The "army" was led by a woman, on horseback, and it required five weeks to tramp the 400 miles and when, footsore and weary, it drew up before the residence of Premier Asquith found that he had gone off on a hunting trip.

The leaders, therefore, were compelled to leave their petition for suffrage in the hands of his private secretary, but the reports say there was no disorder, the marchers passing through the streets in triumph with a band at their head, cheered by thousands of spectators.

Walking in the open air is a good exercise for women, and if the Edinburgh suffragettes are able to take five weeks off for carrying out such an impotent mission, the experience will be beneficial to their health if not to their cause. But they would have accomplished quite as much if they had forwarded their petition by mail, because the Coxy plan of impressing the "powers that be," as they must know by this time, is far from being a success.

TAG DAY WORKERS

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that "tag day" here was brought to such a successful conclusion, a thought suggests itself to me that "the laborer is worthy of his hire." Would it not be a graceful recognition of the splendid work done by the ladies and girls to give the workers, out of their collections, some tangible reward? I do not for one moment suggest any monetary consideration, which could not be offered and as certainly would not be accepted. Why not have a number of suitable medals of bronze or some cheap but appropriate metal designed and struck off. These could be presented to active workers in so honorable a cause. They might be given outright, or to be held for a year. In the latter case, suppose a girl works three years successfully, then let the medal become hers. This would have the double effect of recognizing their services and stimulating ambition for a future occasion.

Stops a Cough IN ONE NIGHT

CATARH and WEAK THROAT NOW CURED WITHOUT SWALLOWING DANGEROUS DRUGS

By Breathing the Soothing, Healing Vapor of Catarrhose. All Throat and Catarrhal is Quickly Cured.

It's simply wonderful to think how quickly a bad throat or catarrh can be cured with Catarrhose. Its rich balsamic vapor is carried along with the breath into the innermost recesses of the lungs, bronchial tubes, and chest, making it impossible for the germ of any disease to live. Thus soreness in the chest is at once alleviated—phlegm is loosened and ejected from the throat, old-standing coughs are removed.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth, and noises in my ears. It was chronic catarrh. Nothing gave permanent relief till I used Catarrhose. In one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of catarrh from my system."

PROMINENT MEN ENDORSE PLAN

Proposal to Observe Tuberculosis Sunday is Meeting With Wide Favor

The proposal to observe the first Sunday in December, which falls on the first day of the month, as Tuberculosis Sunday, is receiving endorsement from the leading public men and churchmen of Canada. Letters have already been received from Right Hon. R. B. Lorden, Mayor of Toronto, Rev. Dr. Carman, superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the Ontario Opposition, Archbishop Hamilton, of Ottawa, Bishop Sweney, of Toronto, Dr. Robert Falconer, President of Toronto University, and other prominent men, expressing their unqualified approval of the suggestion and of the work being done by the National Sanitarium Association in the fight against consumption.

Dr. Falconer's letter is typical of the many received in support of the plan for Tuberculosis Sunday. He writes: "Assuredly the work of the National Sanitarium Association needs no commendation from me. I am thoroughly in sympathy with its efforts to eradicate tuberculosis, and I hope that you will meet with great success in your present effort. All thoughtful citizens must be in deep sympathy with an endeavor to minimize or stamp out this disease, and thereby brighten the lives of many, as well as bring renewed strength to our national life."

Right Hon. Mr. Borden's letter reads as follows: "I esteem it a privilege to express my warm appreciation of the great work which is being carried on by the National Sanitarium Association. Every well-directed effort in the fight against tuberculosis demands the support of our people. The proposal that December 1st should be set apart as Tuberculosis Sunday commends itself warmly to my judgment. I trust that the movement may have every success."

ROYAL APPROVAL GIVEN TO MEMORIAL FUND

King George and Queen Mother Alexandra have been graciously pleased to approve of the project to raise a fund of one million dollars, to be known as the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives. The late King was deeply interested in the fight against tuberculosis, and the trustees of the National Sanitarium Association decided that it would be a fitting tribute to his memory to ensure the work in Ontario being carried on a more energetically and effectively. The first shots are now being fired in the campaign which is confidently expected to result in the fund being raised by the end of the present year, and strong committees have been formed to direct the movement. The lands, buildings and equipment already acquired by the Sanitarium Association are included in the fund at a valuation of $400,000, and as the city of Toronto is expected to give $200,000, this leaves $400,000 to be raised by public subscription. The purpose to which the fund will be devoted, include the payment of an accumulated debt, additional fire-proof buildings, Nurse's Home, improved water and sewerage system, etc. The balance will be invested as an endowment fund for maintenance.

Top Hat Disappearing.

Things that you don't notice are the things that are not there. We will pause for a moment to enable that great truth to permeate, then proceed to consider that one of the things you haven't noticed, though it was one of the most obvious things a dozen years ago, is the silk hat, which by some curious twist of fashion has almost disappeared. You may walk in those days through the parks and Piccadilly and Bond Street and find not one top hat in a thousand passersby. Twenty years ago the top hat was the uniform of all who did not get their beer in by the jug. To-day (surely you must have noticed it) a man in a silk hat is suspected.—London Chronicle

Dr. George White's Will.

Field Marshal Sir George Stuart White, V.O., governor of Chelsea Hospital, famous for his defence of Ladysmith during the Boer War, who died on June 24, left personal estate in the United Kingdom valued at $273,000, of which the personal estate in England amounts to $249,000. He left all his war medals, army decorations, and Orders that have not to be restored to the state upon trust to devolve as heirlooms, and the residue of his property, he left to his children in equal shares.

To Trap Beaver.

It is probable that the Ontario Department of Crown Lands will order the trapping of beaver in Algonquin Park this winter, as they have been multiplying so rapidly that complaints are being received from farmers in that region that serious damage has resulted to private property and public highways by floods caused by beaver dams on the rivers overflowing.

Chopping Sticks in Court.

Quaint ceremonies are perpetuated in London and one of the most curious is that of chopping sticks in court, as the annual rendering of quit-rent services by the corporation to the crown.

This took place at the Law Courts in the presence of a large gathering the other day, before the King's Remembrancer, Sir John Macdonell. Sir John was assisted by Mr. H. A. Hance, chief clerk of the King's Remembrancer's Department, who made the usual proclamation to the tenants and occupiers of a piece of waste ground called "The Moors," in the county of Salop, to "come forth and do your service." Then the city solicitor cut one fagot with a hatchet and another with a billhook. "Good service" was the acknowledgment by the King's Remembrancer.

Following that, the tenants and occupiers of a tenement called "The Forge," in the parish of St. Clement Dances, were exhorted to come forth and do service.

Six horse shoes and sixty-one nails were counted by the city solicitor, and acknowledged by the King's Remembrancer to be a good number.

This was the first occasion on which Sir John Macdonell had officiated as King's Remembrancer since he succeeded Sir James Mellor.

Curate Confounded.

James Macpherson was one of the preachers of Primitive Methodism. An amusing story is told of how, on one occasion, he put to shame a rather pompous curate. The two passing a Primitive Methodist chapel, the curate, either greatly daring or greatly ignorant, remarked with a sneer, "The preachers of that chapel are an ignorant set of men; they cannot even read the Bible." "Well," said Mr. Macpherson, "I am one of their ministers. Suppose we read a chapter together, verse by verse. Have you got your Greek Testament with you?" "No, sir," "I've got mine," said Mr. Macpherson. "Now, let's begin." He read the first verse, but the curate could not read the next; he did not know Greek!

He Knew His Society.

In "Things I Can Tell" Lord Rosemore gives this can. The first time he dined with the late Consuelo Duchess of Manchester he confused Portman square with Portland place and drove to the wrong house. Interrogating the butler at 45 Portland place, he said, "D'ye think it could be Portland street?" "He eyed me with the critical, comprehensive look of a butler who reads his Morning Post and said coldly, 'No, sir, certainly not—If she's a real duchess.'" Shortening of the Day.

For a long time it has been known that the tides act as a brake on the rotating earth and that they tend to lengthen the day. The effect is, however, so slight that it cannot be measured in any length of time at man's disposal. It may be estimated with the aid of certain assumptions and upon the data available MacMillan has made the necessary computation by the formulae used by engineers. He finds for the increase of the length of the day one second in 600,000 years.

Fog Influenza.

A new type of influenza which medical practitioners attribute to the recent foggy weather is occupying the attention of London doctors. The cause of the new ailment is believed generally to be the ordinary influenza bacillus, rendered more than ordinarily virulent by the depressing effect of the recent sunless, sulphurous days on the health of Londoners.

A MEDIAEVAL CUSTOM.

Lord Mayor of London Still Goes Through an Ancient Ceremony.

Perhaps no more curious or unique survival of a mediaeval custom is witnessed anywhere in Europe than that which takes place every Lord Mayor's day in London. This is an official visit of the Lord Mayor to the law courts.

In bygone days the King himself awaited at Westminster the coming of the lord mayor in a chariot of state, with a sword-bearer, mace-bearer, chaplain and gorgeously liveried coachmen and footmen. The forms have been changed, and the visit is now paid to the high court, but the spirit of the act remains, for the lord mayor opens his term in the Mansion House with a ceremonial involving recognition of the supreme authority of the crown.

The instrument used for expressing this traditional idea is an old-fashioned cocked hat. Then the lord mayor, in his robes of office, enters the high court with his retinue in costume he solemnly lifts his cocked hat three times from his head and salutes the Lord Chief Justice and the justices.

The judges wear robes and wigs when in court. For Lord Mayor's Day they have also a flat black cap which can be slipped over the top of the wig. The Lord Chief Justice and his associates return the lord mayor's salute gravely, but they do not take off their black caps. Were they to do this, they would place the crown upon a level of equality with the municipality. They greet the lord mayor without uncovering their heads and the principle of the supremacy of the crown is safe.

The lord mayor with his retinue subsequently visits the judges in other courts, to invite them to the Guildhall banquet. When the rustling noise of the procession is heard each judge jumbles in a drawer, pulls out a little square of black cloth, and crowns his wig with it. The lord mayor takes off his three-cornered hat three times and the justice on the bench bows but remains covered.

In all this display of cocked hat and black cap is preserved the ancient tradition of the supremacy of the British crown.

Hindu Superstitions.

Some very strange beliefs are recorded in a recent book by Mr. Edgar Thurston on "Omens and Superstitions in the Indian East." Every animal seems to have some superstition connected with it. Thus the sight of a jackal is very lucky for anyone going on an errand, while that of a hare bodes ill to a traveler, and that of a cobra or a rattlesnake should cause the postponement of a project. Pigeons are believed, on account of their habit of standing on one leg, to lead to poverty. If a house is infested by mosquitoes, or the furniture or bedding by bugs, the names of a hundred villages or towns should be written on a piece of paper, which is then to be cast into the water, and relief from the pests will be instantaneous. A human bone from a burial ground, over which powerful formulae have been recited, if thrown into an enemy's house, will cause his ruin.

Insanity.

An English authority, Sir George Savage, in giving advice to people in whose family there was insanity as to the question of their marrying, suggests that no one in such a case should marry before the age of twenty-five, which time the inherent symptoms of insanity would have made themselves apparent.

The Rajah Diamond.

The largest known diamond before the discovery of the famous Cullinan diamond near Pretoria, afterward presented to King Edward VII. of England, was the Rajah, which once belonged to the rajah of Malabar. It is an egg-shaped stone, weighing 357 carats. At one time the governor of Bombay offered for it $300,000, two war vessels fully equipped, a number of cannon and a quantity of powder and shot, but this offer was refused, the rajah believing that the fortunes of his family were connected with this gem.

Pulverized Diamond.

According to the Mohammedans of southern India, pulverized diamond is the most powerful, the most active and the most certain of all poisons. According to "Wilks's History," the powder of diamonds is kept on hand (by the wealthy only presumably) as a last resource. But a belief in the poisonous character of the diamond also existed in Italy in the sixteenth century.

London's Greatest Curse.

At Bloomsbury Chapel, London, Eng., Lord Hesketh said the greatest curse of London was that each district tried to benefit itself regardless of the interests of the surrounding districts. He would like to see a good deal more Christian feeling on the London County Council, for he wanted London to be united and successful.CHEW

Oil is The Fuel
of The FutureIn 1911 California produced more than 77,000, '000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California.
Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and new regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product.
Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Truro to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she has kept house. Grace Van Horn, ward of Captain Hammond, leader of the "Come-outer" religious sect, offers to assist her financially if she will remain. She declines the offer, and is indignantly refused.CHAPTER II—Capt. Ekanah Daniel, leader of the religious church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Truro.CHAPTER III—Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Elery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Elery causes a commotion by attending a "Come-outer" meeting.CHAPTER IV—Elery's presence in Truro is resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Elery escorts her home in the night. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet of late port safely through fog and storm.
Elery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, including money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat.The first channel he came to was considerably deeper than when he found it on the way out. He noticed this, but only vaguely. The next, however, was so deep that the water splashed in at the top of one of his boots. He did notice that, because though he was not wearing his best clothes, he was not anxious to wet his "other ones." The extent of his wardrobe was in keeping with the size of his salary.And the third channel was so wide and deep that he saw at once it could not be forded, unless he was willing to plunge above his waist.He hurried along the edge, looking for a shallower place, but found none.
At last he reached the point of the flat he was on, and saw, to his dismay, that there was the deepest spot yet, a hole, scooped out by a current like a mill race. Turning, he saw, creeping rapidly and steadily together over the flat behind him, two lines of foam, one from each channel. His retreat was cut off.He was in for a wetting, that was sure. However, there was no help for it, so he waded in. The water filled his boots there, it gurgled about his hips, and beyond, as he could see, it seemed to grow deeper and deeper.
The current was surprisingly strong;
he found it difficult to keep his footing in the soft sand. It looked as though he must swim for it, and to swim in that tide would be no joke.Then, from behind him, came a hall.
He turned and saw moving toward him through the shallow water not covering the flat beyond the next channel, the cart he had seen leave the shore by the packet wharf, and, later on the outer bar. The horse was jogging along, miniature keyers spouting beneath its hoofs. The driver waved to him."Hold on, mate," he called. "Be--there. Stay where you are. I'll be alongside in a shake. Git dap, January!"Elery waded back to meet this welcome arrival. The horse plunged into the next channel, surged through it, and emerged dripping. The driver pulled the animal into a walk."Say," he cried, "I'm cruisin' your way; better get aboard, hadn't you?
There's kind of a heavy dew this mornin'. Whoo, Bill!""Bill" or "January" stopped with apparent willingness. The driver leaned down and extended a hand.
The minister took it and was pulled up to the seat."Whew!" he panted. "I'm much obliged to you. I guess you saved me from a ducking, if nothing worse.""The horse, a sturdy, sodate beast to whom all names seemed to be alike, picked up his feet and pounded them down again. Showers of spray flew about the heads of the pair on the seat."I ain't so sure about that duckin'," commented the rescuer. "I guess likely we'll be out of soundin' if we tackle that sink hole you was under-takin' to navigate. Let's try it a little further down."Elery looked his companion over.
"Well," he observed with a smile,
"from what I've heard of you, Captain Hammond, I rather guess you could navigate almost any water in this locality and in all sorts of weather."The driver turned in surprise.
"So?" he exclaimed. "You know me, do you? That's funny. I was tryin' to locate you, but I ain't been able to. You ain't a Trumette, I'll bet on that.""Yes, I am."
"Tut! tut! tut! you don't tell me say, Shipmate, you hurt my pride. I did think there wa'n't a soul that ever trod sand in this village that I couldn't name on sight, and give the port they hailed from and the names of their owners. But you've got me on my beam ends. And yet you knew me.""Of course I did. Everybody knows the man that brought the packet home."The cart was aloft. The horse, finding wading more difficult than swimming, began to swim.
"Now I'm skipper again, sure enough," remarked Hammond. "Ain't gettin' seasick, are you?"The minister laughed.
"No," he said.
"Good! she keeps on a fairly even keel, considerin' her build. There she strikes! That'll do, January; you needn't try for a record voyage. Walk in's more in your line than playin' steamboat. We're over the worst of it now. Say! you and I didn't head for port any too soon, did we?""No, I should say not. I ought to have known better than to wait out there so long. I've been warned about this tide. I—""Sh-sh! that's all right. Always glad to pick up a derelict, may be a chance for salvage, you know. Here's the last channel and it's an easy one.
There! now it's plain sailin' for dry ground."The old horse, breathing heavily from his exertions, trotted over the stretch of yet uncovered flats and soon mounted the slope of the beach. The minister prepared to alight."Captain Hammond," he said, "you haven't asked me my name.""No, I askeed you more'n once. There have been times when I'd just as soon cruise without too big letters along side my figurehead.""Well, my name is Elery."
"Hey? What? Oh, ho! ho! ho!"
He rocked back and forth on the seat. The minister's feelings were a bit hurt, though he tried not to show it."You mustn't mind my laughin'," explained Nat, still chuckling. "It ain't at you. It's just because I was wonderin' what you'd look like if I should

Stomach Always Blinked, Had Constant Indigestion

SHELL OF COOKING MADE HIM SICK — BILIOUS TWO DAYS A WEEK

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Mr. Clemen's experience is not unusual. Nowadays poor stomachs are more the rule than the exception. But the proper treatment is sure to make a quick cure. You can always depend on Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they reach the trouble at once, go right to business, work while you sleep and have you feeling better if not cured next morning.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemen, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and I suffered from indigestion and action of the bowels. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills, regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon grew with me. I can now eat, sleep and live like a new man."

Be advised—see Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 50c. per box, five for $2.50, at all druggists and storekeepers or by mail from The Catabarbons Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

S.A. Concert at St. Paul's.

Last night the splendid band of the Salvation Army gave a second concert in aid of the General Booth Memorial Fund, in St. Paul's church. A good program was presented and as usual with this fine organization well rendered. A considerable sum was raised by the voluntary offerings to the amount of $15.30.

Contradict White Slave Story.

Chief Thompson takes exception to the remark made Thursday last in Knox Church by Miss Ratte, in her white slave lecture that "In this City were places which, if the ladies knew, they would hand together and wipe out." The chief, who possibly of all men, knows best what local conditions are, seems to consider the above statement as unfounded and a slur on the fair name of Peterborough.

A Charming Game of Bridge.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton gave a high tea to a large number of ladies on Monday night at her beautiful residence, Strathmore. After tea the tables were withdrawn and were replaced by card tables, for an interesting game of "bridge." The ladies were charmingly groomed, Mrs. E. J. Pierce and Mrs. Thompson attracting particular attention by their attire. The game was kept up as late as possible for those playing to catch the late cars. Mr. Goodwill and Mrs. Stapleton won the prizes.

Dispy Daly in Fighting Trim.

Dispy Daly's well known physician today bobbed up severely before the Court at yesterday's police court. It seems that Dispy had once more deluded with the joy water, and when taken to the station the preceding evening, felt like licking his weight in wild cats. Dispy has 10 days in which to save 20 cents a day towards his fine. Dennis Wilson got drunk, and using the probability of local option, passing an excuse to be left off the Indian list. This did not go, however, as Dennis was handed a $2 fine.

One Way to Size Up Farmers.

An observing farmer tells the Times that the following rules may be regarded as tolerably authentic:—
"When you pass a farm and see a large bar and a small house you may know that the man is boss; but when you see a fine house and a small bar, you may understand that the woman has things her own way; and when there is a good barn and a nice house you may take it for granted that the woman and man are equals and work together in harmony."

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB.

St. Luke's Church Organisation Elects Its Officers.

At a meeting of the Young Men's Club of St. Luke's church, the following officers were elected:
Hon. Pres.—Rev. F. J. Sawyers.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—Messrs. J. C. Turner, Jr., and Geo. Curtis.
President—Robert Long.
Vice-Pres.—W. A. Grossman.

SKIN PEELING NATURE'S AID TO NEW COMPLEXION

(From Woman's Tribune).

Mercurized wax is a natural beautifier. By taking of the dermalized surface skin, it merely hastens Nature's work. The second skin layer, brought gradually to view, exhibits the healthy youthful color produced by capillary circulation. This becomes the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is used by dust and dirt. This wax, to be had at any drug store (on once will do) is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off morning with warm water. Its work usually is completed from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause pain or detention looking. A face bath to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving an ounce of exfolite in a half pint with hand, is an other natural beautifier, since its anfricting and tonic effects smooth out the wrinkles in accordance with Nature's own process.

A SPLENDID CHARITY.

Peterborough Health Association Sells Stamps to Pay Their Rents.

Now that Christmas is beginning to loosen up purse strings and our thoughts naturally are bent on doing kindly deeds, there is a local charity well worth serious consideration. As is generally known, the Peterborough Health Association, of which Mrs. W. H. Dunsford is president, have engaged the services of an expert trained nurse, who is devoting her time, health and skill towards caring for the sick, but especially those suffering from tuberculosis, the "Great White Plague." It is in need of funds to carry out its noble work, and the association has issued thousands of special stamps. These stamps are slightly in appearance and sold in perforated sheets like those used in the post. The stamps sell at one-cent each.

CERTAIN DRIFT TOWARDS WAR BRINGS MOVE TO EAST EUROPE

Envoys of Turkey and Bulgaria Discuss Terms of Peace
Riding in a Parlor Car

London, Nov. 27.—The fact that the European powers have at least realized that they are drifting towards certain conflict tends to relieve the immediate tension of the international political tangle into which the Balkan situation has now developed. The belief that Great Britain, France and Germany will succeed in averting the threatened general European war has been strengthened within the last twenty-four hours. It is now asserted that Austria-Hungary is prepared to agree to the question concerning the future of Albania and the desire of Serbia for a port on the Adriatic Sea being settled in connection with all other issues raised by the Balkan war as was recently proposed by Premier Asquith.

On the 24th, the Austro-Hungarian attitude should be confirmed the dangerous pressure, at present existing, will be removed. The French assertion that Austria-Hungary is urging the Ottoman Government to prolong the war is described in a semi-official communication issued in Vienna as "a malicious invention circulated with the object of injuring Austria-Hungary in the eyes of the Balkan peoples." The report is circulating again in Sofia that Turkey desires to enter the Balkan confederacy. It is asserted she has already made certain advances in this direction in the way of proposals to the allied Balkan States.

MANY MILLIONS IN ONE YEAR

The C.P.R.'s Wonderful Increase of Rolling Stock
FORTY-EIGHT MILLIONS

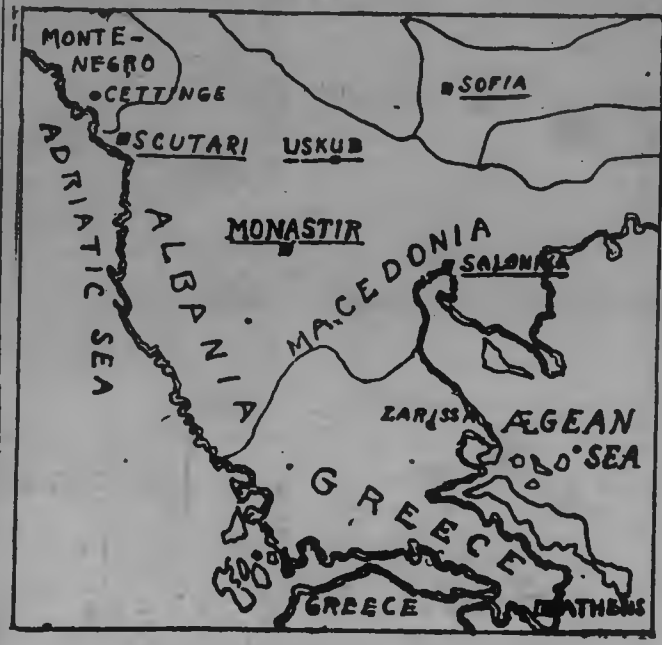

This Immense Sum Added to the Equipment During 1912.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—FORTY-EIGHT millions of dollars in rolling stock ordered in one year. That is what the Canadian Pacific Railway has done during 1912. It is an enormous sum of money for one corporation to appropriate in a twelve month for equipment. It's double the amount ever ordered by any other railway system in North America in the same period, and is tangible evidence that the C.P.R. is keeping pace with the development of Canada, no matter how swift it may be. Part of the orders have already been delivered, and the balance are to be furnished as quickly as the shops can turn out the work. When the orders are completely filled, the C.P.R. will have in commission 2,225 locomotives, 90,416 freight and stock cars of all kinds, 2,164 first and second class passenger coaches, and 512 tourist sleepers, standard sleepers, diners and cafe cars, 1,383 conductors' vans, 4,320 coaling, tool and auxiliary cars and steam shovels—to be operated over 12,500 miles of track.

The new equipment ordered during 1912 included 437 locomotives, 26,651 box cars, 650 flat cars, 401 coal cars, 550 stock cars, 227 refrigerator cars, 84 first class sleepers, 3 compartment cars, 20 observation cars, 25 diners, 57 tourist cars, 117 first-class and suburban cars, and 138 baggage mail cars. The total cost of the equipment which will climb up the side of the mountain from Lagan to the Lakes in the Clouds will also be placed in commission—the tracks having already been laid—and will prove a great convenience to the army of tourists which invades that picturesque region yearly. The expenditure involved is $48,000,000, of which locomotives cost over $9,000,000, the passenger train cars nearly five and a quarter millions of dollars, and the freight and miscellaneous cars over $24,000,000. The equipment is being chiefly procured in Canada, but different shops being unable to fill the orders in their entirety, the remainder had to be purchased in the United States, in order to obtain delivery within a reasonable time. The already enormous carrying capacity of the C.P.R. will be greatly increased when the new equipment is secured and distributed. The passenger cars would, if filled with travelers, move simultaneously 165,000 people—who would constitute a good sized city, nearly double the entire population of Ottawa, or the combined population of St. John and Halifax; with Montreal, Fredricton, Amherst, Truro, Sydney, Windsor, etc., thrown in, or a couple of Calgarys, or the population of both Hamilton and London together, while the cars would carry comfortably all the men, women, and children of over fifty of the average-sized Canadian towns. The immensity of these orders suggests the hundreds of thousands of tons of steel, the many millions of feet of lumber, and the gigantic army of men required to produce these

CANADA'S NAVAL POLICY UP IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Enquiries Will Be Made as to Who Told Canada That It Is Imperative to Strengthen Forces

London, Nov. 27.—Premier Asquith will be asked in the Commons, from the Radical benches, whether his attention has been called to the speech made by the Imperial Government, and at the opening of the Canadian Parliament declaring it imperative that the effective forces of the Empire should be strengthened without delay. If so, is the Canadian Government warranted in coming to such a conclusion from information supplied by the Imperial Government, and whether the Home Government intends waiting for the Canadian contribution before strengthening the navy?

CROWD SEES A YOUTH KILLED WHEN FIXING TUNGSTEN LAMP

Fort William, Nov. 27.—In the sight of a number of people, David Johnson, a young clerk, was electrocuted by a common tungsten lamp in the show window of Henderson's men's furnishing store on Tuesday night. The accident occurred while a crowd of people were on their way home to supper. A lamp burned out and without turning off the current, Johnson mounted on a radiator to renew it. The socket is believed to have been defective. Another clerk saw that Johnson was unable to release himself from the grip of the deadly current, and setting his clothing endeavored to pull him away, but did not succeed in separating him from the fixture until it, with the wiring, had been torn out. Three doctors worked over the boy, but although only 110 volts had passed through his body, their efforts were futile. Johnson was 23 years of age and came here from Minneapolis only a few weeks ago.

SUFFRAGETTES ASK AID OF TORONTO

Toronto, Nov. 27.—As the result of a resolution passed at the recent meeting of the National Council of Women, the Mayor is to-day in receipt of a communication from the secretary asking for co-operation in the promotion of the cause of suffrage. They ask that a recommendation be forwarded to the Provincial Government that under the provisions of the new Consolidated Municipal Act, marriage shall cease to act as a disqualification of the exercise of the full municipal franchise by qualified women.

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY RESERVES ARE RECALLED FROM GERMANY

Money Advanced to Pay Their Fares to the Frontier—Looks as Though Austria Meant Business—Germany Has Accumulated Enormous Supplies

Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, Nov. 27.—Austro-Hungarian subjects residing here, who belong to the army reserve, have all received orders to report to their regiments. Money has been sent to them to pay their railroad fares as far as the frontier. Austrian and Hungarian employed in the German mining districts have received similar orders. Germany's War Preparations. Berlin, Nov. 27.—Provision against the possibility of the outbreak of war has been made by the German Government, according to the Social newspaper Vorwarts. In discussing the new budget, the newspaper points out that the item of $31,500,000, entered as for the general finance administration, "is really intended to pay for the enormous reserves of clothing and provisions for man and beast which the army and navy have accumulated against the possible outbreak of war. This conclusion is derived from what is already known of the current budget. The total increase in army and navy expenditure is therefore $45,750,000, instead of $14,250,000, as stated by the Government."

THE FRENCH LANGUAGE

Mr. Burnham, M.P., Vigorous Speech in the House On Extinction Of French Race

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—The Times' Ottawa correspondent writes as follows:

The last hour before dinner last evening was occupied by Mr. Burnham, M.P., of West Peterborough, who, by request of the whip, followed Mr. Tupper and replied to the Hon. Frank Oliver. Mr. Burnham closely analyzed Mr. Oliver's speech on the alleged Macedonian improprieties, and showed by quoting from the honorable member's own words that the latter was not prepared to make any definite charge, from which the House could be called upon to take action. The most interesting portion of the speaker's remarks, however, was in reference to what he called "the conspiracy for the extinction of the French race." (Note, as the two races had been rivals, and much as both races might have to complain of and much as these might have to be settled of a delicate balance in the future, the English speaking portion of Canada would never consent to the extinguishment of a race, which stood true to Canada in the past and who showed so strong an inclination to be impartial and loyal at the present. The people of Ontario and of Canada, who joined this combination, would yet learn that they were being led into a trap. He was warmly thanked by the French members, both Conservative and Liberal.

Over Billion Eggs in Storage

New York, Nov. 27.—Although eggs of various grades are selling in New York at prices ranging from 55 cents a dozen for "strictly fresh" down to about 38 cents for the cold storage variety, an official report made public to-day shows that more than 1,447,000,000 eggs are being held in storage warehouses in New York and vicinity.

ALERTS WON OUT

Alerts Win The Final O.R.F.U. Game From Toronto

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—On a slippery treacherous field the O.R.F.U. tie between Toronto and Alerts of Hamilton was decided here this afternoon. There was a bright sun and a strong wind from the west. The footing favored the Alerts, who are notoriously good in the heavy going. Because of ill-feeling between the two teams, the average fan lined up expecting one grand battle of feet and fists, as well as football. The Toronto special brought up over 20 fans, and there were 2,000 people on the grounds when referee Silver Quilly of Ottawa College, called the game. The score at half time was Alerts 10, Toronto 6. The Alerts won by a score of 24 to 10.

MARKET CONDITIONS NOT TO BE CHANGED THIS YEAR

As Market Clerk is Under Contract Until April First, 1913—Strong Plea For Open Market Advanced By Deputation From Retail Merchants Association—Fowl Should Be Sold By Weight

The City's Property Committee met last night, chairman Ald. Geo. Duncan presiding. There were also present, His Worship Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Morgan, Brown, Graham.

Messrs. T. Barrie, R. C. Braund, N. C. Cameron and Oke were present in representation of the Retail Merchants' Association on the local market situation. They opposed Ald. Brown's proposition that the hour at which buyers can purchase be changed from 10 to 11 o'clock and advocated an open market.

Mr. Barrie urged that a later hour would prevent farmers from getting away from the market sufficiently early to permit of their shopping in town. Were the market closed at 11 o'clock, many of them would have time to catch outgoing trains; consequently, much money that would under earlier conditions be left in Peterborough would find its way elsewhere. He strongly advocated removing all restrictions and throwing the market open. This would be in the interests of citizens generally. Householders do not watch the markets, consequently they pay just what is asked without question. Local buyers, however, are conversant with prices generally and would set the market price at its proper value. Even to-day, Mr. Barrie contended, consumers can make better bargains by dealing with local dealers instead of going to market.

Mr. Braund offered that last Saturday he was selling eggs at 32 cts. a dozen, when the market price was quoted at 40 cts. If the market is disturbed at all it should be in the way of an earlier restricted hour rather than a later.

Ald. Brown could not agree with Mr. Braund. Many women, he said, found it difficult to get to market by 10 o'clock, and consequently frequently have to pay local dealers' high own price. Still, his main object in advocating a later hour was not so much in opposition to local dealers as to shut out, if possible, outsiders from Montreal and Toronto, whose prices for fowl are in excess of those in Peterborough, from practically monopolizing our market and creating a monopoly.

The activity of the world's trade, and the demand for shipping are so great that the end of every quarter sees a fresh record in the tonnage under construction. The figures for the quarter ending September 30 are far ahead of any previous returns.

BRITAIN WANTS OUR FLOUR

Again the value of the British market. Under the proposed Reciprocity agreement Canadian wheat was to go to the United States, a country which is a great competitor of the Dominion in the export of wheat and flour, and which wanted Canadian wheat only for the benefit of the milling industry and the carrying trade of the United States. A report to the Department of Trade and Commerce from J. E. Roy, trade commissioner at Birmingham, shows that the demand for Canadian wheat flour in England is increasing. Inquiries are reaching the office for hard wheat flour, and Mr. Roy understands that a big demand for the Canadian product is likely, as the quality and quantity of British and continental wheat are not up to the average this year. Mr. Roy further states that firms in a position to export Canadian brooms, whisks and brushes should be able to do business in Birmingham, but that the Canadian home market is absorbing the supply.

LESSONS OF THE WAR.

The Balkan war, which will prove to be an object lesson to the great powers of Europe in many ways, will not be the least impressive in its demonstration of the uses of aviation in war. The allies and the Turks at the outbreak of hostilities were both un derstood to be equipped with aeroplanes. But the Turkish aviators, if they have been active at all, have not been a factor in the course of the operations and therefore have accomplished very little of value.

The Bulgarians, on the other hand, have been eminently successful, according to accounts that have come from the front.

The censors of the allies are understood to have put a ban on news relating to the exploits of air craft but correspondents have managed to get out brief stories from neutral territories. The marvellous effectiveness of the Bulgarian gun fire is attributed to information furnished the batteries by the flying scouts. High above fortresses and battalions they have been enabled to ascertain the disposition of the enemy's forces and report so minutely that the bombardment of the invaders has been directed to points where it would prove most damaging.

There is something striking about this combination of the flying machine and the modern rifle. Under these circumstances luck, upon which commanders relied for some slight favors, is banished from the war game.

Any Headaches Cured, Tired Systems Re-Toned

When You're Dull, Tired, Restless Day and Night Something to Wrong With the Stomach.

A Prominent Publishing Man Says The Quickest Cure is Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Headaches never come to those who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and this fact is vouched for by the Assistant Manager of the Poultry Success Magazine, of Springfield, O., Mr. J. H. They cleanse the whole system, act as a tonic on the blood, enliven digestion, help the stomach, and make you feel strong and well. For headaches, indigestion and stomach disorders, I am confident that the one prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Being composed of natural vegetable remedies, Dr. Hamilton's Pills possess great power, yet they are harmless. They aid all organs, connected with the stomach, liver, and bowels. LATEST FROM APSLEY

Our first real snowstorm came Sunday afternoon but only a few inches fell, not enough for sleighing though; one or two cutters came in Monday but found that wheels would have been the best yet.

The Rev. Mr. Pear, of Norway, who has been conducting the Presbyterian services here and at Clivedale, for the past four months, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday and returned to his home. While here he put new life in the church, and we hope he will be able to return to this field for another term.

We regret to hear that Mrs. D. Whitmore, of Chandon, who was on a fair way of recovery, has had a relapse, and is again confined to her bed.

Miss Lill-Levoir, of Anstruther, is also very ill, but we hope to hear of their speedy recovery.

MILLION DOLLARS IN SUBSIDIES FOR CANADA'S GREAT HIGHWAYS

Government Aids Water Transportation in Order to Facilitate Shipment of Grain

Special to The Times.
Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The announcement that the Government intends to reintroduce the Canada Highways Improvement Act which was killed by the Liberal majority in the Senate at the close of the last session, shows that the Borden Government does not intend to be prevented by one setback from carrying into effect its pre-election pledges. The policy of federal aid to highways was an important feature of the platform which the people of Canada approved at the last general election in placing the present ministry in power. The bill introduced by Hon. Frank Cook last session was intended to make good the promise made to the people. The Liberal party in Parliament, by means of the Liberal majority in the Senate, succeeded in the dying hours of the session in preventing the passage of the Cook bill and the expenditure of one million dollars under it.

MOVING THE WHEAT EASTWARD.
Everything possible is being done by the Government to prevent a grain blockade this season, and the present outlook is that for the first time for years the wheat of the western farmers will be marketed without a serious congestion. Navigation will be kept open until the latest possible period, and Hon. J. D. Hazen has given orders to the Marine and Fisheries Department to put its whole equipment at work in assisting shippers in transporting wheat from the head of the lakes eastward.

WILLING TO HELP
A conference was held recently with representatives of the shipping interests on the Great Lakes, and they showed a willingness to co-operate with the Government and the Minister in preparing to do everything possible to make water transportation usually cease.

English Physician Declares His Belief That Skiffish Evasion of the Law Will Flourish More Actively Than Even in Britain—Shaming Disease Raised to a High Degree of Prevalence in Europe.

"The art of stimulating passions has reached a high level of perfection," said one of the great English playwrights a short time ago; "and I cannot help fearing that the Insurance Act will give it an undesirable stimulus." However this may be, there is no doubt that the millimeter has never been so flourishing or so reconstructive as to-day.

prisoners' procession. In the German consulate of 1896 the prisoners were ordered to march in single file, with their hands behind their backs, and were not allowed to speak or to punish it with death. One necessary condition of the march of the prisoners was that they should be dressed in the uniform of the army, and that they should be armed with rifles. The march of the prisoners was a very solemn and impressive one. A very slight examination, however, revealed a strong, black, muscular man, who was dressed in the uniform of the army, and who was armed with a rifle. The man was a prisoner of war, and he was being marched to the front. The man was a prisoner of war, and he was being marched to the front. and There Are a Lot of Important Things
That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate knowledge of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition negatively— for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate this ad. This habit is one of simple psychology, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the trade of selling efficient help-of-servicing businesses or tenants for furnished rooming and boarding desirable positions. In these trades and against the want ads are the national service groups. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day sends people, who might never meet otherwise, one through together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

A PRESIDENTIAL TRAGEDY.

Haiti's Recent Upheaval Is Only One of a Long Series of Outrages.

Whether the gunpowder which blew up the Haitian National Palace and killed President Lescot was touched off by accident or by design, the fault was the administration's.

The police authorities were unable to clear up the mystery immediately after the explosion, and while the causes of Lescot's were suspected, there was no evidence enough uncovered to justify the arrest of anybody.

A paper draws the conclusion that an administration palace containing a powder magazine and large stores of arms is in itself a contradiction that Haiti is a Government which derived the powers from some other source than the consent of its governed. This bit of recent history in which Lescot's reign was terminated is well worth reading.

Lescot was Minister of the Interior under President Nord, and, when his reign of tyranny came to an end in 1911. But for the problems he bequeathed from a long and variable reign, Nord would have been torn to fragments in revenge for his savage and summary execution of citizens on the mere suspicion of disloyalty.

President Lescot was the man who often carried out the orders of Nord. Upon the downfall of that petty tyrant he was compelled to seek safety in exile. President Simon, who obtained his title to the Presidency by the overthrow of Nord, was subsequently challenged by Lescot, who, from his refuge in Jamaica, plotted, and a German consular saved him from death.

He promptly went about another revolution, and next time he succeeded in overthrowing Simon. Following the long-established precedent, he declared himself President pro tem, and called an election. The people who took the trouble to vote at all, voted for Lescot. He was elected President, and any other choice would have been an invitation to face the firing squad.

The voters of Haiti, like those elsewhere who bow to the machine, at first "vote right." In consequence of

THEY were in the face of a military dictatorship their Government is as corrupt and as oppressive as the President knew how to make it.

It is not a matter of race that makes Haiti a political pest on the face of the earth. It is the lack of education. The term education is here employed in its larger and best sense, for the primary and most important purpose of education is not to make citizens, but to make exemplary citizens who will be obedient to proper standards of morality and civility.

When the average of men grows up with the idea that government is merely a machine for the purpose of making money for the officials in power are licensed to levy tax and tribute, public and private, without authorization of any law but the law of greed, government necessarily becomes a tyranny and the subjects of government merely slaves.

This is a tragic calamitation for Haiti. The early white colonists quickly exterminated the aboriginal inhabitants of whom they made slaves, and Africans were imported to take their place. Against the greed of the negroes while men overruled them, for some the black population was several times larger than the white and the negroes began to ask themselves why thousands of them should be the slaves or cattle of hundreds of whites and be denied all privileges as men and women.

They appealed to France, which became owner of the island by the treaty of Ruyter, but France had problems at home that absorbed her energies and the French planters had no time with the home Government in case of an inclination to consider the petition. There being no hope of help, the slaves rose in rebellion in 1791 and slaughtered their taskmasters with fire and sword.

A Pool's Antipathies.

Mr. Otto Heller is his work on Ibsen attempts to arrange some of the poet's antipathies in the order of their strength. The lowest pit of Ibsen's Inferno is reserved for politicians and journalists. Scientists, he says, should not be allowed to torture animals to death while politicians and journalists are so plentiful and cheap. A slightly higher position is occupied by the clergy, and nearly all of Ibsen's clergymen, "are spokesmen of a narrow-minded, inflexible morality." The lawyers take place just above the clergy. The law breeds casuists and sophists and the "whole tribe are branded as anti-idealists."

Why Food Is Dear.

The sub-committee appointed by the Toronto Board of Trade to investigate the high cost of living held a meeting recently at which a short report was read and which will be submitted to the conference committee this month. One of the reasons for the high prices found by some members of the committee to be the competition of everybody—rich and poor alike—for the very best of everything in the food line. The same principle applies to other products.

AVERTED A TRAGEDY.

An Attack of Mal de Mer That Saved a Vessel in Mid-ocean.

When affairs in France in 1905 made possible the return of the exiled Bonapartes among those who went from America was a grandniece of the great Napoleon, Princess Caroline Murat. In "My Memoirs" the princess tells how they chose for the passage—in preference to "one of Mr. Cunard's paddle boats"—a sailing vessel, in which they were tossed on the seas for twenty-seven days. During these days it was demonstrated that even so undesirable a thing as seasickness may have its welcome results:

"I remember one incident of the voyage worthy of note. I was dreadfully ill, and while all the other passengers were able to be on deck, playing games or enjoying music, I was forced to lie down all day, sometimes fainting, but more frequently being in a small interior cabin, where a mattress was put on the floor. It seemed as if these weary weeks would never end as I lay there thinking and wishing the days away.

"One evening, some little time after the bell had commenced all to supper, I was lying, trying to read. Suddenly I thought I saw a streak of light from under the door of the cabin belonging to the second mate across the alleyway. For a few moments I watched, wondering what the light could be. As I watched it got brighter.

"Springing up, forgetting that I felt both sick and giddy, I made my way to the saloon to give the alarm. Soon all hands were at work to extinguish the flames. In a short time we were out of danger.

"Had it not so happened that I was on the floor and noticed the light no one would have known that a forgotten candle had not been put in some article of clothing and we might have been burned to death in mid-ocean."

CHARM OF CHARLESTON.

A City Where Every House Faces Toward the Sea.

Every house in Charleston faces seaward. It frequently happens that the streets do not adjust themselves to this disposition of the houses, and in some cases the street line is calmly disregarded and the house is built so that it shall square with the sea points of the compass. The result of this is curious and most interesting, at times disconcerting, but frequently as pleasing as one of Whitman's selections and unexpected color schemes.

As in the mansions of old Virginia, the general form of the Charleston houses is very simple, and they depend for their beauty upon the fine balance and spacing of doors and windows, the character of the carvings and above all, upon the dignified beauty and classic porticoes and galleries which adorn one side of each structure.

But Charleston has another and quite unique architectural feature in the arched and ornate walls of many of the houses which close in all of the fine residences and the highly decorative wrought iron gateways which give access to the private grounds. In a city which was at one time the port of call of all the private of the Spanish main—where one day it was found advisable to bury forty of these vessels under the sea wall of the city, where half civilized negroes formed always an overwhelming majority of the population. It was the part of common prudence to erect a strong barrier between the streets and the private domains of the better class residents.

Out of this necessity grew the infinite number of gates and grilles of twisted iron which are the chief pride of Charleston today and whose only rivals are the far famed gates of Seville. These marvelous wrought-iron and beaten iron were all the work of local smiths. I was told that no two gates of the city were of similar design, and I certainly saw no single example which was not in itself beautiful. — Birge Harrison in Art and Progress.

MEN OF STONE.

Great Figures Dot the Crest of the Superbulous Mountains.

Among the natural wonders of the southwestern portion of this country are the Superbulous mountains, which loom up from the arid desert to the east of the Salt river valley.

These mountains are so curious that the Indians will have nothing to do with them. In consequence they are full of deer, bear and other big game. The Superbulous mountains, which are the level surface of the desert like the pyramids of Egypt.

On the crest of this unique range and in full view of the rarest atmosphere for an immense distance from the plain are hundreds of queer figures, representing men in all attitudes. When you look first you are sure they are men, and when you turn your gaze again to them you are as absolutely certain of it as you can be of anything.

They represent ball throwers, out-lookers, men viewing of the country roundabout, men recounting and contemplating, others starting a foot race and in every conceivable posture and position. They are not real flesh and blood men, however—nothing but stone figures—yet nothing can convince the Indians that they are not genuine. They say they are real mortals turned to stone, petrified by the peculiar condition of the air in the mountains.

This belief has grown out of an Apache legend, handed down for hundreds of years. They have it that an ancient chief who had learned of the curious character of the Superbulous mountains, made up his mind to go there. A large band, however, one day discovered a way to get in by a precipitous route and finally reached the top. It remained on the chief had said, and they never got down alive. — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Nothing More to Live For.

Without question the Scots carrier of whom Lord Lyvedon tells in Fry's Magazine placed the proper value on his sport.

During a curfew match in Switzer-land the city of one of the teams, who happened to be a Scotsman, was so delighted with the accurate shot of one of his team that he was heard to address him in the following manner: "Lie down and die, man; lie down and die. You'll never lay a finer stone see that if you live to be a hundred."

HOW NATURE REPAYS.

The Loss of One Sense Seems to Bring Added Power to the Others.

When the third question put to the girl who was tending a customer's hair a fashionable shade elicited no reply the woman turned to the manager of the beauty shop and said: "What is the matter with that girl, anyhow? Is she deaf?"

"Very nearly," said the manager. "How does she hold her place?" said the woman. "It seems to me that a person employed in a place like this stands in need of her five senses."

"That is just what they do not need," was the reply. "If one sense is lacking the other four make up for the deficiency and become the more valuable because more acute. Your hairdresser cannot hear, but her sight is marvellous. She can detect a gray hair half a block away, and her gift for shading and tinting colors amounts to real genius. No woman with all her faculties is so concentrated as an artist as she is in touching up a difficult head of hair. When you are ready for massage I shall bring you a blind girl. All her art is concentrated in her finger tips. She can feel and smooth away wrinkles that her sensitive fingers would not discover. Another deaf girl in the establishment is particularly sensitive to scents and is invaluable in mixing and applying perfumes. The manager is in a place of this kind needs her five senses and as many more as nature can provide, but for her assistants elimination and concentration are desirable."—New York Press.

DISMAL ENGLISHMEN.

Despite Our State of the Country

Dr. Fergus Ross, a well known London physician, says that England is "drifting toward the day when the average Englishman's face will be that of the typical criminal." He believes, says a correspondent of the New York Sun, that "the better class of English cannot keep pace with the brutal strain of taxation and other burdens imposed upon them and are therefore being wiped out. In other words, modern legislation . . . is exterminating the better classes by a mixture of sheep and wild beasts and the nation is being swamped with the lowest of the human race."

Despite over the state of the country is almost a national characteristic of the English. They are most happy as when they are being gloomy about themselves. Any copy of any English paper will show that the English people are going to the devil in a hurry. The English addition to present conditions is another evidence of this general tendency to low spirits. Other nations see nothing in particular the matter with the English. They seem to outsiders to be doing fairly well as nations go. What they really need is a course of mental exercise and practice in the cheerful point of view.

YOU MAY BE CRAZY.

Our Most Ordinary Acts Have Horrifying Names.

Are you a maniac? What a personal question! What an absurd suggestion! Of course, you are not mad, least, you don't think you are. Mental scientists think otherwise, and they have just invented a frightful list of names for our little manias. After all, a maniac is only a person suffering from a mania, and although the word is associated in our minds with the inmates of asylums, "there are others," as the catch phrase says. "Mother, Johnny will have to see a doctor at once," any fond father might well say after reading the British Medical Journal; "the poor little fellow has undoubtedly got 'stomato-decylomania'."

"Oh, James, whatever makes you say that? What an awful disease!" mother would reply.

As a matter of fact, the awful-sounding disease is really not dangerous, and is only the baby habit of mania for sucking the fingers under the educated scientific name of "stomato-decylomania."

No fearful little matter will ever dare to bite his nails again after the latest addition to our knowledge. Tell him he is a regular "onychophagomania," and if that doesn't frighten him nothing will.

There is hardly a single person—man, woman or child—who is not the victim of some kind of mania, many of which have been allowed blood-curdling names. Everyone has at some time or the other seen distressing examples of the "equilibrium-mania." Probably the afflicted person did strike them as being possessed of a quaint habit, but when they saw him of the riding-brushes and leggings writhing his lips and nose, the vain impression that he was beside a hare, they had no idea his case was so serious.

There is, after all, some good reason for the modern craze amongst men to ruthlessly chop off their beards or moustaches. The practice is really akin to vaccination. It guards, or is said to guard, our sacred persons from the horrors of smallpox, and in the rear line our chances of safety against becoming a "moustachio-strepococcus." Once we allow our moustaches to grow we are in danger, and if we find ourselves twirling a flowing salivary ornament or nervously fingering a stubby upper lip, we are infected with the deadly disease.

Now that the holiday season is coming along many of us will be going to the country for a fortnight, and in the fields and quiet lanes we may at any moment be confronted by a "capillitio-riomania."

We need not stay at home or purchase a "Breviating automatic" for fear of making one of these notions, but if we do this special form of disease will only evince itself in the observed habit of pushing the hat to the back of the head and scratching the scalp, especially prior to answering any question on subjects which call for more consideration than a remark on the weather or the state of the farm crops.

To the ordinary mortal it seems rather like blasphemy to suggest that there are many manias in the British House of Parliament. Of course, some extremists will be ready to argue that the benches in the Commons and the peddled seats in the Guild Chamber are mostly occupied by men of weak mental calibre, but whether this is so or not there are certainly many "impedimentomania" present at every meeting. Undoubtedly it is a nervous affliction.

MR. BURNHAM'S SPEECH

Actual Words Used By Him On Bi-Lingual Question

The Times is able to give below the exact language used by Mr. Burnham in the House the other day in which he referred to the bi-lingual controversy.

Said Mr. Burnham: "The allegation has been made indirectly that there is in this country a conspiracy for the extinguishing of the French Canadian race, a race that has borne itself with all the honor and distinction that we should look for in one of the foremost races of the world. There is at the present time a conspiracy on foot to deprive them of their language, and to deprive them of their customs, their history, their traditions and of their institutions."

Whether it is proposed that this shall be accomplished by means of the government, or in some other way, let me say, representing a large number of English-speaking people, who I know, hold the same opinion, that, much as we have been inclined to differ from them in the past, and alien as we have had to meet them in keen debate, nevertheless, bearing in mind their loyalty to the empire in the past, and their loyalty in the present, and their recognition of imperial needs, we will never even at the sacrifice of the English language go back upon or prove recalcitrant to such a people.

As far as I am concerned I would prefer never to speak another word of English, if it meant that the French-Canadians should be deprived by force of the right to speak their language whenever they fell so inclined.

It is understood that Mr. Burnham refers to the remarkable speech by Cardinal Bourne, at Norwich, England, reported in the official organ of the Vatican, and approved of by the papal authorities. The Cardinal said that the French-Canadians must give up their language so that their assimilation in making a conquest of Canada for the Church of Rome might not be impeded as in the past by a difference in language.

Fatally Wounds Aunt, Shoots Uncle, Then Commits Suicide

Alstead, N. H., Nov. 28.—Frank Kildner, an insane man, shot and fatally wounded his aged aunt, Miss Mary Richardson, slightly injured his uncle, Martin L. Richardson, and committed suicide here Wednesday, as neighbors were about to overpower him.

Mr. Richardson was elected to the legislature by the Democratic party. Kildner was released from an asylum some time ago and had been living with his father, Erasmus P. Kildner.

The shooting occurred while Miss Richardson and her brother were calling at the Kildner home. During their conversation Kildner suddenly drew a revolver and began firing.

Lord Roberts Brands Territorial Forces as Lacking in Discipline, Numbers, Equipment, Energy

London, Nov. 28.—Speaking here Lord Roberts disclaimed having made any attack at Manchester on officers and men of the territorial force, but maintained the position he took up that the territorial force was a failure in discipline, numbers, equipment and energy.

No scheme for the defence of the nation, he declared, could have been more madly conceived.

When a grave condition of affairs was revealed Englishmen would realize the folly of trusting their defence to a make-believe army and would demand compulsory service.

ALLAN STUDHOLM M.P.P. SPEAKS ON HYDRO AT THE LABOR HALL

Last night the brawny, and a generous ally of brains, of Peterborough, Mr. Allan Studholme, M.P.P., contributed to the upbuilding of our city. The occasion was an address by Mr. Studholme, M.P.P., on the subject of Hydro-Electricity, the money spent will come back a hundred fold.

The company has a joker up its sleeve. "Go in for the common weal and own your own power!"

A vote of thanks was then passed to Mr. Studholme.

Mayor Bradburn and other influential citizens were present.

REPORT THAT ALLIES BEATEN IN SEIGE OF ADRIANOPLE

And That Peace May Soon Put An End To The Great War

Constantinople, Nov. 28.—A persistent report is current here that the Bulgarians have abandoned their claim to the Turkish fortress of Adrianople. Should this prove true it is thought that the prospects of an understanding being reached by the Turkish and Bulgarian plenipotentiaries during their conference at Bagdatche will be greatly improved and that an agreement is virtually assured.

Foreign consuls at Adrianople report that in spite of the bombardment of the town by the Bulgarians no casualties have occurred thus far among the foreign residents. The despatch came by wireless telegraphy and it is thought to have been sent at the request of the local authorities.

British Aid American Hospital.

London, Nov. 28.—Telegraphing from Constantinople the correspondent of The Daily News says the British Red Crescent authorities under Colonel Suttles have taken over part of the American cholera hospital at Stomato, which was under the direction of Major Ford. The British Red Crescent is well supplied with funds but is lacking in workers.

Still Talking Peace At Front.

Sofia, Nov. 28.—The Bulgarian and Turkish plenipotentiaries reassembled at 10 o'clock this morning at the village of Bagdatche outside the Turkish lines to discuss further the terms of the proposed armistice.

Yesterday's session was a very prolonged one, the delegates sitting until late at night.

A letter received to-day from the front declared that there has not yet been any real assault by the Bulgarian besiegers on the fortress of Adrianople. The forts, it says, have been shelled and some of them captured by the allied Serbians and Bulgarians, who suffered heavy loss.

On one occasion a Turkish fort was captured but shortly afterwards the allies were compelled to evacuate it owing to the heavy fire concentrated on it by the Turkish guns.

On another occasion an entire Bulgarian battalion was destroyed by the explosion of a land mine, which was fired by the Ottoman defenders.

AUSTRIA MAKING PROVISION FOR POSSIBLE HOSTILITIES

Parliament Is Being Asked to Support Relatives of Men Called to Arms—Servians Continue Works of Defence

Vienna, Nov. 28.—Austria continues her preparations for possible eventualities and is completing arrangements for the smooth working of the entire mobilization of her army should this be considered necessary.

Premier Count Sturgh announced today to the committee of the lower House of the Austrian Imperial Parliament that he would submit within a few days three bills relating to supply of horses, dealing with the support to be granted to relatives and descendants of soldiers in the event of mobilization, and providing for the services to be rendered in the provision of means of transport by private individuals and communes should the emergency arise.

The Premier emphasized the necessity of speedy and smooth passage of these measures and urged the leaders of the various political parties in the House to impress their followers with the necessity of expedition.

Servians Go On Preparing.

Belgrade, Nov. 28.—The Servian war office is continuing its military preparations on the Austrian frontier in readiness for possible eventualities.

The Government has received a despatch of the report that the Servian troops had occupied the port of Durazzo on the Adriatic Sea, according to the newspapers here.

Premier Pachitch has decided to leave for Ulpuk, Macedonia, to-night.

ADRIANOPLE IN FLAMES FROM AEROPLANE BATTLESHIPS

London, Nov. 28.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Times after revisiting Tohtaltja, emphatically repeats his convictions that the Turks hold all the trumps.

Bennett Burleigh, telegraphing from Mustafa Pasha under date of Wednesday, says:—

"The bombardment of Adrianople continued this afternoon. The Turkish reply was more feeble than heretofore. The city is in flames. Aeroplanes dropped a number of bombs to those in the besieged city of the progress of the war, telling them that the Bulgarians are under the walls of Constantinople and assuring them that Adrianople cannot receive help, that resistance is futile, and will only result in needless bloodshed, calling on the garrison to surrender, and concluding by saying: 'This is our last summons.'"

17,000 Cholera Victims.

Ashmud Bartlett telegraphs from Constantinople that there is a great improvement in the Turkish hospitals. The cholera is diminishing, but the figures show that 17,000 persons died of the disease up to November 24th.

Visit Would Coincide With Next Year's Exhibition—Delegation From Toronto Sees Premier Gouin

Quebec, Nov. 28.—Ontario wants J. O. Orr, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Mr. John G. West, President and Mr. George H. Gooderham, M.P.P., ex-President of the Toronto Exhibition. The delegates met the Provincial Minister last night, and they had another interview this morning. That every Province of the Dominion should vote a certain sum of money for this memorial celebration was the contention brought out that the Federal Government had agreed to vote a big sum for that purpose.

It is said that this celebration would coincide with the next Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

HOLD CLOWN AND WIFE FOR MURDER

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Charles N. Kramer, alias Conway, the clown, and his wife, Lillian Beatrice Kramer, were held to the grand jury without bail Monday for the murder of Sophia Gertrude Singer of Baltimore.

Kramer and his wife testified voluntarily before the coroner's jury, telling the same stories as were accredited to them in the police confessions obtained several days ago. Mrs. Kramer denied active part in the murder and Kramer substantiated that statement. He also said the murder was made in self-defence, after Miss Singer had attacked him.

PROPHESIED FOR WILSON FORTY YEARS AGO

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 28.—John C. Barker, on Manhattan, is the happiest of men because of a prophecy made by his sister, Mrs. Mary Russell, more than forty years ago.

Mrs. Russell was Mr. Wilson's teacher when he was ten years old in Tipton school, Wilmington, N.C., and at that time predicted that the boy would some day be President. She did not live to see her prophecy fulfilled. She died three years ago at Leesville, N.C., at the age of eighty-four.

QUEBEC A CENTURY BEHIND

Mr. Godfroi Langlois, M.P.P., is amply justified in his vigorous fight for a better educational system in Quebec. A "History of England," which also deals with Canada and other colonies, describes Ontario as New Wales and its capital as York. This "History" has been authorized by the Council of Public Instruction THIS YEAR for use in French schools in Quebec, and has been labelled "Revised and Corrected." Quebec is the capital of Canada, according to this "History," and the Governor-General resides there.

One cannot help wondering, says the Orange Sentinel, who are the members of the Council of Public Instruction in Quebec, when such a book for instruction of the children of the Province could be scattered amongst the schools. Children are being taught that "the Dominion is divided into seven parts: Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Labrador, Canada (Quebec), New Wales, Region of Lakes, and New Caledonia, and that Halifax is principally a fur trading port, and the principal cities of New Wales are York and Kingston."

The children of Quebec are further taught in the "History" that Washington got his military education in Canada in 1665, and that the Australian Colonies are "a stopping place for ships which sail from America to the Indies," also that New Zealand is situated at the central point of the Pacific Ocean.

As a demonstration of the necessity for educational reform in Quebec this comical "History" stands pre-eminent.

DEPT BY DEPT—Prof. Wilson will now arrange to make a delicate chemical demonstration.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When a couple are made man and wife in a hall, the society reporters are justified in featuring the affair as a wedding in high life.

In New York the Church of the Resurrection is arranging to hold a special service for aviators, which doubtless will soon be followed by the burial service.

The grain men of the western provinces are asking Mr. Borden to "take down the bars." But the hotel men need not be alarmed. The reference is to the tariff bars.

Official statistics prove that bachelors go insane often than married men. This is not only a very interesting fact, but a great puzzle to the majority of married men.

Canada has a postman whose route is the longest in the world. He has just left Edmonton with his bundle of letters to be delivered several hundred miles within the Arctic Circle.

According to the Globe the number of ex-Cabinet Ministers at Ottawa who are after Mr. Borden's scalp is so large that they ought to form a union and become part of the International Federation of Labor.

"Laurier casts shadows," says a local contemporary—the Review. This will be sorely disappointing to the Liberal frontiers of the Examiner type, who have been hoping that he would cast shadows, verified bricks and other missiles calculated to cause pain and confusion in the Tory household.

CANADA'S NAVAL PLANS

The Times is in receipt of a letter from an esteemed subscriber on one of our rural mail routes, who desires to know exactly where the two political parties stand in regard to the naval question. We gladly give the desired information.

The opening of the Parliament at Ottawa brings this issue to a head. Prime Minister Borden has given assurance that a naval bill will be introduced without delay, and every one knows by this time what the chief features of such a measure are likely to be. The Prime Minister has been over to London, where he has held the conversation with the Lords of Downing street, and here is little doubt that he has been firmly impressed with the gravity of the so-called German peril. Accordingly, the new naval bill will in all probability contain provision for the immediate payment of a large subsidy (perhaps twenty millions or more) into the public coffers of Great Britain as a contribution to the general support of the imperial navy and as a recognition of what the Canadian people believe to be the obligations of the colony to the motherland.

It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when he was prime minister in the days before his ill-starred reciprocity campaign thrust him over into the cool shades of opposition, also had a naval policy. His administration proposed that Canada should buy or build some warships of her own, armored cruisers at first, dreadnoughts later, when they could be afforded. This principle, indeed, was enacted into law and two vessels were purchased in England as the nucleus of a Canadian navy. But Laurier's political opponents fought this scheme in Parliament, and during the last election campaign they made much of its shortcomings. In the English provinces they stigmatized it as an un-British arrangement which in no way strengthened the imperial bond or fulfilled Canada's duty to the empire.

In the French section of the country, on the other hand, they branded the whole project as a wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money, and as the first step toward a scheme of compulsory naval and military service. The Conservative leaders promised that, if they were victorious in the election, they would put no naval policy of any sort into operation without first consulting the whole people by referendum.

Now it appears that no submission of the matter to the voters is to be made. The reason given by the Borden cabinet is that the existing situation is an emergency, and one which will not brook the delay involved in the taking of a popular vote. But this will not satisfy all the French supporters of the administration, and one of Mr. Borden's chief supporters (Hon. F. D. Monk), has already resigned from the cabinet in consequence.

The country, therefore, is face to face with an awkward problem. If it gives an imperial subsidy without retaining any control over its expenditure, they will violate a principle which the self-governing colonies of England established by great and prolonged efforts, namely, that if the colonies are expected to supply imperial revenue they must be given some share in the control of imperial expenditure. On the other hand, if they should refuse to assist the mother country in an hour of apparent danger, they will incur the displeasure of that ultra-loyal element which looks large on the voting lists of Ontario and the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion. In any case, Mr. Borden will prove himself a great statesman if he comes through the difficulty with all his supporters solidly in line.

The remedy is "Catarrh-ozone," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medicines on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrh-ozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh, run noses, headache, sore eyes, stop-ped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrh-ozone cured quickly."

AGED PAIR WED AND NO DELAY

When 71-Year-Old Groom Is Told He Must Wait Five Days, He Gets Permit

When 71-Year-Old Groom Is Told He Must Wait Five Days, He Gets Permit.

Boston, Nov. 28.—Although the five-day law threatened to fill a "Curfew-shall-not-ring-to-night" role yesterday on the wedding bells of Joseph H. Burnham, who is 71, and Mrs. Mary Matilda Taylor, who is 61, both of Newton, love found a way and the marriage was solemnized only a little behind schedule time at the Eliot Congregational Church.

Many a younger bridegroom would have been balked if he had done as Mr. Burnham, gone with his bride to the city clerk's office with the intention of getting out a license and being married immediately after, only to learn of the law requiring an interval of five days between the time of the issuing of the license and the solemnization of the ceremony.

Many a younger bridegroom would have postponed the wedding then, but Mr. Burnham had too much experience. Three times before he had been married, so he could think clearly. He sought to find if there was no way around the law. When city clerk Frank M. Grant gave him some advice, he sought out Judge John C. Kennedy, who presides over the police court, and got a dispensation and then the Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of the church, tied the knot. His bride has been married once before. Both were reticent about their romance.

"We're old friends," they said, smiling on each other. "And now we're lovers. That's all."

HE TRIPS ON WIFE'S CHARRED REMAINS

Woman Soaked Her Clothes in Kerosene and Set Them on Fire.

Boston, Nov. 28.—After kissing his wife good-bye as he started for work yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, Abraham Shanfield came to his home at 24 Balfour street in Roxbury 11 hours later, and opening the front door stumbled and fell over her charred body.

She had committed suicide by soaking her clothes with kerosene and then setting fire to them.

Mrs. Shanfield, who was 64 years old, had twice before tried to take her own life, according to the police. The last time was on Oct. 24, when she tried to asphyxiate herself and nearly succeeded.

She was allowed to return to her home, and, although she had seemed despondent for several days, her husband believed her health was improved. Neighbors recalled seeing the woman at the window of her home at noon yesterday. It is believed she soon afterward set her clothes on fire. No sign of smoke was seen.

SOCIETY LEADER ELOPS WITH YOUNG CROOK

Louisville, Ky., 28.—Climax to sensational escapades of C. J. Hodgson, hunted by the police of several cities, came when the family of Miss Hattie Bainbridge, a society leader, learned last night that their daughter had eloped with the alleged forger and had married him as Covington, Ky.

Hodgson, who is only 18 years old, figured in an arrest here Monday, after a chase through the city streets, soon after he attempted to cash what is alleged to be a worthless certificate of deposit. This came as a shock to his newly-made friends here, who had shown him many social favors on the strength of his statement that he was the son of a millionaire Wall street broker, and was touring the country by automobile in search of market information.

Shortly before his arrest Hodgson purchased an automobile. Within a few minutes after he was placed in jail a firm of lawyers obtained his release upon bail of $300 and accepted the automobile as security for their fee. Hodgson who has many aliases, left, and the lawyers are an automobile ahead. Rewards aggregating $1125 are outstanding for his arrest and conviction.

TEN PEOPLE, ONE HORSE

New Animals Compare in England in Number With Mere Man

The War Office has just concluded its census of horses, and one fact is made clear—that all the people in England wanted to go for a drive at once, there would not be horses to go round.

Including all kinds of horses of four years old and over—farm horses, hunters, polo ponies, every animal that can carry harness or saddle—there are only three millions in England and Wales, or less than one to every ten persons. In this respect Australia leads the British Empire, there being forty-five horses to every hundred people.

But even this record does not match that of the Argentine Republic. The Argentine is the only country in the world where there are as many horses as people. At the other end of the scale comes Switzerland, with only three horses to every hundred inhabitants.

The War Office has fairly exact records of all the livestock in every civilized country in the world, and as a rule, you find that the fewer the people the larger the head of sheep and cattle.

Australia and the Argentine lead the world, not only in horses, but in cattle and sheep also. Australia has cows enough to give each man, woman and child in the island continent three apiece; while the Argentine can do even better. There are five cattle to each inhabitant in the big South American republic.

Of European countries, Denmark is by far the greatest cattle owner. There are eight cows to each hundred inhabitants. No wonder Danish butter is known all over Europe. In the United Kingdom we have about twelve million cattle, of which more than four millions pasture in Ireland.

The world's stock of mutton is reckoned to be about 450 millions. Of these the United Kingdom owns thirty-three millions, while Australia possesses the colossal total of ninety-five millions of sheep. Australia and the Argentine between them pasture one-third of the sheep in the world.

There ought not to be a bacon famine when one learns that there are 100 million pigs in the world, of which we own some four millions. But the United States is the land for pigs. She possesses over forty millions, and is said to waste nothing of the porker but its squeal.

There has been a deal of talk lately about the lack of poultry in England, and the gigantic number of eggs imported. It may come as a surprise to know that poultry numbers thirty-seven millions, or roughly one hen to the acre. The Board of Agriculture says that the country ought to keep at least three times that number. At present the record in poultry production is held by the United States, with eighty-five millions of cocks and hens, and a yearly output of 6,000 millions. It may be interesting to learn that the biggest eggs come from Spain, where they run seven to the pound. Britain's average eight to the pound, while German eggs are the smallest running as low as ten to the pound.

Amendment Will Be Moved
By Nationalists For Plebiscite

LITTLE LIBERAL HELP

West Will Support Mr. Borden's Policy—Liberal Caucus for Organization.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—It is understood that A. A. Mondou, member for Kamaska, will likely introduce an amendment either on the address or the navy bill itself, expressing regret that the question of emergency contribution will not be referred to a plebiscite.

Mr. Mondou was the mover to the amendment to the Manitoba boundaries bill of last session, calling for a provision for Separate Schools.

Few From Each Side.

If he does not introduce his amendment on the naval question, it is not thought he will get any more support than he did a year ago, when five Government supporters bolted.

The same five, along with Hon. P. D. Monk, if he is able to return to the House, and possibly one or two other Nationalists, and a number of Quebec Liberals will probably vote for the motion.

Liberals Held Caucus.

The initial Liberal caucus was held this morning, presided over by Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer.

It is understood that it was devoted entirely to organization purposes and the question of the navy was not discussed. The caucus to consider this question will not be called until the bill has been introduced and the terms are known.

New York Judge Gives Women a Thorough Tongue Threading.

New York, Nov. 28.—The militant suffragette will hereafter be regarded by the New York city courts as a "dangerous crank" if the ruling of Chief Magistrate Kemper in the case of Miss Maud Malone, who interrupted Governor Wilson at a Brooklyn meeting, is observed. The magistrate said:

"Let it be known to women of your peculiar temperament that we will not tolerate lawless menaces."

"If such conduct as yours is suffered to go unpunished the number of dangerous cranks will multiply, as also the number of mayors, Presidents and other public men will be carrying bullets in their bodies."

"Although you profess to believe you were heroic and helpful to a great cause, in reality you only succeeded in disgracing yourself and injuring that cause."

GARDEN CITIES.

Henry Vivian Describes What is Being Done in England.

Henry Vivian, chairman of the co-partnership tenants' movement in England and an ex-member of Parliament from Birkenhead, recently described the growth of the garden city idea in England.

To illustrate the value of suburban garden towns for the housing of workmen of large cities and their families, Mr. Vivian gave some interesting statistics. He said that the average child of seven years brought up in one of these communities had been shown to be three inches taller than the average child of the same age living in a densely populated city.

At the age of fourteen the difference was still more marked. A garden city youth of this age averaged five inches more in height and thirty pounds more in weight than one of the same age from the big cities. In some of the crowded manufacturing towns of England, he said, the death rate was forty in garden cities the rate had been reduced to between eight and nine a thousand.

These statistics were gathered by a committee of Parliament, of which Mr. Vivian was a member. On the report of this committee the housing and town planning act was passed in 1909 by Parliament. This act gave government support to the building of ideal suburbs around the great centres of population in the British Isles.

The co-partnership tenants' movement, Mr. Vivian said, had designed suburbs near Liverpool, Hampstead, Ealing, Manchester, Birmingham, Stoke-on-Trent and elsewhere. The most perfect type of the garden city, he said, was at Hampstead. One of the cardinal principles in laying out such a suburb, he said, was to leave the trees untouched so far as possible. The land is parcelled into large lots, so that on an average there are not more than two houses to an acre. The laws governing such suburbs building prevent land speculation and are all framed for the benefit of those who are to live there. Any kind of

WINNER OF 240 BELTS.

Wrestling Giants of the Lake District of Rural England.

If you would see the finest of our old English sports at its best, says London Tit-Bits, you should pay a visit to the Lakes when Grassmere is holding her celebrated sports at the foot of her rugged fells; for there you will see such wrestling as is worth traveling a hundred miles to look on. It is true that many an English county, from Lancashire to Cornwall, has its mighty wrestlers, men of iron muscles and portentous girth of chest; but few of them compare in strength and skill with the "lads" of Cumberland and Westmoreland.

And it is but fitting that it should be so, for these Lake counties have been the true home of this fine old sport ever since our Viking forefathers introduced it a thousand years ago. This stern land of fall and dale is nature's nursery of men with strong thighs and long backs, and these thighs and backs are made for wrestling.

In Edward VI.'s time the giant Hard went from Westmoreland to wrestle before the King, and won by his prowess house and home in his native vale. The doings of the "Cork Lad of Keswick" still echo in the Troutbeck Valley. But it was not until the middle of the eighteenth century that wrestling became a fashion as well as a passion. Old and young took part in it. The champion used to church wearing his challenge belt on the Sunday after his victory, and by way of challenge, displayed his degradation at a neighboring church on the Sunday following.

In these old days the sport had many centres to which its devotees flocked. Stone Currier, near Gretna, was the great meeting-place for the Cumbrians, Lancashire and Longwath by drew their thousands in the east. Then, a century ago, came the famous Gifford's ring at Carlisle, Arlestone, and Egremont; and, not content with such Olympians as these but the winning of laurels, there was a turn in the two counties in which the hill-shepherds and farmers did not practice the arts of hype and bull-bait every week of the year.

For the love of wrestling is in the blood of every true son of the dale. Any schoolboy in Lakeland will tell you, with proud face and flashing eyes, that William Richardson, of Caldbeck, was dubbed "Belted Will" by "Christopher North," won no less than 240 championship belts. And was not Charles Dickens among his most enthusiastic applauders when the Leviathan captured the hundred and seventy-fifth of his trophies?

Prof. John Wilson, known to fame as "Christopher North," the friend of De Quincey, Coleridge, and Wordsworth, still has a name to conjure with in Lakeland, for it was he, more than any other man, who made Grassmere the Mecca of lovers of wrestling. This "six-foot Apollo," whose tread seemed almost to shake the earth, was not content to offer prizes for wrestling and to induce all the local gentry to patronize the sport; he would invariably try a fall himself with the champion of the day, and as often as not come off victor.

CONSULS IN THE MAKING.

New Applications Are Made and the Examinations That Follow.

Consuls are appointed by the president, with the advice and consent of the senate. A candidate desiring appointment to the consular service makes application for such appointment through the secretary of state on a form furnished by the state department. From among these applicants the president designates to take an examination those candidates who seem properly qualified for the service and who are not from states which already have more than their share of appointments in the service, each state, so far as possible, being allowed appointments proportioned on the basis of population.

Naturally if the service needs men and few candidates present themselves from states that are underrepresented must also be designated for the examination. In making these designations politics is given no consideration, the service being now upon a strictly nonpartisan basis.

Then when the set time arrives the candidate presents himself at Washington and takes a written examination in international, maritime and commercial law, political and commercial geography, arithmetic, modern languages, French, German or Spanish; the natural, industrial and commercial resources and commerce of the United States, political economy, American history, government and institutions, and the modern history (since 1850) of Europe, South America and the far east.

To determine a candidate's business ability, alertness, general contemporary information and natural fitness for the service, including moral, mental and physical qualifications, character, address and general education and good command of English, he then takes an oral examination. All these candidates who receive a total mark of 80 per cent are then pronounced qualified for appointment, and their names go on the list of eligibles from which future appointments are made.

BOOTH ANECDOTES.

The Late General Was a Man of Many and Varied Characteristics.

Many anecdotes are told of the dead leader to illustrate his many-sided character.

In discussing the anti-suicide bugaboo of the army he once said: "Kindness and charity are factors of these bugaboos. The charity will be of the right kind, I trust. There are, you know, two kinds of charity, and one of them is like the barber's." "There was a poor deacon in Warwick who had no money and needed to be shaved, and he went from barber to barber, but none of them, despite his holy office, was willing to shave him for nothing.

"In the end, though, he found a barber who, on hearing his tale, said gruffly: "Sit down there in that chair."

"Suddenly the barber's dog in the adjacent room set up a terrific howling.

"Be still, there!" cried the barber. And he muttered anxiously, "What can they be doing to him?"

"Alas," said the deacon, "I shouldn't wonder if some one was shaving him out of charity."

On another occasion General Booth was talking to a recruit.

Are you saved?

The young man flushed, stammered and hesitated.

"Well," said the general, "do not despair. There is a chance even for reprobates."

Then, discussing prayer, General Booth told a story, a story with a moral.

"There was a young clergyman appointed to a small country town," he began, "and a short time after his arrival a boy-looking man in leggings stopped him on the street one day, bowed respectfully and said in a trembling voice:

"If you please, sir, would you mind next Sabbath offering up a bit of a prayer for Milly Dean?"

"The minister, of course, assented. The man, whose look was worried and haggard, took leave gratefully, and on the next and the two following Sundays Milly Dean was prayed for from the pulpit.

"Then one afternoon the man in leggings met the minister again. Thank you for their prayers, sir," he said, "but you needn't pray no more for Milly Dean."

"Why," said the other, shocked, "is she dead?"

"Dead?" said the man in leggings. "No; she's just won the Blue Ribbon handicap by a length and a half."

An instance of the fire and feverish anxiety of General Booth to compress as much work as possible into the closing years of his ministry was provided on his missions by motor.

"Faster" was the word that impelled the general forward, and it is to be feared that in his anxiety to carry the message into the remote villages that are still off the train track he did not always observe the speed limit. He frequently exceeded thirty miles an hour.

When his chauffeur was getting all he could out of the engine the general's cry was still "Faster! Faster!"

Place a quantity of black powder on a rock and light it with a flame. It will flash, simply scorching the stone. Place a piece of dynamite on the same rock, and the rock will be shattered; hence the reasoning that dynamite follows the line of greatest resistance.

Nothing could be further from the truth, however. The black powder takes fire and explodes much more slowly than the dynamite, so that the elastic air that increases it, as it does everything, gives way gradually and the force is lost in the atmosphere.

With dynamite the explosion has been so sudden, the attack on the air so instantaneous, that for a fraction of a second it actually rushes. The force of the dynamite is so tremendous that it cannot wait, and it is turned into the rock, which for the instant becomes the line of least resistance.

An illustration of this may be seen during a display of lightning. A flash of it strikes across the sky. It strikes the air so densely that it can no longer make rapid progress in that direction, and it turns aside to follow the line of least resistance. It cannot wait for the air to yield. It is the same with dynamite.—Harper's Weekly.

DYNAMITE AS IT EXPLODES.

It follows, no lightning does, the line of least resistance.

It is the popular impression that dynamite needs the line of greatest resistance. Place a quantity of black powder on a rock and light it with a flame. It will flash, simply scorching the stone. Place a piece of dynamite on the same rock, and the rock will be shattered; hence the reasoning that dynamite follows the line of greatest resistance.

Nothing could be further from the truth, however. The black powder takes fire and explodes much more slowly than the dynamite, so that the elastic air that increases it, as it does everything, gives way gradually and the force is lost in the atmosphere.

"TWO-PENNY BOX" BARGAINS.

Big Prices for Old Books Found in London Barrows.

The "two-penny box," an well known to frequenters of second-hand book shops does not seem to be a very promising field in which to prospect for a fortune, but big finds have actually been discovered there, all the same. There are two values to old books—the bibliomaniac's value and the dealer's value, the two not being of necessity related—and owing to this the "two-penny box" is not the Tom Tiddler's ground it once was. All the same, a man recently picked up an old copy of Quaker's Divine Emblems there, and sold it half an hour after for $5.

A more lucky find was made by a cyclist in an inn at Basingstoke some years ago. He was held up by the weather, and to help pass the time the landlord hunted up a lot of old books for his amusement. One of them so took his fancy that he offered to buy it. The landlord gave it to him as a gift. It turned out to be a first edition of Pennant's "Account of London," and he eventually disposed of it for nearly $400.

A find nearly as lucky was made in the "two-penny box" by a man who fished out an early edition of Omar Khayyam's "Rubaiyat," and sold it subsequently for $100. It is extraordinary how books will in certain cases become as valuable as precious stones. Take the original edition of Burns for instance, which was published at $1, and on which the entire profit to the author was something like $100. There is a copy in the Burns Museum for which $8,500 was paid.

But there are a few bargains still to be picked up. How would Macmillan's comedy, "Le Misanthrope," do to begin with? It was published in 1667, and may be worth $120. Or there is the 1719 "Robinson Crusoe," for which you might get $250 without much trouble, and for the two-volume edition (1749) of Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" $340 has been obtained. Then there is Lamb's "Tale of Rose-mond Gray," published in 1776, copies of which have been sold for $25, and $50 has been given for a copy of the "Poetry for Children," by Charles and Mary Lamb.

Just think of the man who found a copy of the 1653 edition of Walton's "Compleat Angler," and thereby netted over $1,200, or the other who found a small fortune most unexpectedly in a quaint old volume entirely unrecognizable and dated 1556, which turned out to be the "Orlando Furioso" of Ariosto the Italian poet, and sold at auction for $540. The writer once drew a friend's attention to the fact that a copy of the three-volume edition of Scott's "Pirate," published in 1822, in his possession, and which he set no particular store, was worth $350. As a matter of fact, he sold it for $430.

The man who allowed a first edition of George Herbert's "Temple" to go out of his hands must have had many a restless night if he ever learnt that it is now catalogued at $1,000; and it is safe to say that Milton's "Paradise Lost" of 1607 changed hands a good many times before it was found to be value for $500.

Sergeant-Major Under General French

Veteran of Boer War Who Lost Health on the Veldt Tells Experience.

Good Advice for All Who Have Indigestion or Stomach Disorders

In his home at Waldegrave, N. S., no one is better known than Sergeant-Major Cross, late of the 4th Queen's Own Hussars. Speaking of the ill-effects of a campaign upon a man's constitution, the Sergeant-Major writes: "I served under General French during the late Boer war, in the capacity of Sergeant-Major. It was perhaps owing to a continued diet of bully beef, hard tack, and bad water, but at any rate my stomach entirely gave out. I was in such a state that I could eat nothing without the greatest suffering. The army doctors did not help me much, and since leaving the service I have been very miserable. Some few months ago a friend told me he had been a great sufferer from indigestion until he tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they cured him. I confess it was without much faith I bought a box, but the first dose made me feel better than I had been for a long time. Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely cured me, and now I can eat everything and anything. I have recommended them to others and in every case the result has been similar to mine. Quick, sure results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure disorders of the stomach, correct indigestion, make you feel uplifted and strengthened. To renew or maintain health, Dr. Hamilton's Pills always prove a good prescription. 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, all dealers, or the Catarthorone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

The Bazaar a Great Success.
The Bazaar opened yesterday in the Market Hall, a description of which was given in Thursday's issue, was a great success, and everything points to a big continuance of patronage to-day. The bazaar is held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church.

Turkey Trotter's Toss Toss.
T. J. Spratt of Lindsay, had just returned from Kilmount where he did the turkey trot. After buying all the birds in sight, he returned home well pleased. Possibly as a hint not to display joy over cornering the market, his horse tossed Spratt's foot. The sharp call almost severed two toes.

Canal Deputation Leave Tuesday.
The committee who were appointed a few days ago at the Board of Trade meeting to take up the matter of organizing the Trent Canal deputation to Ottawa, met yesterday and decided that they would have to meet in Ottawa next Tuesday as arranged for by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.

A Correction.

It is understood that Mr. Hill will use the ground for the property includes the Crown Hotel, sheds and yard, Chinese laundry and barber shop to the east of the main building. Local Enterprise Recognized.
St. John's News: "It was reported lately that the De Laval Dairy Supply Company had changed their plans and were to remain in St. John's. Such does not seem to be the case. The company, apparently, has irrevocably determined to close the St. John's branch after the end of the year, as they are now building at Peterborough, Ont., in view of concentrating their entire industry at that flourishing town, where enterprise goes hand in hand with energy and common sense."

Woman Used Skeleton Key!
At yesterday's police court an East City woman and a young female relative were charged with entering a house in the south portion of that ward and stealing a quantity of jewelry. It is alleged that the woman used a skeleton key. A house was entered Tuesday evening whilst its occupants were absent, by the younger girl, the elder acting as a lookout. The jewelry, which was produced in court, was found buried in defendant's garden. They were remanded for trial.

Oddfellows' Field Night.

This property includes some good pine which will be cut for lumber, besides hardwood and some three acres of some fine butternut. Mr. Jackson will have a staff of some 15 or 20 men employed in getting out about 1500 cords of hardwood. The latter will be shipped by barges to the city as soon as navigation opens next spring.

Switzer Sent to Jail.
At yesterday's police court, James Wallace, a blackliester was given a $10 fine for being drunk. He sprang that same old moss grown gag about a complacent stranger giving him the booze. Albert Tivey, who has been working at Campbellford, charged with a similar offence, said he got his corn juice from a bartender at Hastings whilst coming on the way to Peterborough. During his examination, some excitement was created by Tivey flailing in the witness box. He was remanded until the fumes clear away from his memory. John C. Switzer in default of the necessary wherewithal to liquidate his fine, was given a meal ticket for 10 days at Castle Nesbitt.

GERMANY HAS DONE ALL THAT'S NECESSARY FOR EVENTUALLY OF WAR

Minister for War Makes a Positive Statement in the Imperial Parliament—Bulgarians Capture Twenty Thousand Turks

Berlin, Nov. 29.—The German Minister of War, General Josias von Heeringen, declared to-day in the Imperial Parliament: "I CAN GIVE THE POSITIVE ASSURANCE THAT EVERYTHING NECESSARY FOR THE EVENTUALITY OF WAR HAS BEEN DONE."

He made this statement in answering an inquiry as to whether the 114 new machine gun companies provided for in the law of 1912 could be organized without delay.

Two Turkish Divisions Surrendered.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 29.—Two entire divisions of Turkish reserves surrendered to-day to the Bulgarian troops near the village of Marhamli, between the port of Dedagahach and Demotica, according to an announcement made by the official news agency here. The place of surrender is about fifty miles south-west of Adrianople. The prisoners probably number on to 20,000 men.

Beliegers Within a Mile of the City.

Sofia, Nov. 29.—The lines of investment drawn by the Bulgarian troops around the beleaguered Turkish stronghold of Adrianople are being tightened day by day. The attackers' trenches have now approached within 1,100 yards of the city itself, and the foreign consuls have hoisted flags over their offices so as to prevent the Bulgarians firing shells in their direction.

BIG STUDENTS CONVENTION OPENS IN MURRAY ST. CHURCH

In Murray street Baptist church last night was held the opening session of the third annual Student Missionary Conference. The church was filled with over four hundred students from the Universities of Toronto, Queen's and McGill, and the smaller colleges of the province.

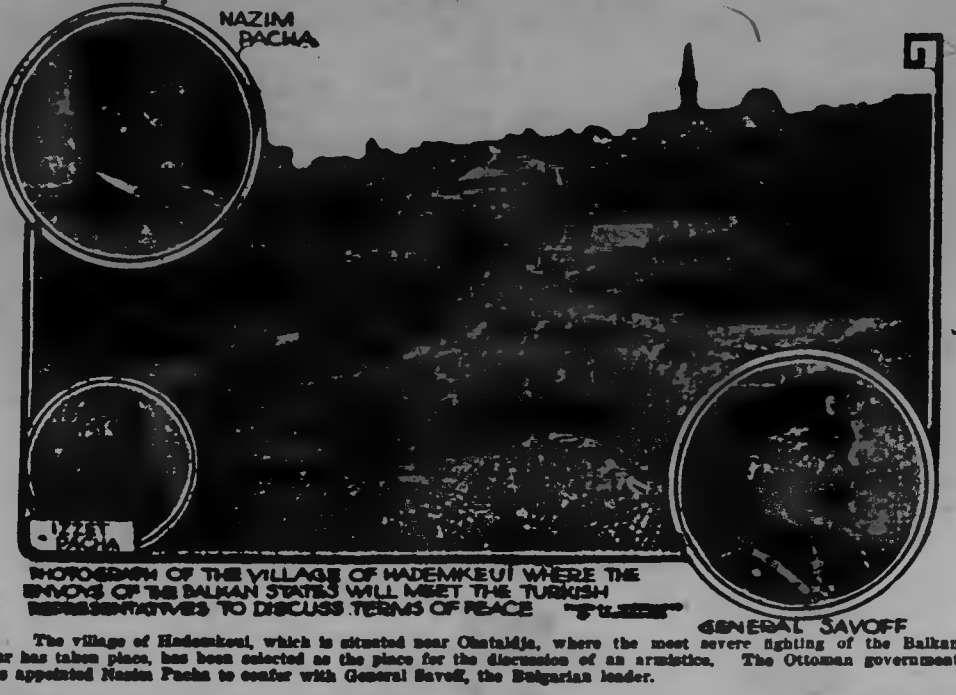

A cordial address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Mr. Costello. He pointed out the infinity of opportunities for service that open to the college graduate of to-day. More particularly, he touched upon the greatest of all calls to service—the call to the mission field, the call, on account of which the convention is being held.

Mr. Murray, the conference secretary, outlined the purposes of the conference. It is a gathering of those who have decided to make the Mission field their life work, of those who do not yet know where their life work lies and those who know their life work lies in this land. The students are here for instruction, for missionary education, for broadening of ideas and ideals, the widening of vision and for the mutual uplift for the great task they have undertaken. The evangelization of the world in this generation.

Dr. Gilmour, of McMaster, followed with a short devotional address.

The chief address of the evening was the address of President Falcner.

WHAT THE CITIZEN SAYS ABOUT REMARKS OF MR. BURNHAM

The following extract is from the Ottawa Citizen of Thursday:

In view of the agitation over bilingual schools some remarks made by J. H. Burnham, Conservative member for West Peterborough, in the debate on the address on Tuesday, are significant. Mr. Burnham, it may be recalled, was foremost in the fight for the No Tenure decree being rendered inoperative in Canada. On the French question he said: "The allegation has been made indirectly that there is in this country a conspiracy for the extinguishing of the French-Canadian race, a race that has borne itself with all the honor and distinction that we should look for in one of the foremost races of the world. There is at the present time a conspiracy on foot to deprive them of their language, and to deprive them of their customs, their history, their traditions and of their institutions. Whether it is proposed that this shall be accomplished by means of the Government, or in some other way, let me say, representing a large number of English-speaking people who, I know, hold the same opinion, that much as we have been inclined to differ from them in the past, and often as we have had to meet them in keen debate, nevertheless, bearing in mind their loyalty to the Empire in the past and their loyalty in the present, and their recognition of imperial needs, we will never even at the sacrifice of the English language go back upon or prove recalcitrant to such a people. As far as I am concerned I would prefer never to speak another word of English if it meant that the French-Canadian should be deprived of force of the right to speak their language whenever they feel so inclined."

HOME RULE ROME RULE

Opinion Held By Rev. Dr. Speer, of Toronto

Also Mean Rebel Rule?

Toronto Divine Gives a Straight Talk on Conditions in Ireland, After a Personal Visit to the Emerald Isle.

The following has been received by The Times from a Toronto subscriber, with a request that we should print it. Rev. Dr. Speer is an old Peterborough boy, having been born in the township of Dunsmuir. He delivered a stirring address before the Protestant Federation some months ago, in which he effectively dealt with the aggressive political attitude of the Roman Catholic Church. The address below was delivered in Brampton, before a large and enthusiastic audience.

Dr. Speer told the audience that he had made a tour of Ireland during the past summer, that he had studied conditions in fifteen counties as closely as possible, that he had conferred with all sorts and conditions of men, travelling as a layman and securing information from Roman Catholics and Protestants alike. His conclusions were that Home Rule not only means Rome Rule but rebel rule for Ireland. He had not one word to say about Roman Catholics "shipping God as they saw fit." He paid tribute to the hospitality and kindness of all.

After reference to the influence of small countries on the history of the world he spoke of important events in the struggle of a section of the Irish people to be free from British rule. For a period of more than a hundred years this struggle has gone on. The great forces at work are the National League, which has pledged itself to not rest day or night until the end is accomplished. Speaking at Buffalo a short time ago Mr. Redmond, prominent member of Parliament, had stated boldly that the object was separation from England and that the victory is at hand. Nationalist leaders had come to the United States and openly covered mouths of discord in that country against England. These were the men who would control the Irish Parliament. Another force was the "Daly McGuire," a secret organization in which no Protestant can have membership, which carries on acts of destruction and violence calculated to drive Protestants out of the country. Another power is the Roman Catholic priesthood.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The Retiring Aldermen Will Seek Re-election, Except Mr. Graham of the North Ward—Several New Men Spoken of.

As is generally known, a number of the local city fathers retire automatically at the end of the present year. Those who retire after faithfully serving the city for two years are Aldermen Brown, Graham, Gordon and Morgan. Of the above it is understood that all but Ald. Graham will again stand for re-election. In Ald. Graham's withdrawal from the legislative assembly, Peterborough loses a painstaking, conscientious and fearless City Father. It goes without saying that Ald. Gordon's ability and record in the council will assure his re-election by a safe margin. Aldermen Brown and Morgan are both men of business ability who have stood the test and made good. Among possible aspirants for civic honors, as Aldermen, there are mentioned Messrs. R. J. Wostenholme, of the south ward; Geo. Duncan, who is likely to be elected on his past record for the south ward. In the north ward, Messrs. W. Langford, Jr., D. W. Kerrigan, A. A. McIntyre and R. J. Kidd, are all spoken of as possible candidates. Mr. Langford is a bright young man and would insure good new blood into our civic parliament.

Mr. Kerrigan is a successful business man, who would bring business ethics to the council.

Mr. McIntyre's past record in the council is sufficient guarantee of his being a very strong vote.

Mr. Kidd is a well known insurance man whose suggestions and well known business ability would be an addition to the council.

Four members of the Board of Education also retire automatically, viz., Messrs. Ackerman, Eastwood, Fair and Dr. Morrison. It would be irrefragable to make comparisons between the relative merits of these gentlemen, as all have well filled their responsibilities.

Mr. H. H. Moore, a retiring member of the Board of Water Commissioners. Mr. Moore's past services on this Board have made him thoroughly acquainted with the handling of our water supply. Mr. Moore's re-election is likely to be contested as several strong men are spoken of for this position.

Magistrate Dumble is of the opinion that legislation should be enacted forbidding the marriage of imbeciles.

POWER CO. WILL NOT OPPOSE HYDRO-ELECTRIC BY-LAW

Mayor Bradburn Gives a Brief History of This Year's Proceedings Which Have Culminated in a Measure Looking Toward Municipal Acquisition of Power Plants

The City Fathers met in special session last night, when a by-law to authorize the borrowing of $120,000, to provide for a power and light distributing system passed its first and second readings.

This by-law together with one to raise $10,000 with which to purchase an incinerator for the disposal of garbage, will go to the people at the January elections.

THE POWER COMPANY'S POSITION.

The Electric Power Company, Limited (better known as The Seymour Power Co.) have notified Council that they will not in any way oppose the by-law.

The following letter received by the Mayor, and read by him to Council last night, speaks for itself:

"Toronto, Ont., Nov. 28, 1912.

"W. H. Bradburn, Esq., Mayor.

"Peterborough, Ontario.

"Dear Sir,—Having noticed in the Peterborough papers that a resolution had been passed by your Council approving the submission to the electors of a by-law to raise $120,000 to be used in the construction of an independent lighting system, we conclude that your Council will not further consider the proposition which we submitted to you on the 29th ult.

"We now wish to assure you that our company and the interests that we represent will not in any way oppose the passing of the proposed money by-law for an independent lighting system. I am instructed to say that our company regards the project which we are advised the Council will recommend to the electors as being in no way in contravention of the terms of the franchise granted to us by your city and in appreciation of the good faith you are showing toward our company we beg to assure you that your proposal will be given friendly support by all voters who may in any way be guided by our advice.

"I remain,

"Yours respectfully,

"The Electric Power Co., Limited,

"J. G. G. Kerry,

"Pres."

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE POWER SITUATION.

Mayor Bradburn here gave a summary of the past year's proceedings which have culminated in the preparation of a power money by-law for the ratepayers' acceptance or refusal as the case may be. He said:

Gentlemen,—Before putting this motion, I wish to make some observations regarding it.

When the vote was taken nearly a year ago to ascertain whether the ratepayers were in favor of obtaining electric power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, the remarkable majority in the affirmative was a mandate to the Council to take steps to obtain power from that Commission. The Council obeyed that mandate and steadily pursued that course, without turning aside from it in any direction. When urged to ask the Electric Power Co. to state at what price it would furnish power to the city that action was not taken, for one reason because doing so would be going contrary to the directions the Council had received from the ratepayers.

We now have the estimates from the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission required to submit to the ratepayers this by-law providing for raising money for a distributing system. The first estimate given by the Commission covered the acquiring of the street plant of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., and the extension and improvement of the system, and the estimated sum required for this purpose was $288,000. The Electric Power Co., which controls the Peterborough Light and Power Co., informed us that if the city did take over their street plant, they would erect another and continue in business, and it looked as if this course might result in the city acquiring an old plant and the company having a new one. The Commission was asked for an estimate of the amount that would be required to construct a new distributing system, including modern methods of lighting and underground work, and the Commission has been ever ready to give information without expense to the city, and that such a system covering the whole city could be constructed for $120,000. This is the amount that this by-law, if carried, will authorize to be expended.

This course has been followed because with the passing of this by-law the city will be in a position to acquire the Peterborough Light and Power Company's plant, or to construct a new one, as may be found best for the city.

Last year the ratepayers were told that they would be given information as to what the cost of power would be if obtained from the Commission before being asked to vote on a money by-law to authorize expenditure on a distributing system. That information they now have. The Commission purposes acquiring the power developed of the Ontario Power Co. and, if needed, to add the power from No. 4 dam to it. In 1911 the Commission made a report on this, and in that report estimated that the city could deliver power to users, after paying all first charges and operating expenses, at the following rates:

Average cost on basis of 2500 h.p. delivered—$17.56 per h.p.

Average cost on basis of 2750 h.p. delivered (10 per cent overload)—$15.85 per h.p.

Limited Hour and 10 Hour Service.

Average cost on basis of 3000 h.p. connected load—$14.65 per h.p.

Average cost on basis of 3500 h.p. connected load—$12.55 per h.p.

The present plan of the Commission (taking over the power property and plant and transmitting it, and the city looking after the distribution) does not change these estimates. The City Council has been given a letter from the Commission, which has been published, saying that these estimates are the estimates of the cost of power delivered that we should count upon now. The estimates of the Commission have always been careful and cautious, and the probability therefore is that the city will be able to deliver power at rates even less than these. We have further guarantee as to the price of the power that the Commission has stated in a letter which has been read in the Council "that if it should be found later that the Commission cannot supply power in accordance with that estimate, the commission will not enter into a contract with the municipality without the ratepayers having an opportunity to give the matter further consideration." And further, "that the power will be developed as the city's requirement calls for."

power and gas plants and street railway—would have to provide interest on a heavy bonded indebtedness, depreciation, operating expenses and dividends on the stock, and in addition to all these provide a surplus to be paid to the city. The rates to be charged the citizens would have to be kept up to figures sufficient to produce this revenue. Ordinarily the profits (over the fixed and operating charges) are expected to be sufficient to pay dividends on the stock under this proposition they would be expected to be so large that 90 per cent of the profits would pay the dividends and allow 40 per cent to be paid to the city, and the users would have to furnish the money. This proposal included a provision that the city would be for all time to come excluded from entering into competition with the company—that it could never at any time enter into the light, power, gas or street railway business, unless it first purchased from the company these utilities at a value, to be fixed by arbitration, of the utilities "as going concerns," but without anything for franchise rights. "As going concerns" is a wide and elastic term, for have we not heard the company stating that the exclusion of prospective profits and franchises does not include compensation for damages? And again, as in the other proposal, the city would not own power and would not have any interest in any dam or producing plant from which the power would come to operate the utilities. It would entirely preclude municipal ownership of power.

With respect to the Otomabee power Co., its franchise expires at the end of next year. It has been said that unless the Council renounces that franchise it will be doing an injustice to that company. In the first place the city gave the company a right to use the streets for ten years and it has not tried to interfere with that right. Then the city tried in the early part of last year to purchase the property of the company, but the company replied in a letter to the Mayor saying, "We have decided not to offer our property for sale. Yet although the company gave this refusal to the city, about that time control of the company was sold to the Electric Power Co. If any interests connected with the Otomabee company are afraid of injury, it is not the fault of the city or the Commission, and if any of its property is taken for the public, it will be paid for at a fair price."

The city has made efforts in recent years to get control of power. In 1907 it tried to buy out the Peterborough Light & Power Co., but the company broke off the negotiations. This company is now controlled by the Electric Power Co. The city also endeavored to buy the Dunlop Falls power and made an offer for it. That property is now also controlled by the Electric Power Co. It tried to open negotiations with the Otomabee power Co. and was rebuffed. That company is now controlled by the Electric Power Co. It got an option from the Inland Empire of the Lakefield power property, but was advised by competent engineers that the project was not feasible at the price given. The Ashcroft power Co. is another that has been bought under the control of the Electric Power Co.

There does not seem to be any way for the city to obtain control of power except through the Electric Power Commission. And the Commission is willing to give its services to the city and secure power for it. By this means the city will have municipally controlled power.

THE TIMES' MUNICIPAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Name your Choice for Mayor, Aldermen, School Trustees, and Water Commissioner, and Do It Now!—A Plan to Awaken interest in Coming Civic Changes.

FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND SEND IT IN TO THIS OFFICE

We take the initiative in inviting a public expression of opinion as to who are best qualified to fill the civic offices that expire with the end of this year. And in order to arouse becoming interest in so live and important a question The Times has decided to adopt a plan, quite popular in many big cities, of conducting a newspaper election campaign with a view to bringing into the field in advance of nomination day a list of desirable candidates for municipal honors. Our readers are therefore respectfully asked to enter into the spirit of the scheme and record in these columns, either by vote or in brief letter, their opinions on the following questions:

Who will be our next Mayor?

Who is to represent us in the City Council?

Who will fill the places becoming vacant on the Board of Education and Board of Water Commissioners?

Peterborough is now growing rapidly, and on the men selected for such positions as noted above largely depends her future growth and prosperity. Our taxation is now so heavy that with the increased cost of living, civic expenditure must be controlled by the most competent men available—men who will pledge themselves to do the greatest good for the greatest number as economically as prudence dictates.

As indicated above The Times desires to arouse interest in municipal affairs. There are six places to be filled on the City Council, including the Mayor's seat. It has been an unwritten law, however, the past few years that the Mayor should be extended the courtesy of a second term (provided, of course that he has proved an efficient Chief Magistrate), and there seems no reason to deviate from that rule this year.

THOSE WHO RETIRE THIS YEAR

The following civic officers retire automatically at the end of this year, viz.:—

Council—Aldermen Duncan, Brown, Graham, Morgan and Gordon.

Board of Education—Messrs. Ackerman, Fair, Morrison and Eastwood.

Water Commissioner—W. H. Moore.

HOW TO VOTE

Each coupon, as below, will have the value of five votes. Cut the coupons out, insert the names of your choice, and either mail them to The Times or leave them at this office.

and if advantage is not taken at this offer and opportunity, there will be no other.

If the ratepayers want municipal power, by passing this by-law they will secure the aid of the Commission, with all its powers backed by the credit of the Province, and by this means will procure power owned and controlled by the people, and which will be delivered to the users at cost.

The Mayor is to be congratulated on the explicitness of his summary. However, some doubt exists in the minds of one or two Aldermen and many citizens as to the eventual ownership of the power generating plant to be acquired by the Hydro-Electric Commission, which we will refer to in another issue.

Those seeking a safe and lucrative investment of funds in land, the safest kind of security, are respectfully urged to consult the advertisement of Mr. Robert Wm. Clark, in this issue.

city and the city will receive it and sell and distribute it to the users. The Province will provide the money required for the work to be done by the Commission, and the city will raise the funds for the distributing system. Then the city will pay to the Commission for the power it takes, sufficient to provide interest and sinking fund on the expenditure made by the Commission, and the operating expenses of the generating and transmission plant. The rates named are estimated to provide this, and also to provide interest and sinking fund and operating expenses of the city's distributing system. At the end of the debenture period the system will be paid for, and the city will be able to reduce the rates by the amounts that were required for the interest and sinking fund debentures. The city will not only have this advantage with respect to the distributing system, but also the advantage of the initial expenditure by the Commission having been paid off, for the full benefit of this will come to the municipality in the reduction of the cost to it of power.

It must be remembered, and I would like to impress this upon the minds of all, that the city does not enter into a contract for the purchase of power in the ordinary sense, for the Hydro-Electric Commission will be practically trustees for the municipality, and the benefits of any advantages it may secure by improvements in means of production or in any other way will come to the city just as much as if the city directly owned the power. This is a proposition for the city to own and control power for the benefit of citizens, but for the purpose of assisting the city, the Commission undertakes the work of purchasing and producing the power and transmitting it to the city. By this method we obtain the services of the Commission and its engineers and the use of the credit of the Province to help us in that very important part of the project.

This is how the proposition we now have before us differs essentially from others. This is one reason why we did not ask the Electric Power Co. for a price at which it would supply power. By purchasing from a company the power would still be in the hands of private interests, by the carrying out of the proposals now being considered we will have municipal power, freed from the private interests and profits, and delivered to the people for light, heat and power at cost.

I permit me to refer very briefly to the propositions of the Electric Power Commission. They said they would sell us a portion of their distributing plant for $100,000, but the Commission tells us we can construct a new and complete distributing plant, including underground work, for $120,000.

They also said they would sell the city the electric distributing plants, the gas plant and the street railway for $675,000, but the figures they put upon the Light & Power Co's distributing system is an indication of how they put prices on their properties. Besides, looking to a proposal was a condition that the city must take the power from them, this shutting out the city from owning power and leaving in the company's hands the sources of power in the district.

There was the further proposal from the company that they would take the city into partnership in the operation of their utilities along the streets (but not, mark you, in the production of power) and give the city 40 per cent of the profits, after paying fixed charges, operating expenses and depreciation. Upon the Board of Directors, the city was to have two representatives out of five, probably a fair enough proportion under the circumstances, but the company by having the majority would retain full control. Thus the revenue of the utilities—the light, Offer them a slice of tender beef, and in a couple of hours they will have concealed it from sight. Try them with a piece of chalk or a tiny pebble, and they remain stolidly indifferent. Yet the chalk and offer it again, and the plant apparently mistakes it for meat, the berries gradually closing round it. Then, discovering the deception, they gradually relax and return the chalk without thanks. These vegetable gluttons will absorb morsels of peached eggs and mutton chops, but when the leaves turn black and shrivel, they kill them.

TERRIFIC HEAT.

Explorer Braved African Climate to Make Important Discoveries.

"The heat where we worked," says Dr. Felix Oswald, British explorer in central Africa, "was terrible. The flies abounded, and I have seen the midges come over the lake in a cloud that obscured the sun to a dull yellow light, and the noise of their humming as they passed sounded like the low drone of a pipe organ. Flying crickets as large as sparrows were common. There were ants three-quarters of an inch long. But what depressed me most was the dreadful loneliness. Strange to say, the intensely hot air was stimulating to the nerves. I drank a gallon of milk a day."

This eminent authority was sent to British East Africa some time ago by the British Museum and the discovery made are quite interesting. He reports having found conclusive evidence that the great lake of Victoria Nyanza has been in existence since the Miocene age—a matter of 3,000,000 years or so. The lake is of vast extent and lies at an altitude of 4,000 feet, in a mountainous region of the equator. In places it is of vast depth, the bottom probably being below the sea level.

Dr. Oswald found buried on the eastern shore of the lake parts of a number of prehistoric mammals, including the jawbone and teeth of a dinosaur of the Tertiary Era, and some bones of stegosaurians and ankylosaurians, the ancient types of dinosaurs. They were all found close to the mouth of the Kaji or Kaji river. Other traces of fossils were unearthed at points five and 15 miles distant, in what appeared to be the same gully.

According to the British Museum experts the discovery of the vast age of Victoria Nyanza throws an entirely new light on the problem of human antiquity. One consequence is that civilization in Egypt may have to be assumed as probably having existed from 50,000 to 60,000 years ago or even longer. Now, these reports of Dr. Oswald's Nyanza is 3,000,000 years old, the river Nile, of which it is the source, is not only of practically equal age, but has in all the geological past been a continuous period during its present course of over 2,400 miles from the equator to the Mediterranean.

That means, according to the museum authorities, that the valley of the Nile in Egypt has remained for more than 1,000,000 years in virtually its present physical state, with conditions as favorable to human occupation and human civilization as a million years ago as they were 12,000 years ago. It is called the "dawn" of Egyptian history; and, inasmuch as the Egyptian culture of 12,000 years ago was as pronounced as it is to-day, there is no way of limiting, by inference, the actual extent of its antiquity.

Combining Novelty With Realism.
 Mr. James Welch, who made a nice little pile out of "When Knights Were Bold," is looking round for another big winner.

He is conscious of the fact that it is not easy to come across something new that will capture the public, but at any rate he once met an author who was full of confidence, said the author:

"I've thought of a novel effect for my new melodrama."
 "Hard to find anything new."
 "This is new. The villain lights a cigar in the midst of the snowstorm, thus setting the snowstorm alight."

COSTLY COLLARS.

They Cost $300 Apiece in the Days of Queen Elizabeth.

Richards was never heard of in England until after Queen Elizabeth came to the throne. This statement may sound a little startling, but it is quite true nevertheless. Elizabeth's father, bluff King Hal, was the first English monarch to wear any sort of neck-band. That was very plain, about an inch in depth, and made of lace. Yet only fifty years later an author of the times, Henry Peacham, writes:

"He is not a gentleman who in the fashion wears a band of Italian work standeth him not at least three to four pounds." Yet a "gentleman" in London told me that there are bands of these costly goods still in existence.

Faggy paying such a sum as $3,000 for a collar was not a new thing. The original of the present standard collar was the ruff. In the year 1554 Queen Elizabeth first used a coachman collar. She was a man named Brown, and his wife brought with her from that country the art of clean starching.

Soon afterward a certain Mrs. Dingle came from the Netherlands and started a laundry with starch starching in London. A very good thing she made of it, for the daughters of wealthy citizens crowded to her to learn the art, and she charged them 15 pence. Five pounds was a lot of money in those days—equal to at least $100 of modern money.—London Advertiser.

 Babette had taken Chumleigh home to dine. Everything went well until they were seated at the dinner table, when William Babette remarked: "Why, pa, this is finest beef!"

"What," said his father, "what of it?"

High Finance.
 "Charles," said Mr. and Mrs. Tipton, "did you pay those blue chips you were worth a dollar apiece?"
 "Yes."
 "Well, here is a whole bunch that I got for 25 cents, with some other colored things in it."—Washington Star.

No Offense.
 "Your wife referred to you as 'the old one'?" asked the lawyer.
 "Yes. But a girl believes the name anything unless by that she frequently referred to her pet dog in the same way."—Washington Star.

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets In, Ruins Croup Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing catarrh disease consists of using Catarrhose is now freely admitted. Catarrhose is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhose you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhose's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry, rattling cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was hoarse and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhose seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me, and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhose Inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savory, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhose, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchitis or catarrh of the throat. Catarrhose contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhose Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

with the Water Commissioners in regard to a ditch the latter propose to place on the road near the water works. Mr. Garbutt was asked to confer with his council in regard to the matter.

The Lights Unsteady
Complaints have reached The Times regarding the lights of the Otonabee Power Company lately, and at times the "juice" seems to fairly overflow, when the lights appear to instantly develop great brilliancy, then with equal suddenness it drops into an almost invisible twilight. The Times feels sure that it is only necessary to call the attention of Mr. Munroe, to the matter in order to have the evil remedied.

COUNTY COUNCIL.
Action Deferred in Connection With Backburn Bridge.

The County Council met again yesterday. The matter of complying with the Government's request for the payment of $3,000 in connection with the construction of the bridge at Backburn, has been under the consideration of the Roads and Bridges committee, and it is understood that they have decided to defer action until they have communicated with the Department at Ottawa, with a view to having a committee of the council visit Ottawa and try to arrange an amicable settlement.

Ottawa Delegates.
The council will be represented in the deputation that will go to Ottawa on Tuesday, to urge the completion of the Trent Canal. Combined with this, will be a deputation representing the counties of Peterborough, Victoria and the City of Peterborough, to confer with the Department in the matter of constructing a new bridge at Pigeon Creek. Mayor Bradburn and Ald. Buller met the council during the day in respect to the matter.

It was also recommended that Mr. S. Belcher, Civil Engineer, be paid $100 for his services in connection with Pigeon Creek Bridge.

Bishops Visit House of Providence.
Their Lordships Bishop Scollard of Hamilton and Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough, on Thursday inspected the splendid new wing of the House of Providence. Bishop Scollard, as he looked from the fourth story balcony, remarked that the wide-spread vista of Little Lake, Trent Canal and the further rolling hills was one of the finest he had ever seen. Both of their Lordships were greatly pleased with the building, which is approaching completion. The contractors, Messrs. Rutherford and Co., somewhat delayed in plastering operations by lack of completion of the heating system.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPEDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintains three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., O.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 800 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—
"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—
"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Library and Scientific Institute writes:—
"The name of 'Nelson's' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia."
"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

KING MAY VISIT TORONTO DURING PEACE CELEBRATION

Movement Under Way to Induce His Majesty to Again Visit Canada—Plans Are Not Yet Complete

Toronto, Nov. 30.—It is highly probable that Canada will be visited in 1914, during the great National Peace Celebration in the fall of 1914 by His Majesty King George V.

An Ontario deputation consisting of Hon. Dr. Resumé, Hon. J. S. Duff, Ministers of the Provincial Government, Mr. George Gooderham, M. P., Dr. J. O. Orr and Mr. John G. Kent, were in conference yesterday at Quebec with the Government ministers of that Province to make the plans for the Peace Celebration, inasmuch as only Ontario and Quebec were active in the war of 1812-14. The conference was general and tentative, and no definite plans were outlined. Dr. Orr and Mr. Kent, returned to the city last night, but could not be seen to-day.

It was learned however, that His Majesty King George, would likely be invited to attend the Peace Celebration in Canada in 1914, more particularly in view of the fact that when Prince of Wales, he endeared himself to both of the leading races of the Dominion during the Quebec Tercentenary.

DR. MACDONALD MAKES PLEA FOR UNSELFISH PUBLIC SERVICE

The conference delegates spent a busy day Saturday. Sessions were held morning, afternoon and evening. The first session was held at 4 o'clock and a reception tendered by the business men at 5 o'clock.

"A year to-day counts more than Methuselah's whole existence," exclaimed Dr. MacDonald, of the Globe in the evening address. The world is growing small; we cannot live to ourselves in these days, he continued. The war in the Balkans, for instance, disarranges the industry of the Western States. Canada is the nation which has been thrown in the forefront of the struggle. We, the half-way house of the Empire are responsible for the future civilization of the world. Dr. MacDonald drove home the fact that to-day we face a crisis. Let Britain, let United States, Canada fail in the new ideals of international brotherhood, it would be better that they had never existed. It is the supreme chance that Canada has now to play the new game—the game of service.

The speaker made a strong plea for more unselfish public service in Canada and less grasping materialism. The wonderful new note sounding all over the world to-day is the note of service. It has come to Britain, it has come to the States and there has been adopted by the politicians—and it must be adopted by Canadians. "Let him that will be great among you be as one that serves."

Dr. MacDonald termed modern political systems "antiquated"—they are things of the past; the only thing that avails to-day is the changed life—the life devoted to service. When the speaker ceased the audience was silent, hushed for the moment, and then broke into enthusiastic applause. Essentially dramatic in his gestures and mode of utterance, Dr. MacDonald drives home his convictions as less by his forceful presentation of situations—the world situation, for instance, which was dealt with Saturday night, than by his tremendous bursts of energy.

The delegates were busy again on Sunday, beginning their day with a meeting at 9:30. Mr. Bishop, General Secretary, Y.M.C.A. for Canada gave an address along similar lines to those given at the other meetings. His theme was the necessity for finding out God's will and then following it.

ALERTS WINNERS

Hamilton's Alerts Are Now Dominion Rugby Champions

Criquet Grounds, Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 30.—Canada's two greatest Rugby teams, with apologies to old McGill, engaged in a 60-minute struggle here this afternoon for supremacy. The final act of the Canadian football drama—some want to call it burlesque—was staged in the cricket grounds before a crowd of about 8000 people, 2000 of whom were supporters of the Toronto Argonauts. The Argonauts trotted out on the gridiron accompanied by a band of trumpets and drums and to the applause that greeted the Argos made the efforts of the followers of the blue team rather weak.

All Hamilton backed up their home team, the Alerts, with everything but money. They figured that the outcome was a toss-up. No better day could have been obtained for the battle. A warm sun shone on the act. The cloudless sky and the breeze was perceptible. The little there was of snow on an angle across the field from the northwest at a very easy clip, giving just a slight advantage to either team.

The Argos were outclassed in the first half. The game resulted in a victory for the Hamilton bunch. The score—Alerts, 11; Argos, 4.

ALERTS JR. VS. O.A.C.
On Saturday the Alerts Juniors beat the Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph for the Junior championship event of the Dominion, by a score of 13-7.

A REVOLVER FALLS AND A PHYSICIAN IS KILLED.
Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 30.—Dr. J. D. Palmer, prominent physician of this city, was accidentally shot and killed in his office here Sunday, when a loaded revolver dropped from a table. The revolver had been laid on the table by a patient whom the doctor was treating at the time it exploded. The bullet entered the abdomen.

THE WEATHER.
To-day—Mostly fair and about the same temperature.

PITIFUL SCENE AT THE FRONT FOLLOWING A TURKISH DEFEAT.

The above incident is only one of thousands which have been reported from the Balkan war. The accompanying photograph was taken in the village of Kalkis and shows some of the starving Turks, on the verge of starvation and cholera, breaking into a baker's shop for food. The men, many of whom had eaten nothing for two days, were eating raw meat and else grinding them to dust and making a rough, almost uneatable bread, which at least was better than nothing.

MR. BURNHAM EXPLAINS THE BILINGUAL SCARE

Can't Be Denied, He Says, That an Investigation Was Started at Instigation of Bishop Fallon.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—J. H. Burnham, M.P. for West Peterborough, gave out a warm interview to-day following up his recent remarks in the Commons to the effect that a conspiracy exists for depriving the French race in Canada of their language.

"Does any scoundrel of the Church of Rome," Mr. Burnham asks, "deny that the church, through Cardinal Bourne, has commanded and directed the French Canadians to give up their mother tongue and to adopt English in order that the church may make full use of the French race in its proposed conquest of Canada to the true faith? Does anybody deny that a government began the crusade by an investigation at the dictation of Bishop Fallon? The French are willing to conform to the law, but are resisting the church. With which side do the Protestants of Canada propose to ally themselves?"

A GOOD COMPANY

Perry's Peerless Players Have Three Days' Engagement at Grand Opera House.

Cobourg Sentinel Star: Perry's Peerless Players, which appeared here the first three nights of the week, drew very good houses, and merited better.

They are the best stock company that have played Cobourg for some time. Mr. Perry, who by the way entered into his fifth milestone on his journey on Tuesday, has a strong company, both in repertoire and specialties, and we will be pleased to see them come back again. A company as able as he has has deserved packed houses wherever they appear.

This company open a three days' engagement at the Grand, Thursday, Dec. 5, and 6 and 7th, with a special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. This company will present the great 4-act college play, "The Little Co-Ed." Mr. Perry had the "Jolly Jerry from Kerry" here some few seasons ago, and it will be remembered how well it pleased all. Prices—night 10, 20 and 30 cents; matinee, 10 and 20 cents.

CLAIM FOR EXTRAS FOR A HIGH LOCK

In the House at Ottawa the other day, the following discussion took place in regard to the Peterborough lift lock:

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux: Mr. Speaker, with the indulgence of the House I would ask the Minister of Railways (Mr. Cochrane) whether it is true, as I am credibly informed, that the large claim for extras arising out of the contract at the lift lock at Peterborough is about to be paid to Messrs. Corry & Lavender, contractors of Ottawa. This claim has been referred under the late Government to Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, who has refused to acknowledge the validity of the claim, and I am now informed that this claim is to be paid. If the claim is to be paid, will it be placed in the estimate in the regular way or will it be paid out of a general fund in the Department of Railways and Canals?

Hon. F. Cochrane: No decision has been arrived at as to whether it will be paid or not. The matter has had a little attention from me, but have not come to any conclusion on it. If it was to be paid of course the amount would have to be voted in the House.

SENSATIONAL RESCUE AT BIG GEORGE STREET FIRE LAST NIGHT

Mrs. Sutherland Carried By Ladder From Third Story Window Whilst Sick—Nurse Climbed Down Without Aid

Mrs. Sutherland, who was ill in bed on the third story above her husband's grocery at 323 George street, and in charge of a trained nurse, had a narrow escape from death last night at 8 o'clock. The lady, who is elderly, was in bed when a fire broke out in the rear of N. C. Cameron's gents' furnishing store at No. 325 George street. Mrs. Sutherland's physical condition precluded any possibility of her being brought down stairs owing to the dense volumes of smoke which rolled in black waves and eddied through the passage ways. Three young men, with the aid of the hook and ladder branch of the department quickly ran a ladder to the third story from George street, ran up and assisted at great personal danger, in effecting a rescue by carrying the lady to the ground.

The three plucky rescuers were Messrs. M. A. Pymer, Toronto, who is a guest at the Grand Hotel, Mr. Dummitt and W. H. Fair. They had a hard job as Mrs. Sutherland was helpless and a somewhat heavy woman. The nurse pluckily ran down the ladder without assistance. Mrs. Sutherland, with the nurse was at once taken to the plumbing shop of the former's son, Mr. Leo Sutherland, 356 Water street. Dr. McPherson was summoned. As we go to press Mrs. Sutherland was suffering from shock and undue excitement.

The Fire.
What proved to be the worst fire that Peterborough has been scourged by for some time, started in the rear of Mr. N. C. Cameron's gents' wear store, at 325 George street, and got good headway before an alarm was sent in. As Mr. J. C. Burton, emerged from Constable's yard, where he had been in getting a drink of water, he saw the reflection of flames shooting high above the roof of the building owned by the Toronto Loan and Savings Co., embracing Nos. 323, 325 and 327 George street. He at once rang Box 21 at 8 o'clock. The fire had gained bad headway then. This was due to few people being on the streets, on account of the churches

TURKS WANTON WASTE OF HUMAN LIFE IS ANSWERED

Horrible Wrecks of Humanity Are Permitted to Walk the Streets of Stamboul and Pera—Large Cholera Camps Exist

Constantinople, Nov. 30.—Foreign observers here daily are aroused either to condemnation or admiration of the Turks by reason of some peculiar display of characteristics which are different from those of the people of the west. There indifference to the sufferings of their fellow-men and the wanton waste of life displayed in the streets of Stamboul and Pera, and in the piles of dead, needlessly large in the cholera camps, is offset by the courage of the officers and crew of the cruiser Hamidieh, after a lack of precaution had permitted a Bulgarian torpedo boat to almost blow her up.

Officers Brave Act.
The Hamidieh captain brought his ship back to Constantinople in a manner few European commanders would have adopted. He took a course across the deep sea and arrived in Golden Horn with the decks of the cruiser eighteen inches above water. The ship was practically sunk at the entrance to the dock, and the engineers apparently are not able to move her in or out.

Asked by the foreign naval officers why he failed to hug the shore after his ship was torpedoed, the captain replied that his crew was under good discipline and he feared they might mutiny if they saw the shore nearby. Consequently he took a chance of sinking.

These incidents are difficult to understand by westerners with their present day fashion of conserving human life. Foreigners are unable to understand how the Turks stand and listen unaffected to the groans and agonies of the wounded or the cholera sufferers, often not attempting to alleviate them. They do not realize that the sufferers, were conditions reversed, would lend aid to their brethren in distress.

FOUND DEAD WITH A GAS TUBE IN MOUTH.
Thomas A. Meyers Commits Suicide in Room of His Lodging House.

Boston, Nov. 30.—With one end of a rubber tube in his mouth and the other end attached to a gas cock, turned on at full force, Thomas A. Meyers, 42 years old, was found dead in his room in the lodging house at 12 Lynde street, West end, a few days ago.

Meyers was a paper hanger. Two weeks ago he went to the Lynde St. house, owned by Arthur Kenney, and took a room. He had been living with his sister, Mrs. Margaret Murray, at 20 Prospect street, Somerville. The body was turned over to Mrs. Murray.

A NEW FIRE HALL.
Guelph, Nov. 30.—At the municipal elections the ratepayers will be asked to approve a by-law to provide for the issue of debentures to the amount of $15,000 for the purpose of paying for the erection of a branch fire hall in St. Patrick's Ward, and the equipment of the same.

“44 A Progressive Peterborough.”

Last week the Senate killed a bill introduced by Hon. Frank Cochrane designed to carry out another plank in Premier Bordet's pre-election platform, a measure to encourage the building of highways by a plan of co-operation between the Dominion and the Provincial Parliaments. Provision was made in the estimates for subsidies to the various provinces (on basis of population) of no less than $1 million dollars. This measure was exceedingly popular, and has been endorsed by farmers' organisations and Good Roads Associations from

One of the first measures which will be brought down by the government during the present session will be the Bank Act, which will be introduced by Hon. W. T. White. No authoritative statement as to the measure will be made until it is introduced by the minister, but it is understood that there will be a number of important amendments looking towards the protection of depositors and the general public, and towards the prevention of the serious failures which have occurred within recent years. The bill will be sent to the Banking and Commerce Committee, where it will be thoroughly thrashed out in every phase. A number of large deputations will be heard, including one from Western Canada, representing the grain growers and cattle men. They will ask for amendments to the Act which will allow banks to loan money on grain in store as well as on cattle. At present no loans can be made until the grain reaches a wholesaler and is in the elevator. The western farmer thinks this is a discrimination, and it is also claimed that if loans could be not be the rush to market in the fall made on farmer's grain there would with the consequent congestion.

"SIR,—There is a pathetic article in the Examiner of Nov. 27th, in which Mr. Peck and I are implored to revrieve the County Council of the payment of the sum of £1,000 resulting by the contract and agreement enter-and the County Council herein. It was stated by Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. J. H. McClellan, on Janu-cil that the former had secured the cancellation of this debt. When the present Government came in they found, however, that the debt had not been cancelled. The Government, therefore, was and is in duty bound to collect it. The late Minister of Railways and Canals has refused to assent to any saying that the late Government was in duty bound to cancel the debt. He has flatly denied the department is in any way bound to do so. He has flatly denied the cancellation. Mr. Shaw, of Harvey, has, in my opinion, only himself to thank for the trouble made by his action. The Government's prompt action had been taken the true state of affairs regarding these

 The amount was appropriate to the bridge, the Council Command it will be, I admit, against the law for the Council to appropriate it again.
 Even if the money has been otherwise expended, it is not the Council's fault. I am sure that the Council brought about this trouble are in my opinion, presumably liable, not the country, and not the present Government. Peck, or myself.
 The present Government has all in its power to help the Council out.

Why Sniffle And Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhosee You Get Relief in Ten Minutes

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhosee. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhosee contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy free from narcotics and irritants.

That Catarrhosee is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1903," writes Mr. Pulos, "under date of June 10th, 1910, I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhosee. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhosee, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the greatest medicine in existence and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose, and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhosee. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.00, medium size 50c; at all dealers or the Catarrhosee Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Demand For Frogs Increasing.

Local frog catchers will be pleased to learn that the big lobster palaces of the Great White Way, New York City are demanding more of these delicacies. As is known, along the banks of the Otonabee from this city to Rice Lake are many pens used for storing these amphibious creatures. It is probable that in the Spring renewed activity will mark this local industry.

Wins at Basketball.

An exciting game of basketball was played in Lindsay on Saturday afternoon, when the girls' team of the local Collegiate Institute won from the girls of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute. The game was a close and interesting one from beginning to end, the score at the finish being 13-12 in the Peterborough girls' favor. Our team are to be congratulated on their victory, which we all hope will only be one of the many. The Lindsay girls expect to come down for a return game shortly after Xmas.

Caring for the Feeble-Minded.

At the meeting of the police commissioners, Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., said he was of the opinion that it should be the duty of children wherever possible to care for their parents. If a person is really hopelessly insane, he or she, of course is sent to the regular Provincial institutions. He noted that a refuge for the weak-minded was a serious and imminent one for the Government to deal with. Mr. Peck, however, said he would be glad to back up any such measure Mr. Peck on motion of Mr. Dumble will be memorialized to present a resolution to the Government asking them to care for the feeble-minded.

Bernard Daly at the Grand.

Saturday's fine weather and the splendid attraction at the Grand Opera House brought out large audiences for both the matinee and evening performances. The attraction was Bernard Daly and his strong support of high class comedians in the former's new Irish Musical Comedy, entitled "Don O'Hare." This play, redolent of the Shamrock and Emerald Isle, was artistically staged, and the cast beyond the average is the thespian art. Mr. Daly, with his fine voice and inimitable stage presence was well received. It is such companies as Mr. Daly's that elevate the stage and unloose willing purse strings.

It is understood that the council will invite a few representative citizens to accompany them. Interested parties at Ottawa have assumed the responsibility of securing the attendance of delegates from other municipalities to whom the canal will be of benefit.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TWO SATURDAY FIRES.

Family on Bethune Street Had a Close Call by Smoke.

The boys of the Fire Brigade had no more growing on them Saturday. At 3 a.m., a telephone call was received that took them in quick time to 573 Homewood Ave., the residence of Mr. Hartshorn. This house is owned by Mr. Nixon of Bethune St. It was found that a chimney, evidently having been a fire during the night, had set fire to the joists of the first floor. By the time the Brigade was summoned, the kitchen to the rear, was in flames and beyond all chance of salvage. The flames had even broken into the main building. Chief Howard and his bureau boys set to work on both house and kitchen, to save the fire from spreading from the former and extinguished the flames in the latter. In this they succeeded. Mr. Hartshorn and his family were awakened in a half smothered condition by the barking of their dog, in dense clouds of smoke. They escaped in their night attire. A telephone message was sent to the station by a neighbor. The loss was about $300.

At 11.30 a telephone message was received of a fire at 564 Champlain street, the house of Mr. S. Stinson, a former member of the brigade, but for the past year invalid by rheumatism. This fire proved to be in a chimney. Two applications of chemicals, extinguished the fire without loss.

Turkey to Give Up Kirki-Kelissch, But Retain Adrianople Terms On Which Peace Will Come

Belgrade, Serbia, Dec. 2.—It is reported here that the forthcoming peace negotiations between the plenipotentiaries of Turkey and the Balkan allies will take place in Switzerland.

Stojan Novakovich, a former Premier, and Andre Nikolic, Speaker of the Serbian Parliament, have been appointed to represent Serbia.

The Possible Terms.

London, Dec. 2.—The Times prints the following despatch from its Constantinople correspondent:

"All reports respecting the terms of peace are in describing the retention of Adrianople by Turkey as certain, if the Porte agrees to raise the forts. It is also believed that the Porte will accept the Maritime frontier as far as and including Adrianople, and will probably surrender Kirki-Kelissch and the northerly part of the Istran district, which is populated by Bulgarians. It is further stated on good authority that the allies have agreed that Greece shall have Salonika and Bulgaria Monastir."

TIME FOR NAVAL BILL NOT CERTAIN—MAY BE THURSDAY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will Take Unusual Course in Moving Adjournment of the House

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—While Premier Borden is desirous of making his announcement in regard to the navy not later than Thursday, everything depends on the attitude of the opposition which up to the present time has not shown any marked disposition to facilitate the progress of the business of the House. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment in regard to the MacDonald and Robb by-elections will not be voted on until Tuesday. If the vote is taken early in the day the Monday amendment calling for participation in Imperial affairs in conjunction with assistance to the Imperial navy may be disposed of before the House rises. This amendment is not out of harmony in its essential feature with the Government's policy, but it cannot be accepted because an amendment to the address is tantamount to a want of confidence motion.

Redistribution Bill.

Should the Monday amendment be disposed of by the end of Tuesday evening the way would be clear for the naval announcement were it not that the Liberals propose to move another amendment criticizing the Government for omitting from the speech from the Throne any reference to redistribution. How long the Opposition proposes to debate this amendment is definitely known. If it is confined to Western speakers, the part of the Dominion most interested, it might be disposed of at the Wednesday session, but if the debate is allowed to become general it is quite inconceivable that the talk

Sir Wilfrid on First Reading.

The most definite thing that can be said about the whole situation at the present time is that it is one of uncertainty and that it depends entirely on whether the Opposition desires to adopt a policy which would practically amount to obstruction.

The statement is authoritatively made that after Premier Borden has made his explanation to the House, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will move the adjournment. The usual practice in such cases is for the opposition leader to make a few remarks, allow the bill to get its first reading, then the full debate takes place on the second reading. Should Sir Wilfrid Laurier ask for the immediate adjournment of the debate, it might mean one of two things, either that he desires twenty-four hours in which to consider the amendment before consenting to any progress being made, or that the Opposition proposes to debate the first reading of the bill, a rather unusual proceeding.

There is a general inclination to believe that the first course will be pursued as a debate on the first reading would savor of the worst kind of obstruction and would not be popular in the country.

NO PERMANENT NAVAL POLICY FOR 3 YEARS

Will Take Fully That Time to Elaborate It, States the Minister of Justice.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—That there will be no general election for three or four years was the opinion expressed this morning by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, when interviewed at the Windsor Hotel.

Mr. Doherty said that the elaboration of a permanent naval policy would take up most of his time and no election would be possible until it was ready to submit to the people.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—Imperial Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg to-day uttered a plain warning to Russia that in case hostilities should arise out of the Austro-Serbian difficulties, Germany would draw her sword to assist her allies.

GREECE REFUSES TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE

Says Turks Will Slightly Get Chance to Re-Stock Their Larder.

Paris, Dec. 2.—Greece will not accept the terms of the armistice proposed by Turkey, according to Athos Romanos, the Greek Minister to France, in an interview appearing in the Temps.

The Greek Minister says he told Premier Poincare this morning that Greece would refuse any idea of permitting the provisioning of places like Adrianople, Gannia and Scutari, instead of the surrender of those fortresses, as asked by the allies. Should this be granted, he says, it would permit Turkey to push on the war vigorously in case the armistice should not be followed by real peace. The Greek nation desires that Greek transports should land troops in Asiatic Turkey in order to attack Constantinople from that side.

RUSSIAN IMPERIAL CROWN PRINCE SAID TO BE SUFFERING FROM TUBERCULOSIS OF HIP JOINT

The Russian Imperial Crown Prince is suffering from tuberculosis of the hip joint and hemophilia, excluding any hope for his complete restoration to health, according to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung who says he has his information from an absolutely authentic source.

The illness of the Tsarevitch, Grand Duke Alexis Nikolaevitch, has been shrouded in mystery. Many rumors have been current, but none heretofore have been given much credence.

The Tsarevitch is the only son of the Tsar and was born on July 30, 1904. He is now eight years old.

MONTENEGRIN CROWN PRINCE IS WOUNDED

He Was Seriously Shot While Making an Assault on Scutari—Operation Required

Paris, Dec. 2.—Crown Prince Danilo of Montenegro has been seriously wounded, according to a Belgrade report to the Matin. He received his wounds in an assault on the Turkish positions dominating Scutari.

The Prince was brought to Belgrade in an ambulance, according to the reports, where an operation for ressection of the intestine, which has been perforated, was performed.

WOULD "SMASH" MR. BURNHAM

It is beginning to leak out that Mr. Burnham is to be "smashed." Not by the Conservative party, who appreciate his efforts at a critical stage of the marriage question last session, but those who dread his knowledge of things he chooses to talk about. The attempt, however, will be foiled by the excessive bitterness of those who want to beat him out before he gets going. He has not, all told, since Parliament began a year ago, taken up one hour of the time of the House, but he has done a lot of practical and effective work, such as his great labors on the Old Age Pension, Volunteer Bounty and Election Deposit bills. He has a host of friends as a result of his forward policy, who will have to be reckoned with.

GERMANY WILL FIGHT IF AUSTRIA'S INTERESTS ARE NOT CONSIDERED

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg Gives a Plain Intimation to Europe—Makes Official Statement in Reichstag—Vienna Is Still Pessimistic

Berlin, Dec. 2.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg to-day, in a speech before the Reichstag, on the international situation growing out of the Balkan-Turkish war, expressed the hope that the trouble might not spread so as to embrace any of the European powers, but declared that if Austria's right were not respected there would be a war.

"If Austria's rights and interests are not given consideration to which they are entitled, or if Austria be attacked by a third power, or should Germany's own position in the future be endangered, we will fight," the Chancellor declared.

Austria to Mobilize.

Paris, Dec. 2.—It is persistently rumored in well informed quarters in Vienna, says a despatch to the Excelsior, that Austria will mobilize next week. This decision is said to be due to information contained in the report from Consul Edl, who recently was sent to find the missing Austrian consul at Priared, M. Prochaska, on the attitude of Serbia with regard to Albania and a port on the Adriatic.

Favorable Terms.

London, Dec. 2.—The work of charting a new map of what hitherto has been European Turkey will begin immediately after the signature of the armistice by the plenipotentiaries of Turkey and the Balkan allies at the village of Begeche, on the line of Tehtalja, tomorrow. If the allies are able to agree among themselves as to the portion of the spoils they are to receive, there seems no probability of a resumption of hostilities.

The comparatively favorable terms, which from all accounts have been offered by the allies to Turkey, are so different from the original proposals that they seem to suggest the idea that the Governments of the Balkan League realize that, with winter gripping the country, Turkey has gained an ally which will prove more fatal to the armies fronting Adrianople, Scutari, and Tehtalja, than have been the Ottoman cannon.

Vienna Pessimistic.

No adjustment of the Austria-Serbian dispute is yet visible. Vienna continues to show pessimism, and the newspapers there maintain their threatening attitude, but in spite of this official relations between the two cities seem to have become somewhat more cordial, and it is thought in diplomatic quarters that Serbia will eventually secure a small mercantile port on the Adriatic Sea connected with Serbia by a railroad.

Suffered 70,000 Casualties.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—The Bulgarian losses have lost 10,000 killed and 60,000 wounded since the beginning of the war, according to a despatch. The correspondent is on his way back from the front, and while passing through Sofia declares he saw the official reports of the Bulgarian War Office.

BRITISH PROTECTORATE FOR EGYPT SAID TO BE CERTAIN

Egyptian Representative of Swiss Popular Bank Understands it Will be Announced in January

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 2.—A British protectorate over Egypt is likely to be announced shortly, according to the Egyptian representative of the Swiss Popular Bank, one of the largest financial institutions in Switzerland. He telegraphs from Cairo: "It is considered in official circles that a British protectorate over Egypt has been definitely decided on, and it is understood here that it will be proclaimed in January."

He adds: "This step of the British Government will affect business favorably."

TURKISH HAREMS DEPLETED AS BULGARS NEARED CAPITAL

Paris, Dec. 2.—The Turkish harems have been considerably depleted since the Ottoman capital has been threatened by the Bulgarian army. Many of the educated women belonging to the establishments of Turkish personages of high rank, have taken advantage of the unsettled conditions in Constantinople to escape from the harems and proceed to Western Europe.

Several of them have arrived at Marseilles on steamers coming from Eastern Mediterranean ports. Others have reached Lausanne, Zurich and Geneva in Switzerland, while a few have come to Paris.

They show every appearance of having departed in haste. They possess very little money, but have brought with them much splendid jewelry and some fine silks.

ENGLISH FARMER AND FREE TRADE

With its Advent Agricultural Imports Increased and Home Products Fell off Enormously Interesting are many facts which have been cited during the last few weeks in a discussion in Western papers on the advantages of protection to the farmer. Among the interesting contributions on the subject is a series of paragraphs from articles of various English economists who have studied the condition of the English farmer under free trade.

Injured by Free Trade

Mr. George B. Curtis, in his book on "Prosperity and Protection," points out that previous to 1846 when protection on agricultural products was for the greater part removed, the farming interests of England kept pace with the constantly increasing population, supplied the home market with the produce of their farms in exchange for clothing, implements and various of British factories. By the interchange of commodities which was carried on, the rural population was contributing to the prosperity of the agriculturists, for more than two centuries a flourishing and steadily improving condition had been maintained. In 1846 while protection prevailed, the imports of farm products for home consumption amounted to only $4,243,223. After the adoption of free trade in 1846 they increased to $215,592,965 in 1900, continuing until 1890 there were brought into the United Kingdom from foreign countries and consumed there the enormous sum of $599,723,946. A large part of the products included in these figures might under protection have been produced in the United Kingdom, and would have given employment and support to a vast population. Purely on a basis of national economy, Mr. Curtis thinks the destruction of English agriculture has proven most unwise. The yearly consumption of about $600,000,000 of agricultural produce which might be raised on English soil, he says, is an absolute loss of that amount in the United Kingdom. Reducing the proportion which would go to the Government in tax rates, at least $50,000,000 would be added to the current income, which would increase the purchasing power of the English people. Were this vast sum added annually to the produce of the soil of the country, it would increase the value of real estate, induce improvement and thereby add to the permanent wealth.

THE TIMES' MUNICIPAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Name your Choice for Mayor, Aldermen, School Trustees, and Water Commissioner, and Do It Now!—A Plan to Awaken interest in Coming Civic Changes.

FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND SEND IT IN TO THIS OFFICE

We take the initiative in inviting a public expression of opinion as to who are best qualified to fill the civic offices that expire with the end of this year. And in order to arouse becoming interest in so live and important a question The Times has decided to adopt a plan, quite popular in many big cities, of conducting a newspaper election campaign with a view to bringing into the field in advance of nomination day a list of desirable candidates for municipal honors. Our readers are therefore respectfully asked to enter into the spirit of the scheme and record in these columns, either by vote or in brief letters, their opinions on the following questions:

Who will be our next Mayor?
Who is to represent us in the City Council?

Who will fill the places becoming vacant on the Board of Education and Board of Water Commissioners?

Peterborough is now growing rapidly, and on the more selected for such positions as noted above largely depends her future growth and prosperity. Our taxation is now so heavy that with the increased cost of living, civic expenditure must be controlled by the most competent men available—men who will pledge themselves to do the greatest good for the greatest number as economically as prudence dictates.

As indicated above The Times desires to arouse interest in municipal affairs. There are six places to be filled on the City Council, including the Mayor's seat. It has been an unwritten law, however, the past few years that the Mayor should be extended the courtesy of a second term (provided, of course that he has proved an efficient Chief Magistrate), and there seems no reason to deviate from that rule this year.

PROF. GRAHAM BELL'S
NEW SPEED WONDER

Claims That Hydrophone Invented by Him Can Go Fifty Miles an Hour

—Toronto Man Helps.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Prof. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, who is visiting this city, announced this morning in collaboration with Fred Baldwin, of Toronto, he had built a new type of fast boat which would be called a hydrophone.

The professor claimed that a boat of his pattern weighing 1,200 pounds could be driven at 50 miles an hour with a 70 h. p. engine, and a serial propeller.

The new craft has a series of knife-like blades for its keel.

Even such an eminent free trade economist as Henry Fawcett sees little hope for the English farmer. He describes their condition as follows:

"There are few classes of workmen who in many respects are so thoroughly swayed as the English agricultural laborers. They are in many respects so miserably poor that if they were converted into slaves to-morrow it would be for the interests of their owners to feed them far better than they are at present. Throughout large agricultural districts not a single agricultural laborer will be found who has saved so much as a week's wages. A life of tolling and toilsome industry offers no other prospect than a miserable old age." Written some years ago these remarks apply to a considerable extent even today, although some improvement has taken place during the past few years. It seems fairly established, by British authorities that the condition of the farmer in Great Britain under free trade is far from being an ideal one. If conditions were favorable for the farmer under free trade in England, farmers would not leave the Mother Country to till the soil in a country which adheres to the system of moderate protection.

THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY

The Trade returns of Canada up to 1911 show that Canada imported in textile goods 66 per cent of its total consumption. This means that the textile factories of Canada are making only enough goods of that class to supply our needs for four months of the year. In woolen goods we imported 75 per cent of our total consumption which shows that the woolen factories of our own land made just enough woolens to supply our needs for three months in the year. This condition of the textile industry suggests a thorough investigation before there is any change in existing duties.

BASIS OF BUSINESS

President Taft Says It is a Protective Tariff

One of the most striking features of the United States Presidential campaign is the tenacity with which the three candidates have adhered to the principle of moderate protection as the policy calculated to contribute materially to the national development of the country. In speaking on the tariff question last year President Taft said: "The business of the country rests on a protective-tariff basis. The public has realized that a disturbance of business by a change in the tariff and a threat of injury to the industries of the country ought to be avoided and that nothing could help so much to minimize the fear of destructive changes as the known existence of a reliable source of information for legislative action. The deep interest in the matter of an impartial ascertainment of facts before any new revision of a tariff-commission bill in the short session of the Sixty-first Congress, in which many of both parties united." In his reference to the Wilson tariff of 1894 which gave manufacturers free wool but provided for duties on woolen manufactures the President said: "It is the only experience we have had for a generation of a radical revision of this schedule, and, without exaggerating its importance, one pledged to a moderate protection policy may well hesitate before giving approval without full information to legislation which makes a more radical reduction in the protection actually afforded to manufacturers of wool than did the Wilson Act."

HAVE YOU A DAIRY COW?

Local Papers in Saskatchewan Hand Out Advice to Farmers

The local papers of Saskatchewan as well as the farm press, are drawing the attention of farmers to the profits of the dairy industry. The Viscount Sun says in part: "Have you a dairy cow? If this question were asked our Saskatchewan farmers to-day 95 per cent of them would have to answer in the negative. A dairy cow gives all the way from 6,000 to 30,000 pounds of milk per year testing about 3.75 per cent. Your dairy cow gives at least 9,000 testing 3.75 per cent. If you sell milk you make $150 more from a dairy cow (6,000 pounds of milk at 25¢ per 100 pounds) and have all the skim milk from 6,000 pounds whole milk to feed to the hogs. In short you will have to stable, feed and care for three milkers to obtain the same results as from one dairy cow." The Gull Lake Advertiser says: "What are you going to do with the products of your crop this fall?—your screenings, your sprouted sheaves, your straw—the thousand and one necessities of the bountiful grain harvest? Burn them, you say! You must be rich, and, if so, this is not for you. If not, utilize them at a profit. How?—by buying a few head of stock. Put that extra bushel per acre that a bountiful Providence and the fertility of Saskatchewan's soil has given you into a couple of cows, a few pigs or a few sheep. You can buy a first class milking cow for $90.00, three pure bred pigs, four pure bred or a dozen grade ewes for the same sum, and in the spring there will be additions of dollars and cents every one. Beef as high as eleven cents on the hoof, pork up to nine and mutton up to six, live weight. Think of it."

REDUCING THE COST

Mixed Farming Would Lower the Outlay on the Necessaries of Life

The Canadian Farm in a recent article makes a strong plea for mixed farming in the three Western provinces when it points out that the cost of living can be decreased by its adoption. The article is in part as follows:

"The country in the world should be able to produce better or cheaper goods than those grain-growing provinces. Poultry of all kinds do well and thrive on the waste of many farms where they are kept while milk and butter and cheese should be yielded in sufficient quantities to at least meet the local demands. Last year Manitoba alone exported upwards of 4,000,000 bushels of feed wheat besides a very large quantity of barley, while she imported more pork and mutton than she raised, and for months last winter Winnipeg imported milk from Minnesota. It is not because of difficulty in raising these products nor of the want of a good market for them that so few enter upon mixed farming. Nor is there a fear that the soil would be injured by taking up these branches of agriculture. Evidence from every hand points to the ease with which abundant yields are secured and meat-producing animals developed. Last year the Canadian Conservation Commission had surveys made of 40,000 acres of Manitoba lands, and learned from the most dependable sources that yields are going back year by year, while weeds are increasing at an alarming rate. Nor is the remedy hard to find and to employ. It lies in extending the farming operations in the direction of producing the several necessities of life that are being imported in enormous quantities and so largely responsible for the high cost of living in the West.

The happiest farmer and the most contented, and really prosperous family, are those who find profitable employment six days a week the year through and are able to see the returns coming in week by week to meet the emergencies of life. Such men have a most interesting career. They are seldom troubled by gnawing debt, and never run the risk of protracted privation.

POULTRY METHODS

Below we give the record of a pen of nine White Orpingtons belonging to Mr. Frank Smith, a New Brunswick farmer, who conscientiously endeavored to produce the best result possible from his small flock. The records established do not furnish anything especially remarkable, but the account is interesting, if for no other reason than that each pullet was named, and the owner has been able to give the time each commenced to lay and the number of eggs laid up to a stated time. Mr. Smith states that at the time these pullets started laying it was from 30 to 34 degrees below zero. In January he received 97 eggs from the five oldest. Following is the interesting record:—

Canadian Pacific Railway is working out the details for the organization of a big egg drive in the irrigated block east of Calgary.

The immediate results of the organization of this "egg drive" will be that the farmers will receive at least 5 cents more a dozen for their eggs than heretofore, while the railroad will be assured of a constant supply of absolutely fresh stock for its dining cars. The agricultural branch agrees with the farmers to take all the eggs produced on the farms within the drive, with the understanding that if one bad egg is found in a case the contents of the whole case shall be condemned.

BAZAARS OF CAIRO.

The Curious Tiny Shops and the Narrow, swarming Streets.

The bazaars of Cairo are very interesting. The streets are exceedingly narrow, and the stores of the merchants are often no larger than a good sized cupboard, without doors, but with shelves on which the goods are displayed. The merchants squat down on a little platform in front. You see how the workers in gold and silver, weavers of silk fabrics and slipper makers, devoting their work in the same way it was done hundreds of years ago. The oldest bazaar is that of the circumcisers.
They have a whole street to themselves, and when you get within a few yards or so the only guide you need is your nose.

These narrow streets are crowded with a ceaseless throng of natives:
women with veiled faces; men, women and children on donkeys; curious fat cows driven by donkeys, on which several women are crowded in black-nothing visible but one eye, and occasionally along comes a great lumbering camel, quite as large as half a dozen of the native oxen. Calves drive past with staid indifference to life and death, and rather than get hurt you crowd yourself into a bunch of natives, at the risk of having your pocket picked or being covered with vermin.—Christian Herald.

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The total production of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this oil product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater in value than all the fish and the products of the three Pacific States of the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined?

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Kentucky, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

GUARD THEIR SHADOWS.

Native Africans Believe They Are a Part of Themselves.

The shadow is the recognized portion of man among modern African peoples.
In West Africa the natives told Dr.
Namas that it was possible for a man to be without a shadow, and for him to exist in a diseased or dying state. In this case his body would cast no shadow.
The same authority says there is a widespread belief among the natives in a dual soul, which consists of a spirit which, as far as is known, lives forever in the world of spirits, and a shadow, which for an uncertain length of time hovers around the mortal remain.

Have we seen to have confusion between the spirit body and the shadow of a man.

The shadow, according to Miss Kingley, is one of the four souls of man.

She noticed that men would march happily enough through the forest or grass land on a blaring morning, but when they came to a piece of open ground they would go around it, not across it, because they were afraid of losing their shadow. They only do this at nocturnal.

On asking some Bakwiri why they were not anxious about losing their souls at night time, she was told that at night all shadows lay down in the shadow of the great God and so became stronger. Had she not noticed how long and strong the shadows of men, trees and mountains were in the morning? Murders are sometimes committed secretly by driving a nail or a knife into a man's shadow.—From Dr.
Wallis Budge's "Uarda and the Egyptian Bard's Recitation."

BASEBALL STRATEGY.

Brain Work of More Importance Than More Athletic Ability.

There are things in a ball game not mentioned in the rules. A team made up of players who had never seen the rule of the game and had never had any instruction outside of the rules would have no hit and run plays, no squeeze plays, probably no men caught
"flat footed" off base, no double steal, no delayed steal, no shifting of the infield according to the runners on the score and the "outs," no signaling, no signal stealing, no hidden ball tricks, no "baiting" tricks, by which a player is led to think a ball is fielded in one place when it is really fielded elsewhere

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

By Breathing the Rich, Balsamic Vapor of Catarrhosone You Prevent and Cure All Head, Nose and Throat Diseases.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhosone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhosone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitarians, all say that for those who suffer from catarrh of the throat, for those who are predisposed to catarrh lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhosone."

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured
I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to attend to the Catarrh condition, and at last I became a victim of Chronic Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhosone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. It will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the cause of my life two years.

A. H. SWARTZ, Brockville, Ont.
For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhosone; the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment, guaranteed, price $1.00, smaller size, 50c.; at all drug stores, or the Catarrhosone Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

CITY AND DISTRICT

BASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Bazaar Was a Success.
$430 clear of all expenses was realized by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church at their recent bazaar. This sum, so President, Mrs. Moore, 230 Aylmer street, says, more than exceeded expectations.

Tramps Take Notice.
Yesterday, Deputy Sheriff Fred Hall, when asked by The Times, "What's new at the court house?" replied, "Well, we would like to see a few athletic tramps load of work. If such could be found, to work around the place, cleaning up, etc."

A Dog-gone Sad Ending.
As two little boys were playing on Dublin street, on Sunday at noon, they found the body of Al. Johnston's pet, and valuable collie dog "Colonel" still in death from strychnine or some kindred poison. They followed the custom of dealing with human dead and dragged it home, head to the rear.

Was Local Greek Killed?
There is a rumor current that Mr. Nicolas Douros, owner of the Boston Cafe was killed in battle before Monastir. It will be remembered that he left some two months ago to fight for his native land, Greece. Although promising to cable on arrival nothing has been heard from him. The report pervades through Toronto Greeks.

Mrs. Sutherland Being Well.
In response to enquiries made yesterday, The Times, were informed that Mrs. Sutherland, whose sensational rescue from fire was reported yesterday, is doing as well as could be expected. Mr. Sutherland was notified of the fire while in Bethany, Tennessee.

St. George's Choral Society.
The St. George's Choral Society Executive issues an invitation to all singers in the city to take part in the grand production of Handel's "Messiah," to be given later on in the city. On Tuesday at 8 p.m., there should be a splendid attendance at the Collegiate, when another section of the work will be put in rehearsal.

Arbitration Judgment Reserved.
The arbitration case brought to settle prices between the property owners affected and the G.T.R., for the latter's spur line to Houdrey's Pea factory, has been concluded. The arbitration which lasted several days was taken before the County Judge, Mr. Moore and Mr. McWilliams. Mr. O'Connell acted for the railway and Mr. Bennett for the property owners. Judgment reserved.

Dick Bandy Retires.
A Grand Trunk Railway Conductor well and favorably known in this city, and who formerly lived here, in the person of Mr. Richard Bandy has retired from active service to enjoy a well-earned pension. Mr. Bandy, more generally known as "Dick," has seen 48 years with the G.T.R. He now resides at 106 Beatrice street, Toronto. Although 1 years of age, he is still hale and hearty as a brick.

Advocate Hydro-Electric.
Mr. Gordon C. Wilson, M.P., Westworth, who passed through the city yesterday morning, is the authority for the sounding of a note of warning to power and light users in Peterborough. "Tell them," he said, "to sign no contracts with existing companies till the Hydro Commission representatives come and tell them just how cheap power and light can be supplied to them."

Reputation Off for Ottawa.
The advance guard of the Trent Canal deputation, left for Ottawa by the 11:17 C.P.R. train yesterday morning. About thirty left. More followed by the midnight train last night. The parties are composed of representatives of the County Council and all of the City Council, save Al. Gordon who was unable to defer pressing professional engagements. Mayor Bradburn and T. E. Bradburn, ex-M.P.E., accompanied the party as well as F. A. Peck, M.P.P., and President Vincent Eastwood of the Board of Trade.

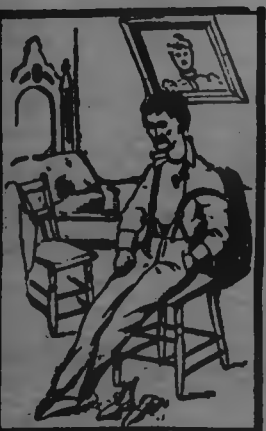

A Cure For Microbes.
Mrs. Cranlette, of Bolivar street, has a baby boy and also an obsession against bacteria. Yesterday the baby contracted whooping cough. When her husband got home at night, Mrs. C. tears in her eyes, said, "Jim, what are we going to do? Baby has the whooping cough. Suppose one of those microbes gets on Cranlette, an elder child, what should I do?" Her husband, who was tired, replied, "Why my dear, there is only one thing to do. Wash your hands in a carbolic solution; with the left hand firmly grasp that microbe by its neck, and with your right hand smash it between the eyes—then bury it!"

Ottawa Council Meeting.
At the November meeting of the Council of Ottawa, Messrs. Peck, Kerr and McDermid were retained by the township to carry on proceedings in the High Court of Justice, to restrain the City of Peterborough from polluting the River Ottawa by the depositing of sewage therein. The Reeves and Clerk were authorized to sign the retainer. The local Board of Health met on the same day and passed a resolution authorizing the chairman and the secretary also to sign the retainer.

Obituary.
Maurice Fitzgerald, a well known resident of Indian River, died Sunday morning at the age of 55 years. The funeral will take place this morning at St. Joseph's church and St. Joseph's cemetery, Dorro.

Master John Clayton Crutkbank.

COST PRINCESS IN A MINUTE TO STAY IN NEW YORK CITY.

New York, Dec. 2.—One of the passengers on the liner Mauretania, which sailed this morning, was Princess Yvonne Colloredo-Mansfeld of Austria, who, on her arrival in New York three weeks ago, declared she was planning to live in this city on $3 a week. She engaged a suite in a fashionable hotel and attended the horse show several times. Just before she sailed to-day, somebody asked her if she had succeeded in limiting herself to $3 a week. The princess laughed and replied: "No. It cost me three dollars a minute. But I enjoyed every moment. I think the men of America are wonderful—far more interesting than the women."

On This Subject

The Board of Education met last night, Chairman Mr. John Crane presiding.

There were also present Trustees Dr. Barnham, Dr. Morrison, Col. Miller, B. F. Asherman, R. Fair, W. H. Hill, Dr. Middleton and L. M. Hayes.

By request of Inspector Mowat, the Board considered the school children sitting knee stamps again this year, on the last day of school, in honor of the Health Association.

Miss Purvis's resignation was accepted.

Mr. H. R. H. Kanner, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, reported that the ventilation in the school is bad.

Mr. R. H. Fair offered that the architect of the building, Mr. J. E. Fisher, had assured him that were the transoms used no trouble would be experienced in regard to ventilation. These transoms, he understood, are nailed down. The question was referred to the property committee.

Mr. Kanner also reported that the biological specimens in the Institute are being ruined by exposure to dust and moths, and asked that a case be furnished for them. This was referred to the supervision committee.

Principal H. R. H. Kanner also urged the need of suitable uniforms for the cadet corps. The supervision committee will look into this matter.

The schools will re-open after the holidays on January 6th, and not the 3rd as customary, the latter date falling on a Friday.

On motion of Dr. Barnham the property committee was authorized to take the necessary steps to secure the conviction of the party or parties who defaced the exterior of the Collegiate Institute building on Hallway on night, with power to offer a reward of $50 if deemed advisable.

WANT NAVY DIVISION PUT OFF FOR A TIME

Liberals Would Like to Consult Their Holdings Before They Vote.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—There are indications to-day that the Government naval program cannot be submitted to the House until next week. The Opposition, it is said, will speak to the Motion amendment at great length, thus dragging the debate on the address over into next week.

A large section of the Opposition desire to have the navy debate carried over until after the Christmas recess in order to test the feeling of their constituents on the Government proposals.

CANAL DEPUTATION WERE WELL RECEIVED

Premier Borden and His Colleagues Promise to Give Proposition Full Consideration.

The big Trent Canal Deputation was received yesterday morning by Premier Borden, Hon. Frank Cochrane, and members Hughes, Corby, Bennett, Barnham, Armstrong and Northrup.

Speeches were made by Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Hon. Mr. Davis and others. The deputation received a good reception and was well pleased.

This deputation, it will be remembered, was representative of the municipalities bordering on the Canal, and went to ask an appropriation for speedy completion of the work.

It was pointed out that C.P.R. boats now come to McNicoll at the lower end of the Georgian Bay and close to where the proposed canal system would end. It was contended that rain could be loaded on small barges and carried across to Lake Ontario down the St. Lawrence to Montreal.

Will Be Given Full Consideration.

Premier Borden, in reply, said that the policy of the Government was to encourage and build up transportation facilities, and he promised that the matter would be given the careful and fullest possible consideration.

TORIES PROTEST THE RICHELIEU ELECTION

Two Petitions Have Been Filed Against Return of Mr. Cardin.

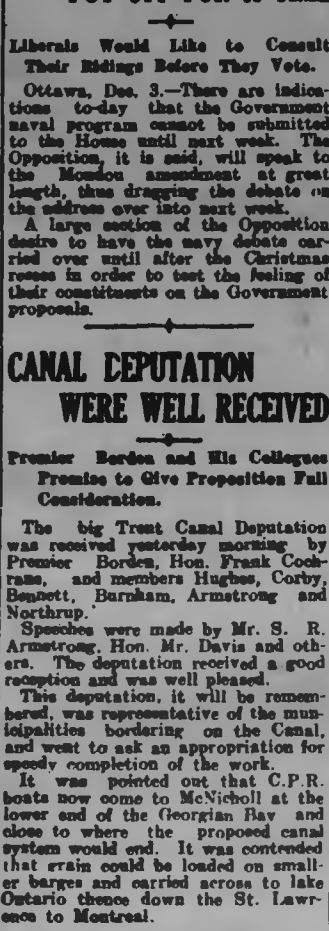

Montreal, Dec. 3.—Two electoral petitions were filed at St. Paul yesterday against the return of Mr. P. J. A. Cardin, M.P., for Richelieu. One was filed on behalf of the Conservative Workingmen's Club, with Mr. E. A. D. Morgan, the defeated candidate as attorney for the petitioners, and the other by Mr. A. Lafrance, with Mr. Paul St. Germain, of Montreal, as attorney.

The usual allegations of corrupt practices were made.

MISS SMYLLIE BECOMES ENGAGED AS MOTHER SEEKS DIVORCE IN RENO

MISS MARJORIE ELY SMYLLIE

From Reno, Nev., where many romances have their ending, comes a report of a romance which had its beginning there, and what is even more uncommon, its beginning is coincident with and a result of the ending of another romance.

The report is that of the engagement of Miss Marjorie Ely Smyllie, of New York, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Griffin, of New York and Reno, to Mr. Ray Baker, of Reno, brother of Mr. Cleveland Baker, Attorney General of Nevada.

Miss Smyllie went to Reno with her mother, to be a companion for her while she established a legal residence that she might obtain a divorce from Mr. Griffin, who is a wealthy manufacturer in New York.

IT WAS PLANNED TO SIGN WAR ARMISTICE YESTERDAY

If Greece Does Not Agree Will be Left to Fight Alone—
Peace Parley in London

Sofia, Dec. 3.—The armistice will be signed to-day at Bughtche on the lines of the Tchatalja with or without Greece being a party to it, according to information obtained from authoritative quarters here.

Greece will be left to continue the war alone against Turkey if she so desires.

It is stated here that the representatives of the allied Balkan nations have acceded to the request of the Turks that the peace negotiations take place in London.

Most Serious Hindrance.

London, Dec. 3.—Adrianople was the obstacle which threatened to wreck the parleys between the plenipotentiaries of Turkey and the Balkan allies when they first opened at Bughtche on the Tchatalja lines and Adrianople appeared again at the end of the negotiations as the most serious hindrance to the attainment of an agreement.

During the first session of the delegates the Turks absolutely refused to consider the surrender of the stronghold of Adrianople and when the Bulgarians subsequently yielded to them on this point, the Greek delegates shrunk back and demanded time in which to submit the question to their Government at Athens.

Why Greece is Not Agreeable.

The reason for the Hellenic objection to any such submission to the desires of the Ottoman representatives is not far to seek, according to the opinion expressed in diplomatic circles.

It is pointed out that it is obvious that if the Bulgarians sacrifice the ultimate possession of Adrianople in the interests of general peace, they will expect their allies to share their sacrifice and the only way in which this can be done is to give Bulgaria compensation in the shape of territory conquered by the Greeks, Serbians, and Montenegrins, and which they had staked out for themselves.

Hence the wall from Athens that any concessions to Turkey will "endanger the fruits of victory gained by the allies—above all those of Greece and Serbia."

DEFINITE STAND OF GERMANY HELD REASSURING TO EUROPE

London, Dec. 3.—The Imperial German Chancellor's statement on the European situation, together with that of Herr von Kidermacher, the German Foreign Secretary, confirming that Great Britain and Germany are co-operating amicably in favor of peace, is regarded in the European capitals as reassuring and as calculated to have an effect when the peace delegates come to discuss terms.

Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg's declaration of the solidity of the triple Alliance which, it is reported, has just been renewed for another term of years, and his announcement of Germany's determination to pursue a policy upholding Turkey in an economic sense, is likely to influence the delegates of all the countries concerned to discuss conditions in the spirit of moderation already shown in the armistice negotiations.

Greece Disturbing Factor.

Although there is no change in the actual situation to-night, some misgiving is beginning to be expressed with regard to the attitude of Greece. Various reasons are assigned for Greek reluctance to sign the armistice. According to the Greek Minister at Paris, Greece opposes the proposal that the beleaguered garrisons shall be provisioned during the armistice and thinks that the allies ought to have insisted upon their surrender.

CHINESE GAMBLERS TRAPPED POLICE AND TURNED ON GAS

Lured Two Constables Into Building and Locked the Doors—Imprisoned Men Escaped Asphyxiation by Chopping Their Way to Liberty

San Francisco, Cal. Dec. 3.—Chinese gamblers last night lured two police officers to imprisonment in gas-filled chambers, leaving them to be asphyxiated. Each of the men carried a small axe and chopped holes through the wall to obtain air and aid.

Corporal Goff, the first victim was walking alone, when a Chinese brushed by him and whispered: "Right in Siberia Club."

Without waiting to call his squad, Goff rushed to the club. He thrust aside the doorkeeper. As the door swung back he heard the door click and simultaneously the gaslights went out. Trying the other door he found himself imprisoned in a narrow hallway seven feet long, and found that gas was rushing from jets which he could not reach.

After fifteen minutes work with his axe, he cut through the walls and was rescued.

Officers Bailey was trapped similarly in another club at almost the same time.

"SPARE ME ONE SON," WROTE THE AGED BALKAN HEROINE

Belgrade, Dec. 3.—The war has at least brought to light the discovery that there are in modern times women and men just as patient and self-sacrificing as the heroes and heroines of old. Among the thousands of letters to the War Office, asking for information concerning relatives, came one day from an old peasant woman at Kolubara, who said she had three sons at the front.

"I have three sons in the army," she wrote, "and I ask that at least one of them be put on convey duty, to give him a better chance of life. The other two I willingly give to the Fatherland, but I want one son to come back to me, whichever you choose."

The letter was referred to the War Minister, who ordered that the old mother's request be granted.

CANADIAN WHEAT FOR SWISS THAT LAND READY FOR WAR

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 3.—Even Switzerland appears to be preparing for the eventuality of war.

The Federal Government is filling the various military store houses with wheat and corn ordered from Canada and the United States. A large quantity consisting of 573 car-loads is on the way to Zurich from Rotterdam, while other cargoes ordered by the Swiss Government are still afloat.

The hostilities in the Balkans have had the effect of greatly reducing Russian shipments of grain.

FORWARD STEPS IN MILITIA SYSTEM WILL BE INTRODUCED

Splendid Work Being Done By The Hon. Col. Hughes—
Increase in Infantry and Rifle Companies Provided for—Second Line of Defence to be Created—Canada to Have More Value For Money Spent on Militia

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Colonel the Hon. Sam. Hughes has recently made two long steps in advance which will greatly be appreciated by the militia.

The first is the increase in the establishment of companies of infantry and rifles. Each company heretofore has been allowed three officers and 42 non-commissioned officers and men. That is, the captain is given pay and uniform for these men and for no more. This is a very small establishment, rendering military efficiency exceedingly difficult to attain. In city corps companies often out of real recruit up to a strength of 60 or more, but the men, in excess of 42 get neither pay nor uniforms and the regiment must provide for them at its own expense. Col. Hughes accordingly has increased the establishment in city corps to three officers and 50 others. It amounts to adding fourteen or fifteen additional privates to the company.

Removes Old Grievance.

In doing this Colonel Hughes is removing a very old grievance of the militia. When the Volunteers were raised in 1855 the companies were given an establishment of 55 and this was kept up for 20 years. The Macdonald government, however, in its desire for economy, cut the establishment down to the meagre figure of 45, and at this it stayed until Col. Hughes took hold of the matter.

Second Line of Defence.

Another proposal on which Col. Hughes is working is to create a second line of defence by raising second or reserve battalions.

The scheme is to attach to each existing battalion of the Active Militia a reserve battalion which will be called upon for service only in the event of war. In that event all able-bodied patriotic Canadians will be only too anxious to serve their country, and by this scheme men who would fight in the event of war, but do not wish to sacrifice their time in peace can register their names as ready to appear in time of trouble. In this way an immense amount of work and delay could be avoided if war were to occur, as the preliminary task of recruiting would be shortened. The reserve battalions probably will in

OWING to the fact that so many new industries are locating around Ruskin Place, an interesting calculation has been made of what an industry employing 1,000 hands means to a community. $90,000 would be spent in housing accommodation. The population would increase by 5,000. The assessment would be augmented by $600,000. Salaries would amount to $650,800. The construction of buildings of all kinds would be $2,000,000. The annual expenditures for foodstuffs would be $63,000 for meat, $96,000 for potatoes, $8,000 for sugar, $18,250 for milk, $65,700 for butter, $37,600 for eggs. All told the farmers of the district would gain $321,600. The amount spent for clothing would be $167,750. The expenses for taxes added to the cost of building construction will amount to $2,428,350.

The new $40,000 plant of the Bishopric Wallboard Co., is now built at Ruskin Place. A second industry to employ 300 hands at its inception has already purchased the required land while a third guaranteeing to employ 1,000 hands is now negotiating for enough land to commence operations.

JUST THINK what the above means—practically a small city in itself right on the edge of the Capital.

JUST THINK of the number of stores to be built there.

JUST THINK of the number of carpenters, bricklayers, stone-masons and other tradesmen altogether separate from the number of employees in the different factories that will be needed to build houses for those who work there.

JUST THINK of the thousands and one different jobs of any and every kind that will spring up at Ruskin Place during the next few years and buy your hamlets now so as to be one of the main few who get in on the ground floor.

RUSKIN PLACE offers one of the finest and best opportunities for speculation ever presented to the residents of Peterborough.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Massachusetts woman who found her husband loved another, divorced him so as to let the two get well. We somehow wonder whether this was out of kindness or for revenge.

Mrs. Hetty Green, who is worth nearly $200,000,000, says she always chews on an onion when hungry, and finds that as a result she has not had a sore throat in twenty years. The diet may account also for the fact that in spite of her millions she has had no suitors for her thirty hand.

It is contended on the one hand that the Hon. Bill Bryan is to be the Warwick of the Wilson administration, and on the other that his role will be that of a Jonah. All things considered it seems impossible for the distinguished Nebraskan to escape being something or other.

Last week a resident of a local option municipality was handed out a $20 fine for being drunk. In response to the magistrate's remarks that it was offensive work getting tight in a local option village, the delinquent replied: "By gum, I never thought of that. It would be cheaper to visit Toronto."

A Scotsman living in the North Ward took to his bed a fortnight ago. On Saturday last his medical man remarked: "Sandy, I hope you are following the instructions carefully—the pills three times a day and a drop of whiskey at bedtime." "Well, sir, I may be a wee bit behind w' the pills, but I'm about six weeks in front w' the whiskey."

"Struggle, isn't it! When Mr. Youngblood meets a male friend who politely looks at the lobster complexed atom of humanity in Mr. Y's baby carriage and asks: "Well, Jack, is it a little boy. The proud father has two ways of answering. If it happens to be of the male sex, he replies: "Yes, sir! It's a wee little chap!" If it's of the female persuasion, he replies: "Naw, it's a girl!"

AIDING AGRICULTURE

A most important bill which will be introduced in the House of Commons this session will be a measure to assist agriculture in the provinces. This was one of the planks of the party in opposition, to give further encouragement in agriculture and to co-operate more closely with the provincial governments in fostering the industry. Last session before a permanent policy was decided upon subsidies were granted to the provinces on a basis of population, under agreement with the Dominion government. Half a million dollars was voted by parliament, and the plan worked out very successfully. C. C. James, former deputy minister of agriculture in Ontario, was appointed to work out a permanent policy, and has spent the last six months in a careful study of the agricultural needs in the several provinces with a view to having the federal subsidies applied to the best advantage. He conferred with all the provincial governments, and has presented his report to Hon. Martin Burrell. A bill will be brought down based upon this report, and it is understood that even larger subsidies will be granted in the future to be spent by the provinces under arrangement with the Dominion and subject to general supervision by the federal Department of Agriculture.

THE CEMENT MATTER

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Frank Oliver and the western Liberals were driven by Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, into the unenviable position of defenders of the so-called "cement trust" in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne this week. The Liberal leader and his chief western lieutenant, had attacked the government for cutting the duty in half last summer when there was a serious shortage in the west. Mr. White was accused of having made the reduction for political expediency owing to the impending Saskatchewan elections.

The attack drew from Mr. White a vigorous, forceful and crushing reply. He showed that the imposition of the ex-premier was based upon an anonymous letter which had absolutely misrepresented an interview he had had with the cement manufacturers. Mr. White remarked that it was extraordinary that a statesman, like Sir Wilfrid, should make such serious allegations without taking any trouble to inquire upon what the action of the government was founded. "I rather think," added Mr. White, "that the right honorable gentleman instead of being concerned as he proposed about the principle underlying the action of the administration was more concerned about his friend, confidant and chief adviser, Senator Edwards, head of the cement trust."

Cures Old Folks' Coughs

Doesn't Disturb the Stomach, Cures at Once and Cures Thoroughly

"CATARRHOZONE" A BOON TO MANY THROATS

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughs—those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with Catarrhose. You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhose, and instantly its rich, balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the thinnest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct, breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essence that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—no harm to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhose is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition."

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good."

"I heard Catarrhose favorably spoken of, and tried it. Easily it benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies."

"Breeding such immense benefit, I continued using Catarrhose, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble."

Get Catarrhose to-day. Large size costs $1.00 and lasts two months. Smaller sizes, 25c, and 50c. All dealers, or The Catarrhose Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

6000 FEEBLE-MINDED

Guelph: Inspector Cowley of the Education Dept., Hon. W. J. Hanna, Controller McCarthy and Dr. Hastings of Toronto.

All emphasized the serious nature of the question, and urged the immediate need of arriving at some satisfactory solution whereby the present alarming increase of the feeble-minded may be checked.

J. P. Downey stated that it is estimated there are 6,000 feeble-minded individuals in the Province, not more than 2,000 of whom are receiving any adequate care. This lack of care, and the fact that the sale of marriage licenses is not restricted to responsible Government officials, has led to the marriage of many feeble-minded people. And statistics show that the families of the feeble-minded average double the number of those of normal women. Owing to these causes and to a laxity in our immigration laws, the number of defectives has rapidly increased.

After a lengthy discussion as to the best solution of the problem the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1.—That the Government be asked to amend the marriage act so as to prevent the marriage of any mental defective.

2.—That the Legislature be memorialized to provide institutions for the care of the feeble-minded in Ontario, and that municipalities of the Province be required to pay for the maintenance of their wards to the age of 21 years, if necessary; after which, if unable to take care of themselves, they shall become wards of the Government.

A permanent executive was appointed to bring the matter to the attention of the different municipal bodies throughout the province; to secure exact data, and to urge upon the Government the necessity of taking speedy action in the matter.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. A. MORRISON, A. MOWAT.

ENTERPRISING LINDSAY

YELLOW JOURNALISM

Sensational Story of a Possible Slave Case Nipped in the Bud.

Lindsay Warder has a somewhat sensational story, which sends yellow beams scintillating broadcast, of a seemingly sensational near-White Slave case. The paper tells how a servant girl, on Kent street, a plausible stranger on Friday last, on Saturday morning the girl left for Montreal, and, with her ghoul-like caper, was arrested on arrival at Peterborough. The girl was taken to the Y.W.C.A., and the man placed under arrest.

For a yellow story, it was pretty good. The only defect in the story, if such a happy sign, by even an illiberality, could be called a defect, was that, whilst the girl went to the Y.W.C.A., the man was arrested. In fact the man and girl in question are engaged to be married. Lindsay is fast becoming cosmopolitan. This stranger, or ghoul in human form is a respectable Lindsay insurance man who met the girl in question at North Bay and is to be married to her.

FORWARD STEPS OF MILITIA

old battalions, calling for a test of physical fitness, and requiring some previous training, a great step forward in organization can be taken at remarkably little expense.

Included Cadets

As a development to the cadet scheme, it is proposed to add companies of cadets to the various militia regiments. The cadets will thus have the advantage of witnessing manoeuvres and taking part in them, while receiving physical and disciplinary training at the same time. It is stated in the Militia Department that teachers in schools and various institutions are continually sending commendations of the work of the cadet system, stating among other things that corporal punishment has almost entirely disappeared from schools where the cadet system obtains.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Machinery for 34 Yard Dipper Dredge," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., on Monday, December 30, 1912, for the construction of machinery for a 34 Yard Dipper Dredge.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the office of T. H. Schwartz, Esq., Mech. Superintendent, Biltz Building, Ottawa, Ont.; A. E. Dubuc, Esq., District Engineer, Merchants' Bank Building, Montreal, Que., and J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.

Tenders are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature of the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order, R. C. DESROCHERS, Secretary.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, December 3, 1912.

The aim of the Minister of Militia will be a conference of officers of the various corps throughout the country. This will be held in Ottawa on the same lines as the conference last year. The aim is to take the more advanced officers of the country and get their ideas as to the best methods of having the militia force in efficient form. His Royal Highness the Governor-General is taking a deep interest in the conference and will be present at some of the sessions. The result of the activities in the department since Colonel Hughes took control of it, has been a quickening of interest among the various units and a judicious expenditure of the public money.

Canadian Club Meets To-Night. It is expected that there will be a large turnout of members of the Canadian Club this evening, when the Hon. W. H. Hearst, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, will deliver the address. The club has so far had a most successful season and has held its meetings regularly each two weeks. The Canadian Club movement is one deserving of hearty support, and those of our citizens who have not availed themselves of its privileges should do so without delay. The club dinners are now held at 6.30 p.m.

Wedding Bells. Baldwin-Perks. Yesterday afternoon, a pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's church, by the pastor, Rev. Robert Pogue, when Miss Irene Perkins, one of Peterborough's "408" became the charming bride of Mr. J. Carlisle Baldwin of Toronto. Miss Mariel Burritt assisted as bridesmaid and Mr. Kenneth Baldwin of New York, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. The bride wore a navy blue large travelling suit with furs and toque of Russian Ermine with a white cap in the hat. The happy couple left on the 4.19 C.P.R. train for Toronto where they will stay for a short time before leaving for Victoria, B.C., where they will reside.

So much interest was taken in this event that police were telephoned for to prevent the ubiquitous small boy from forcing an entrance. P. C. Sills responded.

Fire Water at Saturday's Fire. Percy Brault appeared in yesterday's police court, charged with having been D. & D. on Sunday evening, during the fire. He was also charged with assaulting W. Dewarby, night watchman at the Grand Hotel. He pleaded guilty to having absorbed too much fire water that night, but contended that his memory made the other charge hazy. He was handed out a $5 fine in each case. Harry Wattson is a glib lawyer.

Rev. Beverley Ketchum Coming. The Rev. Beverley Ketchum, of Hamilton, formerly assistant pastor of St. Paul's church in this city, will conduct the anniversary services at Knox church next Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Ketchum became very popular during his short residence in Peterborough, and no doubt large congregations will greet him on Sunday.

Arrested at Beaverton. Hubert Wood, a young farm laborer, who has been working in Douro and Otonabee townships for the last couple of years, was arrested at Beaverton Monday at the instance of High County Constable Cochrane, on a charge of stealing $10 from Mrs. Dalton, Otonabee. WONDERFUL SKIN AND WRINKLE REMOVERS.

(From American Home Monthly)

The method of removing bad complexion by absorption seems to have come into general use in this country. Ordinary macerated wax, applied nightly like cold cream and erased mornings with warm water, gradually absorbs the faded or discolored outer film skin in almost invisible particles. Soon there's a brand new complexion, formed by the younger, healthier, under-skin. No cosmetic or artificial treatment can possibly produce a complexion of such radiant youthful loveliness. Druggists all have macerated wax; it is seldom that more than one ounce is necessary.

Thousands have also reported great success with the famous exfoliate wrinkle-removing formula. One ounce of pure powdered exfoliate is dissolved in half pint with hazel and the solution used as a face wash. The effect is almost magical. The deepest wrinkles and crow's feet, as well as the finest lines—whether due to age, illness or worry—completely and quickly vanish. No one need hesitate to try this simple lotion, as it won't warm any skin.

Live Snake Seen in Winter. Peterborough Gazette: For a real live snake to be seen in the latter part of the month of November, is something very unusual, but Mr. Thomas Austin and Mr. A. W. Spence, who drove down to Boboysgon on the 20th inst., were surprised to see a big black snake wriggling out of their way. His snakehood was as lively as in the summer time. His presence at this time of the year is considered an indication of a mild winter.

Canadian Club Meets To-Night. It is expected that there will be a large turnout of members of the Canadian Club this evening, when the Hon. W. H. Hearst, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, will deliver the address. The club has so far had a most successful season and has held its meetings regularly each two weeks. The Canadian Club movement is one deserving of hearty support, and those of our citizens who have not availed themselves of its privileges should do so without delay. The club dinners are now held at 6.30 p.m.

OBITUARY. Ferguson R. Ross. The death occurred Monday evening of Ferguson Emmet, the one-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ross of Otonabee.

The funeral was held from the family residence, Otonabee, to St. Martin's cemetery, Otonabee, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

This is a swift age. If your name is in the list of "also rans" you are doing fairly well.

For the twentieth time we are promised an open winter. Who by? Oh, the old-timer, of course.

Now that the Grits are out of power it is interesting, also amusing, to note how anxious they are to have a scientific tariff reform.

Were it not for the lingering fear that they would have to wash their own shirts, more men would be in favor of votes for women.

Some day a School for Table Manners may be established here. The need of it is suggested by the soporific exhibitions witnessed at some luncheons and banquets.

A tall, dark complexioned stranger carrying a stout bag, was seen going north of the City yesterday. His anxious air and roving glances attracted the attention of pedestrians. The police have not as yet looked for a clue to the stranger's identity. When last seen he was shimming over a fence surrounding the golf links.

According to the way an aviator figures it out an angel, to fly, would need wings fifteen feet long, but we are inclined to believe that this applies to angels of the size seen in church frescoes. An angel weighing as much as the talented member for West Peterborough, for example, would require wings considerably longer.

A countrywoman who had been seeing "Bunty" when that play was recently in Peterborough, was asked afterwards how she liked it. She answered that she enjoyed it very much but there was a hint that she could give to the author. Her suggestion was that the kirk scene would be more like the real thing if there was at least one worshipper with a pair of creaky boots on.

CHINA GROWS WARLIKE

China, the new republic of the Orient is bucking on her armor, determined that the Russian bear shall not do with Mongolia as he pleases, and as it has been many years since such a serious situation presented itself it will be surprising if a conflict can be avoided.

According to the most reliable reports China proposes to take advantage of the fact that Russia may have a very pressing business soon in Europe, to maintain the integrity of the territory that the Czar has been disposed to appropriate under the pretense of establishing independence. If China moves Russia will be compelled to withdraw troops from Europe and rush them to Asia, or lose all that her diplomatic work has acquired.

It is true that the Chinese are new in the business of self-government, but they are a shrewd and far-seeing people. Their present attitude adds to the seriousness of the situation in Europe so far as Russia is concerned, and may have the effect of holding that power in check.

FISHING INDUSTRY BEING ENCOURAGED

With a view to making more rapid progress in the fishing industry on the Atlantic Coast and to encourage generally the development of the fisheries of the Dominion, the Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has announced that he will establish a Fisheries Advisory Board. This is no hurried step on the Minister's part but the result of careful investigation made since he came into office, and the fulfillment of a promise. In the past there has been no efficient organization of the fishery industry and the step is the most progressive taken for many years.

There will be thirteen members on the Fisheries Board in addition to the officials of the Department, and these members will represent the diversified interests of the country on the fishing industry. The interests of canners, fish merchants, curers and fishermen will be safeguarded by their representatives. The members of the Board from the different provinces will not receive a salary, but will be paid an allowance and expenses per claim while attending meetings of the Board or its committees. The importance of Canada's fisheries is very great. The waters in and around the Dominion contain the principal commercial food fishes in greater abundance than the waters of any part of the world. The coast line of the Atlantic Provinces from the Bay of Fundy to the Straits of Belle Isle without taking into account the lesser bays, measures over 5000 miles. On the Pacific coast, the Province of British Columbia, owing to its immense number of islands, bays and fords has a sea-washed shore of 7,000 miles. In addition to this immense salt water fishing area there are 220,000 square miles of fresh water in the lakes, abundantly stocked with excellent food fishes. The total market value of fish and fish products taken in the year under notice was $29,965,433 of which $26,122,596 was contributed by the sea fisheries which are directly under the jurisdiction of the Fisheries Department.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Power of Catarrhose, Which are Breathed to the Farthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medium which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medium is "Catarrhose."

The germ-killing balsamic vaporizes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas with a drug the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through burning the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhose, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhose is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief, but will always cure permanently."

C. Hamilton.
Yours sincerely (Signed), WILLIAM RAIGAN, Brockville, Ont.
For absolutely permanent cure use Catarrhose. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or the Catarrhose Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CHILD DIES AND 30 ILL POISONED AT MEALTIME

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Margaret Fahy, mother of the child who died Tuesday night from ptomaine poisoning, which affected thirty or more persons in one section of the city, was reported at the hospital Wednesday morning as being out of danger. John Stein, another victim was unconscious, but attendants said he was out of danger, while twenty-five or more other persons were in various stages of convulsion.

Officers of the coroner's office, investigating the sickness, were mystified. The families were of the poorer classes, and the persons affected were those who partook of the evening meal. This, in a number of households, consisted of cabbage, boiled potatoes, bologna and bread with meat warmed over from midday. Investigation Wednesday was being confined to the stores from which the provisions came.

A PETERBOROUGH UNIVERSITY

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—This city, to grow, needs advertising of her location, manufacturing possibilities, cheap power, intellectual advance, reasonable facilities for obtaining houses and building lots at fair cost and the thousand and one things which make for progress. We all bear of hydro-electric, which means cheap power. For this, however, our citizens must pay, only in reason, both ways. First to acquire the power and then for the decreased cost of power when we get it. This is a locally centred business proposition, unknown almost to the outside world.

Why not consider the intellectual-generals advertising side of our position? Would not a Peterborough University cost a glamour over us as rising to the dignity of placing mind on, at least, an equal footing with the world's matter? Would not the students in attendance, coming from all parts of the continent, be so many industrial commissioners without our paying them each $3,000 a year and office rent? Would not their maintenance for eight months in the year, mean thousands of dollars to our merchants? I only offer this as a suggestion to either the city proper, or to some of our local capitalists, as a means of perpetuating their memory by a monument of everlasting fame. For one man who hears of the little towns they are located in, a hundred thousand use Harvard and Yale as household words. Why not a Peterborough University?

C. Hamilton.

Cutting Red Tape.
In his youth the late Sir William S. Gilbert, the dramatist, was employed in one of the Government offices in London. On his first appearance there he noticed that one of the senior clerks was trying to do his work while looking about in a chair from which one corner was missing. The clerk, who found the situation annoying, vented his irritation freely. "Why don't you have the chair mended?" asked young Gilbert.
"The department will mend broken chairs, but the loss of a corner doesn't come within the regulations," explained the clerk. "Unless the chair is broken they won't undertake repairs."
"Then you have your own remedy," said Gilbert, mildly.
For a moment the elder man looked hard at the promising young recruit, but said nothing at the time. At five o'clock, as his colleagues began to file out of the office, they saw him seize the poker and, with one blow, smash the chair-leg. The next morning he had a new chair.

ONE GIRL'S PLUCK

She Out-Generaled a Robber and Saved Her Father's Position.

By M. M. EGBERT.

As the freight train disappeared round the bend into the distance, Menzies crouched under the lee of the bank and looked cautiously around him. His clothes were ragged, his shoes displayed a liberal space of unshod ankle, also, he was hungry. "Hard Luck" Menzies, he was called among his fellow raggs, Hobo by trade, thief as a side line, his sobriquet had hitherto always justified itself. Where others of his kind received a generous meal he would find a bulldog; and he hardly ever made a ride but he was spotted and thrown into the clutter-strewn road-bed.

This time, however, fate seemed to have been kind to him. He had laid his plans well. He had ridden from Dundas upon a freight and leaped off at the unlooked-for place without detection. He knew that Old Man Keyes, the station agent, was hurrying west upon the night train that ran by Howland Junction, that his daughter took charge during his rare absences, and that there must be two thousand dollars, all told, in the far wayside station which stood alone in the center of a vast plain of swamplands.

The night was moonless and this favored him; the chances of capture were almost infinitesimal. Once the money was his he would strike for Dundas along the pipe which paralleled the railroad, and the five miles completed, what easier than to conceal himself and his hoard among the floating mining population of that little Pennsylvania town?

After a while he rose cautiously from behind the shelter of the bank and, crouching low toward the damp ground, approached the shanty. A single electric light burned within. Against this he could see the profile of a woman seated at a typewriter.

"I want that money in that there drawer, likewise the registered mail!"

He heard as he drew nearer the tap, tap of the keys. At her left hand was a telegraph board; at her right a telephone. His first object, then, must be to withdraw her attention from those two convenient instruments.

Before he could venture to lay hands upon the comfortable pile of greenbacks which a sure instinct told him lay neatly folded within the drawer of her desk.

All at once his eyes fell upon something that set his heart thumping alarmingly. It was a revolver, doubtless the girl's father's, which he had left with her for protection in case anybody should chance that night of all others on which to make his attempt. But she had placed it at her back, on a small table—and just within reach of his hand if he could gain the window sill. With the despatch horn of long practice Menzies looked himself upon the sill and, reaching in carefully, grasped the weapon by the muzzle and drew it toward him.

At that moment the girl suddenly rose, and Menzies, still holding the weapon, crouched back behind the partition of the window frame; in this position he was invisible except in case she should come to the window. The girl took down the register. Menzies prepared for fight of her first words. Then, as he remembered that she had made no movement toward the revolver, his courage revived.

"Hello!" she called. "Crestfallen! Is that you, Harry? Yes, this is me. Further back to meet the superintendent at Howland Junction this evening and I'm in charge. No; why should I be afraid? He left me his revolver." Menzies heard her laugh softly. Then, "You're at the telephone tonight?" she continued. "Of course I will if I need anybody, but who's going to break in this evening of all nights in the year?"

A few more words and she hung up the receiver. Turning to resume her seat, the girl came face to face with Menzies, now in the room and hovering near with the revolver.

"Harry to secure you, man," he volunteered. "But I'm not going to harm you. I want that money in that there drawer—likewise the registered mail."

So grimed with the satisfaction of work well done, for the girl, terrified, had uttered a stifled cry and then—

And so, five mornings later, the workman having received a special holiday full pay, to enable Burnett to encounter himself unobscured, the young man mounted the silver gray and passed through the big gates into the busy Earl's court road, to the amusement of the public.

In the distance he saw a white pavilion set in a meadow; as he rode nearer he perceived a circle of trees of wooden seats, on which were hundreds of spectators; in a rapid-of-portion was a group of ladies, and in the center of them, the Queen of Beauty. On either side of a central wall of planks knights were riding in ward each other, thrashing with lances. "Well, if I can't beat that!" muttered Burnett to himself, as he saw one lightly touch the armor of his antagonist, saw the lance splinter, and heard the herald proclaim the victor amid deafening shouts. He adjusted his visor and sent the gray at an easy lumber toward the knights' pavilion.

"Your name, Sir Knight!" demanded an individual, looking a little sheepish. For the question Burnett was prepared.

"Sir, I am a stranger knight," he answered briskly. "And I have ridden hither from overseas to contest for my lady in your tourney and to uphold her name against all comers."

"You cannot contest, Sir, unless your name is on the entrance list," replied the herald, keeping a tight grip of the horse's bridle.

But Burnett broke short the outcry by suddenly spurring the gray and galloping toward the entrance, where he perceived a horde of knights upon their steeds awaiting their turn at the jousting. The Master-at-Arms, seeing him approach, came spurring out toward him.

"Your name, Sir Knight?" he demanded. "Are you an entrant in this tourney, and come to do battle for some lady?"

"No, I'm a stranger," answered Burnett briskly. "But I guess from the little I've seen that there won't be much of a battle when I get busy."

The Master-at-Arms frowned angrily. "Nobody who has entered can joust, unless some lady has consented to him," he answered.

The Master-at-Arms carried an up-looking face, and there seemed a certain finality in his words. Suddenly Burnett, casting his eyes upward, perceived, looking at him, not twenty yards away—Eunelmae Warne.

The short almost unheeded him. He had been thrown much into her society since his arrival two months before, and had reason to believe that she was not wholly indifferent to him. And now, looking at her, he perceived that she had overheard, and distinctly saw her lips frame the word "yes."

"I'm nominated by Miss Warne—Miss Eunelmae Warne. She's my nominator—I mean my lady," stammered Burnett; and then somehow the strangeness of the scene caught the imagination of all and the spectators rose and shouted and the Queen of Beauty smiled—and a moment later Burnett was cantering down on his side of the barrier against a knight whose helmet was encircled with eucalyptus leaves. And two moments later the duke was galloping past clutching his horse's mane, his shivered lance on the ground, while Burnett found himself the victor.

Again a knight rode out at him, and the silver gray thundered past; and this time the knight was changing up on the matted ground, like an overturned turtle, while Burnett rode past and saluted Miss Eunelmae and gave her a smile on his lip.

Now the champion was billed to meet him—the Duke of Chryndale, a wiry, athletic man mounted on a magnificent Norman. He was a splendid figure as he rode down the lists, and the excitement reached its zenith. They stood up, women and men, and shouted and clapped their hands. Burnett thrust, but struck only air, and, reeling in his saddle, he galloped by. At the end of the lists the combatants turned and drew together again. The lances smote true. Each shivered into a dozen fragments. Burnett caught at the bridle and saved himself by the gray's hard-bitten mouth. But when he turned amid the tumultuous acclamations of all, he saw the duke limping out of the arena.

The Master-at-Arms was heard above the tumult.

"Dare you, standard, Sir Knight, that the Queen of Beauty may claim you victor and crown you with the wreath," he cried. And Burnett, looking up, saw Eunelmae Warne's eyes fixed on his and her parted lips, her face, wherein intense emotion strove with dignity. And he knew that if he unrolled his standard he must never see her again.

His scheme had failed, but from that failure something of more worth than success was to spring.

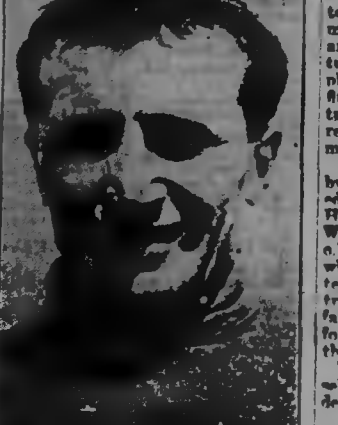

He bent his head, raised his right arm in salutation—and holding the previous standard tightly rolled in his shiverer buck he galloped off the field. Behind him he heard shouts. Men came running toward him, pulled at his bridle, but he shook them off. Through a nightmare of yell and cries he made his slow way till he reached the gates, and passed on to the factory.

"Oo, that was a close shave!" he muttered breathlessly, as he pulled off his helmet and gasped at the fresh air. Then from his stirrup bucket he took the standard and unrolled it. He lit a match and as the flames ate their way through the silken tresses his breath came freely and a heart palmed quickly with joy. For on the flag were the words:

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well known resident of Lanesville, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—who told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more. For they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks, as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Think of it, friends!
Another year nearly gone.
Have you lost a mother—or a relative?

If not possibly so before another year. Now is the time, do not put it off. Secure their likenesses, and you will never regret it. In this case give a real likeness—a work of art that will last long its clear-cut lines and beauty.

HAD A SYSTEM TO TREAT THE N. Y. STOCK MARKET

Binghamton, N.Y., Dec. 4.—Police officers are hunting for Wm. B. Carver, junior member of a prominent law firm, who is missing after leaving a letter for his wife, announcing his determination to commit suicide, and it is believed his body will be found in some out-of-the-way place.

It develops that Mr. Carver lost heavily in a carefully worked-out "system" devised to beat the stock market. This "system" as found among his personal papers at the law office, consists of a compilation of data about present and past prices of grain, cotton and kindred crops, with possibilities on future crops, etc., all worked out to a nicety in its details.

Carver in his letter to his wife stated that he lost a large sum of money belonging to clients.

OWEN SOUNDER GOT FINED.

Police Court Happenings of Yesterday in Brief.

Thomas Whitwright, a resident of the dry town of Owen Sound came to Peterborough and made up for lost time in his own neighborhood. Tom got tight. Whether fascinated by the bright eyes of the Peterborough girls or hypnotized by a too rapid gulping of yellow fluids from dark green bottle necks, is not known but the latter looks certain. The only patent fact was that the Owen Sounder temporarily lost his reason. $5.75.

The 17 year old Hugh Patterson, was again charged with vagrancy. He claimed to have seen only 14 summers. He was sent back to the hill for a week on remand.

Cyril Sullivan seems to be a candidate for initiation into the order of Weary Willies. Cyril, however, appears to be able to dig up enough smoleons to handle a pool room ome.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The advertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quite the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

SHOT WOMAN WHO GOSSIPED ABOUT HER ON WEDDING DAY

Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter, and Advises Her Husband to Secure a Divorce—He is Willing "To Start All Over"

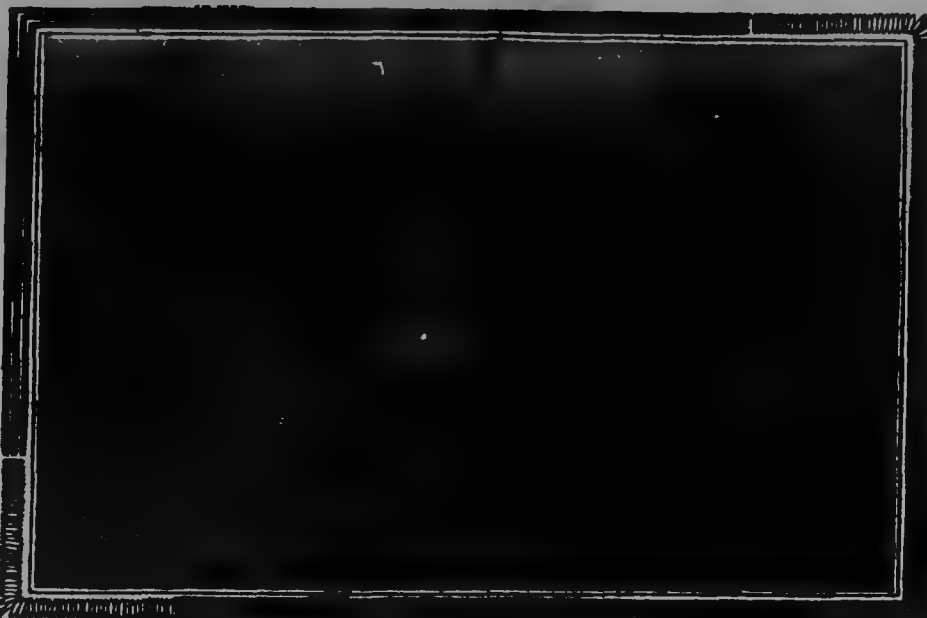

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Clark Lang, who on her wedding day shot and killed Mrs. Mary Cople because the latter gossiped about her, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in court to-day. The plea was made by agreement with the prosecutor, who advised the woman to take her chances on the lesser charge than face an indictment for first degree murder. Sentence was deferred temporarily.

Joe Lang, the prisoner's husband, announced he would not object to his wife's plea of guilty, but would follow her suggestions so further. "I'm going to get her out of prison and take her away and start all over," he said.

"You're too good for me, Joe," said Mrs. Lang. "You get a divorce as soon as I am sentenced and maybe you will find some other girl who will not cause you trouble. Let them bury me away in prison. Don't waste any money hiring lawyers for me."

A warning to gossipers and a plea for repentant women were uttered by Mrs. Lang.

"If people knew what harm gossip caused they would hold their tongues," she said. "No matter what a woman's past has been, I would like to tell everyone that none get so bad that they don't long to be good."

FRANCE SPEAKS PLAINLY STANDS BEHIND HER FRIENDS

Paris, Dec. 5.—France spoke plainly to-day on the European situation. Premier Poincaré told the committee on Foreign Affairs of the Chamber of Deputies:—

"We stand by our allies and our friendships."

The Premier was laying down the policy to be pursued by France in the Balkan settlement.

London, Dec. 5.—The dispute between Austria-Hungary and Serbia, arising out of the Balkan War, which had threatened a general European conflict, will have been entered into a safe channel and the peace of Europe will be maintained if as announced to-day Serbia has definitely decided to leave her case in the hands of the great powers.

With the admission of Austria-Hungary to the proposal of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, to call a meeting of the ambassadors clearing house has now received practically unanimous welcome.

There seems to be a general disposition to-day to strive honestly to prevent further complications arising from the clash between Turkey and the Balkan allies.

The puzzle of Greece's attitude in connection with the armistice is expected to be solved satisfactorily as it is not believed that Greece will imperil her own victories by maintaining a separatist policy.

CONDITIONS OF ARMISTICE ARE GIVEN IN DETAIL

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 5.—The peace plenipotentiaries representing Turkey, Bulgaria, Serbia and Montenegro will begin their work in London on Friday of next week.

The armistice signed at 8 o'clock last evening at the village of Bagheche on the Teleskajia river took the revised form drafted by Dr. S. Danoff, Speaker of the Bulgarian Parliament. It contains the following conditions:—

- 1.—The belligerent armies shall remain in the positions they at present occupy.
- 2.—The besieged Turkish fortresses shall not be retaken.
- 3.—The revictualing of the Bulgarian army in the field shall be carried out by way of the Black Sea and Adrianople, commencing ten days after the signature of the armistice.
- 4.—The negotiations for peace shall begin in London on December 13th.

It is officially announced that the Greek plenipotentiaries at Bagheche did not definitely reject the terms of the armistice, but reserved their decision for 24 hours.

Even in the event of her declining to approve the armistice protocol Greece will participate in the peace negotiations in London.

CANADA'S PRINCELY GIFT TO THE IMPERIAL NAVY

Mr. Borden Announced Canada's Naval Policy in the House of Commons Yesterday Afternoon

Premier Explains That it Would Cost Twelve Million Dollars More to Build the Battleships in Canada Than in Great Britain

The House Crowded and Intense Excitement Prevailed. Royalty Present to Hear the Joyful News of Canada's Deep Interest in the Empire's Welfare

Three Ships $25,000,000.

Amidst the most intense silence Right Hon. Mr. Borden began his address and the members and the crowd of spectators followed his every word with the deepest attention.

After reviewing the necessity of assuring greater protection in future and drawing attention to the rapid growth of the combined fleets of other nations the Premier proceeded to announce his policy which provides for a contribution of $35,000,000 with which the Admiralty will build three Super-Dreadnoughts of the most powerful type afloat.

The intention is to have them form part of the British fleet, and they will be subject to recall, to form part of a Canadian navy should Canada at any time in the future establish such.

Began at 3.10 p.m.

Mr. Borden moved the first reading of the Naval Assistance Bill at 3.10 p.m. Mr. Borden began by speaking of the increasing power and influence of Canada within the Empire.

This meant that the Empire now is confronted with the problem of combining co-operation with autonomy. There should be such co-operation in defence and in trade as would give the whole Empire an effective organization. On the other hand each Dominion must preserve its autonomy.

Dominion Must Assist.

Hitherto the United Kingdom, said Mr. Borden, has assumed responsibility for the Empire's naval defence and so has had the control of foreign policy. The burden of providing this defence now is becoming almost impossible for the people of the British Isles and the Dominion must assist.

The assistance of the Dominion meant that Great Britain could no longer retain sole control of foreign policy. Both parties in Great Britain had accepted the position that the Dominions if they shared in naval defence must share in the control of foreign policy.

A C. P. R. $48,000,000 ORDER

COLOSSAL AMOUNT EXPENDED FOR NEW EQUIPMENT DURING 1912.

Could Move a Few Cities in Passenger Cars the C.P.R. Now Owns.

Forty-eight millions of dollars in rolling stock, ordered in one year! That is what the Canadian Pacific Railway has done during 1912. It is an enormous sum of money for one corporation to appropriate in a twelve-month for equipment. It is double the amount ever ordered by any other railway system in North America in the same period, and is tangible evidence that the C.P.R. is keeping pace with the development of Canada—no matter how swift it may be.

Part of the orders have already been delivered, and the balance is to be furnished as quickly as the shops can turn out the work.

When the orders are completely filled, the C.P.R. will have in commission, 2,225 locomotives, 90,416 freight and stock cars of all kinds, 3,164 first and second class passenger coaches and 512 tourist sleepers, standard sleepers, diners and cafe cars, 1,383 conductors' vans, 4,329 baggage, tool and auxiliary cars and steam shovels—to be operated on over 12,500 miles of track.

The new equipment ordered during 1912 includes 467 locomotives, 26,653 box cars, 636 flat cars, 401 coal cars, 300 stock cars, 227 refrigerator cars, 94 first class sleepers, three compartment cars, 20 observation cars, 25 diners, 57 tourist cars, 117 first class and suburban cars, 138 baggage, mail and express cars.

Four motor cars which will climb up the side of the mountain from Laggan to the Lakes in the Clouds, will be placed in commission—the tracks having already been laid—and will prove a great convenience to the army of tourists which invades that picturesque region yearly.

The expenditure involved is $48,000,000 of which locomotives cost over nine million dollars, the passenger train cars nearly five and a quarter millions of dollars, and the freight and miscellaneous cars over thirty-four million dollars. The equipment is being chiefly procured in Canada, but different shops being unable to fill the orders in their entirety, the remainder had to be purchased in the United States, in order to obtain delivery within a reasonable time.

The already enormous carrying capacity of the C.P.R. will be greatly increased when the new equipment is secured and distributed. The passenger cars would, if filled with travellers, move simultaneously, 165,000 people, who would constitute a good sized city, nearly double the entire population of Ottawa, or the combined populations of Halifax and St. John, with Moncton, Fredericton, Amherst, Truro, Sydney, Windsor, etc., thrown in, or a couple of Calgarys, or the population of both Hamilton and London together, while the cars would carry comfortably all the men, women and children of over fifty of the average-sized Canadian towns.

The immensity of these orders suggests the hundreds of thousands of tons of steel, the many millions of feet of lumber, and the gigantic army of men required to produce these huge quantities of material from their earliest stages in the mines and forests of Canada, until the finished rolling stock is placed in service. Then, too, the host of people employed in the finishing of the cars, and its various industries engaged in supplying the material, are to be counted; and when it is realized that a very large percentage of the cost price of any finished product is paid for labor, a faint idea may be gained of how largely the prosperity of a great railway system is an integral factor in the prosperity of Canada.

To-day—Unsettled, some snow.

PETERBORO BARBERS HOLD A 25 ANNIVERSARY BANQUET

Last night the local Barbers' Union, No. 402, celebrated the 25th anniversary of the inception of that organization by a big banquet held in Hooper's Restaurant. About forty of the members and their guests sat down to a sumptuous repast, with President Geo. A. Campbell in the chair. After the department of the Interior had received a generous appropriation, the Knights of the Scissors and Razor enjoyed a most pleasant evening. Songs and short addresses were given.

Two long tables, decorated with flowers and lighted supplementarily by candles, containing was, card, and shining with silver, made a pleasing tour d'oeil. It would be hard, all things apart, to select a brighter, better dressed and more intelligent an assembly than that of the members of any class of the community. From soup, along through entrees, turkey to coffee and candy, mme. Hooper did herself proud. (One feature of the evening was the "roast" given to the retiring secretary, Mr. Brouseau, who was the only man present wearing a moustache. Quips and repartees passed constantly and everyone was in good humor. The familiar word "next" was heard when boxes of choice cigars were handed round.

Chairman Geo. Campbell noted that a "flash light" was going to be taken. Those present then assembled at the west end of the room, and the barbers of Peterborough were immortalized. Just after the "flash" of the flash light was gone, several present asked "are you out?"

President Campbell next asked for the toast to the King. This was drunk, with all standing and the National Anthem sung.

PUBLIC LIBRARY MEETING

A meeting of the Public Library Board was held last evening at 8 o'clock, when the following members were present: Messrs. W. G. Morrow, chairman; A. Mowat, J. Corkery, H. Ritchie, H. R. H. Kemner and Dr. Mohlberg.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication from Mr. S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, was read, requesting the Library Board to take over and care for the bound copies of the local newspapers since 1908. On motion this matter was left in the hands of the Librarian to obtain further information and report.

A letter was read from F. D. Carlisle, secretary of the Peterborough Collegiate Club asking for the use of a room in the Library building in which to hold meetings. Moved by Mr. Ritchie, seconded by Mr. Corkery that the request of the Collegiate Club be granted on the same terms as last year.

A letter was received from Mr. Matheson asking for an increase in salary. On motion the application was referred to the Property Committee to report at the next meeting of the Board in January next.

A letter from James Bertrem, a secretary of Mr. Carnegie, was read, acknowledging receipt of a letter from the Librarian, furnishing him with information and particulars regarding the library and use being made of it by the citizens.

Mr. H. Ritchie, chairman of the Library Committee gave a verbal report of the books purchased to date and of those ordered that will be paid for before the end of the year.

Mr. Corkery read the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of a number of accounts.

POLICE TO END WAR AT MINES

Activities of Army of Thiel Detectives Blamed for Bad Feeling

South Porcupine, Ont., Dec. 5.—Feeling of a bitter nature exists to-day between the hundred of striking miners and the little army of Thiel detectives who are acting as special constables for the mine operators and as a result of frequent clashes more than a score of the strikers will appear before Magistrate Torrance at Timmins to-day and this afternoon the three Thiel men, Luke Drage and Charles, will be arraigned on the charge of firing revolvers into the crowd during the fracas in front of the Goldfields hotel when three men were wounded.

Say Police Are Competent.

The general opinion freely expressed throughout the camp is that the Provincial Police are thoroughly competent to deal with the situation, and aside from such protection as the mine operators may desire to have from special police located on their particular properties, have been thoroughly in control of the situation on the highways and in the towns and that the major part of the disorder which has already arisen has been due to the officiousness of the non-resident special officers in what is regarded as an over-exercise of the supposed rights on the highways and in the towns.

PASSENGER STEAMER RAN HARD ON SAND

The Easton, was taking off the passengers, while a tugboat was sent to leave her case in the hands of the great powers.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

All Harvard University is planning itself over the discovery of the insect which carries the germ of infantile paralysis, and if it were not for the fact that of late the world has become indifferent to scientific achievements the newspapers would be full of the news.

The insect which is responsible for infantile paralysis is none other than the common stable fly, and it seems that its detention which required great skill and science was the result of the co-operation of the Harvard Medical School, the Buxsey Institution of that University, and the Massachusetts State Board of Health.

The harmonious working together of the three separate bodies of scientists is gratifying, because it foreshadows greater co-operation than has been possible in the past. The discovery must redound to the renown of Harvard throughout the world. In spite of the fact that it has attracted a small amount of space in the newspapers compared to that of the University's football team.

That the carrier of infantile paralysis has been found after a long and painstaking search does not mean, however, that the dreaded disease can be better guarded against than before.

BANK ACT AMENDMENT

An announcement of great importance to farmers was made by Hon. W. T. White in the House last week, when he declared that when the Bank Act was introduced provision would be made to allow banks to loan money on both grain and live stock. For several years western agricultural organizations have been carrying on an agitation for these amendments to the Act, and the announcement means that the Government recognizes the justness of the western plea.

At present section 98 of the Bank Act authorizes a bank to lend money to a purchaser or shipper of or dealer in agricultural products on the security of those products no matter what the quantity may be or where stored, but it does not authorize the bank to lend money to the farmer on his live stock or his live stock. In other words after grain or livestock reached a wholesaler money could be secured on it as a security, but not before.

It is claimed that if a farmer is allowed to secure loans in the fall on his wheat, he will not need to spend his time in marketing his grain, and can devote his time to fall ploughing.

a vital necessity of western agriculturists. With farmers enabled to secure loans on their grain there will be no necessity for rushing their crop in order to meet pressing liabilities. There will be no encouragement to farmers to store their grain, which will tend to prevent the annual congestion.

PROTECTING CANADA'S SHIPS

For the further protection of ships trading in the St. Lawrence and for the greater convenience of ship owners who wish to know the whereabouts of their vessels, it is announced that an extension of the Gulf and River Signal Service will be made. This is another of the many reforms inaugurated by the Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries since he came into office. At the commencement of the navigation season there was a scheme inaugurated by which a daily signal service from all important points was brought into effect. The new plan is a further development.

Owing to the large increase of tonnage between Montreal and the Great Lakes, reporting stations will be established next year on the canal system and the Great Lakes, and information will also be available at the Montreal and Quebec signal stations of the movements of vessels between Halifax and St. John.

This means that the daily signal reports issued by the St. Lawrence Signal Station will keep track of the movements of all vessels within wireless communicating distance of Cape Race and all points on inland waters as far west as Port Arthur and Lake Superior. This means that signals will be available over a total distance of about 2,000 miles, and it must not be forgotten that vessels far from the shore on the Great Lakes can, by wireless telegraphy, keep in touch with signal stations on the shores of the lakes, and their movements may be transmitted thence to Montreal and Quebec. The signal service of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes will be thus without parallel throughout the world.

Its future usefulness to shipowners and mariners may not easily be overestimated.

It should also be remembered that, dating from December 1, telegraph companies in all parts of Canada will be obliged to take wireless messages for ships and also that there has been a reduction made in wireless messages on a sliding scale from Belle Isle to Montreal.

Is Your Back Full of Aches All Day Long?

THAT STAB-LIKE PAIN IN THE BACK IS SURE INDICATION OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse. My limbs became bloated and shaky. I was slow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I get from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and keep their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterbur."

No greater medicine exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I must congratulate you on the enterprise of the Times in conducting a voting contest for candidates for our city rulers. Your scheme, as it costs nothing to vote for one's favorite candidates, should aid materially in bringing out the best men available for aldermen and board of education. I enclose herewith three coupons marked, amongst other names, for Mr. Wm. English. I think his long experience in the city and his business ability would make him a good councillor.

ARE ATHEISTS ELIGIBLE FOR DIVINITY DEGREE?

London, Dec. 6.—Should an atheist have the opportunity of becoming a doctor of divinity?

This delicate problem has been raised by the council of the senate of Cambridge University. They have given formal notice of certain preliminary steps to alter the statutes which at present restrict the granting of degrees of divinity to members of the Established Church. It is contended that the proposed alterations will deprive these degrees of any religious significance whatever.

Strong opposition has already been raised to the proposal and a memorial to the vice-chancellor, signed by the lord chief justice and twenty-seven D.D.'s among other distinguished members of the Cambridge Senate, asks for the appointment of a syndicate to consider and report on the whole question.

A THIEVING CASHIER ATTEMPTS TO SUICIDE

West Point, Ga., Dec. 6.—H. W. Parker, absconding bank cashier of Winnipeg, Minn., who yesterday confessed to a shortage in his accounts of $17,000, attempted to commit suicide in the West Point jail late last night. The prisoner swallowed 25 grains of a drug he secured as a headache remedy. He finally was revived by physicians and begged them to save his life. After writing a confession of his guilt in which he admitted marrying Miss Florence Bauer, of Cleveland, despite the fact that he has a wife and three children in Winnipeg, Parker became morose.

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM NEWS

Thurs., 5th. Dec., 1912.

Resolutions from the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway system and from those of its subsidiary companies have just been forwarded to Mr. David Hays, brother of the late Chas. M. Hays, at Prince Rupert, expressing the high regard in which the former head of the big railway system was held. These resolutions, illuminated on parchment in purple and gold form a very highly artistic album and are accompanied by a warm personal letter from Mr. E. J. Chamberlain, president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways.

Within the next seven days work on the big steel bridge over the Shuswap River at Mile 79, B.C., along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will have been completed and the steel girders will move forward to commence the construction of the three remaining steel structures of this kind between that point and Fort George.

The annual report of the Department of Railways and Telephones for the Province of Saskatchewan shows that during the past three years the Grand Trunk Railway has increased its mileage in that province by 375 miles.

An official circular has just been issued by Mr. H. G. Elliott, General Passenger Agent, approved by Mr. G. T. Bell, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager, and effective after December 1st, announcing the appointment of Mr. C. E. Jenney as Travelling Passenger Agent, with office at Pittsburg, Pa., vice Mr. W. BRITISH PEOPLE VERY WARMLY WELCOME CANADA'S ACTION

But Thoughtful Men are Already Beginning to Criticize—Its Effect Upon Imperial and Foreign Policy May Be Serious—Pacifists Approve of Gift

London, Dec. 6.—To say that Premier Borden's speech has been warmly welcomed by the British press and people is to understate the case, but already criticism is being heard, not of the spirit or substance of the offer, but of Imperial developments to which it must lead. Thoughtful men recognize that a new era of Imperial relations has been opened, and that Downing street's exclusive dictation of the British world policy is doomed.

The Times, which printed the speech in verbatim, hails it as meaning "that however conditions may change, the nations of the British Empire intend that their policy in regard to other powers shall be a single policy, and that their power for peace, though great as the power of many, shall be direct as the power of one."

Pacifists Accept It.

The Westminster Gazette, the organ of official Liberalism, described it as "epoch-making."

Even pacifists, who protest against increase of armaments, are giving it welcome, because they believe it will give the quietus to Germany's attempts to outpace British sea power, and will, by giving Canada a voice in our Imperial affairs, help to check more European adventures on the part of Great Britain.

Criticism is mainly found in the London Daily News and Manchester Guardian. The News criticizes the speech, declaring that it makes the naval policy a partisan issue in Canadian politics.

The Manchester Guardian, which represents the most pronounced pacifist section of Provincial Liberalism, admits that opinion in Canada on

Great Britain to Build in Canada

"The British Admiralty are prepared in the early future to give orders for the construction in Canada of small cruisers, oil tank vessels, and auxiliary craft of various kinds. The plant required is relatively small as compared with that which is necessary for a Dreadnought battleship, and such an undertaking would have a much more secure and permanent basis from a business standpoint. For the purpose of stimulating so important and necessary industry we have expressed our willingness to bear a proportion of the increased cost, for a time at least. I see no reason why all vessels required in the future for our Government service should not be built in Canada, even at some additional cost."—Premier Borden.

MANY MILLIONS WASTED

Serious Charge in Connection With Construction of the Trent Canal

The recent deputation to Ottawa, asking for a speedy completion of the Trent Canal, has brought that great Canadian waterway prominently before the eyes of this Dominion. In this respect it cannot but be remembered how recent articles in The Times, dealing with specified maladministration of the canal, aroused such general interest as to have been quoted in leading newspapers of the country including those published in Toronto and Montreal. Among other unsatisfactory conditions alluded to, was the almost criminal indifference in which the submarine work on the bed of the canal is being done. The Times has arranged for a series of articles by a special representative, well qualified to deal with the matter, describing such unsatisfactory conditions as he may find. The first of this series to be followed by others later, will appear next week. It is to be clearly understood that, whilst a necessary extent for such publicity, it is given without prejudice, and is not meant either upon the good faith or intelligence of either the present Government or its individual supporters. When the facts are all known, it is imperative to appoint a Commission of properly qualified experts to make a thorough investigation. This Commission should not include any individual at present connected with the canal or the Government service.

MARRIAGE LAWS IN TERRITORIES

Questions Asked in Parliament by Mr. Burnham, M.P., and Replied by the Minister of Justice.

In the House on Wednesday, the Hon. Mr. Doherty made reply to the questions put to Mr. Burnham in regard to the marriage laws in parts of the Dominion under Federal control. We put below the questions and answers in full:—

Mr. Burnham—What portions of the Dominion of Canada are solely under Federal control and jurisdiction?

Mr. Doherty—The territory which remains subject to the legislation of the Dominion and not subject to any provincial powers is comprised in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory, being all that part of the Dominion not included within the boundaries of any province.

The law affecting marriage in the Northwest Territories is the law of England as the same existed on July 15, 1870, in so far as applicable and in so far as not repealed, altered, varied, modified or affected by any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom or of the Parliament of Canada applicable to the territories or by any ordinance of the North-west Territories. See Revised Statutes, 1906, chapter 62, section 12.

The law affecting marriage in the Yukon Territory is that which was in force in the Northwest Territories on June 13, 1898, in so far as applicable, and in so far as not repealed, altered, varied, modified or affected by any ordinance of the Yukon Territory. See Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, chapter 63, section 19.

Note—It is claimed that the sections of the Statutes referred to above, use the words "civil and criminal" laws and the answer adds the word "marriage" to identify it. This answer necessarily completely the claim of supremacy made by any other body than parliament in these territories and therefore respecting marriage under their laws, even if made elsewhere in Canada. It is probable that if this had been found out at first, much turmoil and humiliation would have been saved. The air is now clear for the future respecting marriage in Canada. If made under these laws of the Parliament of Canada.

Peterborough Club Officers.
Last night the Peterborough Club held their annual meeting. Secretary Treasurer presented a most satisfactory "budget." The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in a re-election of those who served last year, viz: E. F. Matthews, president; F. G. Patterson, vice-president; and W. R. Morris, Secretary-Treasurer.

SCHOOL POLICY STIRS QUEBEC

Lower Province Enters Fight Surrounding Bilingualism—Ottawa Calls Meeting

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Opponents of the Government's bilingual school policy in Eastern Ontario have led Quebec into the situation.

A monster mass meeting of French-Canadian representatives from it is said all Quebec and Eastern Ontario, has been called for Montreal. Today Trustees General of the local Separate School Board characterized the bilingual regulation No. 17 as an incitement to rebellion of all French-Canadians on Eastern Canada. A mass meeting of Ottawa French-Canadians is planned for next week.

LIBERALS WILL ASK CANADIANS MAN SHIPS

Want a Guarantee that Ships be Returned to Canada for Canadian Navy.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—The Liberal party was in caucus from 10.20 to after 1 o'clock to-day in a discussion of the attitude to be taken on the Government's naval policy.

No official news of the result is forthcoming, but it is understood the Opposition stand will be that if Canada pays for the ships she should maintain them and insist upon a stronger guarantee of the return of the Dreadnought when required as the nucleus of a Canadian navy. Reaffirmation of the policy of a Canadian navy is also probable.

Premier Borden is in receipt of a flood of telegraphic messages of congratulation to-day from all over the Empire.

The naval debate will resume on Tuesday.

Mr. Doherty—The territory which remains subject to the legislation of the Dominion and not subject to any provincial powers is comprised in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory, being all that part of the Dominion not included within the boundaries of any province.

The law affecting marriage in the Northwest Territories is the law of England as the same existed on July 15, 1870, in so far as applicable and in so far as not repealed, altered, varied, modified or affected by any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom or of the Parliament of Canada applicable to the territories or by any ordinance of the North-west Territories. See Revised Statutes, 1906, chapter 62, section 12.

The law affecting marriage in the Yukon Territory is that which was in force in the Northwest Territories on June 13, 1898, in so far as applicable, and in so far as not repealed, altered, varied, modified or affected by any ordinance of the Yukon Territory. See Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, chapter 63, section 19.

Note—It is claimed that the sections of the Statutes referred to above, use the words "civil and criminal" laws and the answer adds the word "marriage" to identify it. This answer necessarily completely the claim of supremacy made by any other body than parliament in these territories and therefore respecting marriage under their laws, even if made elsewhere in Canada. It is probable that if this had been found out at first, much turmoil and humiliation would have been saved. The air is now clear for the future respecting marriage in Canada. If made under these laws of the Parliament of Canada.

Peterborough Club Officers.
Last night the Peterborough Club held their annual meeting. Secretary Treasurer presented a most satisfactory "budget." The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in a re-election of those who served last year, viz: E. F. Matthews, president; F. G. Patterson, vice-president; and W. R. CONSERVATIVES REJOICE LIBERALS TORN IN TWAIN

Premier's Announcement Sole Topic in Political Circles at Ottawa—"Greatest Speech Ever Heard at Capital" Difference of Opinion at Liberal Caucus

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—A flood of congratulatory telegrams and cables poured in upon Premier Borden from prominent men in all parts of the Dominion and the Empire this morning. The unanimity of sentiment indicates that the country and the Empire alike appreciate and are proud of the advanced stand taken by the Premier and the Government. It is generally felt that Canada has reached the parting of the ways and will no longer lag behind the rest of the overseas Dominions in aid to the Empire, but will take its true position as the Premier colony of Great Britain.

Hearty Endorsement of People.

The Premier's announcement is naturally the sole topic of conversation in political circles at the capital. The Conservatives are enthusiastic over the decision of the Government and are confident that the proposals will receive the hearty endorsement of the majority of the people of Canada. That Premier Borden's effort, delivered in cool and unpassioned but in earnest manner, was one of the finest speeches ever delivered at Ottawa, is generally admitted.

Old timers say it was the greatest speech ever heard in the capital.

Liberal Caucus Undecided.

The Liberals held a caucus this morning, which was attended by every member in Ottawa, to decide on a policy. The greatest secrecy was observed and at the close the members retired absolutely to talk. It is understood that the greatest difference of opinion existed as to what line to take. There was a definite split between the Imperialistic and Anti-Imperialistic wing. The Imperialists wanted to outdo the Conservatives by offering an amendment that Canada pay for the upkeep of these ships, whilst the anti-Imperialists, led it is said by Hon. Frank Oliver and supported by some of the French members, were strongly in favor of opposing outright the whole scheme and standing for the old Laurier naval policy. It is understood that the Liberals were unable to come to any decision and another caucus will be held between now and next Tuesday, when the bill comes up for a second reading.

GREECE HELD OUT SO HER NAVY COULD HOLD UP TURK SUPPLIES

Athens, Dec. 6.—It is officially announced that Greek plenipotentiaries will participate in the peace negotiations.

A semi-official statement issued protests against interpreting the fact that Greece did not sign the armistice as proof that disunion exists among the allies, and declares that it was by agreement of the allies that for the conclusion of peace, world Greece adopted an attitude different from that of the other States.

The explanation is given that Greece's course was due to her anxiety that her naval action should not be interrupted in the Ionian Sea in order to prevent the revictualing of the Turkish army in Smyrna, and in the Aegean Sea in order to prevent the transport of Turkish troops to Thrace, with respect to which Greece considered the interests of her allies rather than her own. The chances were by agreement of the allies that for the conclusion of peace, world Greece adopted an attitude different from that of the other States.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The new Baptist translation of the Bible has eliminated hell, but it still remains strongly entrenched in Canadian politics.

We believe it will be generally conceded that Tobataja, sounds more like a loud snappy sneeze than a line of strom forts.

There are still many good Tories waiting patiently for a call to Government jobs. They should gather in force at Ottawa and sing, "In the shade of the Old Plum Tree."

At the meeting which it is proposed to hold at Ottawa to reorganize the Liberal party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will serve as chairman of the embalming committee.

An Illinois court is trying to decide whether poker is work or pleasure. But many persons who have been persuaded to sit in a game with expert players are convinced that it is a calamity.

The Balkan war cloud which for more than a month has held the centre of the stage, seems in a fair way to be displaced by our old friend the European crisis.

Flammarion, the French astronomer, attributes the defeat of the Turkish armies to Halley's comet, but it appears that the Turks themselves are foolish enough to place the blame on the Bulgarian and Serbian artillery.

What wonderful changes are wrought sometimes by an election. For example, there is Woodrow Wilson taking a rest in Bermuda, preparing for arduous work, while President Taft is working in Washington preparing for a painful rest.

The Examiner printed a paragraph the other day to the effect that George Eads Howe, of St. Louis, the millionaire tramp, will establish a college for Weary Willies. We predict great success for the institution if he builds a brewery as an annex and provides freight cars for dormitories.

A MANAGER OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

The little city of Sumter, S.C., has decided to administer its affairs after the manner of conducting a private business, because it reached the conclusion that the people's business was nobody's business unless it was transacted by a competent expert paid for his services. It contended that the citizens were like the stockholders in a big corporation and should follow the example set by a well regulated business by entrusting the management of affairs to a competent executive head.

This is only one of the many schemes devised for doing away with the complicated form of popular government. "Under our system," says the Pittsburgh Post, "the people rule, but when it comes down to actual work the general result is that everybody expects somebody else to perform, and the people, therefore, are rulers in name only, or the choicest of those who do as they please to the detriment of all. Whether this condition can be obviated by hiring a man to manage municipal affairs on the outcome of the Sumter experiment."

What the country would welcome, however, would be the development of a system that would fit all communities, for the fact is recognized that the cities of the different States have too many different forms of government. The Legislatures are kept busy passing new laws for the government of cities, but years of experimentation, perhaps, will solve the difficulty.

OUR NAVAL POLICY.

In dealing with a question like a navy program for the Dominion, the Times cuts out everything that looks like hysteria. It believes in common sense and lots of it. From a financial standpoint it is sound common sense and good economy for Canada to contribute generously to the imperial navy. We shall explain why. Take the economical side of it. Canada is the only great exporting nation today that has provided no protection of any sort for its outgoing trade. Suppose out of the present hostilities in Europe, Great Britain were to get into a mixup with Germany and Austro-Hungary and as a result of the tangle she became hopelessly crippled and it became necessary to call upon the United States to exercise a sort of protectorate over the Dominion, what would happen? Why, Washington would call upon the Dominion government to contribute at least ten million dollars annually to the maintenance of its navy and another ten millions a year for military purposes.

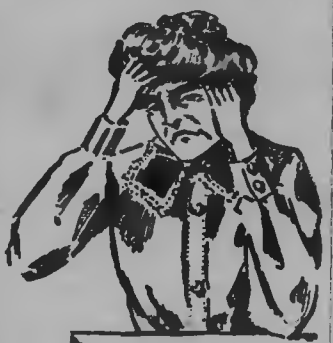

In the event of such a contingency it would be foolish to talk a lot of bunk about a "Canadian built navy, built in Canadian shipyards by Canadian labor, to be manned by Canadian sailors." The crippling of Great Britain would change the complexion of all that and Canada would be accepting a position very similar to that of Egypt today. A nation that is not a nation. A people ruled over by an alien government. Such a condition of things would hardly satisfy the pride of the independent people of the Dominion.

Some will argue that Great Britain is not likely to be put out of business as readily as it is suggested above and will go further and question if any real emergency exists. A very pretty spectacle these gentlemen afford. If such a case it is not a matter of saving the British empire, it is rather a matter of saving our self-respect and dignity.

Dizzy Headaches Cured in One Night

If Troubled With Head-Pain, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach is at Fault.

Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away, and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set me wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleansing remedy I would still be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made strong, ruddy and healthy, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

THEY LOVE THEIR LANGUAGE ABOVE THEIR CHURCH

Editor of Morning Times

Sir,—A French-Canadian met me on the street this morning: "Are you Monsieur Burnham?" he asked. I said "Yes." "Who made the speech, etc?" After a minute we identified the speech. He said, his hat off, "I have five sons. I told them all—there was a good man—never forget him!"

But I said, interrupting, "did you read what I said about the Church. You know Protestant clergymen are not like yours?"

"Yes," he answered shyly. "I read that. Yes, it began in the church. It won't do. We must be free. No church good, but it cannot make us give up our language. Dat is all we love. Even more than de church. We are free."

"Are you sure that your people feel that way?"

"Sure, Monsieur Burnham; and we are loyal to the empire, as you said. Every word true."

I thought, M. J. Editor, that a little conversation like this was worth much talk. I can produce the man if necessary. Yours etc.,

J. H. Burnham.

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself huddled up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is the one and perpetual by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Library and Scientific Institute writes:—"The name of Nelson's and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia."

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the masses generally."

Western Boards of Trade Want Industrial Activity Stimulated

The people of Western Canada, particularly those in towns and cities are alive to the necessity of developing activity in manufacturing in the West. This subject was one of the chief topics of discussion at the convention in Moosejaw of the Associated Boards of Trade of Western Canada. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta to emphasize technical education as a means of stimulating industrial activity on the plains. The resolution expressed the desire of the West to work up its own raw materials into manufactures for the local outside markets, thus conserving for the prairie most of the profits and by-products which now go to waste. The resolution recited the fact that nine-tenths of the youths of Western Canada wish to go into industrial careers. If these are to be kept at home and not lost to the United States, the establishment of manufacturing industries beyond the Great Lakes must continue to be fostered by moderate protection. In supporting the resolution, Mr. M. J. Chagwin, of Moosejaw, declared that no country could become great without manufactures. "The cities," he said, "are crying for industries, and the whole (Western) country is in need of industries."

THE TIMES' MUNICIPAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Name your Choice for Mayor, Aldermen, School Trustees, and Water Commissioner, and Do It Now!—A Plan to Awaken interest in Coming Civic Changes.

FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND SEND IT IN TO THIS OFFICE

We take the initiative in inviting a public expression of opinion as to who are best qualified to fill the civic offices that expire with the end of this year. And in order to arouse becoming interest in so live and important a question The Times has decided to adopt a plan, quite popular in many big cities, of conducting a newspaper election campaign with a view to bringing into the field in advance of nomination day a list of desirable candidates for municipal honors. Our readers are therefore respectfully asked to enter into the spirit of the scheme and record in these columns, either by vote or in brief letter, their opinions on the following questions:

Who will be our next Mayor?
Who is to represent us in the City Council?
Who will fill the places becoming vacant on the Board of Education and Board of Water Commissioners?
Peterborough is now growing rapidly, and on the men selected for such positions as noted above largely depends her future growth and prosperity. Our taxation is now so heavy that with the increased cost of living, civic expenditure must be controlled by the most competent men available—men who will pledge themselves to do the greatest good for the greatest number as economically as prudent dictates.

As indicated above The Times desires to arouse interest in municipal affairs. There are six places to be filled on the City Council, including the Mayor's seat. It has been an unwritten law, however, the past few years that the Mayor should be extended the courtesy of a second term (provided, of course that he has proved an efficient Chief Magistrate), and there seems no reason to deviate from that rule this year.

THOSE WHO RETIRE THIS YEAR
The following civic officers retire automatically at the end of this year, viz.:
Council—Aldermen Duncan, Brown, Graham, Morgan and Gordon.
Board of Education—Messrs. Ackerman, Fair, Morrison and Eastwood.
Water Commissioner—W. H. Moore.

HOW TO VOTE

Sound Dramatic Sense.

Among the stories told by Arnold Bennett during his American tour was one about a young actress.

"Two men, just before her debut, were discussing this young actress' future," Mr. Bennett said. "The first man remarked thoughtfully: 'I believe her stage career will be extraordinary. She has a most remarkable dramatic sense.'"

"Yes," said the other man. "And how does this dramatic sense display itself?"

"Well," replied the other, "it displays itself best, perhaps, in the series of dinners at $4 a plate that she has been giving week by week to all the dramatic critics and theatrical correspondents."

Highland Mummer.

Charles Johnston in his book, "Why the World Laughs," tells a story of two Scotch Highlanders, one of whom observed the other to be wrapped in impenetrable gloom. He asked the cause, and the interlocutor at last reluctantly replied: "It's that man MacTavish! He called me a leet!" His friend tried to console him, explaining that many a man had been called a liar and had been none the worse for it. But the gloomy one with some heat replied: "Dammitt, mon! But he proved it!" Which showed where the shoe really pinched.

Essential.

It is well known that in parts of Lancashire everybody keeps a dog. One day Jones arrived at his office looking so worried that his friend Smith asked him if anything was the matter.

Mister Jones replied: "Yes, I've had to sell my dog."

"Never mind; you can get another."

"But I can't afford one."

"Then go without one."

"Yes," said Jones, "but a man looks such a fool without a dog!"—London Mail.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Mrs. Keziah Coffin, a widow, is arranging to move from her home to a new one. Her son, Grace, who has been kept by her brother, for whom she had kept Grace Van Horn, ward of Capt. Eben Hammond, leader of the "Come-outer" religious sect, offers to assist her financially if she will remain. She declines. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused.

CHAPTER II.—Capt. Eben Hammond, leader of the Regular church, offers Kyan a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet.

CHAPTER III.—Kyan takes charge of Rev. John Elery, the new minister, and gives him advice to his credit toward members of the parish. Elery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting.

CHAPTER IV.—Elery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the Regular church, and his wife, Hannah. Kyan, however, is a devoted follower of the sect. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's brother, becomes a member of the sect. Kyan becomes a devoted follower of the sect. Kyan becomes a devoted follower of the sect.

CHAPTER V.—Kyan's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the Regular church, and his wife, Hannah. Kyan, however, is a devoted follower of the sect. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's brother, becomes a member of the sect. Kyan becomes a devoted follower of the sect. Kyan becomes a devoted follower of the sect.

CHAPTER VI.—Elery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Kyan. They become friends.

CHAPTER VII.—Elery meets Grace while walking in the fields Sunday, and learns that she walks there every Sunday.

CHAPTER VIII.—The clergyman takes dinner Sunday with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every day.

CHAPTER IX.—Nat again importunes Kyan to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace.

CHAPTER X.—Elery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her father. He tells her not to try to see him, but to wait until he can see her again. Kyan tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was repulsed to have been told that she had left for him. Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Elery says in the story a lesson in devotion to duty and decides to remain and attend to his duties.

The wily Keziah alighted at the parsonage gate with the feeling that she had sown seed in fertile ground. She was quite aware of Captain Eben's jealousy of the great Daniels. And the time might come when her parson needed an influential friend on the committee and in the Regular society.

The news of the engagement between Captain Nat Hammond and Grace Van Horn, told by Dr. Parker to one or two of his patients, spread through Trumet like measles through a family of small children. Annabel Daniels and her father had not expected it. They were, however, greatly pleased. Their discussion, which lasted far into the night, Captain Eben expressed the opinion that the unexpected development was the result of his interview with Eben.

"I think, pa," she said, "that it's our duty, yours and mine, to treat him just as we always have. He doesn't know that we know, and he will keep the secret. And, as Christians, we should forget and forgive."

Kyan Pepper was another whom the news of the engagement surprised greatly. When Lavinia told him of it, at the dinner table, he dropped the handle of his fork and the greasy section of shabby balanced upon it. Remembering what he had seen in the grove he could not understand; but he also remembered, even more vividly, what Keziah Coffin had promised to do if he ever breathed a word. And he vowed again that that word should not be breathed.

Keziah was the life of the gloomy parsonage. Without her the minister would have broken down. He called her "Aunt Keziah" at her request, and she continued to call him "John." This was in private, of course; in public he was "Mr. Elery" and she "Mrs. Coffin."

come back direct, which ain't likely. So I may not see the old town again for a couple of years. Take care of yourself, won't you? Good men, especially ministers, are scarce, and from what I hear about you I callate Trumet needs you."

"When are you going?"
"Last of next week, most likely."
"Will you—shall you go alone? Are you to be—to be—?"
"Married? No. Grace and I have talked it over and we've agreed it's best to wait till I come back. She'll stay in the old house with Hannah."

"Good-by, captain!"
"Good-by. Er—I say, Mr. Elery, how's things at the parsonage? Er—Keziah—Mrs. Coffin, your housekeeper, is she smart?"
"Yes. She's well."

"That's good. Say, you might tell her good-by for me, if you want to. Tell her I wished her all the luck there was. And—and—just say that there ain't any—well, that her friend—say just that, will you?—her friend said 'twas all right. She'll understand; it's a sort of joke between us."

"Very good, captain; I'll tell her." They shook hands and parted.
Didama and her fellow news-vendors distributed the tale of Captain Nat's sailing broadcast during the next few days. There was much wonderment at the delayed marriage, but the general verdict was that Captain Eben's recent death and the proper respect due to it furnished sufficient excuse. Hannah Poundberry, delighted at being so close to the center of interest, talked and talked, and thus Grace was spared the interviews which would have been a trouble to her. Nat left town via the packet, on the following Wednesday. Within another week came the news that his ship, the Sea Mist, had sailed from New York, bound for Manila.

CHAPTER XIV.
In Which Trumet Talks of Captain Nat.
Summer was over, autumn came, passed, and it was winter—John Elery's first winter in Trumet. Fish weirs were taken up, the bay filled with ice, the packet ceased to run, and the village settled down to hibernation until spring. The stage came through on its regular trips, except when snow or slush rendered the roads impassable, but passengers were very few. Twice there were wrecks, one of a fishing schooner, the crew of which were fortunate enough to escape by taking to the dories, and, other, a British bark, which struck on the farthest bar and was beaten to pieces by the great waves, while the townspeople stood helplessly watching from the shore, for launching a boat in that surf was impossible. Mr. Pepper made no more calls at the parsonage, and when the minister met him, at church or elsewhere, seemed anxious to avoid an interview.

"Well, Abishail," asked Elery, on one of these occasions, "how are you getting on at home? Has your sister looked you up again?"
"No, sir, she ain't," replied Kyan. "Lavinia, she's sort of different lately. She ain't high so—so down on a feller as she used to be. I can get out once in a while by myself nowadays, when she wants to write a letter or something. Writes one about every once in a week. I don't know who they're to, nuther. She's talkin' of goin' up to Sandwich pretty soon."

"She? Alone?"
"So she says."

"To leave you here? Why? well, I'm surprised."

"Godfrey's mighty! so be I. But she says she believes she needs a change and there's church conference up there, you know, and she figgers that she ain't been to conference she don't know when. I s'pose you'll go, won't you, Mr. Elery?"

"Probably."

Lavinia got herself elected a delegate and went, in company with Captain Eben, Mrs. Mayo, and others, to the conference. She was a faithful attendant at the meetings and seemed to be having a very good time. She introduced the minister to one Caleb Pratt, a resident of Sandwich, whom she said she had known ever since she was a girl.

"Mr. Pratt's a cousin of Thankful Payne over to home," volunteered Lavinia. "You know Thankful, Mr. Elery."

Lavinia confided to her pastor that Mr. Pratt made the best shoes in Oxtable county. He could fit any kind of foot, she declared, and the minister ought to try him sometime. She added that he had money in the bank.

Spring once more; then summer. And now people were again speaking of Captain Nat Hammond. His ship was overdue, long overdue. Even in those days, when there were no cables and the telegraph was still something of a novelty, word of his arrival should have reached Trumet months before this. But it had not come, and did not. Before the summer was over, the wise heads of the retired shippers were shaking dubiously. Something had happened to the Sea Mist, something serious.

As the weeks and months went by without news of the missing vessel, this belief became almost a certainty. At the Come-Outer chapel, where Ezekiel Bassett now presided, prayers were offered for the son of their former leader.

One afternoon Keziah came into Elery's study, where he was laboring with his next Sunday sermon, and sat down in the rocking-chair. She had been out and still wore her bonnet and shawl.

"John," she said, "I ask your pardon for disturbin' you. I wanted to ask if you knew Mrs. Price was sick?"

"No, is she? I'm awfully sorry. Nothing serious, I hope?"

"No, I guess not. Only she's got a cold and is kind of under the weather. I thought p'raps you'd like to run up and see her. She thinks the worst and all of you, 'cause you was so good when she was distressed about her son. Poor old thing! she's had a hard time of it. I just heard that she was a'llin' from Didama Rogers. Didama said she was all but dyin', so I knew she prob'ly had a little cold, or something. If she was really very bad, I'd would have had her buried by this time, so's to be sure her news was ahead of anybody else's. I ain't been up there, but I met her father mornin'."

She to continue.

Another Kind.

The late Justice Wills once made a rather cutting remark to a barrister. The barrister was, in the judge's opinion, simply wasting the time of the court, and in the course of a long winded speech he dwelt at quite unnecessary length on the importance of certain bags connected with the case.

"They might," he went on pompously—"they might have been full bags, or they might have been half full bags, or they might even have been empty bags, or—"

"Or perhaps," dryly interposed the judge, "they might have been wind bags."

"Paradise Lost."
Millon's "Paradise Lost" was commenced between 1639 and 1640 and completed about the time of the great fire of London in September, 1666. Its author composed it in passages of from ten to twenty lines at a time and then dictated them to an amanuensis, usually some attached friend. It was first published in 1667 by Samuel Blount, and a second edition appeared in 1674. For these two editions Milton received £50 and £100 respectively.

Oil is The Fuel
of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 50,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Now huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Kentucky, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. There are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

Greatest Invention of age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered in the Remedy to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhes

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhes cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes hoarseness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhes keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhes and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhes
"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH.

"Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the 'Press' a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your Catarrhes.

"Believing in the merit of Catarrhes, I tried it.

"Catarrhes cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name if it will help others to get relief from suffering, and I will always remain.

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.B."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhes is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhes is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished silver-plated holder and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address if mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhes Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

Damages for Dead Dog.
It would seem that the farmers of Ops township do not all like little birds in their nest. A case was recently tried in Lindsay court where it was shown that one farmer's dog chased rabbits in the other farmer's woods. This frightened the latter's cattle. He shot one of the dogs. The owner promptly sued for $50 damages and got it.

You Cannot Rent a House in Winnipeg To-day

During this year over twice as many houses have been built in Winnipeg as has been the case in any previous year.

Seventy one apartment blocks have also been built during this year.

You cannot rent a house in Winnipeg except in the poorer sections.

The building permits for this year will pass the $20,000,000 mark before December 1st.

These figures, remember, do not include manufacturing plants, for practically all industries are located outside the city limits.

Neither do they include the tremendous building development out Portage Avenue west of the city limits.

The increase in population this year will be close to the 50,000 mark.

A large proportion of this increase in population is found in the districts out Portage Avenue west, for Portage Avenue west is developing faster than all other suburban districts combined.

The bare prairie land of to-day is the thickly populated districts of to-morrow.

HOW THE VOTE STANDS

Result of The Times Municipal Election Campaign

NEW MEN FOR COUNCIL

Interest Being Awakened in Civic Affairs—The Result Will Probably Be a Larger Number in the Field for the Council as Well as For the Trustee Board and Water Commissioners.

The Times municipal Election campaign has now been before our readers a week, and we herewith publish the result of this newspaper ballot to date for desirable candidates to fill the civic vacancies expiring this year. Nomination Day is not until Monday, December 30, and consequently even this newspaper campaign for candidates to contest the municipal elections is too early yet for a big vote to have come in, although each coupon does stand for five counts. However, a start has been made and when the next summing up is recorded on Wednesday, we expect from present indications that interest will have been considerably quickened. While many citizens whose names may appear in our list of candidates will naturally not consent to official nomination, still our object will be served in securing from subscribers to this paper their choice of whom they consider strong and capable men to assist at the helm of Peterborough city's municipal affairs.

Our readers are invited to vote irrespective of wards just now; later on, when the campaign is in full swing we will classify the names of citizens sent us into the wards in which they would be eligible for election.

The Mayorality Seat.

No coupon has reached us for any other candidate for Mayor than the present incumbent, Mr. W. H. Bradburn. It looks as though the policy of two terms for each alderman's favor for application to the Mayorality, sent from our readers' point of view.

The Aldermanic Office.
One or two new names are offered for aldermanic honors and they are worthy of consideration. The retiring men, however, do not seem to have warmed very much in popularity, as evidenced above. Well, they have, each and every one, been conscientious workers in the public's interests, and it is pleasing to note their recognition as such.

The Water Commissioner.
Mr. W. H. Moore stands alone on this count, and it cannot be denied that his shoes would be difficult to fill by an inexperienced man on the Board of Water Commissioners. Still this need not deter our readers from making a contest for the seat in this coupon campaign.

School Trusteeship.
This is a very important and honorable office, and should awaken keen interest. The new names sent us are those of energetic and successful business men, calling for the fullest measure of consideration. We are not surprised that Dr. Morrison heads the list; he has proved an exceedingly capable and indefatigable member of the board, and has manifested a high quality of directorship as chairman of the new school buildings' committee.

PUBLIC COMMENTS.
Leave the Mayor Where He Is.
Editor Times—Why should we look for a new mayor? If ever a chief magistrate had earned a second term with out opposition, Mayor Bradburn has. He is broad-minded and fair, and legislates without prejudice. He has proven a capable executive head with the courage of his convictions. Leave him where he is for another year and Peterborough will not regret.

A Ratepayer.
No Kick Coming.
Editor Times—I have no kick coming against the present Council Board. It compares more than favorably with the best we have had, and is certainly away ahead of many past Councils. You'll find my coupons marked accordingly.

An Old Citizen.
Think of it, friends!
Another year nearly gone.
Have you lost—a mother—or a relative?

If not possibly so before another year. Now is the time, do not put it off. Secure their likenesses, and you will never regret it. In this case you get a real likeness—a work of art that will not lose its clear-cut lines and beauty.

GREEK SQUADRON IN TURKISH WATERS, SIGHTED AT STRAITS

Approaching Entrance to the Straits of Dardanelles, Which Are Thickly Strewed With Mines

Sedil-Behr, Dardanelles, Dec. 8.—A Greek squadron composed of six warships was sighted off the entrance to the straits at half-past three this afternoon.

A number of vessels of the Turkish fleet are concentrated in the Dardanelles ready for action. The intentions of the Greeks are unknown.

The straits are believed to be thickly strewn with mines.

A report was current a few days ago that forty Greek transports were on their way to the Gulf of Saros with Bulgarian and Greek troops on board. Whether Greek squadrons formed the escort to these transports or is acting independently has not been ascertained.

It is believed that the Turks have concentrated two entire divisions of troops with a considerable force of artillery from Asia Minor on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and it is expected that these will resist any attempt to land.

EVELYN THAW IS SHOCKED BY HER FAST GROWING AVOIRDUPOIS

New York, Dec. 7.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, grown decidedly plump, wearing a tam-o'-shanter of black velvet edged with fur, a black gown trimmed with white lace and a black and white plaid cloak, appeared in the City Court as a defendant in a suit for $2,041 brought by the Gorham Company. She contends that Harry K. Thaw owes the money.

To reporter who talked with her the rosy-cheeked young woman said: "Don't say anything about me. I'm living very quietly. I've been ill recently, but I'm all right now."

"You are getting fat," the reporter ventured.

"Isn't it awful!"

"Goodness, yes! I'm afraid I am. Isn't it awful?"

Mrs. Thaw smiled genially at the two witnesses, salaried of the Gorham Company, who identified her as the person to whom they had sold goods. Among the items on the bill were an inkstand at $240, another at $27, one hair ornament, $100; a lamp and shade, $250 and two cologne bottles, $116. She admitted she had bought the articles, but said they were necessary to her station in life and that her husband was responsible for the debt.

Certainly Not a Child.

"Whom does your family consist of, Mrs. Thaw?"

"What's my personal family?" she asked, frowning.

"There is Mr. Thaw and yourself," the lawyer persisted. "Have you a child?"

"Certainly not," she replied, looking embarrassed.

Asked about the name "Mrs. E. F. Thaw," which she had given on one occasion, the witness replied:

"I was married then, but gave my Christian name and middle name, Evelyn F. I usually signed 'Mrs. H. K. Thaw,' but," she added in a low voice, "I don't sign that way any more."

REV. J. KEITH MAKES APPEAL FOR DR. GRENFELL'S MISSION

Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell's personal appeal:

"There is needed at once to help the institute to start without anxiety for the first year, the sum of $10,000. To many this sum seems impossible, but to many who are even approaching the time when that which has been lent them shall be called in again by the Giver. Here is an opportunity for an investment of that kind which never fails to bring as its eternal reward the true joy de vivre, the joy of the Master, which He has told us He permits us to share with Him."

ALBERT T. PATRICK, FREE AFTER SERVING TEN YEARS IN JAIL, RENEWS HIS FIGHT TO PROVE HE IS INNOCENT

ALBERT T. PATRICK, PHOTOGRAPHED JUST AS HE STEPPED FROM THE AUTOMOBILE ON HIS ARRIVAL HOME.

Just before leaving King's Hall on a writ of pardon from Governor Dix, of New York, Albert T. Patrick, who spent ten years in jail for the murder of William Marsh Rice, a millionaire, for which he has consistently asserted he was not responsible, said:—"The fight has only started."

This was taken to mean that he intended to fight for the estate left him by Rice.

Patrick was taken from the prison in an automobile to his home in New York, where a Thanksgiving dinner prepared by his wife awaited him.

THE MARRIAGE LAW

It is considered here by many competent authorities that the answers to Mr. Burnham's marriage questions establish that the power of parliament to make laws respecting marriage is merely limited by the usual provincial provisions set out in the B. N. A. Act, and that marriage law is on a par with other powers appertaining to the Federal Parliament. This upsets the contention that the Federal Parliament has no power to pass a marriage law. The net result of the late agitation is therefore that the reference to the courts defined the jurisdiction of the Dominion as well as that of the provinces and enabled the Dominion to say that it has the right through its parliament to pass a federal marriage law to be respected as all legal acts are in all parts of Canada. The supremacy of the civil or state law is established within the usual provincial limitations.

AUSTRIA WILL PARTICIPATE IN A CONFERENCE OF THE POWERS

Paris, Dec. 7.—Austria-Hungary was at first opposed to the project put forward by Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, for a conference of the ambassadors of the great powers, according to The Temps. She objected to participating in the discussion if it was the intention of the conference to debate the question of giving Serbia a port on the Adriatic Sea.

Later on Austria-Hungary waived her objection upon representation being made to her that the holding of a conference would be without object and impossible if all the great powers, as they had a right to do, were to follow Austria-Hungary's lead and stipulate beforehand what could and what could not be discussed.

JOHN REDMOND WAS PUT TO TORMENT AT MEETING

London Dec. 7.—Suffragettes put John Redmond, the leader of the Irish Nationalists Party, to the torment this afternoon at a home rule demonstration at Dalston in the northeast of London.

For half an hour the Irish leader watched the forcible eviction from the hall of his disturbers, whose interruptions and desperate resistance to the police caused a rapid succession of rough and tumble scenes of the most rowdy description.

Men as well as women were thrown bodily out of the hall. Among the men were some clergymen, who had protested against the rough handling of the women.

During the half hour Mr. Redmond was able to utter only a single sentence which was to the effect that it seemed to him almost tragic that the women's cause, which in the minds and hearts of so many was so great, should be turned into a comic interlude.

MORE SANITARY PRISON FOR STATE OF ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Inmates of the State Penitentiary that is to be built at Joliet at a cost of $3,500,000 are to have sanitary surroundings and some comforts unusual in a prison, according to plans which have been drawn up after a long study of penal institutes in America and Europe.

LIBERALS MAY SPLIT ON NAVY QUESTIONS—CONSERVATIVES SOLID

Some Liberals May Keep Eye on Constituencies and Support a Money Contribution to Imperial Fleet

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—A majority of the Liberal members from Ontario and Quebec are away over Sunday and there has not been a great deal of talk about the parliament buildings to-day respecting the attitude of the Opposition on the navy question.

The impression grows, however, that the Liberals will make a fight. Undoubtedly some Liberal members will suffer greatly in their constituencies by voting against the gift or rather the belated payment of our long overdue debt to the mother country.

On the other hand it is claimed in some quarters that some Conservative members, especially those who come swept in by the tidal wave of 1911, in Liberal constituencies, may be embarrassed by their support of the government. However, this may be there will be no break in the Conservative ranks so far as known.

It is not impossible that some Liberal members may help themselves in their own districts, some by favoring and others by opposing the bill, but for the present the party will put up a united front while various amendments are proposed to the government measure.

The second reading of the bill, together with the resolution upon which it is founded and of which Mr. Borden has given notice can only come up on Tuesday or Friday of next week, as upon other days of the coming week, government business does not have precedence.

SUFFRAGETTE LEADERS ADVISE THAT LADIES DON TROUSERS

New York, Dec. 7.—"Make a bonfire of your hats; throw away your corsets and wear trousers instead of these ridiculous tight skirts," is the recommendation of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the woman suffrage leader to the equal suffrage organization in her report of a two year's round-the-world campaign in behalf of votes for women.

"My trip around the globe convinced me," says Mrs. Catt, "that any own countrywomen are the most favored, sartorially, to be found anywhere. Compared with Chinese women the American woman is almost as helpless as a baby. It is the time for the western woman to kick her self free of the swaddling draperies which the Parisian sends over to us. We should declare our independence in dress as we have in politics, and the sooner we do it the better for health, happiness and the cause."

Mrs. Catt advocates the Chinese dress, or modification of it, because it is the most "sanitary, healthful, comfortable and artistic costume a woman can wear." She describes the Chinese costume as including "loose straight hanging trousers, made of silk or other material and over the garment a straight loose coat which comes below the knees usually and buttons over on one side. This garment is collarless with sleeves that are half tight and end between the elbow and wrist."

PASTOR FACES MURDER CASE

Efforts Will Be Made to Solve Complicated Mystery When Rev. Charles Emelius Is Tried.

Houlton, Me., Dec. 8.—Rev. Charles Emelius, a minister of the Lutheran Church, Mrs. Mary Jacobson, his mother-in-law, and the latter's son, Edgar J. Jacobson, of New Sweden, will be placed on trial in the supreme court of Aroostook county, for the murder of August Jacobson, a prosperous New Sweden farmer on June 11, 1911.

Rev. Charles Emelius, one of the defendants, was pastor of the Lutheran church at New Sweden at the time of the crime. A few months after the death of Jacobson, Emelius married Jacobson's daughter, Mrs. Belle Gabrielson, who had been a widow only a short time.

Jacobson's body was found in a lane between his home and a pasture. Beneath the body was an old shoe and nearby a note, purporting to have been written by Jacobson, in which he said he was about to take his own life.

Upon a physician's report to a coroner that it was a clear case of suicide an inquest was thought unnecessary. Two months later County Attorney Brown became suspicious and ordered the body exhumed. The autopsy then showed that the man had been shot four times, twice through the left breast and twice through the head. These wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

The inquest which followed developed the fact that, buttoned about the body when found, was an overcoat and an undercoat, in neither of which there were bullet holes. Testimony was produced that Jacobson and his son Edgar, aged 17, had quarrelled on the night before Jacobson died. Edgar was arrested last March but was discharged when the April term of the grand jury failed to indict him.

Later depositions claimed to have learned that the minister's suit for the hand of Jacobson's daughter was opposed by the father.

DEATH BY CHOLERA

Disease Causing Great Havoc in Native Turkish Quarters—Who Will Talk Peace

Constantinople, Dec. 7.—Cholera is causing great havoc in the Turkish capital. It is officially admitted that over 1,000 cases have occurred during the past twenty days, and that half of them have been fatal. The total, however, is believed to be much below the real figures, and the opinion is generally expressed that the authorities are minimizing the outbreak.

London, Dec. 8.—The British Government has placed the historic St. James' Palace at the disposal of the peace plenipotentiaries representing the Ottoman Empire, and the allied Balkan nations for the purpose of holding their conferences.

The meeting of the diplomats which is arranged for next Friday, Dec. 13, is looked forward to with great interest here, and the general hope prevails that the outcome of the negotiations will be a settlement of the Balkan question which has troubled Europe for so many years.

OUR ENGLISH MAILED THE HEAVIEST AS YET

If one can judge from the amount of Christmas mail that is being sent to England this year, there must be far more Englishmen in Petersburg at present than ever before. The English mails, both outgoing and incoming, are 70 per cent. heavier so far this year than they were last year. On Thursday and Friday nights one of the heaviest mails that ever left here for Christmas delivery in the old country was despatched. On the 12th of this month the post office people expect the largest parcel shipment in the history of the city, as that will be the last mail for Christmas.

HE PERISHES IN EFFORT TO RESCUE DAUGHTER

New York, Dec. 8.—Melville B. Mendell, a lawyer, after rescuing his wife and son from their burning home in the Boro of Queen's early this morning, lost his life in a attempt to save his 14-year-old daughter Lillian. The girl also perished.

Mendell, awakened from his sleep by smoke and the noise of cracking flames, first carried out his wife, who had already been overcome. He then returned and rescued his 12-year-old son. Neighbours attempted in vain to prevent him from making a second trip into the burning home to save the daughter. When the flames were extinguished the father and daughter were found dead in each other's arms on the floor of the bedroom.

WHEN BABY CRIES

Usually There is a Reason and the Summons Should be Heeded

Sometimes a nervous child will cry from a sense of loneliness or fright upon awakening from sleep. Often the low crooning of a song or a softly spoken sentence of love will relieve fears. Until an infant is six weeks old, however, it does not hear very well, and until then the carous of your hand will quiet your baby.

It is not necessary that you should take baby up as soon as it awakens. Indeed, it is much better not to do so unless necessary requires, but you should let it know in some way that you are near.

Fear, or a sense of loneliness, is one cause of baby's crying. A second reason is hunger and a third pain. For each, the cry is different, and the loving mother soon learns to interpret each, and the wise mother responds to it at once. Babies do not cry for the fun of it; when they cry there is some cause, when this cause is removed they stop.

The cry of loneliness is a little and whimper, the cry of hunger is loud and long and the cry of pain is apt to be a short, quick, spasmodic call for help. There is another cry which baby will soon learn, a cry of temper—to this one should pay no attention.

AN ANECDOTE ON THE COST OF LIVING

The high prices secured by the farmer at present for his produce are brought prominently to the front by the following anecdote from an American exchange:

"A Kansas farmer, so the story goes, came into town to buy a new wagon. The dealer made a price of $70, in which the farmer objected, saying that he had purchased the same style and make of wagon many years before for $40. The dealer explained that the advance in the price was due to higher cost of materials, etc., but the farmer was not convinced. After a lengthy argument it developed that the farmer ten years before had paid for the $40 wagon with 600 bushels of corn; corn at that time bringing ten cents per bushel. 'I will tell you what I will do,' said the dealer. 'You give me 800 bushels of corn for this $70 wagon and I will make you a present of the best supper in my stock, your choice of supper, and you can bring your wife down and I will make her a present of the best kitchen range I have in the place, and will fit her kitchen up complete with new dishes and cooking utensils. Is it a bargain?'

CLUBS VERSUS CLAWS

Woodmen Had Unequal Combat In Northern Alberta

While hunting near the mouth of the McLeod and Athabasca rivers, in northern Alberta, a short time ago, W. L. White and A. A. Gibbs, residents of Whitecourt, Alta., saved the lives of two woodmen, who were attacked by a grizzly bear, which had been wounded previously by Mr. Gibbs. The men followed the bear and were fighting the animal with clubs when the hunters came along with their rifles. One shot by Mr. White tore through the animal's fore-paw. The bear plunged into the water of the Athabasca, where Mr. Gibbs dispatched it with a head shot. The party also bagged a black bear.

Convinced by the experience with the grizzly that the woodsmen needed to be impressed with the seriousness of bear hunting, Messrs. Gibbs and White solemnly told them that it was a peculiar and distressing falling for bear to follow the trail of its dead or wounded companion, and that, at times, the animals had no compunction whatever in wreaking a terrible vengeance on their human slayers. The result of this piece of advice was to cause the two men to do their duty that night while the hunters slumbered peacefully.

WHAT IS A LADY?

Sometimes the Definition is Made Apparent in a Strange Way

Some one has defined a "lady" as one who talked in a low tone, and thought in a high tone. There are other definitions, many of them, but most people travel through the world wondering just what is the difference between a "woman" and a "lady." Some think that perhaps money makes the difference, others consider that it is an accident of birth.

It was on a crowded Vancouver street at the rush hour. Working men were piling in, crowding and struggling for a place. Women were in the minority, and most of them were forced to stand. Near the back of the car, where the crowd was thickest, two women stood together. One was a tiny Japanese, no longer young, her arms encircling a huge bundle, her tired eyes half closed. Beside her was "a lady." Young and charming, dressed as or some smart social function, and carrying herself with the unconscious arrogance which protects against unusual and startling occurrences, she appeared oblivious of the heaving crowd of roughly-clad men. At her side one rose to leave the car, leaving the tempting seat for whoever could snatch it from the others. About to sit down, the girl caught sight of the pathetic little figure. She hesitated, and a man attempted to slide past her into the seat. With one hand she held him back; the other was placed gently about the shoulders of the little Japanese, who was drawn protesting to the vacant seat—Vancouver Sun.

THE TIMES' MUNICIPAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Name your Choice for Mayor, Aldermen, School Trustees, and Water Commissioner, and Do It Now!—A Plan to Awaken interest in Coming Civic Changes.

FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND SEND IT IN TO THIS OFFICE

We take the initiative in inviting a public expression of opinion as to who are best qualified to fill the civic offices that expire with the end of this year. And in order to arouse becoming interest in so live and important a question The Times has decided to adopt a plan, quite popular in many big cities, of conducting a newspaper election campaign with a view to bringing into the field in advance of nomination day a list of desirable candidates for municipal honors. Our readers are therefore respectfully asked to enter into the spirit of the scheme and record in these columns, either by vote or in brief letter, their opinions on the following questions:

Who will be our next Mayor?

Who is to represent us in the City Council?

Who will fill the places becoming vacant on the Board of Education and Board of Water Commissioners?

Peterborough is now growing rapidly, and on the men selected for such positions as noted above largely depends her future growth and prosperity. Our taxation is now so heavy that with the increased cost of living, civic expenditure must be controlled by the most competent men available—men who will pledge themselves to do the greatest good for the greatest number as economically as prudence dictates.

As indicated above The Times desires to arouse interest in municipal affairs. There are six places to be filled on the City Council, including the Mayor's seat. It has been an unwritten law, however, the past few years that the Mayor should be extended the courtesy of a second term (provided of course that he has proved an efficient Chief Magistrate), and there seems no reason to deviate from that rule this year.

THESE WHO RETIRE THIS YEAR

The following civic officers retire automatically at the end of this year, viz.:

Council—Aldermen Duncan, Brown, Graham, Morgan and Gordon.

Board of Education—Messrs. Ackerman, Fair, Morrison and Eastwood.

Water Commissioner—W. H. Moore.

HOW TO VOTE

Each coupon, as below, will have the value of five votes. Cut the coupons out, insert the names of your choice, and either mail them to The Times or leave them at this office.

TOOMBS SELLS TOO SHALL FOR HYDE.

Convicted N. Y. Chamberlain & East, 2, Welles St., West New York.

New York, Dec. 9.—Council for Charles H. Hyde, will make their first move to get a new trial for the former city chamberlain, found guilty Friday night of bribery, as soon as he is sentenced next Wednesday. Meanwhile, the convicted man will have to stay in the Tombs, although up to Saturday night he had not been lodged in a cell. He is occupying quarters in a part of the building formerly used by the warden. Hyde is too big a man to be accommodated comfortably in one of the cells. There are only six feet long, while Hyde is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs over 200 pounds.

John R. Stanchfield, one of the lawyers for the defense, plans to appear in another term of the Supreme Court immediately Hyde had been sentenced by Justice A. C. McGowan in view of proceedings to secure a certificate of reasonable doubt if this writ is issued, it will serve to get Hyde out of the Tombs on bail, pending the outcome of an appeal for a new trial.

Mrs. Hyde did not visit her husband in the Tombs yesterday. He requested her not come to him while he is there. One of his lawyers was his only visitor Saturday.

PLEA FOR PARDON IN PET UNDER THE GOV'S PLATE.

Children of Wives, Executive Tree Clemency for Waco Trust.

Jackson, Miss. Dec. 9.—From in the privacy of the executive mansion Gov. Brewer, it appears, cannot escape petitions for pardons.

The other day at dinner Gov. Brewer found a small piece of paper under his plate. The writing was in a child's hands, and after a few minutes the governor was able to make out the following:

"Dear Papa—Please give a pardon now for Henry Lett." The petition was signed by all of the servants at the executive mansion, and by two little daughters of Gov. and Mrs. Brewer.

Lett is a negro convict, and a faithful "frustrate" doing chores at the executive mansion. He was up for life for murder, but was allowed every freedom at the governor's home. The little children of the governor have often expressed sympathy for Lett, and Claudia, aged six, the bright little daughter of Gov. Brewer, was responsible for the petition so uniquely phrased. She wrote it out, and solicited signatures.

WAS LOVE-GOAT TO SIGN WOMAN'S CONTRACT

Chicago, Dec. 9.—"Any contract by which a married man agrees to support a married woman other than his wife, is against public policy and absolutely void," declared Municipal Judge Sabath Saturday in dismissing the suit of Mrs. May Williams Carter against Chauncey C. Foster, former commission merchant.

Mrs. Carter, now divorced from her husband, sought to enforce an alleged contract under which Foster was to pay her $2,400 in monthly installments of $100.

Reviewing the testimony the court said:

"In this case both parties were married when the contract was said to have been entered into, December 8, 1911. The court feels justified in saying that a fair and reasonable inference to be drawn from the making of the agreement, if there was any, is that the parties might maintain the illegal and illicit relations between them after the divorce of divorce, that they seem to have had before the plea was entered. The consideration for such a contract is so tainted with immorality that the courts will not support it."

Foster denied making the alleged contract and characterized himself as a "love goat," who was being made to bear the burden of another's fault.

During this year over twice as many houses have been built in Winnipeg as has been the case in any previous year.

Seventy one apartment blocks have also been built during this year.

You cannot rent a house in Winnipeg except in the poorer sections.

The building permits for this year will pass the $20,000,000 mark before December 1st.

Neither do they include the tremendous building development out Portage Avenue west of the city limits.

The increase in population this year will be close to the 50,000 mark.

A large proportion of this increase in population is found in the districts out Portage Avenue west, for Portage Avenue west is developing faster than all other suburban districts combined.

POLICE BRAVE A BIG BOMB IN LONGWOOD.

Citizens Were Scared Most to Death by Black Thing on His Plazza.

Boston, Dec. 9.—The telephone trill ed sharply in the solemn stillness of the late night at Brookline headquarters. Lieut. O'Connell stretched himself toward the phone and softly bellowed "Well!"

"This the police?" yelled an excited voice. "Say there's an infernal machine out here on my veranda. It's a big black one, and it's likely to go off and blow us to smithereens any time. Get out here quick. It's in Longwood."

stepped upon the veranda. There it lay, black and sinister—the infernal machine. Nonchalantly he picked it up, stowed it under his arm, and marched back to the police station. He deposited the death-dealing bomb on the desk.

"There y'go," he said.

They are keeping it for a souvenir at police headquarters. And someone's iron post is lacking an ornamental top. Also a citizen of Longwood is trying hard to keep his name from being mentioned in connection with an infernal machine found on his veranda.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 90 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quite the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, DEC. 10, 1912.

PRICE, TWO CENTS.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY TO LOCATE IN PETERBOROUGH

If Ratepayers Pass the Bylaw on January 6th—Canadian Branch of a Big and Progressive English Concern—Mayor Bradburn Complimented by His Colleagues on his Effective Work as Chief Magistrate—Hope for his return Next Year

Another new industry is coming to Peterborough providing the ratepayers do not vote the bylaw down, and there is no reason why they should. The City Fathers last night passed the three readings of an agreement with the Henry Hope & Sons, Limited, of Birmingham, England, for the establishment in this city of their first Canadian branch. The company manufactures steel window and door sash and frames, and similar goods, and guarantees an authorized capital of $24,000 for their Peterborough branch. They propose to erect a one story concrete or brick and steel building, 60 x 200 feet, to cost with plant and machinery at least $60,000, which they will have in operation by January first, 1914. They agree to employ 50 hands the first year and at least 50 hands each and every subsequent year during the 10 years' life of their agreement with the city. The Council proposes to add this new industry in the following manner: To give a free site in South City, immediately north of the De Laval Company, and to grant exemption for ten years on land building and machinery, excepting school taxes and taxes for local improvements. A by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement with Henry Hope & Sons, Limited, passed its three readings.

A by-law to add this company as outlined above, passed its first and second readings, and this measure will go to the ratepayers for their endorsement at the municipal elections on January 6th. The company is a strong and prosperous British industry, enjoying an established record for successful manufacturing enterprise dating back to 1818. Its Canadian business is large and growing rapidly, hence the need for a Canadian manufacturing branch. The agreement clinched last night, subject of course to the ratepayers approval, was not of mushroom growth, negotiations having been under discussion at least twelve months. Peterborough has not to face keen competition with other Ontario cities for its acquisition, but the company preferred locating here in sacrifice even of very much better inducements offered elsewhere. It is now up to the ratepayers to endorse the Council's action at the municipal elections and vote for the by-law to add the Henry Hope & Sons, Limited, to the city generally for its activity in this connection. They had, he said, left no stone unturned to induce the Henry Hope & Sons, Limited, to locate here. He (Ald. Buller) hoped for big results from this industry, which he characterized as a prosperous and growing concern. Their English factory covers eight acres of land, and employs 500 or 600 hands, the bulk of which is skilled labor. On motion of Ald. Buller, the heartiest of hearty vote of thanks was tendered Senator Cox and the late Mayor for their successful co-

A LAST WORD

Regarding the Deep Sea Mission Fund

For one week items have appeared in these columns regarding the work of Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell in Labrador. Offerings have been received at this office and many have responded generously. There are, however, a number who have each year been glad to subscribe to this work, whose names are missing this year. The Ministerial Association who have made the appeal, do not like to think that these have purposely withheld their support, but that the absence of such names is accounted for by the press of business and perhaps some procrastination. To remedy this, the list will be held open for two days more and the hope is that those whose hearts were stirred by the words of Dr. Grenfell three years ago, will, with many others, leave their subscriptions TO-DAY that the City of Peterborough need not be ashamed of its contribution to this splendid work.

operation in regard to the acquisition of the industry in question. Ex-Mayor Morrow replied in graceful and fitting terms. Both the Senator and himself, he said, are only too anxious at any time to promote, if possible, the growth of Peterborough. From his experience as Mayor, he knew the time and labor and trouble involved in the growth of a new industry, and he congratulated the Mayor and his colleagues upon their successful operations in this connection during 1912.

An Exchange of Offers. At this juncture the offering of congratulatory bouquets was indulged in all of which was certainly justified. Ald. Johnston congratulated Council members upon the splendid aid rendered them by the City Clerk in negotiating with representatives from prospective new industries. He thought next year's Council should endeavour to arrange that he (City Clerk Armstrong) be given larger scope in this direction, seeing that he did not support an industrial Commissioner. His Worship and Council generally endorsed Ald. Johnston's views. Ald. Gillespie here, in a few neat words, congratulated the Mayor upon the highly satisfactory and effective manner in which he had discharged his duties, and tendered his sincere wishes for re-election next year. Ald. Buller qualified his appreciation of Mr. W. H. Bradburn as Mayor without qualification. His Worship said that he had been very much pleased to see the Mayor's work and took it for granted that he would fill the velvet chair another term. The whole Council Board in fact resolved itself into an appreciative unit of Mayor Bradburn's splendid services in Peterborough City. His Worship gracefully acknowledged the compliments of his colleagues, with whom he said it had been a real pleasure to work. He had tried to do his duty to the best of his ability in the interests of a Progressive Peterborough, in which he had been warmly and loyally supported by Council. He could do but one thing as head of this city, which he was convinced would continue to prosper and progress. In conclusion, the Mayor hoped that next year's Council would take the same active interest in its work as that of 1912 and he heartily endorsed his colleagues' expressed appreciation of our City Clerk.

General Business. The City Fathers met in special session last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Anderson, Graham, Johnston, Brown, Duffus, Gordon, Gillespie, Duncan and Buller. The Boys' Council of the Y.M.C.A. was in attendance to give an object lesson as to how municipal boards conduct their business. Dr. Sutton complained of the wretched condition of the road at the intersection of Sophia and Mark streets. Past City Council would claim damages for injury to his auto in consequence thereof. This was referred to the Board of Works and the Legal Committee. The Government's attention will be called to the dangerous condition of the east bank of the Ottonabee river north of Hunter street, created through the construction of a dam to assure deeper water for the float-lane of logs. The Township of North Wrentham asked that the city's powder magazine be removed from its present location in North Wrentham. His Worship suggested that the magazine be removed to the north-west corner of the Hilliard Farm. This question was referred to the Property Committee. Mr. A. Pile, of Division street, in a lengthy address laid charges of Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary of the American Red Cross, has received from the White House the insignia of the Fifth Order of the Crown, conferred upon her by the Emperor of Japan for distinguished service. The order conferred upon Miss Boardman was specially established to recognize meritorious services done by women. The insignia was sent to President Taft, president of the American Red Cross, by Marquis Matsukata, head of the Japanese Red Cross, conferred upon her by the Emperor of Japan for distinguished service. what he intimated to be direction on the part of Medical Health Officer Dr. McPherson and Sanitary Inspector Spence in the discharge of their duties. Mr. Pile was instructed to commit his charges to writing when the matter will be required into his presence and that of the officials concerned. Insulation Dropped. The Mayor reported that the Townships of North and South Monaghan and Ottonabee had agreed to drop their proceedings against the city for an injunction to prohibit the emptying of sewage into the river, providing assurance is given that a new and sanitary sewerage system is completed by December first next year. Council resolved to give the townships the assurance requested. Consequently the writ will be withdrawn. Price of Footbridge. The Council will on motion of Ald. Anderson and Buller, enquire from the C.P.R. the cost of erect footbridges on the outside of their proposed new railway bridge. Ald. Anderson incidentally offered that if the desirable manufacturing lots in East City are to be utilized as a road bridge from South City, the water will have to be provided. Christmas Stamps. On motion of Ald. Johnston and Buller the city will purchase $10 worth of Health Association stamps. Hydro-Electric. The Power Committee were authorized to arrange for a public meeting to discuss the proposed hydro-electric power to be developed by Hon. Adam Beck.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL NOT CUT PROGRAMME ALREADY ARRANGED

London, Dec. 9.—All doubts were swept away to-day of the possibility of Great Britain curtailing her own naval programme in view of the gift by Canada to the British Empire of three powerful battleships at a cost of $35,000,000. Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon said he adhered to the point of view of the Canadian Government which is, he announced, "that the aid given by Canada should be in addition to the existing British programme and that any steps Canada might take should directly strengthen the naval forces of the Empire and the margin available for its security." Mr. Churchill deprecated the putting of further questions on the subject pending the approval by the parliament of the Dominion of Canada of the naval proposal put forward by Hon. Robert L. Borden, the Canadian Premier.

BOARD OF WORKS IN BUSINESS SESSION

The City's Board of Works met last evening at 7.30, Chairman Ald. Buller presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Duncan, Johnston and Graham. The chairman was authorized for 350 cords of stone for next year's roadwork. Also that the engineer ascertain the cost of trap rock laid down here, to be used as top-dress for streets. The Chairman and the Street Commissioner were authorized to attend to this matter.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL

Annual Report to Shareholders Was of a Most Encouraging Nature. At the annual general meeting of shareholders of the Bank of Montreal, that great factor in Canada's industrial, farming and financial development, a most encouraging statement of the year's business was presented. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, the following officers were elected:—Hon. President, Right Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal; President, Mr. R. B. Angus; Vice-President, Mr. H. V. Meredith. A careful perusal of the annual statement, contained in this issue, will show conclusively that the Bank's management has been characterized by a progressive spirit tempered with a caution that leads to ultimate success. It was clearly shown, an erroneous idea that this bank discouraged, in some degree, the business of farmers and tradesmen has no foundation. Hundreds of the branches of the Bank are mainly supported by just such accounts. The net profits of the year of $2,518,408, exceeding those of the year 1911 by $242,000, are proof also that careful management may be accompanied by good earning power. The Bank paid its shareholders a dividend of 12 per cent. including a bonus of two per cent. The assets of the Bank of Montreal now amount to $236,927,519, mainly in money, legal tender or securities of a highly convertible nature.

HON. ROBT. HAMILTON'S WILL IS TESTED IN OSGOODE HALL

Case to Decide Whether a Wish in Regard to Mrs. Hill is Binding. Yesterday a case of local interest was tried in Osgoode Hall, Toronto. This was a final decision as to the exact meaning of the late Hon. Robert Hamilton's will. It seems that in that this former popular local citizen, in his will, left a "wish" that a certain sum be held in trust for his daughter, now Mrs. Cyril Hill, of Calgary. Another feature of the final disposal of the estate, is that Mr. William Hamilton of British Columbia, now a guest at the Oriental, is debarred from obtaining the thousands of dollars coming to him, until a final interpretation of the meaning of Hon. Mr. Hamilton's will, in regard to above trust fund is made. Watson for defendants, and judgment reserved.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

It may be a green Christmas but it will be as well as do your shopping as early as it is where to be the other kind.

The Greeks haven't had enough of war yet. But their determination to fight on looks too much like a desire to lack a man when he's down.

The McLean ranch, near Noble, Southern Alberta, was sold recently for over $250,000. The farm comprises 5,930 acres, all having been improved, except 450 acres, which remain virgin prairie grass pasture.

On January 1 a fund of $10,000,000 will be available for pensions, sick and life insurance for employees of the Bell Telephone and other U.S. companies associated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Guelph is making her street railway yield a comfortable profit—a creditable achievement for a town of 15,000. It might have been worth Peterborough's while to accept one of the offers of the Seymour Power Co., and either acquire a partnership in our street railway or its entire ownership.

A local husband, to avoid being blacklisted, signed the pledge. On his return home he showed his wife the certificate of his pledge. She delightedly said, as she put it carefully away, "I'm so glad. I'll keep that for you!" Next day he got tight, and was heard to remark: "I don't have to keep that pledge. My wife said she'd keep it for me. That's the kinder wife to have. Let's have another!"

THE FRENCH QUESTION

Towards the Ontario Department of Education the Separate School Board of Ottawa is directly antagonistic. The Minister by regulation directed that English should be the language of instruction except in the primary classes and that French should be taught like any other subjects. The Board informed the teachers that they must ignore the regulation. The Department has notified the teachers that the tenure of their certificates depends upon their compliance with the Minister's instructions.

A despatch announces that many of the teachers prefer to stand with their direct employers. The News says they are inviting disaster. There is no possibility of the Government receding. The regulations are fair, they are based on the highest provision and common sense, they were made necessary by the development of a state of illiteracy in bilingual districts. There is no condition which would justify the department in continuing in force the certificates of those teachers who contumaciously refuse to carry out the instructions of the Ministry.

It is regrettable that the controversy has arisen. From the first the action of the Government was misrepresented, and its motives were wrongfully impugned. Continually it has been asserted that the regulations were the weapons of fanaticism directed against the French race, and the French faith. The truth is that the Government is and will be the persistent foe of illiteracy. In this respect it reflects the matured opinion of the country. It has no brief for or against any race or any creed. But it cannot be blamed for believing that in this country and on this continent a child without a working knowledge of English will be lamentably handicapped in future years. It has been proved that in many bilingual districts neither French nor English was efficiently taught. One or the other had to be chosen. And when in North America about 95,000,000 speak English while at the outside 4,000,000 speak French the reason for the choice is plain.

Headaches Over the Eyes Mean Frontal Cataract

APT TO GET INTO EARS, CAUSING DEAFNESS, NOT TO REACH THE LENSES OF THE EYES IN CONJUNCTION

You Can Cure Cataract in Any Stage by Breathing the Healing Balsamic Fumes of Catarrhose, and Here is Proof.

Mr. Urie Barault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetburg, Que., inherited cataract from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Barault, "I was prone to an enlargement of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages."

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up."

"Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhose and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement."

"Catarrhose pleased me, and the doctor so well that I used it continually and took Perfection Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhose could have such a miracle such a cure."

"Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with cataract, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhose can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhose."

"Two months' treatment, large size, price $1, and guaranteed. Small size, 50c, all reliable dealers or the Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont. Beware of dangerous substitutes and imitations for 'Catarrhose.'"

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I note in your valuable paper the answers given by the Minister of Justice to Mr. Burnham's questions as to what parts of Canada are under the sole jurisdiction of the Federal House, and the laws regarding marriage in those said parts. As you say, this clears the air considerably, but to my mind it also reveals the great need there is for a marriage law that shall be universal over the Dominion.

The No Temere decree applies to Catholics and to them alone. No one I take it disagrees with a good Catholic being bound by this decree of his church. Why cannot those of us who are not Catholics have our position regarding marriage equally clear and definite?

As the matter stands now, after the recent Privy Council decision, as I understand it, the Federal House cannot pass a law that shall be a universal marriage law all over Canada. Every province has the right to make its own marriage laws. Each province can make what laws it chooses as to marriage.

I submit, sir, that this state of affairs is untenable, unstable and against the sacred interests of the marriage tie. Here in Canada in the 20th century a man and woman cannot be married according to a universal national law, because there is no such law and no power to make such a law.

In England the law relative to marriage is the same all over England, and after that country a couple are married in. Here one province may have one law and another province a different law. Would it not be for better if the marriage law was the same all over Canada? Could not the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments hold a conference and agree in a marriage law that would be a universal one, and be equally binding all over Canada? Percival G. A. Webb.

Another year nearly gone.

Have you lost—a mother—or a relative?

If not possibly so before another year. Now is the time, do not put it off. Secure their likeness, and you will never regret it. In this case you get a real likeness—a work of art that will not lose its character time and beauty.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.
The President, Mr. R. B. Angus, then addressed the meeting as follows:—

At the shareholders' meeting in June last, you sanctioned a By-law permitting the extension of the Bank's capital in case it should appear to be required; this has since been approved by the Treasury Board. The recent issue of stock was also readily taken up, and your capital now stands at $25,000,000 authorized and $10,000,000 fully paid, with a Rest of like amount. This increase of capital did not come before it was wanted, as at certain seasons the circulation has exceeded the legal limit and we are liable to the Government for interest on the excess.

The well established business and good earning power of the Bank, together with comparative immunity from bad debts, enable the management to present a statement of results for the year's operations which I presume will be considered satisfactory. The Directors were gratified to be able to add a bonus of one per cent on each half year, in addition to the usual dividend. The Directors have audited the books of Head Office, the cash and securities have been verified, ample provision has been made for losses and which it was feared would prove calamitous, passed without much injury in the Western provinces, where the yield of wheat and other grains has proved satisfactory both as to quality and quantity. In the East, where the damage was perhaps greater, some compensation has been derived from good results in other directions. While the prices of wheat are much lower this year, the proportion of the higher, or contract grades in the prairie provinces is very much larger. The better condition of the grain renders it easier to handle and to market, and the returns to the producer are quicker and safer. The estimated yield in the North-west may be set down as:—

Wheat, 188,000,000 bushels, against 177,000,000 bushels last year.
Oats, 220,000,000 bushels, against 190,000,000 bushels last year.
Barley, 31,000,000 bushels, against 23,000,000 bushels last year.
Flax, 13,000,000 bushels, against 8,000,000 bushels last year.

A conservative estimate of the value of the crop of the three provinces is given at $207,000,000 for the grain alone. Partly owing to the good condition of the grain, already mentioned, but chiefly because of the excellent arrangements of the railway, the crop has been moved with unparalleled celerity: there has been no car famine and little talk of congestion, although there has been more grain handled. At the close of this season's harvesting there appears to have been a serious blockade of grain on its way to market, caused by insufficient facilities for taking delivery from the railway cars.

and it may be that a greater number of vessels for grain carrying across the Lakes, and larger elevator capacity for temporary storage must be provided for future wants. Storage for grain has been much neglected in the prairie provinces; it would be advisable that granaries of moderate capacity to store at least a portion of the crop should be a feature on every well equipped farming establishment, so that there would be no occasion to rush produce to a market at inconvenient seasons.

Irrigation by which vast areas of arid land are being converted into most productive farms, is being prosecuted with vigour, and the model farms established by the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway are more and more resorted to as models valued by the settlers.

The raising of live stock, which had been allowed to decline, will receive a great impetus from the high prices obtainable for cattle, and by the greater safety with which the business is conducted.

Immigration for the twelve months ended September 30th has reached the total of 366,955 souls, or 37,322 over the previous year. Many are farmers possessing both experience and capital. These form a welcome addition to the population, where labour is so scarce and land so productive. Loans to farmers, if sometimes slow, are well paid. Wages are high, as is the cost of living, but that condition may be greatly mitigated by the farmer, if only he will give his attention in some measure to mixed farming instead of relying upon importations of vegetables, meat and butter and such like from the East or from the older settlements in the United States. In the most important province of Ontario, the harvest of wheat and corn has not been bountiful, but rather under the average. In consequence of the wet and cold season, and yet we are assured that the farmers have done well, as few depend solely upon the raising of grain for a livelihood, their resources being scientific and mixed farming, while dairying, produce, and fruit have been more remunerative. An indication of the diversity of farming in this province, Ontario is said to own 6,000,000 head of live-stock, horses, cattle and sheep and pigs.

The mining industry of Ontario is again equally animated and vigorous, with other countries in the production of silver and nickel, and has total output for last year, on the Bureau of Mines estimate, was $11,000,000. The same general remarks as regards agriculture and the season's results will apply to Quebec.

Lumber and pulpwood have had a good year, last winter's cut being large and prices high. The increase in British prices, however, has been fully set off by material advance in ocean freights, with the result that the United States has been our best market.

The War-time Provinces have had a fair year. Hay, which is an important crop, has been at least up to the average, and in many cases considerably above. Potato and other root crops with a few exceptions, are reported good. The apple crop, although not equal to the abnormal yield of last year is a good average; the fruit is much appreciated and brings good prices in England, and many young orchards are being planted.

British Columbia has in recent times been a highly favored province. General trade has been large and profitable, its lumbering operations, after languishing for some years, have suddenly revived owing to the improved demand from the prairie, and to the better condition of commercial affairs among our neighbors, who, instead of being keen competitors, have become good customers for our products.

There is a shipbuilding industry, although still in its infancy. The great fleet of vessels employed in the coastwise traffic, and the larger steamships trading to the Orient give great importance to the port of Vancouver. Speculation is rife as to the advantages likely to accrue to that port and the Western country generally on the opening of the Panama Canal.

Commercial activity has doubtless been stimulated by the impulse of active railway construction, which cannot be expected to continue on the same gigantic scale for many more years, but there will remain a more solid and enduring source of wealth in the vast forests of virgin timber which now cover the hillsides of mountain and islands.

Speaking of the Dominion as a whole the trade and commerce of the country have been and promise to continue both sound and good.

The lumber business, on the Atlantic coast, as on the Pacific side, shows improvement, apart from the pulp and paper industry, which is especially adapted to this country and has been very prosperous for some time past, but owing to the number of new concerns in operation, there is a tendency to overproduction, with slackening demand and lower prices.

The coal and iron production has been on a scale never before equaled in Canada, although the latter, owing to the delays in installing or completing the necessary plants has fallen far short of supplying demands, especially in the matter of steel rails. The car builders have also been notably behind in their orders.

Agricultural machinery of the best and most modern type has been in great request, and the factories which supply every kind of electrical equipment have been unusually busy.

The revival of trade in the United States has had a marked effect on several of our manufacturing industries, relieving them from the competition of surplus goods from that market.

The woolen mills are doing better while an unusually good year has been experienced in cottons.

Old establishments have been fully occupied and a great variety of manufacturers are finding a home in Canada even in the middle and far West.

The wholesale distributing trade has everywhere enjoyed a good year. Groceries, Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes had an unusually large turn over, with good results. Accounts have been fairly well paid and bad debts have been comparatively small.

Transportation by sea and land, with its accompanying mechanical works, is instrumental in making large accessions of population to the cities.

Railway earnings have been phenomenal, but are far surpassed by the extraordinary outlays in building of new lines, in improving the old, in double tracking, terminals and equipment to provide for the ever increasing traffic.

By the judicious expenditure of the Dominion Government, the facilities for shipping are being much improved by docking, and the supply of elevators and docks at the several important harbors on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, as well as on the Great Lakes.

The principal cities of the Northwest and British Columbia exhibit a new and vigorous business activities. A phenomenal advance in these respects has also been made by some of the Eastern cities, notably Vancouver and Toronto. Some of the smaller towns in the West have perhaps been too ambitious in providing public utilities, and in rushing work that might better have extended over a greater length of time, but after all, they are only anticipating future necessities. The municipal expenditures have consequently been large, and hence the unusual amount of borrowing both at home and abroad. The comparative cheapness of money and the ease with which municipal securities could be placed in England, had misled some borrowers, who refused to accept the price offered earlier in the year.

season, but it is feared they may have to pay at higher rates of interest on their transactions.

Industrial loans and investments are quite out of our sphere, but I take this opportunity of saying that it is much to be regretted that some of these offered on the London market were of a distinctly questionable character, unadvised or highly speculative, and calculated to reflect injuriously on Canadian credit, while the others, and doubtless the great bulk of them, are both safe and promising, and offer to the investor an opportunity of participating in the prosperity of the country.

I feel it is useless to ask investors to be more careful as to the class of security they offer, but intending investors may be more discriminating.

With the rapidly developing country, and the Government planning out great schemes or otherwise to liberal expenditures, the building of railways, the improvement of harbours, and other works of a national character, Canada must necessarily be a large borrower for some time. But with nearly 8,000,000 of people, vigorous, intelligent and resourceful, with immense treasures in virgin forests, mines, fisheries, and, above all, with large areas of uncultivated fertile land, Canada can better afford than most countries to mortgage her future to a moderate extent, and her credit in the money markets of the world must always stand high.

Canada is well prepared to absorb and utilize the immigrants that every season seek her shores or cross her boundaries. The labourer and the artisan are most welcome, and the farmer with or without capital, will find opportunity at his hand. We have excellent and prosperous Banks, well adapted to the requirements of the country, which offer facilities to all villages, and I may remark, in passing, as convincing proof of the farmer and tradesman in every town country's progress, that their deposits in ten years have amounted up from 250 millions to over 1,000 million dollars.

We possess a system of transportation that is almost complete, although there is still daily added to it a large number of steamers on river, lake and sea, and railways that not only link the various provinces together but also to give a service to the most remote parts of the country better than is to be found in any other country similarly circumstanced.

As to investments in lands—the price for farming properties is still moderate and low, but speculation in suburban lots is surely overdone. For the real estate movement in the cities there may be more justification, prices being advanced by the pressure of increasing population and by keen competition in acquiring choice properties for commercial or domestic purposes.

In New York and other cities of the United States where the Bank is represented, business may be described as in a normal and sound condition.

In Mexico, politics have been a very disturbing element, but the conditions of an improvement which will allow business to resume its usual course.

The simple revenues of both Provincial and Dominion Governments are showing a season of great prosperity for the country at large.

The exports for the twelve months ended 30th September, 1912, amounted to $1,013,322,292, an increase of $49,001,799 over the corresponding period of last year.

Imports for the same period amounted to $616,542,090, an increase of $120,004,619, giving a revenue from custom duties of $1,029,865,971, or an increase of $23,003,349.

I have in a cursory manner touched on these various topics, reviewing the conditions of the country and indicating the great range of interests the Bank has to consider in the course of its business, and on whose fortunes the prosperity or otherwise of the institution in a great measure depends.

LATE VICE-PRESIDENT.

In view of the recent and much regretted demise of Sir Edward Clouston, I cannot refrain from alluding to the circumstances that at the last Annual Meeting he announced his retirement from active participation in the management of the Bank. He had entered the service as a boy, had passed through the various grades, and during the last twenty-one years had occupied the position of Chief Executive Officer. His death is much deplored by the Directors and Staff of the Bank.

THE GENERAL MANAGER.

The General Manager, Mr. H. V. Meredith, spoke as follows:—

The President has covered the ground so fully in his address he has presented to you to-day that little is left for me but to explain the changes which have taken place in the balance sheet during the year, and to add a few remarks in connection with financial matters affecting the Bank which have not been touched upon.

Since our last Annual Meeting the Treasury Board of the Dominion Government has sanctioned an increase in the authorized capital of the Bank from $16,000,000 to $25,000,000, thus providing a further issue of $9,000,000 from time to time, as circumstances may, in the opinion of your Directors, render desirable.

Turning to the general statement of which you have just seen, you will notice the Paid-up Capital has increased during the year from $14,887,570 to $16,000,000, and the Reserve from $15,000,000 to $16,000,000. From the net earnings, transfers have been made to $1,000,000 to Retained Account and Contingent Account respectively, and a balance of $402,000 is carried forward as credit of Profit and Loss Account, as compared with $1,000,000 a year ago. A bonus of 1 per cent was paid Shareholders on June 1st and December 1st over and above the quarterly dividends of 2 1/2 per cent.

Dividends not bearing interest show a small decrease, occasioned by the withdrawal of a large deposit of a temporary nature which appeared in the statement of a year ago. Were it not for this we would show an increase of $6,400,000. Part of this increase is of a temporary character, but it is gratifying to find that the ordinary savings deposits have grown in a highly satisfactory manner, notwithstanding the withdrawals that have taken place for investment and otherwise.

Turning to our assets, you will notice that "Current Loans and Discounts in Canada and elsewhere, and Other Assets" are $2,200,000 less. This decrease does not represent a curtailment of our current loans in Canada, which are in reality $1,000,000 larger than a year ago, but a reduction in our current loans elsewhere. Investments in railway and other bonds are $1,000,000 less, affected by realizations and balances due by agencies of this Bank and other Banks, show a net reduction of $1,500,000. The increase in our call loans in Great Britain and the United States is accounted for by the various changes mentioned above.

I think you will agree with me that the statement is a strong one, but it is well that the Bank of Montreal should always be able not only to meet all the legitimate demands of its clients, but at the same time to provide for any exceptional calls that may come upon it to promote the general welfare of the country.

You will observe that, following the practice of the British and Colonial Banks, we have shown, in the form of footnotes, the contingent liabilities of the Bank and the securities held against them. This item has not heretofore appeared in our Annual Statement.

Business generally has been exceedingly active in Canada during the past year. Good crops, notwithstanding a wet season, have been reaped, and all manufacturing industries have been kept fully employed. Wage earners are in receipt of good wages, and labour, in many sections, is difficult, if not impossible to obtain. With an increasing immigration, a solid producing a large surplus of food products without serious failure over a comparatively long term of years, the assurance of a vast increase in production as the area of uncultivated arable land is brought under cultivation, and other great natural resources awaiting development, one cannot but be an optimist in regard to the future of our country.

Owing to this ever increasing and rapid development, we must, for many years, be borrowers from the British Islands, as well as from foreign countries. Just now, there is undoubtedly a feeling in some quarters abroad that Canadians are spending too lavishly and over-borrowing to the extent which may later on prove burdensome to us. In this connection, our adverse balance of trade, our so-called real estate boom, etc., are cited. While I do not share these pessimistic views, there can be no doubt that if we are to maintain the preference which Canadian securities have so long enjoyed, caution at the present time is more essential than it has been for a long time past, and it is clear any ill-considered move on our part, any undue speculation, or the flotation of doubtful schemes which may have the effect of causing distrust abroad and so prevent the free flow of capital into Canada, cannot but have a serious effect on business generally, and bring about a check to our prosperity. It must not be forgotten that there are countries other than our own seeking capital, and offering possibly quite as attractive terms, and that once a stream is turned in another direction, a long time may elapse before it returns to its former channel.

There has been a strong demand in Canada during the year, while in London and New York, in which outside markets we are chiefly interested, the rates continued low until September, since when more stringent conditions and higher rates have prevailed. With buoyant trade, practically the world over, and with, as we can judge, a probable continuance or some time of such conditions, money is not so readily obtained. Those seeking capital should have regard to existing conditions, and also to the fact that borrowers cannot hope to name their own terms.

The increased cost of living, and the consequent rise in prices, have much discussed the world over, and commissions of enquiry are now engaged in seeking the cause. I mention the subject because of its effect on the Bank's net earnings, owing to the necessity of our having to increase our fixed charges from time to time as a result of bringing up the salaries of the staff to a point which may be considered a fair and reasonable one for the services rendered. The cause for the enhanced value of all commodities is difficult to determine. There are no doubt a number of reasons for it, among them, the largely increased output of gold, resulting to a great extent, from the more scientific treatment of ore bodies. The higher standard of living by all classes is also a factor; but I am of the opinion that the root of the matter may be found in the fact that the percentage of population engaged in production of foodstuffs is not increasing in the same ratio as is that of our manufacturing wage earners and salaried officials. This view is supported by figures showing conditions in the United States, where the number of farm families indicate an increase of only 11 per cent between 1900 and 1910, while the artisan and clerical classes have increased practically 30 per cent. In the same period, a similar condition of affairs obtains in Canada as regards the five eastern provinces, and while, in our Northwest, the rural population is relatively large and grows apace, mixed farming has not yet been generally resorted to. In this connection, it may be interesting to note that the exports of dairy products from older Canada to the newer Western Canada were this year not less than $3,000,000, while New Zealand and the United States supplied these commodities to the extent of an additional $1,000,000.

I have noticed at different times, in certain newspapers, paragraphs calculated to give the impression that the Banks in this country are not affording the farmers the financial assistance to which they are entitled. Such statements are erroneous. There are in Canada more than 2,500 bank branches, the great majority of which are located in towns and villages supported by the surrounding agricultural population, and no important part of the business of the Banks is derived from this class. As for this Bank, I may say that our loans to farmers and small traders amount to many millions.

I have alluded to the adverse balance of trade. In the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1912, the imports for consumption in Canada were of the value of $32,000,000, and the exports of domestic products were $29,000,000, showing a balance against the country of $3,000,000, undoubtedly a very large sum. In the five months ending August 31st, last the excess of imports over domestic exports was $130,700,000, of the preceding year. The gap between imports and exports is not likely to be soon closed; not, indeed, until our manufacturing industries have expanded to a point where the home market can be supplied fairly well within the country, nor until the large demand for foreign goods, arising out of the construction of permanent works, railways, etc., is met by the gap is bridged by foreign loans, by investments of capital in Canada from Great Britain and money brought in by immigrants. It is, therefore, all the more important to guard against unpropitious circumstances tending to lessen the confidence of British and foreign lenders in Canadian securities.

The President's invitation for general remarks being passed over, the President moved and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the report of the Directors, now read, be adopted and printed for distribution among the Shareholders. This was carried unanimously.

The President, Mr. R. B. Angus, then moved, and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the Shareholders By-Law No. 3, be amended as follows: By replacing the word "twelve" in the third line of the By-Law, as printed, by the word "fourteen."

The President explained that this was done with a view of adding two more men to the board of the Bank. It was, he said, considered advisable to have more men connected with the business of the city and also some younger men to aid in the administration.

The President—This is a motion that must be carried. I shall deposit this ballot which accounts for sixty thousand shares.—Carried.

The President further moved, and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the Shareholders By-Law No. 9 be amended as follows—By replacing the word "thirty-five" in the second line of the By-Law, as printed, by the word "forty-five."

The President explained that this was done with a view of adding two more men to the board of the Bank. It was, he said, considered advisable to have more men connected with the business of the city and also some younger men to aid in the administration.

The President—This is a motion that must be carried. I shall deposit this ballot which accounts for sixty thousand shares.—Carried.

The President further moved, and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the Shareholders By-Law No. 9 be amended as follows—By replacing the word "thirty-five" in the second line of the By-Law, as printed, by the word "forty-five."

The delayed revision of the Banking Act will shortly be submitted to Parliament. The present Act has been developed with the growth of the country. It has served its purpose well, and I feel confident that under the direction of the able and experienced members who have occupied the position of Finance Minister no radical changes will be entered upon lightly.

No one can feel more strongly than I do the necessity of conserving the profits of the Bank so that when lean years come, as come they must, there may be no question of dividend curtailment. At the same time, in periods of prosperity, I feel that shareholders should enjoy a measure of that prosperity. The policy of our Directors, therefore, in my opinion, should be to maintain the dividends at 10 per cent, and to make distributions in prosperous years by way of bonuses as the Bank's earnings warrant; in lean years, should they unfortunately come, to withhold the bonus, and to make up for it by the writing down of assets to meet a shrinkage in values under all conditions.

Entering the Bank as a youth, nearly half a century ago, and many of the first great ability, he steadily rose to the highest position in the service. Under his guidance, for many years, as General Manager, until ill-health necessitated his retirement, the Bank continued to maintain its commanding position, and enjoyed great prosperity. One more than on occasion, his experience and knowledge of banking were availed of not only by his colleagues in other institutions, but by those who had the direction of legislation governing the Banks. To myself his death is a personal loss, for I was associated with him many years, during which I came to recognize not only his talent but the great gracefulness of his personality.

The President's invitation for general remarks being passed over, the President moved and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the report of the Directors, now read, be adopted and printed for distribution among the Shareholders. This was carried unanimously.

The President, Mr. R. B. Angus, then moved, and Mr. E. B. Greenshield seconded—that the Shareholders By-Law No. 3, be amended as follows: By replacing the word "twelve" in the third line of the By-Law, as printed, by the word "fourteen."

This Mr. Angus explained would increase the remuneration of the board from thirty-five to forty-five thousand dollars, which was desirable on account of increase of duties. This also needed to be ratified by a ballot, and if it was the pleasure of the meeting he would deposit ballots in the box. This was carried.

On motion of Mr. George Hooper, seconded by Mr. W. Stanway, it was resolved: That the thanks of the meeting be presented to the President, the Vice-President, and Directors, for their attention to the interests of the Bank.

The President, Mr. R. B. Angus, in acknowledging the vote, said: On behalf of the Directors and Officers I beg to thank you for your continued confidence, and assure you it gives us great pleasure to serve a Bank which has so prosperous and so well respected both abroad and at home. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. W. H. Evans made a few commendatory remarks, regarding the business capacity of the management, and expressed the particular appreciation of the shareholders in receiving the recent bonus, with the promise of more to come during periods of prosperity.

On motion of Mr. D. Morrice, seconded by Mr. C. R. Homer, it was resolved that the thanks of the meeting be given to the General Manager, the Superintendent of the Managers, and other officers of the Bank, for their services during the past year. Mr. Morrice commented on the fact that the prosperity of such an institution is due to the rank and file, whose untiring energy, loyalty, and devotion of their interests are deserving of every commendation.

Mr. H. V. Meredith—I beg to thank you, on behalf of the Staff, for the recognition and your kind words of appreciation you have used in proposing it. It thanks are due to the results of the year's business, they belong very greatly to the rank and file, whose untiring energy, loyalty, and devotion of their interests are deserving of every commendation.

While ballots for the election of officers were being cast, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, referring to the decision to add two new directors to the board, and also in replacing the late Sir Edward Clouston, said the board and the shareholders were indebted to Mr. C. B. Gordon, Mr. Huntly Drummond and Mr. Forbes Angus, be said, represented important commercial and financial interests, but I desire more particularly to say that against the earnest protest of the President, the board insisted on nominating Mr. Forbes Angus, because they felt that shareholders in the Bank would be delighted to have the assurance that for a time we will have two members of that family and that the name will be perpetuated in the affairs of the Bank. (Hear, hear.)

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the London church papers relates that a certain priest had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which were carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Buffer little children to come unto me."

The First Knitting Machine.
Historic mention of hand knitting is first found in the books of the time of Queen Elizabeth, though it is known that it was one of the arts of the Pompeians. The first machine for knitting was the invention of William Lee, who made application for a patent in England in 1589. On being refused a patent by the English authorities he departed for France and soon afterward set up a large factory at Rouen.

NOT ONLY ROYAL POMP.

Cold, Hard Details of Business Interests These Old World Rulers.

Having once absorbed the somewhat startling fact that not a few of the rulers of the old world are prosperous business men, one quite naturally assumes that Wilhelm of Germany is by all odds the most successful of these royal hustlers. And that conception, so authorities tell us, is quite correct. In business, as in everything else he undertakes, the Kaiser does not skip any opportunities to be conspicuous and up to date. Among the war lord's interests is a porcelain factory. The general conduct of this industry is based upon rules and regulations laid down by the Emperor himself. Indeed, it is said the Emperor is not above engaging employees himself, adjusting their wages, and even designing certain of the wares turned out.

The Emperor is a model employer, anxious as to the comfort of his men, who have been provided with cottages and pensions and given a share in the profits, which are reported to approximate $50,000 a year.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the Prince of Lippe-Deimold is a dealer in butter and eggs, who has as a side line a busy brick factory that adds materially to his income.

The King of Wurtemberg is the proprietor of two hotels within his domains which are reported to be worth something like $45,000 annually to him.

The Emperor of Austria-Hungary, like the Kaiser, operates a china factory. This establishment, situated near the Austrian capital, is said to employ more than a thousand skilled workmen. The King of Saxony, too, has business interests of this character though on a smaller scale.

Perhaps the most unconventional of the royal business men is the King of Serbia, who in addition to several ships doing general trade is said to promote the sale of a patent medicine, and to run a motor car agency.

BORN SPORT-LOVERS

The English turf has produced some quaint characters, not the least of whom were the "Duchess of Devon" and Lord Palmerston. Sarah Mappin, the Duchess of Devon, was a sportsman by profession and a sportsman by nature. She was one of the first women to take enough interest in horse-racing to spend her money upon it. She made a fortune by setting horses and threw it away with both hands. The places of ten guineas which she gave to be run for at Epsom were covered with money, but on racing week in the "Duchess" day they were worth nothing. Unfortunately she lived to regret her various extravagances. She lived beyond her means and was "broke" by the time.

The Duke had had no more ardent devotee than Lord Palmerston. For half a century, year by year, he devoted his money to the turf. He was on duty day. Nothing would induce him to travel by coach, and it was only on his last journey in 1865, that, much to his regret, he was compelled to leave his horse and coach. As he was the French horse, Chalmers, kept ahead, he whispered to a servant, "If the foreigner wins I shall not live through the year." Chalmers, however, was won, and less than four months later, "Pam" was dead.

MAHER'S ENGLISH HOME

Spends a Good Deal of His Time in the Saddle, Fox-hunting

"Daddy" Maher, the jockey, has settled more or less permanently in England. A few years ago he rented a house near his friend, George Wilkeson, the famous ex-entrepreneur jockey, and was so charmed with the quiet life that he bought about a hundred acres of land. He now spends there keeping himself in condition by hunting with the Earl of Harrington's hounds. Maher, whose parents came from Tipperary, did at one time think of buying a place in that county in order to settle down when he retired from riding, but gave up the idea.

THE STAMP OF PUBLIC APPROVAL

This form of the race is the culmination of the betting interests pure and simple. Its introduction was opposed by horsemen. The introduction of handicaps will have the result that the whole system of horse-racing will resolve itself into a tangled web of chicanery, deceit, concealment and fraud. This was the opinion of Mr. Thorold, prominent in English racing, as quoted by John Randolph, of Roumania, in a letter from England in 1898.

Some authorities assert that the handicap race is responsible for the much of the mal-practice that prevails on the turf. This opinion was expressed by Admiral Ross, the jockey club's first official handicapper, who, nevertheless, did much to make this form of racing popular with owners of horses and the public.

It would be almost impossible to carry on modern racing without handicaps, which are most popular with the important class of patron which plays the races. It appeals to the speculative temperament because of the obvious uncertainty as to the result, the problem being as much a tilt between the owner of a horse and the official that is to allot weights, as it is a question of the relative ability of the contenders under the imposed assigned them. It is to create a market for the breeders' deadwood, as well as to furnish a variety of entertainment to the patrons of the turf that have been created the handicap selling race, maiden race and those contests, the terms of which offer inducement in allowance of weight to attract entries.

Handicap, or hand-in-cap, is a phrase of obscure origin. In Pepp's Diary, 1660, it referred to it as a game of chance. Chambers gives its origin in an old method of settling a bar, and withdrawal of horses.

In the beginning the stakes or plates were for competition by horses less than five years old, all carrying the same weight. In time it was found that when horses of known ability were entered others were with drawn from the race, and sport was spoiled in consequence thereof. This could be remedied in part by barring from certain races horses against which others could not win. In Gym crack's day the height of the animal determined the weight it should carry, conditions being give and take; that is, the contenders were carried weight for inches as well as weight for age. The minimum, 98 pounds, was for horses under thirteen hands in height, the higher being required to carry fourteen ounces more for every eighth of an inch. No young horses were raced in those days, the scale being that horses older than seven allowed four pounds to six-year-olds, twelve to four-year-olds, and twenty pounds to three-year-olds. Allowances and penalties for height passed into dis use toward the end of the century, when it became apparent that the height at the withers is no criterion of the individual's racing ability.

HANDICAP RACES VERY UNCERTAIN

One of Biggest Problems of the Turf—Term Originally Meant Game of Chance

"A handicap is a race in which the weights to be carried by the horses are adjusted by the handicapper for the purpose of equalizing their chances of winning." This, writes Belmont Purdy in the Field Illustrated the Jockey Club's definition, is theoretically correct. Walter S. Vosburgh, for many years the official handicapper, says that it is impossible to bring all classes together within the extremes of weight to which he is limited. The lowest weight a horse may carry is fixed by rule at 84 pounds, and it is stipulated that, except in heavy handicaps, in which the "top weights" shall not be less than 140 pounds, the "top weight" shall not be less than 125 pounds, in all handicaps when the added money exceeds $500.

The lowest weight is fixed by rule, but the limit upward is caused by the unwillingness of owners to start good horses with more than 120 pounds on their backs. The handicapper is handicapped in his office of "equalizing their chances of winning" by the effort to satisfy their owners, so that they may not refuse to accept the weights allotted to prominent horses, the meeting of which forms the attraction of public interest.

To put 150 pounds on the back of a colt is an important event of the kind, and 84 on the worst performer, with the others ranged in between the extremes at a difference of a pound is not "equalizing their chances," which can be accomplished, nevertheless, by classifying the horses to be handicapped. This was done satisfactorily at Monmouth Park by D. D. Withers, an Mr. Vosburgh's suggestion. The innovation was not satisfactory to the bookmakers.

A Tangled Web

The introduction of handicaps will have the result that the whole system of horse-racing will resolve itself into a tangled web of chicanery, deceit, concealment and fraud. Secretary Knox Is Preparing the Answer of the United States

Washington, Dec. 10.—Now that the proposal for arbitration of the Panama dispute has been squarely presented, the means by which the question might be presented to The Hague are a matter of interest. The existing arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States expires by limitation next June. If the controversy were to be delayed until then, there would be no treaty under which the dispute might be arbitrated. In any case a special agreement approved by the Senate would be required before the dispute could be referred to the Hague, and there is a variance of opinion as to whether a majority of the Senate would permit the case to go there.

Several Senators among them those considered the best lawyers in the Upper House of Congress, have declared that the United States surely would lose its case at The Hague.

Meanwhile Secretary Knox will prepare a reply to the British note. It will be of the same friendly tone as was Minister Grey's communication, entirely lacking any elements of beligerency.

To-day was a regular Cabinet meeting, and the subject was up for informal discussion by President Taft, Secretary Knox and the rest of the President's official family.

With the coming of the Christmas season, the Old Country spirit tags hard at the heart-strings and thousands of our English-born Canadians cross the sea to spend the holidays with dear ones in the Mother Land.

The homeward bound steamers are thronged with happy faces and happier hearts, and their decks are the scene of many a jolly game in which all join forgetting for the once the difference the years make, for all are young again at the glad Christmas time.

BOARD OF HEALTH MET IN REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION

Chinese of Dominion Chinese Cafe Must at Once Stop Sleeping in the Cellar Below That Restaurant

The local Board of Health met yesterday afternoon, and did not get through their session until after six o'clock.

Those present were Messrs. Neil, in the chair, Mayor Bradburn, Mr. O. and Sanitary Inspector Spence.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Langford was heard regarding a notice he had received from the Sanitary Inspector regarding water closets at the rear of four houses, he, Mr. Langford, owned on Stewart street. Mr. Langford promised to have modern closets installed on the coming of spring. It was decided to accept this offer, provided he repaired the closets to the rear of No. 379 Stewart street. This must be repaired at once.

A number of accounts were ordered paid.

The matter of unhealthy and unsanitary conditions existing at the Dominion Chinese Restaurant on George street, was talked over. It would seem that the staff of this restaurant, emulating the example of their fellow celestial in San Francisco, are going below the surface of the earth for room they cannot get above. In other words, the staff sleep in the cellar below the Cafe. Dr. McPherson pointed out that the unhealthy condition that must arise where people sleep in such unsanitary quarters. The Chinese will be notified to stop this at once.

Sanitary Inspector Spence brought up the matter of farmers bringing meat to the market wrapped in horse blankets or other unsanitary coverings.

It was thought that the matter should be referred to the Council that they may introduce a by-law to compel meat to be brought to the market in clean sheets or other satisfactory coverings. It was suggested that the local newspapers take up this matter as well as that of fish and other edibles exposed outside for sale, so that on a dusty day, said provisions become dirty and unfit for food. In the meantime Dr. McPherson will prepare a by-law to submit to the Council for their approval.

BRITAIN MAY GET A PORT ON THE ADRIATIC

Improbable Story Gets Abroad From Belgrade-Avions Mentioned.

Belgrade, Dec. 10.—That Great Britain is a participant in the fruits of the Balkan war was a distinctly new feature of to-day's war gossip. It was stated, but not confirmed, that the present plans of the allies for the partition of Turkey-in-Europe contemplated giving to England the Adriatic seaport of Avlona, sometimes called Valona, in Southern Albania.

YOUNG GIRL IS SHOT AUTOMOBILE RIDING

Ardmore, Okla., Dec. 10.—Ethel Harris, aged 16, of Chickasha, died in a lonely house near here Wednesday night of gunshot wounds received while on a recent motor car trip. G. N. Vance, a mail carrier, Lafayette Carruthers, a farmer, and a woman said to have been the companion of Miss Harris on the motor trip, are under arrest. They say the shooting was accidental.

WAR RISKS NEVER SO MANY AS GALICIAN FRONTIER INVOLVED

Buildings Connected With Industries in Austria Insured For Large Amounts From Three to Six Months

London, Dec. 10.—An enormous amount of insurance covering risks of war and civil commotion has been effected during the last few days on property on the Galician frontier, dividing Russia from Austria-Hungary. Underwriters in London are astonished at the flow of business which they describe as the most extensive ever placed in connection with any crisis.

Buildings connected with the oil, lumber and brewery trades in Austria-Hungary have been insured for large amounts, and yesterday orders were still pouring in.

One risk alone represented $1,250,000. Most of the business was placed at 14 per cent for three months, 2 per cent for five months and 2½ per cent for six months.

HUFFMAN GETS DAMAGES AT THE COUNTY COURT

Plaintiff Was Placed Under Force Arrest for Alleged Theft. George P. Huffman, a mail carrier, was placed under arrest for alleged theft of a motor car. His Honor Judge Huycke presided yesterday at the December session of the County Court. Two jury cases were on the docket. The first case heard was that of A. L. Huffman, plaintiff in an action for damages against George P. Huffman for alleged malicious arrest at the instigation of defendant.

Mr. G. N. Gordon represented Huffman and D. O'Connell acted for the plaintiff.

Chief Constable Kidd of Brantford was one of the witnesses in the case which went to the jury at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The second case was an action by the same plaintiff against Page for damages to his character, arising out of the arrest. It seems that the plaintiff who sued for $500 damages, with his uncle were in Page's Hotel. They took the train to Peterborough on their arrival at Peterborough they were taken to the police station by P. C. Kidd, now Chief Constable at Brantford. From the evidence of Huffman and Chief Kidd, it appears that a telephone message had been received from Mr. Page to arrest Huffman, because a pair of gloves had disappeared from the pocket of a coat hanging in the hotel. On receiving a further telephone message, however, that the gloves had been found, the Huffman's were released.

Judgment was given for plaintiff in each case, for $25 and costs. The costs in each case will amount to about $150.

MOVE A TOWN FOUR MILES AWAY BY FREIGHT

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 10.—The town of Cold Springs, in Kiowa county, was moved four miles south Tuesday in compliance with an order of the State Corporation Commission. Paris, Dec. 10.—The Spanish naval program has just been decided on, according to a special despatch from Madrid. It will comprise three Dreadnoughts of 11,000 tons each, two of the latest type of destroyers, nine torpedo boats and three submarines. All the vessels are to be constructed in Spanish shipbuilding yards.

The work is to be begun as soon as the battleship Alfonso XIII has been launched at Ferrol.

The new Dreadnought Espana, which was launched early this year, is to be delivered in April.

PARENTS MUTILATED A CHILD TO MAKE IT OBJECT OF PITY

Cerbere, France, Dec. 10.—A man and wife living in the village of Gave, in Catalonia, were yesterday caught in the act of gouging out the eyes of their five year old child with the object of rendering it more pitiable and thus able to obtain as a beggar more sympathy from the public. The other inhabitants of the village were attracted by the child's screams and when they arrived on the scene found that it had already been blinded and otherwise mutilated. The man and woman were arrested.

Asquith Decides on Formal Expression After Ottawa Debate

THAT IS PROPER WAY

Mr. Bonar Law Asked Premier What About It and Gets Appreciative Reply.

London, Dec. 10.—A formal expression of Great Britain's appreciation of Canadian patriotism displayed in her coming gift of three battleships to the British navy was postponed today by the House of Commons, until the Dominion Parliament shall have dealt with the proposal of Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier Asquith, however this afternoon, gave a foretaste of the admiration felt for Canada in all circles with the exception of that formed by those people who favor a little navy.

The Premier in reply to the expressed desire of Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition for an opportunity to thank Canada said:

"The Government fully recognizes that it is both the desire and the duty of the House of Commons to give formal and authoritative expression to the universal feeling of warm appreciation and heartfelt gratitude which has been aroused in the mother country by the splendid donations liberally displayed by her fellow citizens and fellow subjects in the overseas dominions. The Government, however, think it would be best and only respectful to the Canadian people to defer taking such action until Premier Borden's proposal shall have come under consideration and discussion in the Canadian Parliament."

Loud cheers greeted Mr. Asquith's remarks.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When the suffragettes get their work in, it is safe to say there will be no silent vote amongst the women electors.

We suppose the reason women wear the hats that come down about their ears is so that they can't hear the mean things men say about them.

The Examiner says that recent returns show 642 American poets working at manual labor. In these professions every poet can earn a living.

It seems that there are some things worse than being hanged. A condemned murderer, after listening three hours to a California prison band, walked calmly and contentedly to the gallows.

The Examiner tells its fair readers that debutantes of Ottawa society have a new fad, imported from Washington, of showing their teeth. We are of opinion that they should wait until they have negotiated a business deal.

It was hardly necessary for Sister Sally Bernhard to announce that her present farewell visit to America is not the last farewell. Her press agent calls her "the immortal Sarah," and that means, of course, that she is to be with us for some time to come.

A New York man who could not eat anything had his stomach taken out and cleaned and otherwise repaired. This would be regarded as remarkable were it not for the fact that surgery these days is getting to be as easy as mending a shoe.

SENATE LIBERALS REVOLT AGAINST LAURIER

The political sensation in Ottawa was the selection of Sir George W. Ross as Liberal leader of the Senate. His appointment is believed to be a direct slap at Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as it is well known that he was not the choice of the Liberal leader. Sir George was a strong opponent of reciprocity, and is an ardent imperialist, and his election is looked upon as a triumph for the anti-reciprocity and imperialistic wing of the party. Liberal members of the Senate who were in favour of his views quietly engineered his election and on a secret ballot he was elected by 25 to 20 over Senator Bostock of British Columbia. His appointment has accentuated the cleavage in the Liberal party. It shows that the anti-reciprocity and imperialistic wing is in the ascendancy in the Senate and it is said Sir Wilfrid is afraid if it came to a "show down" that the same would be true in the commons.

Here is what Sir George had to say on reciprocity speaking before the Toronto Canadian Club:

"Let us not want to be better unless we are sure of the effects of the medicine. Let Canada continue to sell her merchandise wherever she finds a market, and trusting in a Providence that has always filled her barns with plenty and made her merchants princes in the land; let her not hazard her trade or her independence for expectations that may never be realized, nor place herself under obligations that might interfere with the fullest development of her industries in the years to come."

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

HERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO ALL WHO FEEL AS IF THEIR VIGOR AND LIFE ALL OZZED AWAY.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Cataract Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

"There Is No Hell"

To the Editor of The Times.
For the upbuilding, comforting and establishing in the faith of those who believe "there is no hell" I enclose the following lines, trusting you may find space for their insertion.

Reader of The Times.

The verses follow:
Nathan's Lullaby—By Bishop Peck.
My children dear, let every fear
Far from your souls be driven;
What's your do, you'll all get through
And anchor safe in Heaven.

Remember how my saints of old,
As sacred Scriptures tell,
Through many sins and doubts, and fears,
Were brought to Heaven to dwell.

Remember how the ancient world,
Who had with Noah striven,
At one grand sweep were gathered up
To reign with God in Heaven.

While in his box Old Orthodox
From wave to wave was driven,
These happy souls, in countless shoals,
Were floated off to Heaven.

Your brethren, too, the Sodomites,
While Lot had no refuge,
Went in a trice to Paradise
On rapid wings of fire.

Saint Pharoah and his mighty host
Had royal honours given
A pleasant begone brought them with ease
By water into Heaven.

My ancient church, the Canaanites
To Israel's sword was given,
The sun stood still that they might kill,
And send them off to Heaven.

God saw the villains were too bad
To own that fruitful land,
He therefore took the rascals up
To dwell at His right hand.

And Judas, that perfidious wretch,
By all the world accursed;
By help of cord and noose his Lord
And got to Heaven first.

And thousands more have gone before,
Rascals of every kind;
So when you meet in Heaven you'll greet Companions to your mind.

Each murderer, dire, and thief and liar
Enjoy the blissful seats,
And drunkards brawl, stagger and fall
Along the golden streets.

All, all is well; there is no hell,
Nor any devil—no.
To Heaven your home, you'll surely come;
There's nowhere else to go.

CLEVER RUSE OF A PAIR OF THIEVES

New Orleans, Dec. 10.—"There is a fire on the upper floor," Mrs. E. Brown, of 1620 Calhoun street, looked out of a window and saw two men who were pointing upstairs. She let them in, naturally, to help extinguish the blaze. But upon reaching the second floor the men looked at each other and pretended to be much surprised.

"Why it looked like a fire," said one.

"Yes it did," chimed in the other. They went downstairs again, and as Mrs. Brown hesitated on the second floor to make certain there was no fire one of the men picked up a pocketbook containing $23. The police are looking for the two men. The trick is a new one.

IF LOVE GROWS COLD

How Henry Found the Way to Woman's Heart.

By VIOLA BRIDGEMAN.

"Then you are bound to leave us all tomorrow, Rose, and go to the city?"

"Yes, of course, Henry," a trifle impatiently.

"What makes you want to go, Rose?"

"Why? Henry! What a question. Because I am just sick and tired of the same old thing day after day. I have spent all my life in this town, and I want to see something of the world, happy world of the city," and she smiled brightly up at him.

"I don't understand you," said Henry. "You just can't know anything about the way folks feel in the city. I've been there, and, honestly, I can't say I saw many happy ones. 'Nonsense,' the girl said impatiently. 'Of course there is trouble there, but think of the things to see, the people to meet! Yes, I'm off,' and she smiled brightly up at him.

All unseeing, she sat there in the soft August moonlight with Henry, whose love for her was such an every-day thing as the food in the city. She thought of the little Rose (Helen), daughter of one of the modern farmers of 1912. He did not forget it, nor could he release her, although he knew as yet her heart was unwakened. He, too, was one of the progressive farmers who believed in the dignity of agricultural labor, and had no longings for the congested life of a great community. Strong, earnest, true-hearted, he knew that this girl, reared in a simple country home, had no place among the dangers and temptations of a large city.

The Thought of Lizzie in That Little Home Was Very Distasteful.

but he did not seem to be able to make her comprehend him. For a few moments they sat thus, as far apart in spirit as though the separation she contemplated had already taken place. Then he broke the silence by asking hesitatingly:

"Will you give me something before you go, Rose? I've never asked you before, but if you are going to leave me I want something to remember you by."

"Well, what is it?" she asked a little absently, for her thoughts were far away.

"You know I love you!" Henry questioned.

"Oh, of course," she returned carelessly, not noting the flush which stained the face of the young man, telling that the thrust had gone deep. "Well, I do, though you don't seem to care much, and I want a kiss, and while the words were abrupt, the tone was not."

Rose turned a little startled, but smiled. After all, Henry was like a relative; she had known him so long, ever since she could remember. To-gether they had attended school, although he was much in advance of her, and had gone together to all the merry-making of the neighborhood.

"Why, I suppose you can kiss me, just once, for goodby," she said slowly, raising her face to his.

Henry bent towards her. Quietly he took her hands on her shoulders and looked down into her eyes. There was strength, devotion and sacrifice in his, if she had known how to read their message, but she was blinded by the mist of her fancy, and it passed unheeded. Gently, reverently, the man bent and kissed her full on the lips. There was nothing to startle her in the kiss, but it was a man's kiss, such as she had never received before, and to her surprise it thrilled her. Abruptly she drew back, her mouth trembling, her eyes dim.

"I hate to think of another man touching your lips, Rose," Henry said gently. "I know I am the first since you were a little girl, and then I guess it was me who did the most of it then in the games, wasn't it?"

Rose nodded, she could not speak, and Henry looked at her longly before continuing:

"There's another thing I hate to think of, and that is my kissing any other girl."

"Why, Henry!" Rose gasped. Somehow she did not like that idea herself.

"And yet of course I will, just as some other man will kiss you," he continued, heaping close watch of her expressive face, now fully revealed by the moonlight.

"You seem pretty certain of that," Rose said sharply.

"Well, why not? You are not the kind of a girl to go through life unmarried; you are too pretty. Men will love and court you, and all will tell you so."

"I don't think it's very nice for you to talk that way," Rose said with the echo of a sob in her throat; but Henry went on.

"There is nothing wrong in it, or I'd not connect it with you. I know that people can love and turn to others, and certainly while you do not yet love, you will become fond of some one some day."

Disregarding the latter part of the sentence, Rose asked a little bitterly: "What makes you so sure about people who love turning to others?"

If the girl had been looking at Henry she might have seen a slight change in his expression, but her eyes were bent on her twisting fingers, so she missed it.

"Why, I've seen it often, and I know I'm not going to sit down and fret out my heart when you've gone."

Startled now, Rose looked fairly in the face, saying abruptly:

"I don't understand you."

"Don't you? Well, don't say anything about it, but if you won't have me, I'm going to start visiting the corners."

Rose's eyes opened wide with indignation. Of all the girls of the township, Lizzie Delger was the only one who could be considered in any way her rival.

Rose knew that Lizzie had tried more than once to attract Henry, but he had never looked at her father's store at the crossroads.

"I didn't know you liked her," Rose faltered.

Neither did I until I knew you were going away. My farm needs a milk cow. I want a wife. When I built that little cottage over there on the knoll, Rose, I thought of you all the while. You know I planned every inch of it for you. Because of you I put in the improvements, and installed an electric motor so you could have water in the house. Oh, yes, Rose, that cottage was built for you, but if you won't have it, and the man who goes with it, perhaps I can find some one else to accept, and to Rose his words seemed utterly heartless.

She turned that she might see the cottage, which commanded a splendid view of the entire neighborhood, and was located on the farm adjoining her father's. She had followed its building, knowing very well that Henry intended it for her. While it was being built she had fully intended to become its occupant, and then a chance visitor at a neighbor's house had filled her with city ideas.

Her parents' consent had been hard to get, but now all her plans were laid to rest. The thought of Lizzie in that little home was very distasteful.

"I guess I'd better be going," Henry said pleasantly, rising and offering his hand. "You'll want to get to sleep early, and, anyway, I've got to drive over by the corners for some grub. I do run out of things."

Rose jumped to her feet. Already he was giving her rival a place in his thoughts. A wave of jealousy swept over her, and with it the realization that nothing really counted but the love of this one man. With a little cry she held out her hands, asking pitifully:

"Don't you love me the least bit any more, Henry?"

Instantly his arms were about her, his cheek pressed to hers, and his voice hoarse with emotion was whispering:

"A bit, dearie! Why, with my whole life." Then, a moment later, he commanded, "Kiss me," and she complied, resigning with that kiss all her plans for a life in the city, for Henry had found the way to her woman's heart.

Plaster Casts.

Many women may desire to reproduce an article on plaster. This is not a difficult matter if these directions are followed.

The materials required are: Plaster of Paris, clay, water, a mixing spoon and a bread board two feet square.

When you first attempt it, try something simple—half of an apple, for instance.

An extra precaution would be to mix a little bluing with the plaster to distinguish it from the model.

Soak the half apple well on the outside. Place it flat side down upon the modeling board and build a mound of softened clay around it.

When this has hardened, mix the powdered plaster with water until it is the consistency of pancake batter. Pour this into the mold of clay.

When this has hardened, separate the mold from the cast. To cast the whole of an object, mold one half at a time, and wrap both sides of the inside of the mold thoroughly. Make a hole in the top of the mold, which is formed by the union of the halves. Through this opening pour liquid plaster.

When the cast has hardened, it may be shellacked or varnished. This is extremely interesting; try it some time and see.

THE TIMES' MUNICIPAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Name your Choice for Mayor, Aldermen, School Trustees, and Water Commissioner, and Do It Now!—A Plan to Awaken interest in Coming Civic Changes.

FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND SEND IT IN TO THIS OFFICE

HOW TO VOTE

Each coupon, as below, will have the value of five votes. On the coupon cut, insert the names of your choice, and either mail them to The Times or leave them at this office.

We take the initiative in inviting a public expression of opinion as to who are best qualified to fill the civic offices that expire with the end of this year. And in order to arouse becoming interest in so live and important a question The Times has decided to adopt a plan, quite popular in many big cities, of conducting a newspaper election campaign with a view to bringing into the field a list of desirable candidates for municipal honors. Our readers are therefore respectfully asked to enter into the spirit of the scheme and record in these columns, either by vote or in brief letter, their opinions on the following questions:

Who will be our next Mayor?

Who is to represent us in the City Council?

Who will fill the places becoming vacant on the Board of Education and Board of Water Commissioners?

Peterborough is now growing rapidly, and on the men selected for such positions as noted above largely depends her future growth and prosperity. Our taxation is now so heavy that with the increased cost of living, civic expenditure must be controlled by the most competent men available—men who will place themselves to do the greatest good for the greatest number as economically as prudence dictates.

As indicated above The Times desires to arouse interest in municipal affairs. There are six places to be filled on the City Council, including the Mayor's seat. It has been an privilege, however, the next few years that the Mayor should be re-elected the courtesy of a second term (provided, of course that he has proved an efficient Chief Magistrate), and there seems no reason to deviate from that rule this year.

THOSE WHO RETIRE THIS YEAR

The following civic officers retire automatically at the end of this year, viz:

Council—Aldermen Deane, Brown, Graham, Morgan and Gordon.

Board of Education—Messrs. Ackerman, Pat, Morrison and Eastwood.

Water Commissioner—W. H. Moore.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Is practically a national one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

You Cannot Rent a House in Winnipeg To-day

During this year over twice as many houses have been built in Winnipeg as has been the case in any previous year.

Seventy one apartment blocks have also been built during this year.

You cannot rent a house in Winnipeg except in the poorer sections.

The building permits for this year will pass the $20,000,000 mark before December 1st.

These figures, remember, do not include manufacturing plants, for practically all industries are located outside the city limits.

Neither do they include the tremendous building development out Portage Avenue west of the city limits.

The increase in population this year will be close to the 50,000 mark.

A large proportion of this increase in population is found in the districts out Portage Avenue west, for Portage Avenue west is developing faster than all other suburban districts combined.

The bare prairie land of to-day is the thickly populated districts of to-morrow.

Buying Tea in Shanghai.
An American tourist, in visiting tea in a Chinese store in Shanghai, was surprised to find that he could purchase five pounds of a certain kind of tea for $2, but that if he bought ten pounds the price would be $3. The American argued with the Chinaman that such an arrangement was ridiculous, but the proprietor of the store insisted that logic was on his side. "More buy, more rich. More rich, more can pay," he explained.

FEARED BIG CITY DID JOE JACKSON

Connie Mack's Scout Had Great Task Inducing Him to Leave the Bush League

Many are the odd experiences the baseball managers and scouts have had with new players, some of whom are attached by stage fright or some sort of fright as they approach a big city where they know they will have to face a larger crowd than any that has seen their lesser league work. One of the funniest of these experiences was that of one of Connie Mack's scouts who went after Joe Jackson, the outfielder, who subsequently joined the Cleveland team.

Joe's ball playing was the outcome of games in the South Carolina cotton mills district, where the rivalry is keen and the quality of play not infrequently surprisingly good. He played on a small town team representing the mills prior to the discovery by one of Connie Mack's scouts that the barefooted boy was promising. Schreckengost, the former Athletic catcher, who became famous as the receiver of the erratic Rube Waddell when the big left-hander was in his prime, was the scout who found Joe Jackson.

It took three railroad trips to get Jackson to Philadelphia, where he played for a brief period with the Philadelphia Athletics. At that time the boy had never been in a city of more than 50,000 population and it is said that he was mortally afraid of the big town. The Athletics' scout in the first attempt to get Jackson north succeeded in piloting him as far as Charlotte, N.C., when the boy decided he had gone far enough, and leaving the train he successfully hid from Schreckengost. A day later the boy showed up at home.

A few days passed and the Athletics' scout returned to find out why Joe had given him the slip in Charlotte. Joe told him he big cities were too big but after much persuasion finally consented to start a second time for the Quaker city.

The second trip was a little more successful than the first one, in that the cotton mill bolder got about 300 miles nearer to his destination than on the first trip. He kept his nerve until he was somewhere in Virginia, and then the memories of the big smokestacks and the cotton fields told him that he was in a big city. This time he went all the way and he played a few games with Connie Mack's team. He did fine work, and everybody was surprised when Connie Mack let Cleveland get him. Before Jackson got to playing ball for money he never was shoes except in bitter cold weather.

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slopes. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and new regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Kentucky, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

The sick sailor grew no better. Days and nights passed and he raved and moaned or lay in a stupor. Ebenezer acted as day nurse while Elery slept and, at night, the minister, being younger, went on watch. The doctor came frequently, but said there was no hope. A question of time only, in a short time, he said.

Cape occupied his mind with speculations concerning the patient. "Do you know, person," he said, "seem's if I'd seen the fellow somewhere afore. 'Course I never have, but when I used to go whalin' 'yages I cruised from one end of creation to 't'other, pretty nigh, and I might have met him."

That night the sick man was much worse. His ravings were incessant. The wooden clock, loaned by Mrs. Parker, the doctor's wife, ticked steadily, although a half hour slow. Elery, glancing at it to see if the time had come for giving medicine, suddenly noticed how loud its ticking sounded. Wondering at this, he was aware there was no other sound in the house. He rose and looked in at the door of the adjoining room. The patient had ceased to rave and was lying quiet on the bed.

The minister tiptoed over to look

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

SEVEN DAYS' USE OF CATARRHOZONE PERFORMED REGULAR MID-WINTER

Miss Coaster's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhazine in All Throat and Nose Diseases

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 21.—Miss Coaster's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs. When asked for a statement, Miss Coaster said: "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my dentist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhazine, which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice, and I have been ever since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhazine is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief, and makes a lasting cure."

Catarrhazine cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflamed. To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhazine. But beware of the imitator and imitator. Look for Catarrhazine only. 50¢ and $1.00 at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhazine Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Its venture in Peterborough is said to be large, but no details could be secured to-day from D'Arcy Martin and George E. Mills, who are interested in the concern.

FUNERAL PYRE IS MADE OF AND BY PRISONERS

Crucified By Fire They Started in Fate of Two Men—Third May Succumb.

Church Point, La., Dec. 10.—The bodies of two men, one said to be that of William Collier, of Los Angeles, and the other unrecognizable, so badly burned and charred is it, and the smoking ruins of the little jail are all that are left to bear mute testimony to the double tragedy that was enacted inside the walls of the prison early yesterday, the sequel to the two men's desperate attempt to break jail. A third prisoner, Collis LeBlau, a local character, who occupied a cell next to the strangers, was badly burned in his dash from the blazing structure, but will survive his injuries.

According to LeBlau, the firing of the jail was deliberately planned by the two strangers the previous night, shortly after they had been looked up for being drunk and disorderly. When they proceeded to carry out their intention, he says, he remonstrated with them, telling them they would be burned to death, but the warning went unheeded and the fire was quickly set. The communicating door between the cell occupied by the two strangers and that occupied by LeBlau was locked and this probably prevented the latter from being overcome by the smoke before being crucified as was the fate of Collins and his partner. When the flames had partially burned the door LeBlau made a frantic dash from the blazing jail, and was found and given medical attention.

When assistance reached the spot, the building was in flames and burning beyond control. The charred bodies of the two inmates were found in the smoldering ashes. Collier was not burned as badly as his companion. In the inner pocket of his coat were found letters addressed to William Collier, Los Angeles.

The other was burned too badly to be recognizable. It was impossible to find anything by which to identify him. An effort has been made to discover his friends.

TO OVERCOME WINTER COMPLEXION TROUBLES

(From Woman's Tribune.)

If the chill air causes your skin to dry and scale or becomes uncleanly red or spotted, before you go to bed spread a thin layer of ordinary vasoline over your entire face. Remove next morning with warm water. This is the ideal complexion treatment for the winter girl. The vas gently absorbs the dead particles of surface skin, so gradually there is no discomfort. This gives the underlying skin a chance to breathe and to show itself. Six a week or so the new and younger skin is wholly in evidence and you have a really smooth complexion. Naturally all its defects disappear with the discarded cuticle—as chaps, roughness, blotches, pimples, freckles, blackheads, sallowness. Usually an ounce of vasoline is enough to remove even the worst complexion.

Wrinkles need bother you no more if you'll use this simple face wash. Powdered, vasoline, 1 oz., dissolved in which brand, 4 pt. Just one application will affect even the deepest lines, and your skin will be as smooth as a child's.

WEST INDIAN TREATY MEANS PARTIAL TARIFF REVISION

New Trade Arrangements Will Last For Ten Years—Naval Resolution Introduced Without Objection by Sir Wilfred—Debate on It to Have Precedence

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—The West India trade agreement furnished the main item in a short and quiet day in the Commons yesterday. The resolution embodying the Government's proposals went through after an hour's discussion.

The Liberals, of course, are offering no opposition to the agreement. It is an embodiment of the wider market idea, and they announced early in the session that they would not oppose it, although there was a little comparison drawn at the time between the small West Indian market and that of the United States, rejected in 1911.

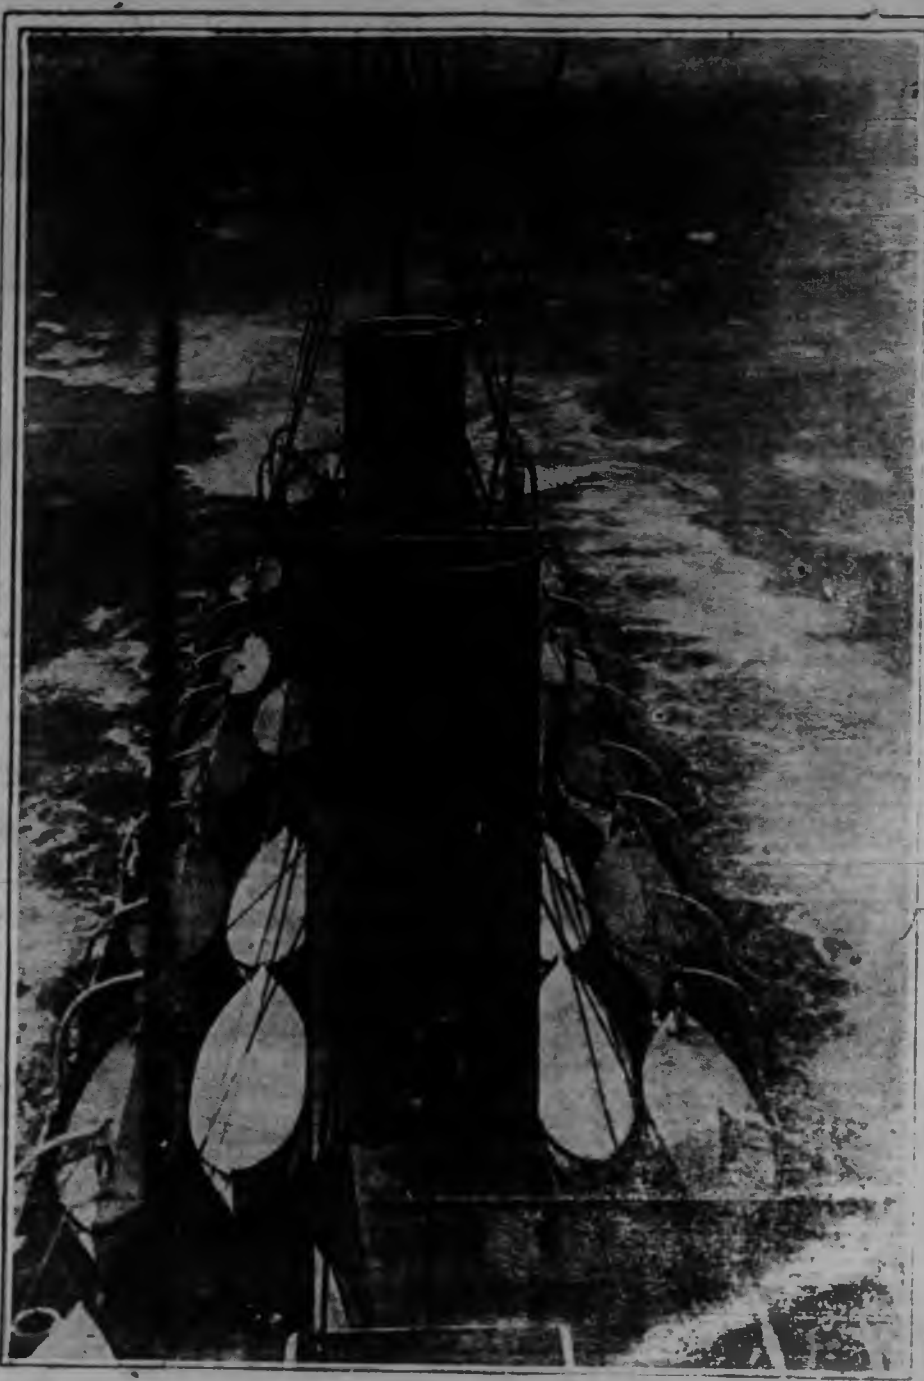

Mr. Borden got second reading for his North-West Mounted Police bill, which increases the pay of men. There was, of course, no opposition to the bill, as both sides of the House are very proud of the force. Hon. Frank Oliver thought, however, that there should be a commission in Alberta, as there was much delay now caused by the necessity of taking cases to Regina. Sir Wilfred did not agree with this. It was essential that there should be only one head, he thought.

Will Revise Tariff.
Carvell, of Carleton, N.B., wanted to know whether there were to be any changes in the Customs Tariff as a result of the "free trade" agreement, and was told that in two or three commodities there would. These changes would be embodied in a Tariff Act by the Minister of Finance.

The Naval Resolution.
Through the permission of Sir Wilfred Laurier and the Opposition, Mr. Borden was allowed to introduce his naval resolution. The Premier was apparently in something of a flutter on the day of his big speech, for he failed to preface his bill with a resolution, as called for by the rules in the case of money bills. He had to go over to Sir Wilfred's seat yesterday and arrange things. The leader of the Opposition did not, of course, throw any obstacles in the way, although he might have held out for a strict adherence to the rules.

Speaker Sproule made a short announcement to the effect that as there was no objection from either side of the House, the belated resolution might be considered, although such action was not to be taken as a precedent. Whereupon, the Premier moved that the resolution be taken up. It was simply a transcript of the naval bill, and got two readings and was passed without comment. But Mr. Borden will have to introduce his bill all over again on Thursday. Fortunately for him this does not involve making another speech on it.

Will Have Precedence.
The naval debate will, therefore, begin on Thursday afternoon with Sir Wilfred Laurier's speech, right after question time. From Thursday until the adjournment on the 19th, the naval question will have precedence in the business of the House.

THE MAJESTIC OF THE WHITE STAR LINE, LONDON WITH LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN OPENS IN EARNEST SUNDAY

Next Sunday the campaign in favor of Local Option in Peterborough will open in earnest. It will be continued with vigor until the last vote has been polled on January 6th next. The campaign this year will be considerably shorter than the one held three years ago. The temperance workers report that there is not the same need for an educational campaign now as there was then, and that they are going to win this campaign, with hundreds of votes to spare, as their canvass has shown that there has been a great change in public opinion in favor of local option since the last vote was taken.

On Sunday next the first public meeting will be held. In the morning, laymen, representing the citizens' Local Option Committee will give addresses in most of the city churches, including the Murray and Park street Baptist churches, the George, Charlotte and Mark street Methodist churches, and the St. James' Methodist church and the Free Methodist church. In the evening speakers from the committee will speak in St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Last Sunday services were held in Knox and St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches. The speakers will be laymen who have been chosen from the different churches. Two will speak in each church. Among the speakers will be City Magistrate Dumble, who will speak in the evening in St. Paul's church. At three o'clock in the afternoon speakers will address the Salvation Army, in the Salvation Army Temple.

Opera House Meetings.
The first Opera House meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon at a quarter past four sharp. The main speaker will be Ex-Controller F. S. Spence, of Toronto. This meeting will be for men only. It will be presided over by a member of the Citizens' Local Option Committee, who will make a brief statement on behalf of the committee relating to the present campaign.

In the evening, another meeting will be held in the Opera House at a quarter after eight. This meeting will be open to men and women. It also will be addressed by Mr. Spence. Mr. Spence has not only had an intimate connection with many Local Option campaigns throughout Ontario and thereby is in a position to speak authoritatively as to how Local Option is succeeding where it is being tried, but he was also the representative of the Canadian Government at the recent World's Conference at The Hague, on Temperance, and thus is in touch with the world's temperance situation.

Good Singers.
A feature of the afternoon and evening meetings at the Opera House, as well as St. James' Methodist church in the morning and St. Paul's Presbyterian church in the evening, will be solos by Mr. Ruthven Macdonald, of Toronto, one of Canada's greatest singers, who is frequently paid $50 a night for concert purposes. The Citizens' Local Option Committee is arranging to have singers of national importance present at every Sunday afternoon and evening service in the Opera House from next Sunday to the end of the campaign. As great interest is being taken in this year's campaign, large audiences are expected at the meetings next Sunday. Those who intend to attend are advised to be present early.

SUFFRAGETTES XMAS PRANKS WILL BE "SOMETHING AWFUL"

London, Dec. 11.—Two months in prison was the sentence to-day imposed in the police court on Miss Elsie Howey, the only suffragette participating in the false fire alarm plot whom the police were able to catch. The young woman was seen to turn in an alarm from a corner box, but the offence was only a misdemeanor, and two months imprisonment was the maximum penalty.

The police were unable to apprehend any other offenders because the false alarms mostly were responsible from public telephone booths in pay stations and the suffragettes were gone before policemen sent to investigate could reach the place.

At yesterday the nerves of all London were strained almost to breaking tension by the continuous fire alarms, all of which proved to be suffragette hoaxes, and by night the firemen were exhausted.

The policemen and firemen were strong in their denunciations of the women and declared that the false alarm scheme was "the most provoking of all the outrages perpetrated by the militants."

The gleeful suffragettes are boasting that their outside performance will eclipse all of their past pranks. "What will they do next," is a question that all London is asking and the would-be voters reiterate the answer, "Something Awful."

MR. BORDEN GIVEN FACTS
Winston Churchill Admits Canadian Premier Was Let Into Secrets.

London, Dec. 11.—Answering Mr. Hardie in the Commons to-day, Mr. Winston Churchill said a great deal of confidential information had been given to the Canadian Government which had not been revealed to the Commons.

MEXICO IS NOT BEING OVERRUN

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Pablo Tamargo, the Toronto Consul for Mexico, denies the Canadian Press reports that the whole of Mexico is seething with revolt. The towns and country districts, he says, cannot be largely in the hands of the rebels, else the cities would starve. As a matter of fact, the railways are running with few interruptions, and conditions are near normal.

Mr. Tamargo does not credit the report that prayers for divine intervention were being said in all the Catholic churches by arrangements with the Government. He says the republic does not recognize any church, though there is full religious toleration. He also asserts that General Diaz did not escape from Santa Cruz.

LIBERALS MAY ALL VOTE NAVY BIG SURPRISE FOR TO-DAY

Caucus at Noon To-Day Following a Midnight Conference—Backing Laurier Navy

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Following a secret midnight conference of Liberal leaders held in the office of Sir Wilfred Laurier last night, at which the amendment which the Liberals will move to the naval proposals was finally drafted, a caucus of the party was held this morning. The Liberals were sworn to secrecy as to the amendment which they intend to propose, and at the close refused to divulge the line which they have decided upon. All that they would state was that the party was unanimous and that Sir Wilfred would make an announcement in the House to-morrow.

Hint at Big Surprise.
The Liberals are displaying a good deal of mystery as to the character of the amendment which will be introduced and hint that a big surprise is waiting the country. However, it is generally understood that the Liberals have definitely decided to stand or fall by the old Laurier naval policy, so that a clear cut line of cleavage will develop between the two parties.

PEACE ENVOYS NOW ARRIVED PALACE FOR THE USE OF ALL

Greek Prime Minister And Party Expect To Be Very Comfortable—Outlook for End of Fighting is Good

New York, Dec. 11.—A cable to the Herald from London says: The first peace envoys arrive here to-day for the Turco-Balkan conference which will begin at St. James Palace next Monday. It is now certain that the delegates will be received by King George, and among the entertainments for them will be a banquet at the Guild Hall given by the Lord Mayor.

Practically all the state rooms at St. James Palace will be placed at the disposal of the envoys excepting the Throne Room, which is reserved exclusively for the King's use on state occasions. Queen Anne's room, the armory and the other rooms will be at the service of the conference and the momentous sessions will be held in the picture gallery.

Greek Delegates Live in Style.
The Greek delegates, among them the Prime Minister, Mr. Venizelos, arrive at Charing Cross this evening. They will stop at Claridges Hotel, where a suite of 22 rooms have been engaged.

The Montenegrin delegates also arrive in London to-day and the Serbian and Bulgarian representatives are due to-morrow, but the Turkish envoys, who left Constantinople yesterday, will not arrive until Friday.

Consultation, Not Conference.
Sir Edward Grey stated in the House of Commons yesterday that the meeting of the Ambassadors, which probably will be held here simultaneously with the peace conference will be an informal, non-committal consultation—not a conference. He will make a fuller statement later.

It is known that the Austrian and Italian representatives will put before the Ambassadors' conference a proposal for the neutralization of Albania, with a guarantee by Europe of that neutrality.

ARRESTED FOR THREATENING WOODROW WILSON WITH DEATH

Newark, N.J., Dec. 11.—Three men, residents of Wharton, were arrested at Dover, this State, last night, charged with writing a letter threatening President-elect Woodrow Wilson with death unless he caused $5,000 in gold to be left for them in a designated unoccupied house in Wharton.

The men arrested are: Peter Dunn, 24 years of age; his brother Jacob, 26; and Seely Davenport, 42. They were played in custody at Dover, and brought to Newark, where U. S. Commissioner Stockton committed them to jail in default of $2,000 bail each, for examination on Monday.

The letter to the Governor was written on November 11, and was signed "New York Gang." Post office inspectors ran down the alleged blackmailers and made the arrest.

MURDERED A HOMESTEADER, THEN FLED AND SUICIDED

Moose Jaw, Sask., Dec. 11.—Instructions were received from Regina to arrest J. Stanley Price, wanted for the murder of Ralph Warwick, at Inverman, three weeks ago. The warrant was not executed as Price had cut his throat in the Cecil Hotel some time Sunday night. The Mounted Police are now after another man said to be implicated in the crime.

Warwick and Price were homesteaders, whose farms were situated half way between Moose Jaw and Lumsden. Price obtained a housekeeper. She left him and went to keep house for Warwick, who married her. She left Warwick and lived with various people in the district, and Warwick blamed Price for her desertion. One night Warwick was found dead in the stable beneath his horse's feet. The jury brought in a verdict that Warwick had been kicked to death. The Mounted Police found suspicious circumstances and Price fled to this city. It was only on Tuesday that it became known that Price was implicated.

ROMANCE OF SUIT CASE

Porter Proved to Be a Millionaire.

By MIRIAM POSTER.

Hazel Huntington paid her bill at the desk of the Windsor hotel, and then turned to the clerk, said: "Do you know of anyone who will carry my suitcase to the depot?" "The chap over there," answered the young man, pointing to one on the other side of the spacious lobby. "Thank you," she said, turning to the man, who was looking at her with a surprised air as she spoke, she asked him: "Will you take my bag to the W. & A. station immediately?" He hesitated for a fraction of a second, and then nodded his head. "Yes, where is it?" "Over at the desk with the monogram A. R. on it. Please be quick about it. There is no time to lose."

The young man grabbed the suitcase with a vigor as if his whole future existence depended upon his making a little extra money and followed Hazel down the street, catching up to the girl, who was nearly as tall as he, from head to foot. He commenced in a genial tone: "That building over there is the new library, and that—"

"I beg your pardon," replied Hazel, without looking up from the table she held in her hand. "I asked for a porter, not a guide."

"Oh, I won't charge anything extra for a little information," persisted the young man, as he went on to tell about the different landmarks as they passed them, and Hazel found herself against her will listening to him.

As they approached the train Hazel started to take her suitcase.

"No, miss, I'll take it right into the car. It's too heavy for you to carry," he insisted.

Finally when the engine started to whistle "all aboard," Hazel handed him fifty cents.

"Much obliged, miss," Laurence said, taking the coin. "This is the first money I've earned today."

Then the car sped on, but Hazel's thoughts would constantly turn to the splendid appearing fellow with the palest face and quizzical smile.

"Not one of our set to compare with him," she admitted to herself, "in looks or manners."

A few months later Hazel was seated in her pretty little room, a room which, like its occupant, was expressive of refinement and good taste, when her friend Elise came in full of suppressed excitement.

"What's the news?" asked Hazel.

"You'll never guess. It's so seldom anything new occurs here. Laurence Curran is coming home from college with brother James."

"Who's he?"

"He's the millionaire Curran's son, though he's a great disappointment to his father, as he's rather plebeian in tastes, and doesn't care a rap for society. All his sympathies are for the working classes."

"Why do you say that?"

"How dare you doubt my word? I've never seen or even heard of him."

"Only because," began Elise apologetically, "Marie said she caught a glimpse of you two together last summer in Philadelphia."

"You misunderstood her, that's all," said Hazel, dismissing the subject.

When Elise related the above conversation Marie was mollified.

"Such deceit, duplicity, hypocrisy," she ejaculated. "Am I confounding Marie with Elise when I tell you that Hazel left for the west a day sooner than we did, after we'd been away for a three weeks' trip? She said distinctly enough when we bid her good by, 'I'm glad to get out of this town. I don't know a single soul except you girls; then later when we were in a sight-seeing car we saw her walking with Laurence, who carried her bag as if there was nothing in the world he liked to do half so well.'"

"Didn't she see you?"

"No, our faces were masked in sun-umbrella veils; besides they were too much engrossed in conversation."

"Rather odd, isn't it? Maybe they're secretly engaged or have some good reason for being so mysterious."

"Well, the mystery will solve itself when Laurence appears."

"Marie," cooed Elise to the next time they met. "Laurence never even moved a muscle when I mentioned her name. I can't appear too inquisitive, as he's our guest. But when you meet him, can't you make some reference to the Quaker City?"

"The opportunity never offered itself. The next morning bright and early Laurence was up strolling about the pretty little town as if he was searching for some elusive thing. Evidently he was unsuccessful, for he returned later looking glum and disconcerted. Elise tried all in her limited power to entertain the young man, but could not even bring a smile from him. Only a vague "yes" and "no" was received in answer to every remark."

Suddenly Laurence jumped to his feet and rushed to the window.

"Who's that girl over there?" he asked in mingled tones of astonishment and joy.

"Which one?" questioned Elise.

"The one in brown," he answered impatiently, "with pretty Auburn hair."

"Hazel Huntington. Don't you know her?"

"No," answered Laurence, watching the girl intently. "But I'd give all and more than I possess to meet her. I've had visions of her ever since last summer," he said, looking out rapturously. "She's coming right here."

Elise was too bewildered to answer and only recovered her composure as Hazel entered and gave Laurence a look of recognition.

"I think we've met before," commenced Laurence, as he extended his hand and gave her a look that spoke volumes.

"We surely have," replied the pretty girl. "But under vastly different circumstances."

"Then why did you say you weren't acquainted?" Elise couldn't refrain from asking.

"I knew Miss Huntington by sight, but not by name. Your friend discovered me last summer and I've been hunting for a trace of her in nearly every town in Pennsylvania since then," exclaimed Laurence as he went on to say how Hazel had mistaken him for a porter.

"I had my doubts all the time while we were walking to the depot," confessed Hazel.

"Didn't you notice that I took you the long way around?"

"Yes, but I didn't mind that; I rather wished it was longer," laughed Hazel. "But I nearly missed my train, and I feared you weren't paid enough for your services."

"Plenty," answered Laurence, thinking that the girl was a hundred times prettier than he even remembered her to be. "I still have that half dollar, though I've spent much more trying to find a girl of medium height with blue eyes and Auburn hair and whose initials were A. R."

"Oh, that's the reason you couldn't," laughed Hazel. "The monogram on that suit case was my cousin's. I carried her's because it was a more convenient size than mine."

"Will you excuse me for a moment?" said Elise. She thought she would not be missed while she telephoned to Marie that Hazel was not engaged secretly to Laurence, but she had no doubt she would be soon.

THE FORTUNE HUNTER AT THE GRAND, SATURDAY

At Grand Opera House on Saturday December 14, "The Fortune Hunter" will cost you along merry paths that lead straight to the brightest kind of dramatic sunshine.

There are no sor-did moments to dim the joy of Win-chell Smith's play, and theatre-goers are assured a particular happy evening. What happens to Nat Duncan when transplanted from Broadway to the little town of Radville, Penn., makes the story.

Nat, who is practically down and out, has been persuaded by his old college friend, Kellogg, that the way to earn a fixed and substantial income is to move into a small town and make the leading banker's daughter a victim at the altar. Nat has a reasonable excuse for engaging in the task, however, as he has been a miserable failure in business, and the bread line yawns before him. In Radville he is to lead a spotless life—attend church regularly, cut out smoking, liquors, profanity, and above all things he must work. His early struggles to maintain a proper standard of living lead to complications that make the play the most delicious of comedies. It is hard work for Duncan to outgrow his Broadway habits, and they creep into his daily routine in ways that go direct to your laugh centre.

Of course things move smoothly for Duncan, but not along the lines laid down by his friend, Kellogg, who has financed the undertaking. Nat finds himself developing a sentimental regard for the daughter of the old druggist with whom he works. It is through the energy and enterprise of Duncan that the apothecary shop is moved out of Poverty Row and settled comfortably and securely on Main Street, for Nat develops his hitherto unsuspected business ability. He meets the banker's daughter, but discovers he does not want her after all, for he finds his fortune in his love for the druggist's daughter, which she returns, and the splendid business he has built, so the play ends happily for all concerned. Seats now on sale at Box Office.

Legend and Reality.
Legend tells how Napoleon, while Moscow was in flames, found time to draw up a decree organizing the Theatre Francaise. Alas, the story is not true. Napoleon was in Poland when he received the decree ready to be signed. He there signed it and sent it back to Paris, but in the margin wrote the following: "To be forwarded when the army will be at Moscow. It is his majesty's intention that the decree should be dated from that town."

Who, "an Visiting Terms."
"We love each other dearly, but we want to be divorced." Such was the fervent wish expressed in the Circuit Court at Montreal by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Malouf, a Syrian couple. With his wife hanging affectionately on his arm, Malouf declared that they were happily married in Syria nineteen years ago, but that they had no children. His wife wanted him to marry another woman, and she would then be satisfied to remain on visiting terms. The judge advised the couple to apply to the Senate.

STARTING THE TROTTERS

Present Method is Exemplifying Both to the Drivers and Spectators

The present system of starting a field of horses for the race on the harness turf, and its disastrous effects upon the horses, and what attraction the sport has for the public, comes up for the hottest kind of discussion periodically and is soon forgotten when there are no occasions for dispute.

The statute books of both the National and American Trotting Associations are filled with rules governing the sport, most of which hardly ever have any bearing upon the advancement or improvement of it.

Only once in the entire history of the trotting turf in America a single effort has been made to reform the present system of starting trotters and pacers, and that was at the Brighton Beach Grand Circuit meeting in 1904.

John H. Shultz, the well-known and prominent New York breeder, and a real lover of the sport, offered a purse of $1,000 merely for the trial of a new system of starting horses. His plan was to have an expert horseback rider, a man who knew the game, line up the field without the help of a starter, lead them down to the wire, and have the starter give the word.

For that purpose he selected the best man in the country, Al Thomas "the Iron Man" of the turf, and the experiment, costly as it was to the originator, proved a great success, yet no racing association tried it from that time on.

In Europe and in Australia they have made harness racing immensely popular by getting away from the methods in vogue here.

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 39,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Kentucky, Alaska, and East Kentucky, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

FREAKS OF MARINE LIFE.

Barnacles, May Serve Some Purpose, But It Is Not Apparent.

Barnacles are among the curious forms of marine life. So far as is known, they perform no important office, either constructive or destructive, in the economy of nature. They serve to no appreciable extent as food for the creatures of the depths; neither do they operate as a check upon other forms of marine life that might become redundant.

Strangely enough, barnacles are assigned by the naturalists to the same great subdivision of the animal world, which includes the anthracoidea, which means joint-footed. Barnacles belong to that class of crustaceans that embrace lobsters and crabs and constitutes the order of cirripedia, a term that means "curled feet."

Barnacles are hatched from eggs. The young in no way resemble the adults. They are minute, insect-like creatures, with one eye, six legs and one shell. The young barnacle undergoes the operation of molting several times and finally appears with two eyes, twelve legs and two shells. At this stage it roves no longer, but attaches itself to some convenient object by means of its antennae, secreting a cement whereby it places itself quite fast. Then it undergoes a metamorphosis that completely changes its appearance. It sheds its larval shell and its legs and acquires its characteristic curled, feathery limbs, and it takes on an entirely new form.

The order of barnacles exists. Members of this order are attached to the shell directly to rocks, timber and other objects. Those of another order are attached to floating objects by a long stalk, and the barnacles of the third order are parasitic upon crabs and other marine animals. When extended from the shell the curled, feathery appendages are in constant motion, and they create currents in the water that draw to them the food particles.

These barnacles attach themselves to many species of minute forms of life abundant in the sea.

What are commonly known as "sea acorns" are nothing more than barnacles of the genus balanus. There exists a number of different varieties of these, showing shells of a white, greenish white, pink or purplish color. These barnacles attach themselves to rocks, shellfish, the piling of piers and sometimes even to whales. The base of the shell is glued firmly to the supporting object, there being no stem.

Ship barnacles are true wanderers of the deep, the same species frequently being found upon the hulls of vessels coming from distant ports and widely separated regions. They present a very odd appearance, for the shell is attached to the end of a flexible stalk, which varies in length from an inch in some species to twelve inches in others. Generally speaking, the shell of the ship barnacle is of a white or bluish white hue, and the stalk is brown or slate colored.

What "Gold Filled" Means.

There is a notion largely held by purchasers of "gold filled" watches that the cases are, in some mysterious fashion, impregnated with gold.

As a matter of fact, the term is misleading. Gold filling consists in the employment of two sheets of gold between which is placed a section of metal of some other material. This metallic sandwich is heated and pressed so that the three parts are welded, with the gold out in.

Vanilla, Dec. 10.—Robert Brown of Manilla, a day or two ago, trapped a handsome "cross" fox to its lair. A barricade was built round the fox's den. It was then dug out and killed with a crowbar. Wood Splitting the Spells.
Yesterday morning County Magistrate Edmondson held court. The case tried was that of the King vs. Wood. Wood, it seems was sent out to Canada to a charitable institution from England some time since. The society which sent him to his last posting had cared for him since a young boy. Wood was employed as a farm hand with a family named Dalton in Ontario. Two weeks ago an old lady of the house, whom Wood called "Grandma," went to church, leaving Wood in charge of the house. He improved his opportunity by stealing two $5 bills belonging to his employer. Wood was later arrested by County Constable Cook-rane. At yesterday's trial he was found guilty and sentenced to four months in the County jail. A very strange feature of Wood's unfortunate theft, was that the roll from which he stole the $10 contained $17. He left his employer a $5 and a $2 bill, possibly as they may in New Orleans, be of "legitimate."

Robert Peters Not Guilty.

The jury retired, and returned a verdict of not guilty and the prisoner was acquitted.

Hasn't Hamilton's Will Settled.
Chancellor Boyd has delivered judgment at Osgoode Hall, upon the construction of the will of the late Hon. Robert Hamilton. He decided that Mr. Wm. F. Hamilton is entitled to immediate payment of his share of the estate and that the trustees of the will have no power or discretion to withhold from him any part of the estate. He also held that Mrs. H. Cyril Hill was entitled to her share of the estate, but that trustees would have to be appointed and a marriage settlement made so that she would only receive the interest upon her share during the lifetime of her husband and if she survives her husband then she would be entitled to immediate payment of the whole of her interest in the estate and if she predeceases her husband the property would go to who ever she left it to under her will.

Mr. G. H. Watson, K.C., appeared for the trustees, and Mr. R. H. Hall and Mr. S. T. Medel for the legatees.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but none found out all that I wanted was my blood. I determined to look upon all doctors as little better than quacks. One day my brother told me why I was off work so much and told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got from them a prospectus. My progress was wonderful, slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, continued treatment for three months brought me and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn a few weeks in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning full and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

Idaho-Bride Company's Stock Books Will Close December 10, 1912

Preparatory to Paying a Christmas Dividend upon all paid up stock sold by the Company up to and including December 10th, 1912. This means that the Idaho-Bride Company is

Keeping Faith With Those Who Have Invested in These Shares

and will pay a dividend out of the proceeds derived from the sale of the ore mined from the properties now being operated by them. A while back we announced the

IDAHO-BRIDE LOOKING BIG

and shipping steadily; but we now want you to keep an eye to which is now being operated by this Company. We expect big results from the Seaton Mine because it produced a fortune in the upper workings. We are 800 feet below those and will have an immense block of stopeing ground to work on and there can only be one result once this big mine is going good. A little more capital will do the work and we feel quite certain that we will all be well recompensed for our time, money and labor. By placing up-to-date machinery in the mill, we can add fully 20 per cent to our profits. This is what we want capital for and our reason for selling stock. We are preparing to make a big producing mine of this and your money will help us to do it.

THE FAMOUS SEATON MINE

Real Mining Is what Produces Dividends
Do You Want Them?

If so, send in your order at once and get the benefit of the initial price, as we expect to advance the price of these shares to double or more after the first of the year.
